The Sailfish District, Martin County, now has a full time scouting professional, Jim Edgar, on duty nine days a week. Parents are worried about where youth is going, so they are volunteering to help, Fletcher said.

One of the major changes is in the role of the scoutmaster, now called a unit counselor. Instead of telling the scouts what to do, the counselor reasons the issue with the scout.

In other areas according to Fletcher, scouts now design their own merit badges to meet local situations such as seal fishing in Alaska and surfing in California; can design their own neckerchief, decide if they want to wear a neckerchief, long or short pants, or can take their pick of four different styles of hats to wear.

Fletcher pointed to the broad range of programs offered to scouts through the teens, and the adult programs offered to aid the boys.

REACH is a new program designed to bring families together to talk about their problems. It is the scouting answer to a drug information program, Fletcher said.

He asked all Kiwanians to help in the scouting program.

NEW BANNER-Tom Fletcher, scouting head and president of the Singer Island Kiwanis Club, received the first Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club flag Monday, following his speech on scouting. Dr. Richard Penick made the presentation of the flag. The Jensen booster banners will be used for inter-club meetings throughout the area.

North Stuart Baptist Church to enter new building on Easter

STUART-The Rev. Robert E. Lee Pastor of the North Stuart Baptist Church announces that their first service in the new building will be Easter Sunday April 14 at 11:00 a.m. At this first service the building will be dedicated as the Walter I. Crowell Jr. Building. For many years Mr. Crowell was vice president of Dickerson Inc. of North Carolina and Florida. He made an outstanding record for himself as a civic leader and churchman. He and his family were charter members of the church. Mrs. Crowell and the children: Walter III, Mark and Lynn will be present at the dedication. A photograph of an oil painting of Mr. Crowell by Muriel Delaplaine will be used in the dedication service.

The chairman of the building committee Herbert Bruner announces that the structure is complete except for the modernfold doors. Mr. Sam Farrow vice chairman of the committee was the construction superintendent.

The new building is located one mile north of Stuart on U.S. 1.

The program of dedication will be led by the pastor with the music under the direction of Mrs. Garland Edenfield. Margaret Lee will be at the organ and Bonnie Crowell at the piano.

Sunday night at 7:30 the church will feature a concert with Kenneth Cooper at the organ and William McDougal at the piano. Cooper is the choir director and organist at the Stuart 1st Presbyterian Church in West Palm Beach. For 18 years he was the organist at the Lakeside United Methodist Church in Lake Worth.

Their program of sacred and semi-classical music will be on the new Allen Digital Computer Organ System 602 and new Yamaha upright piano.

IRS announces tax refunds

JACKSONVILLE-The Internal Revenue Service has announced that nearly $84,000 is being refunded to consumers for recent overcharges by service stations located in 13 Florida counties.

The refunds are the result of investigations conducted by the IRS during the last two weeks in March.

Jack L. Evans, IRS district stabilization manager for Florida, said that 94 gas stations were requested to refund $83,999. During the two-week period the prices at 260 Florida service stations were checked by IRS agents.

Eleven Palm Beach County stations will be returning $6,063, while four Sarasota stations will be refunding $5,864.

The refund amounts range from $56.56 by a Juno Beach station to $6,847.19 by a Sarasota station.

In addition, service stations located in Alachua, Broward, Duval, Leon, Nassau, Orange, Pinellas and Seminole Counties will be making refunds.

The IRS said that it is continuing its investigations throughout Florida for compliance with Federal Energy Office Price Regulations.

In Martin County...
We're helping it happen!

Money isn't our only business. As responsible citizens of our community, we also believe that our business is service.

And when you see the lights burning late on the second floor, it's not the bank auditors working overtime but one of dozens of worthwhile organizations using our room. It might be the Palm Lake Park Club on Monday, the Coast Gardens Civic Association on Tuesday, the Sailfish Club of Audubon Society on Wednesday, and so on through the week.

Meetings, of course, aren't restricted to the evening hours. You'll find plenty of activity during the day, too. There's the Hart-Bowman Volunteers on Mondays and the Martin County Writers Group on alternate Wednesday mornings, for instance.

No matter whether it's day or night, those organizations that make a positive contribution to our community will always find the doors open at First National. Helping to make the right things happen in Martin County is just one way that we can serve you and our community better.

At First National, we're proud to call ourselves "The bank that grew up with Martin County."

We are also proud of the role we have played in that growth and are dedicated to continuing our policy of "helping it happen" for Martin County's future.

If you follow the crowd.. you'll end up in Susie's!

For those who know, one place to go on Jensen Beach for lunch, coffee or a refreshing or afternoon snack. It's Susie's. For those who don't know, this is a treat coming when they walk into the Ice Cream Parlour on Commercial St.

It has become a favorite of Bank employees and Rag boys, Ad men and Radio boys, Typists, Tellers and Tiny Tots. They all go there at one time or other of the day for their favorite treat or goodie.

If a Banana Split is your dish, they serve it with a flair. Ditto, for a hot fudge sundae. If a double dip of your favorite ice cream in a sugar cone is your speed, slow down and turn into Susie's. But it really does not matter what items you on in the way of a treat, ice cream, sodas, milk shakes, sundaes or hot dogs to hoagies, Susie has what you'll get prompt attention and service to boot.

If you like to go with the crowd, you'll show up between 11:30 and 2:30 and order a soup and sandwich combination. If you like to be different in a crowd you show up at the same time and order a cup of soup and a foot long chili dog. If you're an adventurer and hungry you'll order a hoagie and they'll put provolone in it even if you don't speak Italian.

For those who like to be distracted while they eat (and you know who you are) the tomatoes in the sandwiches aren't the only ones you'll see in Susie's - not to mention the lovelies that are going to wait on you and make the goodies that will make you want to come back again and again. Whether you come to be nurtured by Beautiful, Lovely, Tempting, er, Bacon, Lettuce and Tomatoe sandwiches on toast, the nurishment is a treat.

Avis Schmid - the new owner of Susie's, is a new comer to Jensen Beach but seems like an old friend once you have met her. She saw Susie's, and as she says, "It was my kind of place and the kind of business that would be fund." She has to be right because it looks like she's having fun and the changes in hours and in the menu she has made have been greeted with favorable comments from the customers.

In these "Now" fashioned times it is nice to go into a place with an old fashioned decor with an old fashioned idea of what should be between two slices of bread or bow a banana split should be made food that looks as good as it tastes and served quickly.

For all this and all right here in Jensen Beach thanks to a gal who tries harder, Avis.

The quartet that makes Susie's run. (L to R) Bertha Reed, Kay Conn, Janie Dunphy and Avis Schmid, who prove that people make better food than machines - to your order and to your table - everything's a treat at Susie's 58 Commercial St.

FAIR RIBBON WINNER--Laura Kay Darvill of the Craft Corner shows off a waste basket and lamp which won a first place ribbon in decoupage at the recent Martin County fair. Mrs. Darvill attributes her craftsmanship to top quality materials used in the craft and for not rushing her work. "It takes time if you want a fine quality finish," she said.

Craft Corner offers good tips

JENSEN BEACH--Have you ever set back and wondered why that last piece of decoupage you made didn't turn out quite the way you had in mind?

There may be a number of reasons, but two that are important could be from using inferior materials or rushing the job too quickly.

"The time and care taken in decoupage really shows up in the final product," explains Laura Kay Darvill, owner of the Craft Corner. She said, "It takes a good month to do even a rush job. When steps are eliminated it shows up in the end product," she said.

A wastepaper basket and lamp which won a first place ribbon at the Martin County Fair by Mrs. Darvill had some here between 25 or 30 coats of varnish.

"I'm very careful in cutting out the prints that go on the items, and when varnishing I just keep applying coats until I can't feel the print anymore," she said.

For her sanding Mrs. Darvill uses three different papers which are dipped in water and detergent before sanding.

Later steel wool is used then pumice, finishing and polishing oils are applyed and finally a high grade wax.

Another craft carried by the Craft Corner which is "very simple" to do are hooked rugs. The store carries all the supplies including a stock of 42 different rug yarn colors. The pre-cut yarn, when woven with a latch hook into a blank canvas or one with an outlining design, makes an attractive rug.

It can last a life time and become a family heirloom handed down from generation to generation," said Mrs. Darvill's husband Steve.

"Both men and women are working on hooked rugs but more men are becoming interested in the craft," Mrs. Darvill said adding, "It's the one yarn craft men feel most comfortable working at."

The store sells the canvas with an outlining design but blank ones are available for those who wish to design their own creation.

The store also has a selection of stained glass and lead cane. An instruction book on the art of stained glass is available at the Craft Corner at the cost price.

"We're selling the book at cost in hopes of interesting more people to take advantage of the beautiful effect stained glass offers with all the windows and light we have in our Florida homes," Steve said.

Many good tips can be received by stopping in at the Craft Corner. For those who are interested in the crafts, the Craft Corner holds free classes for their customers every Thursday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the store located in the South Savannah shopping plaza in Jensen Beach.

Boatowners were the hardest hit by the hike. When dock fees jumped from $5 to $12 per month at the marina.

Swimmers also felt the pinch when single member rates shot up from $25 to $35 annually.

Under the old rates, a family regardless of size paid $50 per year. Now the new rate is $60 per year for a family of not more than four, and $10 per person over the four.

In view of this agreement, Kimmel said the council will look forward to a review of the rates in the not too distant future, indicating a tentative date of mid year.

The City Council approved the LP gas rate increase last February. At the same time a periodic review was agreed upon and a limit was placed on the escalation clause which enabled the Utilities firm to pass on rising costs to the customer without further public hearings up to a 45 cents per gallon limit.

GDC officials expect to present a comprehensive overall plan to the council, possibly within two weeks.

$350 in prizes

Household survey is this week

JENSEN BEACH-$350 in cash prizes will be awarded to readers of The Mirror in Jensen Beach and Port St. Lucie who fill out and return the yellow survey form that is included in this issue, a reward for joining in the effort to collect material on the economic and civic life of the two communities.

The confidential questionnaires, which will be opened only by the Institute of Modern Marketing, and then destroyed after all have been compiled, are the only source of information on the likes and dislikes, buying habits, and other activities of people who live in Jensen Beach and Port St. Lucie.

We hope to get a full ten to twenty percent of our readership to respond to the questionnaires, said Mirror publisher Dick Campbell. The information is needed to seek new businesses to serve the community, and to properly inform our advertisers of the desires of our readers so that they will make such materials and services available.

The cash awards will be drawn by lot from the returned surveys by Dr. Franklin B. Hogger, president of I.M.M., and announced in The Mirror at a later date. The questionnaire will be inserted in The Mirror for several weeks.

The survey form has been simplified so that it is easy to complete. Many of the results of the survey will be released in news stories to follow the compilation of the results.

Each survey is printed so that it can be folded into a compact letter-size envelope, stapled, or taped, and mailed postage free. Directions are on the survey.

Meeting rescheduled by PSL-RP homeowners

PORT ST. LUCIE-The quarterly membership meeting of the Port St. Lucie Rivert Park Homeowners Association has been rescheduled for April 15, 7:30 p.m. at the CESA Building on Prima Vista Boulevard.

On the agenda according to Mrs. Mary Hoxenberger, secretary, will be the election of a new president.

The meeting had originally been scheduled for April 11, Thursday.

Ruth field dedication Saturday

PORT ST. LUCIE-This Saturday will be a big day at Sportsman's Park for Port St. Lucie Babe Ruth baseball fans. In the second game of the season the two Port St. Lucie teams, Ideal and Optimist, will compete at the newly completed Babe Ruth Field.

Several local dignataries are expected to take part in the dedication ceremonies commencing at 1 p.m. April 13.

Following the dedication of the field, Port St. Lucie Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh will step on the mound at 2 p.m. to pitch out the first ball.

Others expected to take part in the activities are Fort Pierce Mayor Chuck Padrick, Dave Gessner, GDC's supervisor of recreation, D.R. Seelinger, St. Lucie County School Superintendent Clayton Powell, president of the Fort Pierce Babe Ruth League, and St. Lucie Recreation Director Kendricks.

In the season opener played last Saturday at Sportsman's Park, the first game of a double header Maule Industries defeated the Port St. Lucie Optimist team 3-1. Mark Maida, Optimist pitcher, struck out thirteen batters, while Maule's Al Roaham struck out seven batters.

Port St. Lucie's Ideal team defeated Schultz Chevrolet 7-6 in the second game of the double header. Robin Hall was the winning pitcher.

Port St. Lucie has two teams in the Fort Pierce Babe Ruth League. This is the first year the local teams have been able to play their home games at Sportsman's Park.

Local residents are urged to support the teams by attending the games.

City fathers fund CESA

PORT ST. LUCIE-A donation of $6,000 was earmarked for the Cultural, Educational and Social Association (CESA) last Tuesday by the Port St. Lucie City Council.

Councilman Frank Beardsley, chairman of the City's finance committee, said it was the unanimous decision of the committee to donate $6,000 to the CESA Building Fund.

The amount will be made payable in three annual installments of $2,000 each. First payment will begin at the start of construction. Beardsley said the action followed a request by CESA President Dick Lundin two weeks ago seeking the City's financial support for the proposed $250,000 expansion program. The matter was turned over the finance committee for their determination and suggestion as to the amount of such contribution.

A one day CESA Fund Drive, chaired by Mel Broom, has been scheduled for April 27. Anyone who would like to volunteer their services for this one-day drive are asked to contact Mel Broom, 461-3100.

PORT ST. LUCIE-Mrs. Russell Decker reminds community residents that the Blood Pressure Clinic is being held every Thursday a.m. at the Cesa Bldg. from 10 to 12 o'clock.

CATERING MANAGER-Steve Krezo, 30, is the new catering manager at the St. Lucie Hilton Inn at Port St. Lucie. Krezo assumed his duties at the resort March 11.

New catering manager at St. Lucie Hilton

PORT ST. LUCIE-Steve Krezo, 30, has been named the new catering manager at the St. Lucie Hilton complex located on the North Fork of the St. Lucie River in Port St. Lucie.

Krezo arrived here March 11 from Orlando, where he was employed by the Hilton Inn as a food and beverage manager for the past year.

Prior to his employment with the Hilton Inns, Krezo was assistant catering manager at the Sheraton Cadillac Hotel in Detroit, Michigan, a 1200 room property.

Krezo attended Pennsylvania State University where he received a degree in hotel administration.

As catering manager, Krezo's list of responsibilities seems to be almost endless.

He works with the various groups, drawing up the menus, verifies room arrangements, entertainment, cocktail parties, makes sure the functions go off on time and offers wine suggestions.

Actually, I coordinate the food activities for the various conventions, homeowners groups and social functions which are booked by our sales staff, he said.

Although Krezo enjoys his work, he can be found during his off hours at one of two places-the golf course or the tennis courts.

Blackmer is appointed principal at PSL school

PORT ST. LUCIE-Victor Blackmer has been appointed principal of the new Port St. Lucie Elementary School. The announcement was made recently by D.R. Seelinger, St. Lucie County School Superintendent.

A resident of Port St. Lucie, Blackmer has been associated with the St. Lucie County School system for the past twenty five years. He has been principal of the White City Elementary School for twenty two years, following a three year period of teaching at Fairlawn Elementary.

A graduate of Danbury State Teachers College, Danbury, Conn., Blackmer completed his graduate work at Springfield College, Spring field, Mass.

Of his most recent appointment as principal of the new Port St. Lucie School, Blackmer said, "I am pleased with the appointment. Starting a brand new school will present quite a challenge - a challenge I am looking forward to."

This school is something Port St. Lucie has needed for a long time, he said. "Now, within a matter of a few short months, we will see the hopes and dreams for that new school fulfilled."

Whether or not the new school will be completed in time for the fall opening remains to be seen, but Blackmer said it is the intention of the school board to place the children, with their teachers, somewhere in the counts so as not to disrupt other students and teachers when the building is completed.

The 15 acre site located north of Sportsman's Park in Prima Vista has been cleared and the contractor for the first phase, steel construction, has moved in. Richard Davis Construction of Ft. Pierce will complete the steel work under a $300,000 contract.

When completed, the 24 room elementary school will be capable of housing 750 students, from kindergarten through the fifth grade.

Estimated cost of construction has been set at $1.3 million. School officials are hopeful of a fall term completion date.

Parade plan underway

PORT ST. LUCIE-The official entry blanks for the July 4 parade have been mailed out by the Optimist Club of Port St. Lucie.

The theme for this year's parade will be Happiness is America."

Chester Sams, president of the club, has requested all organizations participating in the celebration complete and return the application forms at the earliest possible date. A June 20 deadline has been established in an effort to avoid the last minute chaos.

Float designs should reflect the happiness and patriotic ideas in combination. A first, second and third place award will be given for the floats with the best theme presentation, originality, and creativity.

Awards will also be made for the top three individual costumes as well.

CESA funds received

PORT ST. LUCIE-As the meeting of the CESA Director's drew to a close last Friday, the long awaited Notification of Grant Award in the amount of $6,827.24 arrived in the mail from Tallahassee.

With the receipt of this voucher, CESA can continue to concentrate on the fund raising campaign, said Dick Lundin, CESA president.

This means that the operating expenses, presently being taken care of through the Council of Aging and CESA is fully funded through June 30.

Under the program, the Council on Aging granted $6,827.24 and CESA will put up $1,000 to cover not only operating expenses, but to purchase equipment - 100 folding chairs, an A.B. Dick copying machine and a piano - all of which were included in the budget.

Grant Furniture Company in Fort Pierce has offered the chairs to CESA for a figure below cost, indicating the difference was to be considered a donation to the community. With this purchase complete, CESA will return the 50 folding chairs on loan from Indian River Community College.

The copying machine is intended for community use as well as for the office.

By getting this machine in Port St. Lucie residents all over the community will have access to such service without going all the way downtown to the library in Fort Pierce, Lundin said.

Another item of equipment thnat came in for a share of the directors attention was a piano. CESA has a Baby Grand which is playable but in need of repairs. Because of the high cost of such repairs, it was agreed by the directors to purchase an up-right which, among other things, would be more portable throughout the three rooms of the CESA facility.

In addition to the good news about the quarterly funding document, directors and trustees were pleased to get the final word from Trustee Robert Seeley, of General Development Corporation that the five acres of land situated immediately south of the CESA building and needed for the proposed 8,000 foot expansion program, will be donated at an early date.

Mrs. J.J. Schreiber, CESA vice president, presented the board with a proposed revision to the donations being asked of clubs, organizations, individuals and businesses scheduling space in the CESA building.

When several board members indicated the amounts were too low a committee of Art Coulon, Clem Bramley Seeley, Judd Reading, Mrs. Schreiber and Schuyler Sharpe was appointed to review the rates and furnish a report at the May 3 meeting of the directors.

In other business, Sharpe was appointed chairman of the nominating committee. Seven directors will be nominated to fill two year terms beginning in October.

Directors whose terms will expire in October include Mrs. Joseph Wockley, Dick Lundin, Mrs. Schreiber, Dr. Evert Stabler, Tom Hillegas, Don White and Mrs. Joanna Hart.

George Tsismanakis, executive director of the Gulfstream Areawide Council on Aging, spoke briefly at the Friday meeting. He told the group that the funds as far as the Gulfstream Board was concerned are extremely short. He said the board received only about half of what had been promised and therfore funding throughout the entire five county area beginning July 1 is going to be extremely difficult.

Tsismanakis emphasized the importance of looking to every possible avenue to find other means of funding the activities at CESA.

TEERS-Ten residents of the Port St. Lucie area have volunteered their making the newly organized Sunshine Committee a reality. The Sunshine is the latest community service sponsored by the CESA organization.

Multi-family zone gets protests

PORT ST. LUCIE—A progress report on the proposed 18-hole championship golf course was scheduled on the agenda at last Tuesday's City Council meeting. But before LeRoy Phillips, golf director for GDC could furnish the report, residents jumped their guns in voicing opposition to the multi-family units being planned in conjunction with the course.

Even Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh explaining that the multi-family zoning in Mid-Port adjacent to the course was not the issue at hand failed to calm several unhappy residents.

The zoning request will not be heard until the April 23 public hearing," the mayor said.

A request was made from the floor to reschedule the zoning appear until later in the year.

Irate property owners accused both General Development Corporation and members of the Port St. Lucie City Council of sneaking in the multi-family units while placing all the emphasis and publicity on the 18 hole championship golf course.

In addressing Robert Seeley, vice president and general manager of Port St. Lucie, one resident said: "If you think you are so right in your attitude about the community accepting multi-family units, table the matter until December when all the residents are back down here and put it up for a vote.

"I don't think that it is a fair or proper request, nor do I think the city council operates on a portion of the year," Seeley said. "I am not even sure than the plans for the multi-family units will even be put together or ready by December, but none the less I consider your request unfair.

Seeley went on to say that from the very onset of the project last June when the golf course was announced, so was the single family and the multi family dwellings.

Mayor Kavanaugh pointed out and agreed with Seeley that it was all included in the master plan and presented to the public in one package.

Councilman Lawrence Kimmel said that no one appeared when the master plan was presented last June. He pointed to the lack of concern on the part of the property owners until an issue hits close to home.

When Seeley reminded the group the plans were also presented during a meeting of the Country Club Homeowners Association at the St. Lucie Hilton several months ago.

There were approximately 200 present for that meeting. Many questions were raised, many comments made, but I did not hear one single complaint that night," Seeley said.

His comment only opened another avenue for a lady in the group.

"I was at that meeting," she said "and the only reason you did not get any complaints is because we were told that the multi-family units were twenty years out."

At this point and time, Councilman Frank Beardsley said that it was the multi-family units that will pay for the golf course.

City Attorney Rupert Smith assured those in the gathering there was no danger of Port St. Lucie becoming another Pompano or Fort Lauderdale. In that area they have density figures of 70 to 100 units per acre. In the city of Port St. Lucie we have a limit of 15 units per acre.

So far nobody has ever qualified for that," Kimmel said. "Most of them end up with about 10½ units per acre."

Tilton makes planning suggestions

JENSEN BEACH—Involving all of Martin County in a planning program is the goal that Pearl, Marwick, Mitchell and Co. has been proposed by Jensen Beach Realtor Ransom Tilton.

Martin County Commission Chairman Dr. Edward Geary said Tuesday that Tilton's suggestions were "good ideas" and said that he would read Tilton's letter at today's meeting Wednesday of the commission.

Dr. Geary said he would recommend that the county Comprehensive Planning Committee to pay close attention to one section of the letter which suggested that a Planning board with wide representation of a variety of groups work with the County Planning Staff and the firm of Pearl, Marwick and Mitchell.

Dr. Greary pointed out that the present Comprehensive Committee included commissioners and the planning staff.

Tilton also recommended that all of the county municipalities and school board become financially involved in retaining the services of the consulting firm to aid in planning.

It was noted by Dr. Geary that a representative of the school board should sit in on staff planning.

When we approve a subdivision the school system is effected," Geary said.

Tilton wrote his letter to Dr. Geary following the planning seminar last Saturday at Florida Institute of Technology.

I should like to commend and thank you and the board for having the Martin County Planning Seminar at FIT," Tilton wrote.

Wanted: an 'angel' to fund a hospital

BY DICK CAMPBELL

PORT ST. LUCIE—While the people of Port St. Lucie toted down the hospital bond issue recently, reasons given were varied, but most just didn't want to see the Ft. Pierce Hospital lose their money.

Many residents of Port St. Lucie use Ft. Pierce Hospital. Others use Martin Memorial Hospital. Still others go south to their hospitals in other states and others go south to larger, more well equipped hospitals in West Palm Beach and Miami.

Efforts have been made quietly in the past to establish a hospital in Port St. Lucie, but all have died for lack of money.

Money That seems to be the way. Money.

All hospitals with few exceptions are having a money crunch. Just last weekend a major Miami hospital filed a bankruptcy plea to allow the hospital board to pay some debts off without going into bankruptcy.

Fred Waggin has experienced the frustrations of trying to find some kind of hospital facility, small or large, to serve the people of the community. He has run into a blank wall wherever he has turned.

Most people take the time to tell him why something cannot be done, not how it might be tried.

He has opposition to his effort created by a hospital board member who does not want to see whatever support there is in Port St. Lucie for the Ft. Pierce Hospital, and that is minimal, go down the drain.

Waggin contacted the division of planning and evaluation of the Florida Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services and recently received a letter advising him that the Palm Beach Comprehensive Health Planning Council, which has jurisdiction over five counties was the proper agency to study the needs and adding.

In the expectation that the Council may be in the process of developing a study on local medical needs determination followed by the development of a local and areawide health plan I am sending a copy of your letter to the council."

The letter was signed J.N. Conger, chief.

Waggin contacted John Anderson the St. Lucie County member of the planning council and found that no such study or plan was made to include the health needs of Port St. Lucie.

Dr. Richard Q. Penick, former president of the Tri-County Medical Association a Jensen Beach physician, told The Mirror he took a "non-participation" attitude toward the work of the planning council because of the arbitrary manner in which the council would keep area hospitals from getting proper equipment.

With the planning council services less, there is no coordination, and there are delays in admissions, he said.

Penick said there was room for another hospital in the Jensen Beach Port St. Lucie area serving. If a private group or hospital there it would be used. But nobody wants to invest in a hospital because there are sers few that are making money.

The doctor cited the losses faced by Martin, St. Lucie and Indian River County hospitals and said, even the people won't pick up the tab with bond issues. They just don't want to pay.

He added that only someone who wants a tax writeoff would donate money to or finance a hospital.

A mobile unit, Penick said, might meet a temporary need, but he said that the people of Port St. Lucie area had deprived of any hospital need with a good ambulance service to the nearest hospitals.

Even a mobile health unit would be a great help, Waggin said. Let's get away from a negative attitude about a medical facility located in Port St. Lucie.

We do not have to have a sophisticated hospital we can go along with a mobile medical unit," Waggin continued.

A meeting has been scheduled for April 15 to pursue the possibilities of such a facility according to Waggin.

Those expected to attend include Ron Stutzman, president of the Port St. Lucie Branch of Citizens Federal; Robert W. McCormack, former HRS hospital engineer; John Anderson, Palm Beach Comprehensive Health Planning Council; and D. Albritton of the St. Lucie County fire department.

Sheehan will head W W

PORT ST. LUCIE—The Port St. Lucie Welcome Wagon Club has elected Mrs. Paul Mars Sheehan as its president for the coming year.

Other officers elected at the April 1 meeting include Virginia Petrush, first vice president; Maxine Smith, second vice president; Polly Ketcham, secretary; Marjorie Anderson, treasurer; and Cherry Brininger, historian.

The installation banquet will be held at the Pelican Yatch Club Ft. Pierce on Tuesday, May 21. Mrs. Metzger ... in charge of reservations.

The program included a very informative and heart warming talk by Mr. Ras Radtke, director of the Pioneer Occupational Center in Stuart.

A salad bar luncheon followed by a show and sell auction.

The monthly luncheon for the club will be held at the Hilltop House in Ft. Pierce on Monday, April 15. Cut off date for reservations is April 11. Call A. Metzger for reservations. The happy hour will begin at 11:30. Anyone wishing to play cards may do so until 4 p.m.

A bus trip to the West Palm Beach Mall is scheduled for Thursday, Apr. 25. Interested members should contact Kas Karbowniczek, 878-9680 as soon as possible for reservations.

Members who have been playing in the marathon bridge tournament will hold a luncheon at the marina on Monday, April 22 beginning at 12 noon.

OF-THE-MONTH—The beautifully landscaped yard of Mr. and Mrs. ... Prentiss, 172 Lobster Road, Port St. Lucie, has been selected by the ... Garden Club as the yard-of-the-month.

Coverlet will benefit CESA

PORT ST. LUCIE—The April 20 card party for the benefit of CESA Building Fund sponsored by the Beautiful Waters Homemakers Group of Port St. Lucie will be chaired by Mrs. W. Conley.

Special table prizes crafted by members of the club and door prizes will be a feature. Refreshments will be served.

The winning ticket for the quilted handmade coverlet worked on by club members will be drawn during the evening. Proceeds from the drawing will be earmarked for the CESA Building Fund.

Tickets for the coverlet can be purchased from Mrs. Alice Bowen, 465-2278, Mrs. Florence Armel, 878-0457, or any club member.

Play will begin at 1:00 p.m.

Serving on the committee with Mrs. Conley are Mesdames Mona Anderson, Helen Eberle, Anom Friedel, Millie Green, Betty Jones, Terry Helback, Irene Jaroszewicz, Ethel Nickelsen and Frankie Zugschwardt.

April Fool's Day came early for Clarence

BY TOM WRIGHT

JENSEN BEACH—April Fool's Day came early to Clarence Rydell this year on Thursday, March 28, to be exact.

Clarence got to work early last Thursday and it started off as any other normal day, if a gas station operator can call any day normal. He greeted his customers much as he does day after day and got the same friendly response his greeting usually evoke in return.

About the only thing that he recalls that he did differently was to remind those customers who were local merchants that his committee was inviting them to attend a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce office at eight that night.

He remained busy that day checking to make sure that the plates on the cars that he filled were even numbered, he wanted to avoid trouble and a fine. Clarence as a conscientious operator and he had worked hard during the gas shortage taking care of his fellows and seeing to it that they all had enough gas to tide them through each week.

He had made a lot of friends during the shortage because of the way he had treated them.

Certainly, he had every reason to think that this Thursday was going to be a good day and no trouble would befall him. In fact he did have a good day. He just didn't know that after the sun went down this special event would follow close behind.

He remembered that when he left the station and locked up he didn't have to rush anywhere as his son wasn't playing a baseball game and he wouldn't have to dash off somewhere and then rush back to make dinner and pick up the meeting at the Chamber of Commerce.

He says he relaxed a bit at home and thought about the plans that he and his committee had made at several prior meetings and how he and the committee had come to the conclusion that there should be an open meeting of the Retail Merchants Committee.

Invitations went out to the local merchants to come and discuss their problems and air any ideas that they might have concerning the commercial betterment of Jensen Beach.

Clarence even remembers smiling as he thought of the 200 odd balance in the committee's account. He had thought that it was pretty nice to have some money in the bank to begin the committee's new year.

He drove to the Chamber office and along the way went over what he would say to the assembled 20 or 30 members when they met. In less than an hour he had forgotten his speech.

Only three of the community minded merchants showed.

Adult driver course is set

STUART--A course in driver education for adults will start at Martin County High School Wednesday, April 17 at 7 p.m.

The course, which stresses the importance of good driving habits, includes road driving experience to meet the needs of each student.

Rules of the road, regulations, and the laws of driving are covered in the course.

A "Drivacator" which combines taped lectures, still projector, and motion pictures, is used for instruction. With this teaching aid, each student can respond individually to test questions.

Registration for the course will be held at the time of the first meeting of the class at Martin County High School Library.

Registration fee, which includes behind-the-wheel instruction, is $20 payable at the time of registration.

Women's luncheon set for April 16

STUART--Mrs. Sandra Randolph, supervisor of elections, will be the principal speaker when the Republican Women's Club of Martin County meets at the Cross's Nest Restaurant in Rio at noon on April 16.

Mrs. Randolph's subject will be "A Report on Secretary of State's Workshop on Elections." Republican women and men are cordially invited to attend. Reservations are required and may be made by calling Mrs. Pat Mitchell at 287-3993.

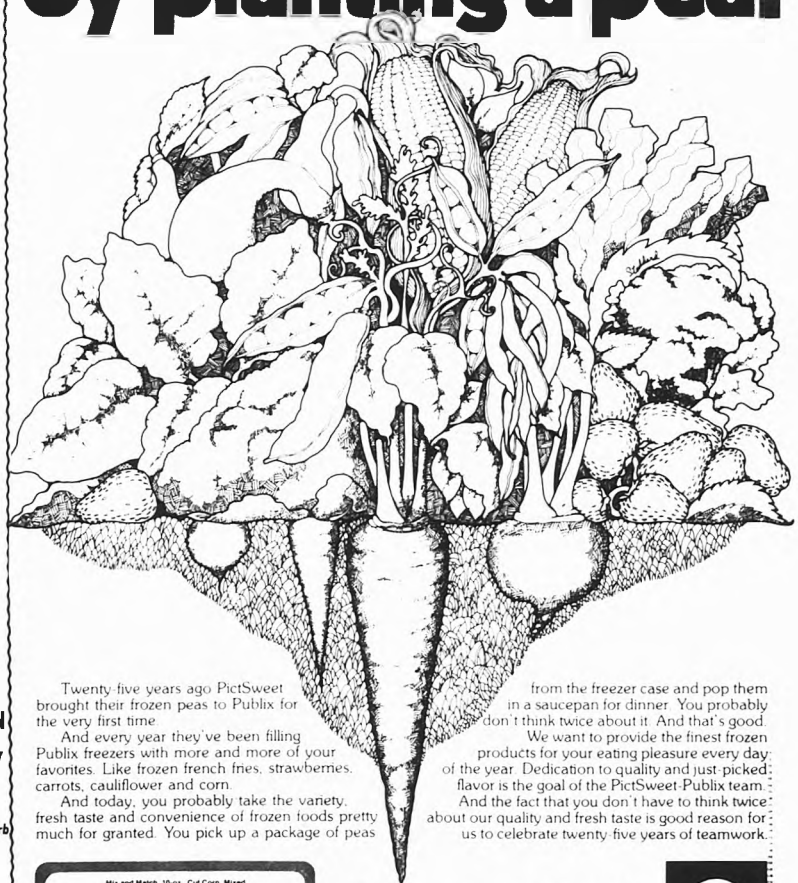
It all started by planting a pea.



Twenty-five years ago PictSweet brought their frozen peas to Publix for the very first time.

And every year they've been filling Publix freezers with more and more of your favorites. Like frozen french fries, strawberries, carrots, cauliflower and corn.

And today, you probably take the variety, fresh taste and convenience of frozen foods pretty much for granted. You pick up a package of peas from the freezer case and pop them in a saucepan for dinner. You probably don't think twice about it. And that's good.

We want to provide the finest frozen products for your eating pleasure every day of the year. Dedication to quality and just-picked flavor is the goal of the PictSweet-Publix team.

And the fact that you don't have to think twice about our quality and fresh taste is good reason for us to celebrate twenty-five years of teamwork.

"See How They Run" has done just that and now we are all cast and ready to go on the next go-around. "Spoon River Anthology" to be presented sometime near the middle of May. The cast as it now stands: Hank Langbehn, Bob Carruthers, Jackie Muckler, Ron Hutson, Minabelle and Roger Conant, Linda Buckosh, Bertha and Shields McManus, Jim Wheelus, Lorraine Paduano, Betty Ann Howanitz, Peter Frechette, Merci Birnn, Doris Thurston & Cindy Walden. The Ampersand Gallery in Hobe Sound is providing the Costume lady, Peggy Patillo, those intrepid workers, Betty Smith and Jerry Knouse have again agreed to be house managers, and most important our Director will be Ray Hilton, who will lend his magic touch to this very difficult production.

Sights and sounds of briefly visited areas. Some of the streets of Berkeley are lined with flowering trees. Cherry trees or flowering plum cover cars with clouds of pink blossoms. The camellias are in bloom — pink and red and white. One sees all this through the window in bright sunshine and one dresses accordingly. The door opens: five steps outside the door and back inside to put on woolies. It is COLD — at least to us Florida types.

But it was spring in California and the flowers were just magnificent. Every imaginable color from the tints on the tiny primrose-type ground flowers to the towering scotch broom trees with their sunny yellow plumes. Even the evergreens were covered with miniscule yellow dots of color. Magnolias, heather, lilies that look like gone-wild lilies-of-the-valley, grape hyacinths, calla lilies — everywhere there was color.

Dungeness crabs and tiny pink bay shrimp — mounds of each drenched with Louis Sauce in a restaurant built on concrete pilings in San Francisco Bay. Look to the south to see the Bay Bridge, look to the west, straight through the Golden Gate Bridge to Japan and another bridge across the upper bay to the north. Big ski lodge type fireplaces roaring, doesn't matter most of the heat goes up the big chimneys. The feeling is warm and friendly. Glassware and china, simple and thin, nice silverware, plus an attentive, courteous waitress serving up all that crab and shrimp does make for a most pleasant hour or two.

The helicopter ride over sparkly San Francisco and up the bay, the hippie boy with his psychedelic painted car and his soft-eyed golden retriever — Taxi, Unlimited. Buying a 45 foot mylar dragon kite in Ghirardelli Square in a shop caled "Come Fly a Kite", run by a champion kite flyer of dozens of competitions. Mylar is a light, but tough foil and those of you who remember the ballroom scene in the melodrama "Streets of New York" — mylar was the material used for the mirrors.

The much-touted boat ride around San Francisco Harbor took place on a bright and shiny day — the finest California has to offer. Turkey sandwiches with carrot and celery sticks were served paper-bag style by our host. We went in very close to Alcatraz Ugh. The sun left the sky and it turned cold. Dreadful place.

I had waited four long years to get back to San Francisco's China Town. Suey gow is a delight and it tasted just as expected — crisp and hot and filled with spicy meat. The flavor defies description and we, of course, stuffed ourselves. After walking miles to digest all that food — we took the kids to Blum's back in Berkeley for totally unnecessary mounds of ice cream, hot fudge and whipped cream with nuts, cherries and all. My!

Transportation is so great in San Francisco — trolleys, coaches and the everloving cable car. The Wells Fargo history room the Cable Car power house. Louise Nevelson's 80 sculptures on exhibit, a doctor who, when called, said "come on in — now" — and he meant it. A three minute wait. Leg muscles one never uses in Florida come into play on the upper and downer of San Francisco streets. Stores like Cost Plus and Akron with acres of merchandise of every description from three-cent brass bells to thousand dollar antique chests. The Ghirardelli Chocolate factory has a soda shop enough to make a chocolatophile cry. Ever tried white chocolate? The palate refuses to accept the fact it tastes the same.

To top a perfect visit, I saw James Whitmore as Will Rogers and he was marvelous. He transformed himself from a rather stiff, jacketed man with horned rimmed glasses into a slouching, gum-chewing, very funny man. His monologue in the first act was almost one hour in length and the second act nearly as long. The text sounded as if it had been written yesterday but all related to things in the news 40 or 50 years ago. From my balcony seat, looking down at him, he even looked like Will Rogers.

Your reporter thoroughly enjoyed a recent visit from her sister and brother-in-law, Ida and Albert Emerity of Jackson, N.J. They drove down to Daytona Beach with friends, rented a car and went to the west coast to visit before coming to us. They were easy to entertain, because both adore the beach and they spent many happy hours there fishing, searching for shells, swimming and watching the pelicans dive-bomb into a school of fish. We were all amazed to find a young couple skinny-dipping when we went to Park and Fish, but apparently it bothered us more than it did them.

They arrived Sunday, March 31, to find our daughter Jill Harris and grandchildren Shannon and Mark of Hobe Sound waiting to greet them. The occasion called for their favorite chef, Jack, to prepare his specialty, barbequed ribs and chicken.

If the voters approve the charter July 16, there will be sufficient time to prepare a property tax roll to give the county tax assessor so the new city will be eligible for 1974 taxes which comes out in November.

Present millage for the Jensen Beach area, Taxing District 1, is 17.2 mills, and it would be replaced by the three mill cap, Hansen said.

The Incorporation Committee recommended that candidates for the council and mayor commit themselves to the three mill cap.

The three mills will qualify the city for state aid, and it has been estimated by the committee that the state aid would be about $40,000.

Hansen said that members of the committee will explain the charter at town clubs and organizations before July 16.

If the charter is approved, a council would be elected in September and the city charter taking effect Oct. 1.

The committee was formed several months ago after petitions were circulated in the community favoring incorporation. More than 1,000 signatures were on the petitions.

Several weeks ago, following a meeting with Powers, Price commented that there wasn't a lot of enthusiasm on the board for COG.

A preliminary meeting was held March 7 at most of the governments represented. Powers had hoped to have a formal organizational meeting this month.

Powers first proposed COG last December at the Martin County Commission meeting. He cited the need for cooperation in planning for development of north Martin and south St. Lucie counties. His four points of immediate concern dealt with population density, water and sewage and other governmental communications and roads.

In a recent Hutchinson Island study by the Florida Department of Administration, Division of State Planning, Bureau of Land Planning, it was pointed out that the two counties and their major municipalities are considering establishment of COG.

The planned establishment of the council was one of the reasons given by ... to local control and not the state over the island development.

The Mirror has editorially called for the formation of such an agency for the past five years.

Burning law announced

JENSEN BEACH-A emergency drought conditions in Martin County has been declared by Gov. Reuben Askew, and Jensen Beach Fire Chief Randolph Spinney said Tuesday that as there will not be any burning until further notice.

"I talked to Foresters people this morning," the chief said, "and I was told that all burning was banned until further notice."

While the rangers have been battling thousands of wildfires in recent weeks in South Florida counties, Chief Spinney said the last brush fire in the Jensen Beach area was March 11.

"We have to have a good rain before any burning will be permitted," Chief Spinney reported the Foresters officials as saying.

The governor declared that it is unlawful for any person to set fire to any forest, grass, woods, wild land or marshes or to build a campfire or smudge fire to bully brush or other debris when such shall be upon any grass, woods, wildlands or marshlands in any of these counties [illegible] without a written permit from the Division of Forestry.

HOTLINE-Jensen Beach Fire Chief Randolph Spinney talks to the Foresters rangers in Indiantown after the burning ban was announced Tuesday.

Charter explanation each week in The Mirror

JENSEN BEACH-A complete section-by-section explanation of the proposed Charter of the City of Jensen Beach begins this week on page 9 of The Mirror.

Each week the sections of the Charter will be explained so that residents will have a complete explanation of the legal document. The explanations, a public service of The Mirror, are appearing in boldface type with each other of the pages. Readers may clip the Charter as they are printed, and keep it in a notebook.

ACQUISITION-Answering questions at a press conference to announce the agreement for First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart and American Security Bank of Martin County to join the Sun Bank holding company were, left to right, Tully Dunlap, chairman of the executive committee and Dennis B. Hudson, chairman of the board of Sun Banks.

Community support needed by band

MARTIN COUNTY–Martin County High School needs you and it will not cost you a cent! Last week was the beginning of a drive to collect Colgate Palmolive labels and boxtops. Response is progressing satisfactorily according to Mrs. Ben Fulton Band Mother Chairman. Band students hope to reach their goal of new band uniforms for next year, ONLY if the community will support the project by saving proofs of purchase. Collection boxes for depositing the proofs of purchase have been set up in various grocery stores throughout the area.

Throughout their vacation week band members were seen knocking on doors asking friends and neighbors to be aware of Colgate Palmolive products that will bring cash of 2 cents to 30 cents.

This week Ken Mauger Band Director listed the importance of ordering the band uniforms. Now in order to assure delivery for the beginning of the 74-75 school year. Details of the appearance of the uniforms will be listed in the new future, but the approximate price will be slightly over $125. More than 100 uniforms will be needed.

The campaign will continue until the end of the school year. At this time it is hoped that the goal will have been reached and the band, all high school students and the community will be proud that they had a part in making M.C.H.S. BAND the best in every way.

Start this week to save those Colgate Palmolive labels, flaps and tops. Let's show these students that our community will help them reach the goal. Three Cheers For The M.C.H.S. BAND!

Everyone is packing to go home, and except for the lingering Easter visitors the park would be nearly empty.

By now Dottie & Bill Studebaker are home again in Kansas, and Edie &

Steve Polston should be just about in Walkerton, Ontario.

Dean and Shirley Whitfield and their carload of five boys and a cat have gone back to Illinois until next season.

Dorris and Stu Bicknell left Monday for Alma, Mich., and Peggy & John Fleming have also gone home to Alma.

Erma and Gordie St. Louis packed their new van, and with Erma driving the car left this morning for North Carolina. Fred Pascoe also left for home.

Carrie and Charley Ullmann treated themselves to a short trip to Key West to stretch their legs before leaving for Stephanie and Fred Kiefaber visited relatives in Orlando last Friday.

Rosemary & Greg Sells brought their new customized Rolls International into the park and it's just beautiful.

Bridge players, attention. Thursday's card night will start at 7:30 p.m. instead of the usual 8 o'clock. Don't forget now, and be late.

Shirley and Dean Whitfield bought a huge ham. Joan Byrne baked it, and the rest of the party brought hot dishes to make up a super-duper Easter dinner. Attending were Shirley and Dean, three sons, Jim, Drew & Todd, along with their friends Joe and Danny, Joan & Roger Byrne, with Leslie & Danny, Evie and Marvin Smith, Gert and Bob Long, Gladys & Howard Kirkpatrick, Bea & Oscar Lupke, Judy Tyler, Betty Taylor, Art Nagy, Skip Nagy, Doris & Ray Nealis, and new lot owners Carolyn & Jim Allen. Jim's coming birthday was celebrated with a cake and a card signed by all present.

Nora Turner popped in to tell me that Ada & Pike Stuart have left for home, as has Dr. Darling.

The Holiday Out Pavilion Church Easter service was attended by 128 people. The musical program was given by the Hobe Sound Bible College young people. Mrs. Sheila Thomas played piano, and Mrs. Anne French played the organ. Sheila & Urlan Thomas sang a duet, and Sheila followed with the anthem. A quartet of young men sang Easter hymns. Rev. Neil Gunsalus brought the Easter message. Martha Lewis was in charge of refreshments, and the Fellowship Hour following the service.

Bingo winners, Sat., April 13: Lona Parker, Howard Miles, Elsie Bell, Herb Martin, Gertrude Simpson, Doris Costello, Carrie Lang with Terry Reid winning the final coverall. The Good Neighbor game was won by relatives of the Wehlages, Tim Voges, with Katie & Bruce Voges on either side. The special coverall will go to 56 numbers next week.

At the trailer warming party on J. Vansant's patio April 4 were: Edna Vansant, back, Liz Faust, Nora Turner, Betty Taylor, Erna St. Louis, Al, Ray, Martha Lewis and Bert Turner.

Birthdays: Sid Burr, 4-15; Jim Allen, 4-19. Anniversaries: Agnes & Harold Landis, 4-17, and Catherine & Patrick Taylor, 4-19. Congratulations and good wishes to them all.

Friends of former lot owner Frank "Barney" Barnette were pleased to see the picture of his daughter, Jane, in last week's Mirror. Jane completed her training as nurses' aide, and we all offer her our congratulations.

I have been getting inquiries about Kay Stephenson, and so asked her good friend Ruth Howes how she was. Kay is up to her ears in a legal snarl, and has had many other problems of late. She and her mother still intend to come to the park and spend a week or two, but business matters must come first. OK, Kay, but we all miss you.

This coming Saturday is the last Board meeting of this season, and matters of interest to us all will be discussed. All owners still in the park should attend this last meeting to hear the Board's plans for the coming year.

H. C. Murphy plans 200 homes

PORT ST. LUCIE—A new model ...e was recently opened in Port St. ...ie. The model is a Hoyt C. ...rphy Inc. home. A home where the accent is on modern construction and convenience at an unusually low price.

Hoyt C. Murphy, Inc. Realtors have once again pioneered in meeting the current demand for a reasonably priced home in a suburban setting.

Murphy is not a newcomer to the Port St. Lucie area. He originally pioneered in this area more than 15 years ago when he sold an original 4,500 acres to Cowles Publications and built the first home constructed in the River Park area on Beach Street.

Following the same basic plans as the new model, Murphy plans to build over two hundred new homes, both two and three bedrooms in the area.

Features in the proposed new homes will include: 2 baths, central heat and air conditioning, kitchen "ceiling of light" dishwasher, disposal, walk in closets, large concrete back patio and a closed garage.

The model home was constructed by Cook Construction Company, landscaped by Hayslip landscaping, decorated by Carol Interiors and furnished by Badcock.

Over the past twenty-five years, Hoyt C. Murphy Inc. Realtors has been one of the largest real estate organizations on the entire Treasure Coast with offices located in Fort Pierce, Vero Beach and Orlando.

The organization is involved in every facet of real estate dealings, including international sales and development projects.

WELCOMING—On hand at the recent opening of the model home in Port St. ...ie was, left to right, Hoyt C. Murphy, realtor, with associates Clara Belle ...ng and Carl Jackson. Murphy plans to construct 200 homes in the Port St. ...ie area, both two and three bedroom, at a reasonable price.

MODEL OPEN—A Hoyt C. Murphy, Inc. Realtors model home was recently opened in Port St. Lucie. With the emphasis on construction convenience and a reasonable price, Murphy plans to construct over 200 homes in the Port St. Lucie area.

SKYLINE DRIVE—3 bedrooms, Florida room, dining room. On corner lot, priced right.

JENSEN BEACH—Good location. 2 bedrooms, 2 baths, Florida room, screened porch. On dead end street, $32,750.

5 ACRES ZONED AGRICULTURE. Close by, only $2400 per acre.

JUST REDUCED IN PRICE, NOT IN VALUE, golf course lot with all utilities in. Situated on Saints course with wondrous view, on a wide boulevard, probably one of the best lot buys in the entire area at $25,000.

We sold nearly every villa at the club one time or another, but this beautiful Fairway Model on Morningside Blvd. is surely one particularly pleasing to the eye. From sparkling clean roof to the fresh painted interior, it is spotless. Colors are softly blending to compliment the wall to wall carpeting throughout and the vinyl in the kitchen and utility room. There is a timer on the new air conditioner, to mention just one of the many extra features. A Very Fair Value at $28,900 with an assumable mortgage.

CESA fund seeks $250,000

PORT ST. LUCIE—The quarter million dollar CESA fund drive will be kicked off this Sunday. The expanded cultural center that will include an assembly hall seating 500, a senior citizen's lounge and art and ceramics classrooms will hang in the success of this one day drive, according to CESA president Don Lander.

Fund Raising Committee Chairman Mel Bloom, also a trustee and director of the Cultural Educational and Social Association of Port St. Lucie Inc., a charitable, non profit organization announced that all systems are go for the Sunday afternoon fund raiser that is expected to reach all community residents.

We hope to knock on every door and ask residents to dig into their pockets to give us the kind of financial support we need from them and the business community so that we can build a cultural center here that will be the envy of the entire state.

There will be something for everybody this time, what with a big assembly hall that will attract drama buffets and other groups to the community, a lounge where people can drop in any time to watch television, listen to stereo music, play cards, have a snack or just associate with their neighbors, a gift shop for articles made by residents, a dark room, an art room, a ceramics room, a general purpose workshop and a picnic area.

What we are doing is for everyone in the community, to have a community center with services and facilities to meet its every need. Please give us your help, he said.

Bloom explained that residents will be able to have a memorial in the new facilities in the form of names engraved on a permanent plaque or by pledging or donating $100 or more as to have their name on an added permanent plaque.

We hope to collect as much cash as possible in order to get construction started this summer, but one has said from most pledges will be paid over a two year period, he announced.

If a resident wants his Bronze plaque to be on display as soon as possible he can do so by paying the $100 pledge in full at once, or in three years and six three pledging $100 yearly are a little behind on their pledges are urged to.

Assisting working with Judd Readings building committee has prepared a preliminary floor plan for the 4,000 square foot expansion program and emphasized that the actual campaign theme will focus on right this time, here together with a brochure, newsletter and all necessary campaign literature.

CESA [illegible] Area residents and businessmen reported that all those responsible for assistance for the drive and expressed their appreciation for the [illegible] Bloom, Judd Reading, Mel Bloom, [illegible] who have been named chairman of the committees for the campaign and business men that those organizing the activities, either personally or through a corporation, [illegible] a contribution to the fund.

H. C. Murphy plans 200 homes

PORT ST. LUCIE—A new model home was recently opened in Port St. Lucie on The model is a Hoyt C. Murphy Inc. home. A home where the accent is on modern construction and convenience at an unusually low price.

Hoyt C. Murphy, Inc. Realtors have once again pioneered in meeting the current demand for a reasonably priced home in a suburban setting.

Murphy is not a newcomer to the Port St. Lucie area. He originally pioneered in this area more than 15 years ago, when he sold an original 6,500 acres to Cowles Publications and built the first home constructed in the River Park area on Beach Street.

Following the same basic plans as the new model, Murphy plans to build over two hundred new homes, both two and three bedrooms in the area.

Features in the proposed new homes will include, 2 baths, central heat and air conditioning, kitchen "ceiling of light," dishwasher, disposal, walk-in closets, large concrete back patio and a closed garage.

The model home was constructed by Cook Construction Company, landscaped by Hayslip landscaping, decorated by Carol Interiors and furnished by Badcock.

Over the past twenty-five years, Hoyt C. Murphy, Inc., Realtors has been one of the largest real estate organizations on the entire Treasure Coast with offices located in Fort Pierce, Vero Beach and Orlando.

The organization is involved in every facet of real estate dealings, including international sales and development projects.

WELCOMING—On hand at the recent opening of the model home in Port St. Lucie was, left to right, Hoyt C. Murphy, realtor, with associates Clara Belle Peg and Carl Jackson. Murphy plans to construct 200 homes in the Port St. Lucie area, both two and three bedroom, at a reasonable price.

MODEL OPEN—A Hoyt C. Murphy, Inc., Realtors model home was recently opened in Port St. Lucie. With the emphasis on construction, convenience and a reasonable price, Murphy plans to construct over 200 homes in the Port St. Lucie area.

JUST REDUCED IN PRICE, NOT IN VALUE, golf course lot with all utilities in Situated on Saints course with wondrous view, on a wide boulevard, probably one of the best lot buys in the entire area at $25,000.

We sold nearly every villa at the club one time or another, but this beautiful Fairway Model on Morningside Blvd. is surely one particularly pleasing to the eye. From sparkling clean roof to the freshly painted interior, it is spotless. Colors are softly blending to compliment the wall to wall carpeting throughout and the vinyl in the kitchen and utility room. There is a timer on the new air conditioner, to mention just one of the many extra features. A Very Fair Value at $28,000 with an assumable mortgage.

Church building is dedicated

GUARDS BE GUN -The congregation the North Stuart Baptist Church held its inaugural services at their new church Building on Easter Sunday

During the services, conducted by the Rev Robert E Lee, the facilities were dedicated as the Walter C Crowell Jr Building

Crowell was a charter member church clerk and deacon of the church He was vice president of Dickerson Inc of Florida at the time of his death last September

Members of his family attended the dedication services

It is our desire that this building shall speak a universal language to the human heart of peace and goodwill among the membership with a warm invitation to likeminded people to be a part of us the Rev Lee said during the dedication ceremony

A portrait of Crowell by Muriel C Seplapane was hung during the services

The North Stuart Baptist Church was organized Oct 11 1973 with 10 members and services were held at the community room of the First National Bank and Trust Company until Sunday

Groundbreaking for the new church was held about four months ago and the facility was completed in time for the Easter services Membership at present totals 83 the Rev Lee said

Located on the west side of U S 1 south of the Jensen Beach Cutoff Road the facility is on six and a half acres of land and the Crowell Building with property and furnishings is valued at about $375 000

The Crowell Building is an all purpose facility containing the worship area choir loft nursery offices and is equipped with an organ

OUTGOING president Ed Harvey turned the podium over to 1974 president Jim Leone at Martin Counts Builder s Association ceremonies Saturday at St Lucie Hilton Inn

Can't whistle a symphony...

'Sensible growth' keynotes Leone's installation

BY JOE CAMPBELL

PORT ST LUCIE-Striking a restrictions on building in Martin County the new president of the Martin County Builder's Association called for a combined effort of builders in bringing about sensible growth rather than the controlled growth sought by county officials

Jim Leone set the tone of his administration of the politically potent builder group by telling those gathered at the St Lucie Hilton installation dinner Friday night that Nothing gets better by staying the same

Does controlled growth mean harassing builders?

Does controlled growth mean having your plans and projects shunted back and forth between county departments he asked

Leone who has the rights for rejecting projects for obscure reasons and for doing their utmost to convince the citizens of Martin County that anyone connected with the construction industry has no regard for the problems of our county and that all we are interested in is making a fast buck and moving on

Leone called for more active participation in county government decision-making seeking sensible growth that balances environmental needs with the needs of present and future generations He asked that the builders should provide the input so our local government will be encouraged to adopt policies which bring about sensible growth

Critical of the recent slowdown in construction Leone said While we must do what had to be done we anticipated the slowdown in the Martin County surface we have seen and the slowdown cannot all be blamed on the energy crisis

Leone praised the work of outgoing president Ed Harvey and the work of the builder legislative committee and its chairman Larry Timon who was most instrumental in defeating the county charter Tuesday

He called for a doubling of the builder membership in the near year quoting Theodore Roosevelt as saying every man owes a part of his time and money to the business of industry in which he is engaged No man has the right to withhold his support from an organization that is striving to improve conditions

Steve Abramson president of the Florida Home Builders Association called efforts to pass the growth policy of Florida an effort to stop growth adding that the recently passed condominium bill shakes the foundations of condominium building in Florida

Abramson installed Leone with Dale Johnson first vice president Larry Timon second vice president Dixie Lee Geary secretary and William Ayers treasurer Directors installed included Joe Mueller Henry Crane Anthony Signore Bob Guerdorf Lee Smith Paul Gliedman Jeff Price Jack Hodapp and Ed Harvey

ARTICLE II BOUNDARIES

ARTICLE II BOUNDARIES

It is doubtful if many people can interpret the official boundary description which was prepared and attested to by a registered professional surveyor The following describes the corporate limits in a layman's language

The western boundry will be the west right of way side U S Highway one The south border will adjoin the Stuart and Sewall's Point northern corporate limits The east side will be the center of the Indian River channel The north boundry will be the Martin St Lucie County line excludes the Town of Ocean Breeze Park

There are approximately ten square miles of area within the boundries The population on November first 1973 was approximately 8500 according to both Florida Power and Light and Post Office figures The County Supervisor of elections tells us that we have 4841 registered voters in the area There was a 30 percent increase in

Venture Out News Notes

RECHAIL RAMBLINGS
BY THORNTON COOK

The pot-luck last Monday preceded by a happy half hour was enjoyed by forty diners. Isn't it amazing how well balanced the menus turn out without being preplanned?

George Sterling won the weekly billiard tournament — again. If this keeps up there will be no need for an April play-off.

Although the social events for the season are winding down, the happy hour weiner roast — picnic dinner was enjoyed by 130 resorters Saturday evening. As usual, everyone said they had eaten too much then asked when the next one was to be held.

As the winter season draws to a close it is time to acknowledge our debt of gratitude to those who made the recreational program run these past two months. Lacking a hired staff, the Venture Out Let Owners Club committee appointed supervisors to plan and carry out activities for the benefit of park residents. These were thankless assignments so we all should express our appreciation for jobs well done to Al Suckow—sports; Mercy Whitney—hall; Millie Middleton—exercises; Joe Freitag—photography and Ed and Tani Weimer—social, for the countless hours of unstinting effort expended to make our season more enjoyable for all.

Larry and Hilda Atkins have enjoyed a weeks visit from Larry's sister and brother-in-law, Gertrude and Bernard Landau. They are teachers in New York City and had to return to the cold north.

Joe and Selma Valaro are returning to V.O.M.H. Tuesday with great thankfulness.

Max and Thelma Dickey are here for a short visit — Max must return to Hobart, Indiana but Thelma will remain to enjoy the sunshine until Max can come back.

The Baumann's returned to New Jersey after a month in the park.

The daughter and son-in-law and children of George and Lee Chambers arrived Friday for the Easter week-end. A great time was had with a private Easter egg hunt.

Ida and Harry Hausman with their friend Warda Schmidt drove to Lake Wales to see the Passion Play on Good Fridayd. Very beautiful and impressive.

Betty and Paul Drinkard are enjoying their guests Aunt and Uncle Alice and Harold Wynn and mother and father Clarence and Evelyn Arnold.

Dotty and Sam Tucker are spending three days in West Palm.

A delightful brunch was given by Fran Tener to celebrate Catherine Higgins' birthday on April 8.

Happy to see Bobby Osterlag back after a 2-week visit with her daughter Gail, and son in-law, Mike, in Tampa on the "worst" coast.

The ternes are returning to Indian River, seeking a sunny and sandy spot to raise their families. Not much space left for them, sorry to say.

Wilda Wilson reports:

Mr. and Mrs. Martabano and children arrived on their lost 664 to spend the Easter week.

Guy and Jane Richdale have returned to their lot 675. Son John and one of his friends are with them.

Bob and Martha Pierce from Pembroke P-i-nes are on their lot 742 for the weekend.

Fran Tener reports:

Recently Ida and Harry Hausman took advantage of a bus trip to see "Holiday on Ice" at the West Palm Beach Auditorium. Too bad that more from Venture OUt did not get to see this spectacular show and "glamourizers." The Housmans report that it was a very enjoyable outing. They also attended a production of the Passion Play at Lake Wales, and really take advantage of the many things to see and do in this area.

Hilda and Larry Atkins had company for a week. Bernie and Gertrude Landau (Larry's sister), both teachers from Yonders, N.Y.

Grandma Lee Chambers gave her grandchildren an exciting Easter Sunday. The day before she had them and Elsa Heins' grandchildren busily decorating eggs and on Easter Sunday they had an egg hunt with prizes. Lee & George's daughter and her husband came up with the children and they all had a great time.

Betty Jones has a new ostrich egg to work on. Her imagination is always working to think up new ways to decorate eggs. Her eggs are so very attractive, and so varied. They have drawers and doors, and all sorts of complicated arrangements done in miniature. Betty has now tried hand-painting an egg and has done a lovely oriental-type flower study on a beautiful blue background; the egg mounted on a small teak stand. We think she will be doing more hand-painting of eggs in the future now that she has been so successful on her first try.

Louise Shepherd is expecting Becky Forsyth of Punta Gorda for a few days. Luckily Louise has just completed knitting a beautiful poncho for her daughter in law so she can have more free time to visit.

Mary Beth and Bobby Jones of Birmingham, Ala. are enjoying their visit with aunt and uncle Betty and Al Jones.

Thelma and Max Dickey arrived Friday, April 5 after a terrible trip down from Indiana in the wake of the tornados. They travelled in torrential rains and narrowly missed being in an area that was badly hit. Luckily they had stopped for a minor car repair and that delayed them fortunately, just long enough to allow the worst of the storm to hit down the road ahead of them. They were certainly glad to get here and we are happy to have them safe and sound and raring to enjoy the beach and sunshine.

Bob and Kay Smith have had their troubles too. Bob unfortunately turned off the wrong switch when they went on vacation, cutting off the freezer instead of the hot water heater. They hope the smell and sight they met on their return will never be repeated. Molds of all colors, cans that had burst, and a complete mess. Kay has scrubbed and aired and cleaned for days so that the freezer looks brand new, but she still thinks there is an odor so has it full of air fresheners and other remedies. For a perfect housekeeper like Kay, this was a particularly hard experience. However, Betty Drinkard lightened the mood by writing a witty poem telling the sad tale, and Kay and Bob have framed it as a constant reminder to Bob to pull the right switch.

Last week Ida and Harry Hausman entertained their friend Harry Ashworth from Torquay, England. He really enjoyed a two day trip and tour of the Kennedy Space Center and Cypress Gardens. Another day was spent at Disney World. He also enjoyed some fishing in the surf and thought our park was just great. He concluded his visit by a stop at the West Palm Mall on the way to the airport last saturday.

Ida and Harry Hausman report on their New Orleans & Blossom Trail tour as follows:

First day a stop at Westville Ga. an 1850 village and then on to Columbus. From there to Montgomery the capitol and Pine Mountain and the beautiful Callaway Gardens.

Sunday we visited Jackson, Miss. and the Mynelles flower gardens and historic Vicksburg.

Monday we toured the Natchez Mansions after a stop at Baton Rouge we arrived in New Orleans in late evening.

Tuesday and Wednesday was spend sightseeing and enjoying the cruise on the Mississippi River along with the night life.

Thursday we stopped at Mobile Ala. and then at the famous Hellingrath Gardens, and then on to Tallahassee.

Don Wilkie expands garden center services

JENSEN BEACH-Florida Nursery in the Savannahs Shopping Center on Commercial Street opened on May 1 two years ago.

"We have expanded our operation to a one stop neighborhood garden center," owner-operator Don Wilkie said.

Wilkie, who did the landscaping for General Development Corp. for more than five years, has all the plants, seeds and supplies for a person who likes to work in his yard and see his shrubs grow.

A native of Deerfield, Mass. where he was a tobacco farmer, Wilkie was an advertising salesman in Philadelphia before moving to Florida about 20 years ago.

Wilkie said he decided to swap his white collar job for outdoor work when he went into the landscaping work.

He said that he did the landscaping work at the par three golf course and tennis courts at Port St. Lucie and the Hilton Inn plus doing the homes in the Country Club area.

Wilkie, who is active in civic affairs in Jensen Beach, a director of the Chamber of Commerce, was one of the first businesses in the shopping center.

He still does residential landscaping while running his neighborhood garden center.

Asked what plants were the most popular among the Jensen area residents Wilkie replied: "The crown of thorn and carissus since they require the least care."

Kentucky couple operate Patiorama

JENSEN BEACH—The Patiorama and Knitting Knook, 809 SR 707 at the Jensen Beach Arch, offers area shoppers a wide variety of patio furniture, knitting supplies and homemade gifts.

The bright and colorful items at the shop with an unusual fountain in the front yard was opened last October by E.W. Lauder.

His wife, Gerry, is in charge of the knitting Knook and she is an experienced hand at needlework. She said she learned at an early age back home in Louisville, Ky. how to knit, chrochet and quilt.

Knitting is popular now and cheaper to make items yourself rather than buy them, Mrs. Lauder said.

Grace Martin also works in the knitting knook along with Mrs. Lauder.

Operating the gift shop with many items she makes herself is Peggy Compton. We have many and a variety of items in the gift shop and they are homemade, she said.

Lauder was in the electrical business in Louisville for 27 years before coming to Jensen Beach and opening the Patiorama.

We have been coming to the area for many years on vacation, he said.

DIRECTORY—The new 1974-75 telephone directories are being delivered and will continue to be hand delivered until May 6. Looking over the new ones are Chickey, left, president of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, and Glenn Sutton manager of Southern Bell Telephone Co. in the Jensen Beach and Stuart area.

New directories

Equal billing for Jensen Beach

JENSEN BEACH—The 1974-75 telephone directory for the Jensen Beach area is being delivered this week and will continue to May 6, Glenn Sutton said Tuesday.

Sutton, Southern Bell Telephone Co. manager for the Jensen Beach and Stuart area, said the colorful new directories are being hand delivered.

"If a resident doesn't receive the directory by May 6, they should call the office," Sutton said.

Jensen Beach, Port St. Lucie and Stuart all have equal representation both in the white pages and the yellow pages, Sutton said.

The three areas have the same size type on the front page with Hobe Sound and surrounding communities in small type.

In last year's directory, Stuart and Port St. Lucie were listed in large type with including Jensen Beach in small type.

After the directories were circulated in the community, it raised such an uproar that Southern Bell had to issue a 16 page book for the Jensen Beach area.

To plan for the 1974-75 phone book, a Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce committee worked with Sutton so another community controversy wouldn't erupt.

The chamber's recommendations are included in the new directory, Sutton said.

John Chicky, Chamber president who was chairman of the telephone committee, met with Sutton Tuesday to look over the new book.

"I'm well pleased with the product," Chicky said, "and I think the chamber directors will like the directory."

Chicky praised the cooperation of the company with the chamber committee.

Sutton pointed out that Jensen Beach, South Port St. Lucie area residents 334 prefix could call toll free from Hobe Sound 546 prefix to the south to North Port St. Lucie area 878 prefix.

The Stuart, Jensen Beach and Port St. Lucie numbers are all consolidated in the directory with Stuart listing in front with Jensen Beach-Port St. Lucie numbers in the same section.

The front of the new directory has color scene for what South Floida is famous for — tennis, golf, skiing and sailing.

Emergency telephone numbers are listed on the inside of the front cover, and on the back cover there is room for personal calling number to be listed.

Hansen appointed Wacha, Dave Dye, Ernie Baker and himself to consolidate all the information that the committee has considered.

"We want to explain the product," Wacha said, "and answer questions the people might ask."

"We want to have the information available," he added.

The former county commission chairman and long time Jensen Beach resident said that the people should be told what funds are available and explain all the options to them.

A speaker's bureau will be organized and each speaker will have all the factual information provided by the committee.

Hansen said that members of the speaker's bureau will meet with civic clubs and organizations.

Present millage for the Jensen Beach area taxing district 1 is 12 mills and it would be replaced by the three mill cap.

If the voters approve the charter July 16 there will be sufficient time to prepare tax roll to give to the county tax assessor so the new city will be eligible for 1974 taxes.

A council would be elected in September and the city charter would take effect October 1.

Band uniform drive is under way

JENSEN BEACH—Band uniforms at Martin County High School are 11 years old and the students are working to replace them by soliciting funds.

Band members and their parents are seeking to raise money for new uniforms by collecting 15 well known Colgate-Palmolive package labels and tear strips.

Band students expect to reach their goal of new band uniforms only if the community will support this project.

Mrs. Bert Fallon, band chairman, points out.

The band now has posters will be placed in schools, businesses and grocery stores around the county, she said.

Mrs. Fallon asks that everyone help the band in the campaign by saving labels and depositing them in boxes which have been placed in most grocery stores.

A band parent or student will be prepared to pick up your labels as part of purchase, Mrs. Fallon said.

She said that groups that would like to save Ajax, Bright Sun, Palmolive, Ultra Palm, Soupy, Instant Sweetheart Soap, Ajax, Handi-Wipes, Wash-n-Dri, Wash-n-Dri Rayon and Fabric Softener Ajax for Instant Action and Sunday Detergent.

Customers thank Carol for being a 'nice girl'

BY DENNIS DOYLE

JENSEN BEACH—Carol Bowman is a "nice girl." At least her customers think so.

The Outrigger business always greets her customers with a big warm and friendly smile. That's the way it was in last week. 25 of Carol's frequent customers got together and decided to do something nice for her.

They all chipped in their money, and on Friday presented her with a 14kt white gold watch with diamond chips and a $45 gift certificate to the Outrigger Fashion Boutique and Gift Shop.

When Jack Sheridan presented the watch to Carol, tears began rolling down her cheeks. "What did I do to deserve this?" she said.

"Nothing has ever happened to me like this before."

Carol has done many nice things for people since she began working at the Outrigger shortly after its opening in the fall of 1971.

A few years back, Jack Hunter (who is confined to the restaurant couldn't speak any English. Carol met with Hunt every morning in her home and gave them English lessons.

"She's just one of the many businesses we've ever had in our whole life," Jim George Apostolopoulos described her.

Ed Lawrence, Outrigger business manager, said, "She's the business with the smile."

With her eyes still watery, Carol said saying, "The watch is just beautiful, thank you."

Waste water seminar at FIT

JENSEN BEACH—A scientific seminar on waste water problems and treatment at Florida Institute of Technology will be held Friday, May 3, beginning at 10:45 a.m.

The seminar will be followed by the dedication of the first Sonozone waste water treatment system at Indiantown at 2 p.m.

The Sonozone Process is a complete chemical-mechanical-filtration-sonics ozone system which represents a breakthrough in waste water treatment.

Extensive laboratory tests have demonstrated that the Sonozone system rapidly and completely inactivates pathogenic viruses and bacteria and adds beneficial oxygen to surrounding water.

Speakers for the seminar, which is sponsored by FIT and the University of Notre Dame College of Engineering and Lobund Laboratory include Dr. Morris Pollard, Dean Joseph Hogan both of Notre Dame, Dr. Edwin Lenette, of the California Department of Health, and Professor Wayne Echelberger of Indiana University.

Drive residents will vote on meeting dates

WALTON–Residents belonging to the Indian River Drive Freeholders Association will vote whether to add an additional meeting date to the annual schedule, it was announced last Thursday.

Members attending the meeting unanimously agreed to the action in a meeting held at the Walton Community Center.

The group currently holds three regular meetings a year on the third Thursdays in January, April and October. Members will vote whether a fourth meeting in July is necessary.

Sea turtle program is set

JENSEN BEACH–A program on the sea turtles of Florida will be presented for the final session in the "First Wednesday" series May 1 at the Environmental Studies Center, 205 N. Indian River Dr.

The program will begin at 8 p.m. with Ross Witham leading the discussion.

Witham, project leader for the Florida Department of Natural Marine Research Laboratory in Jensen Beach, scheduled the program to coincide with the approximate beginning of the turtle nesting on local beaches.

Both loggerhead and green turtles nest exclusively along Hutchinson and Jupiter Islands.

Witham has spent the past 10 years researching the life cycle and problems of sea turtles and spines lobsters.

The public is invited to attend.

Project review is scheduled

JENSEN BEACH–Pinelake Apartments on SR 723 in Jensen Beach will be discussed by Martin County Commissioners Wednesday, April 24.

The developer, Ransom Tilton made a presentation of his project at the staff review meeting last week. He said he was granted permission to construct 92 units on his 6.63 acre parcel by the former county commission.

The Jensen Beach developer told commissioners that he didn't think it fair to tell a person that he can put 92 units on his land and then tell him he can't put that.

County Planner Tom Leonard said zoning on the property allows a density of 15 units per acre but the local planning and zoning board recommended an eight unit per acre density for the project which would cut Tilton's number of units by an estimated 30.

Commissioner Ed Chuckler suggested that the development be delayed until the county planning study is completed sometime in June so the county will know just how many units is appropriate in the area.

Top bowlers at Jensen Lanes

JENSEN BEACH–"Bowl down cancer" is the theme for a benefit bowling tournament at Jensen Lanes this weekend April 26-28, according to lanes owner Len Casey.

He said that several satellite events to help raise funds including a wheelchair match between Jim Musgrave, executive secretary of the County Men's Bowling Association and entertainer Woody Marlens.

The Professional Bowlers Association's leading keglers are expected for the $8,000 event, and they will start bowling Saturday and wind up with the finals Sunday afternoon.

Casey said that area bowlers will get a chance to compete with the visiting pros in a pro-am on April 26.

Advance tickets are $5, which are good for the entire tournament. Tickets purchased at the door are $2.

Gun permit law repeal asked

STUART-Martin County commissioners have asked the state legislature to repeal its gun permit ordinance in light of a Supreme Court decision against a similar ordinance in Palm Beach County.

The Palm Beach County ordinance which turned the responsibility of permit issuance to the sheriff, was ruled unconstitutional.

The court ruled that it was unlawful for the county commission to designate some to constitutional officers not allowed in the Constitution.

Martin County adopted a similar ordinance last year.

At a special meeting last week, commissioners decided to adopt primarily the same policies of the sheriff's department with the exception of a new permit to read omitting a paragraph refusing permits to persons for the purpose of protection with the exception of former law enforcement officers.

Gun permit applicants will have to pay a $25 fee to cover cost of application processing, and they will have to consent to a check of their criminal records by the FBI.

Sheriff James Holt has stopped issuing gun permits since the court made its ruling. The county judge had stopped issuing permits more than a year ago.

Higbee is named star student

STUART-Robert A. Higbee, 17, a junior at Martin County High School, is one of more than 250 Florida high school students to be designated STAR student.

The students were nominated by their principals and guidance counselors and scholarship awards are being provided by the state's business community as part of the Florida Chamber of Commerce student-teacher Achievement Recognition (STAR) program.

A student in each of the 15 congressional districts of the state will receive at least a $500 scholarship.

Higbee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Higbee of Palm City, and is president of the school's National Honor Society.

MCHS band to appear at Memorial Park

Sunday Evening April 21 the Martin Co. High School Concert Band will present an evening concert in the Memorial Park Bandshell on East Ocean Blvd. The program will feature many popular band marches including Henry Fillmore's His Honor and Washington Post by Sousa. Concert selections will include the Suite of E by Holst and Highlights from the Broadway show Fiddler on the Roof.

The lovely outdoor setting of the bandshell, combined with an appealing program of light music will make this a pleasant evening for everyone.

The program which begins at 7:30 is free of charge and the public is cordially invited to this open air concert.

Thum's celebrate 64th anniversary

JENSEN BEACH-A surprise party was given for Mrs. and Mr. Thum of 22 S.W. Flamingo Drive, Jensen Beach, at the Stuart Elks Lodge on April 13th, to celebrate their 64th wedding anniversary.

It was hosted by their daughter and son-in-law, Eleanor and Edward Sprague, also of Jensen Beach.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Edwin D. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. John Johanson, Robert Shafner, Irene Potts, Curtis and Wayne Sprague, and Alicia Sharpe.

Capt. Adams to be honored

STUART-The Stuart Chamber of Commerce is planning to honor long time citizen of Stuart and patriot Captain Francis Adams on Sunday, May 5.

"We understand Capt. Adams will be 100 years young on May 11, but we feel there could be a great celebration at the causeway on the final day of the hydroplane races," explained chamber president Glenn Sutton. "We anticipate a crowd of about 6000 people that Sunday and while we have them altogether, we think of no better time to honor this fine man," he continued.

Capt. Adams has already agreed to open the races by holding the American Flag and being escorted in a 100 mph powerboat. "Now we don't mean that the boat will be traveling at 100 mph," explained Sutton.

The Chamber president is also seeking help from other clubs and organizations for ideas and assistance in making this a most happy birthday for such a great citizen.

In Martin County...
We're helping it happen!

Money, and you (and business). As responsible citizens of your community, as also [illegible] in service.

As a young and growing area, there are still facilities lacking in Martin County that will assuredly, one day, exist. As an example, public rooms that can be used by service and civic organizations for their meetings. Until such facilities exist, our Community Room will always be available for civic organizations and, thereby, it can help plan.

Capable of seating 125 people, the Community Room at First National is virtually in constant use. For instance, we housed the services of the North Stuart Baptist Church until they moved into their new house of worship on North U.S. 1. So, when you see our parking lot filled each Sunday morning, it wasn't just for our twenty-four hour automatic teller service.

And, when you see the lights burning late on the second floor, it's not the bank auditors working overtime but one of dozens of worthwhile organizations using our rooms. It might be the Palm Lake Park Civic Club on Monday, the Coral Gardens Civic Association on Tues. day, the Sailfish Club or Audubon Society on Wednesday, and so on through the week.

Meetings, of course, aren't restricted to the evening hours. You'll find plenty of activity during the day, too. There's the Church Women's Volunteers on Mondays, and the Martin County Writers Group on alternate Wednesday mornings, for instance.

No matter whether it's day or night, those organizations that make a positive contribution to our community will always find the doors open at First National. Helping to make the right things happen in Martin County is just one way that we can serve you and our community, better.

At First National, we're proud to call ourselves "the bank that grew up with Martin County."

We are also proud of the role we have played in that growth and are dedicated to continuing our policy of helping it happen for Martin County's future.

Had a real nice film after the Pot Luck dinner Wednesday night, thanks to Jensen Beach Travel Agency. Yours truly borrowed it from them.

Had a beautiful Teen-Age Dance Thursday night, the band was great and Carl Martini from Ft. Pierce is just super, the girls go crazy over him and rightfully so. He's another Tony Martin, yes girls he's single and only nineteen. Came from Rome.

The dances on Saturday night are drawing big crowds and we should thank the Men's Club, they put it on. Thank you all.

From all reports we had a beautiful Sun-rise service on Easter morning on the beach. Hymns were sung by Irma Vandergraff, our church vocalist, and Mr. Harold Leonard, also by our Asst. Pastor L.C. Campbell. Afterwards a Easter egg hunt for the children and prizes were given and OH! the colors.

A great big welcome back to our Maintenenace Dept.'s Mr. Bob Anderson and his many talents. Note: He was with us when we first opened up.

What! Johnnie Alexander on crutches. He was pushing a Jeep and it ran over his foot and broke it in several places. But not even a cast and crutches keeps Johnnie from working.

Had a beautiful party Tuesday night on Pat and Kathy's sai boat. Corn still in the husk on the grill and chicken breast plus all the goodies laid out by OH! did it rain. We tried to put up the canvas but no the wind and rain were too strong.

Thursday while waiting for the Fashion Show to begin, a very nice lady came over to me and announced that she knew me from the "Mirror". We began to talk and I find that she is a sister to one of our lot owners, Zelda and Dan Jarvis. Corky is Zelda's sister and came all the way down to the Sheraton from Spanish Lakes, also brought along another sister and friend and a niece Jean, in addition to Ada, Carrol and Beverly. Carrol and Beverly are from Toledo, Ohio. Corky has been in Florida four years. We had quite a lengthy talk about Nettles Island and how she wished she had purchased a couple of lots when we first opened up.

Kay, the night time bartender at the Sheraton and Jerry have purchased a Queen size "Water Bed". Wonder how the springs are?

Easter Sunday, while at the Sheraton, we met the new Chef and he invited us to sample his out of this world cooking and I haven't missed a meal at the Sheraton since. Harold Henderson, the Chef, was born in Orlando, Fla., trained for his art in cooking in New York City, married and has ten children. His wife, Linda, is expecting another child.

At breakfast Friday morning, ran into those marvelous Erskin's, their son Jim Erskin Jr. and his family from Poland, Ohio with five children. All seven of them stayed at the Sheraton and enjoyed our miniature golf and tennis courts and shuffle board. Jim and Ann Erskin took them to the airport in their Winnebago and I noticed on the back windows Jim and Ann's slogan "Too old to work, Too young to die, Just going Bye, Bye".

Sorry to hear of Bill Creighton's mother being ill. We wish her a speedy recovery.

So sorry to hear of our dear friend and security guard Sam Nield passing away at such an early age — 57. He always had such a pleasant smile and a big hello to everyone. He will certainly be missed.

The Barn... plus

BY BARBARA GATELY

The time has come for making application as Candy Stripers or as they are now called, Volunteens. Apply to the high school counselor or the counselor at Murray Ninth. A five day course will be given instructing you how to be helpful at the hospital this summer. Both girls and fellas, please.

The art of Aubusson tapestry, now in a flourishing revival on the American art scene is being shown in a major exhibition at the Norton Gallery until May 19th. This exhibition is magnificent, don't miss it.

The group in front of the Barn during recent evenings are really not out of their minds capering around. They are learning a bit about square dancing for the next show, Spoon River Anthology. And the other group over the weekend are reconstructing the tree used in Carnival. Don't forget the tree's name is Oliver.

The musicians for Spoon River may only play on hand held instruments. Peter Frechette, auto harp; Nick Plattis, guitar; Roger conant, harmonica and Carl Schmidt with his musical saw. Karen Harding will dance, Lorraine Paduano and Doris Thurston have solos and they are, also, involved in duets with Shields McManus and others.

The annual dinner of the Art Associates of Martin County, Inc., will be held at the Bay Harbor Club on Friday, May 3. Cocktail hour at 6:30 and dinner at 7:30. There will be installation of new officers with promised minimum of speech-making and some fun and games and prizes. Reservations may be made through Al Terrinni at 334-4958 or Dorothy Butler at 283-4726. You all come. We need a good turn out at this affair to get some enthusiasm going for this worthwhile association of artists.

More sights and sounds from briefly visited places. San Antonio, with its river running smack through the central part of the city, the Hemisfair grounds looking tired and used, even though the big tower is still there and attracts a few visitors.

My room was in the 125 year old Menger Hotel, next to the Alamo on one side and the largest store in San Antonio on the other. The old courtyard in the center of the four story, high building contains some four story high trees just swarming with singing birds that come in at sunset.

My contact in San Antonio was the director of the San Antonio Little Theatre. Joe Salek has been director of this little theatre for 25 years and would you believe - he has some of the same problems we have here at the Barn. But, there are 19, count 'em, 19 - other theater groups in San Antonio. And one of his greatest problems is the fact some of the other groups pay their actors. He gets a play all cast, and someone waves money, and there go his leads. He has a board of 30 to please, a committee to cast, etc., etc.

The touristy part of the stay was a tour through the city ending at the Lone Star Brewery which has a horn museum. Thousands upon thousands of horns of all kinds. Moose, elk, goat, cow, you name it.

March 6th was the 148th anniversary of the Alamo. Soldiers stood at attention, then at rest, and back to attention again, holding the colors from all the places represented by the heros of the Alamo. And most of the soldiers were black.

Gang holds Petrie night

PORT ST. LUCIE-George Petrie, his wife Lise Lotte and children Lisa and Georgie were the special guests of the Friday Night Gang last week in appreciation for the many hours of assistance to the gang over the past few years.

Over $1200 was reported by Petrie as the final figure on the Pancake and Porky Breakfast which was sponsored by the Gang for the Eye Foundation.

Petries have returned to spend the summer in Wisconsin.

The Gang Snooper was busy as usual at the last session reporting a number of visitors including: Kim, Keroy and Kathy Moncure of Manhattan, New York City, visiting the grandparents, Moncures. Sue Vallante and Lisa from Middletown, R.I. visiting their parents the DeArrudas. Elizabeth Hauas from Mendham, N.J. visiting her brother Andrew Markos. Phylis Tizzio from Brooklyn, N.Y. visiting Phyllis Crisp. Mrs. Marie Diraimo from Rochester, N.Y. visiting the Camelios.

The Snooper reported only one birthday, Jane Cappiello.

A young male quartette rendered the usual birthday song and were duly rewarded at the conclusion.

During the intermission homemade cake by Jane and cookies by the host for the Petries were served with coffee.

A special prize of six jars of citrus jellies, furnished by Petrie was won by the Gang Snooper, Frances Bernota.

The main prize, a merchandise certificate, was won by Gretchen Eberling.

Cedric Benz, the host, announced that entrance hereafter to the sessions will be groceries in the minimum amount of 75 cents per person.

The increase was deemed necessary due to the increased costs.

...und began with $4,000 left over ...the 1971-72 fund drive which ...d construction of the present ...building.

...ers are pleased with the overall ...t from the community and the ...y businesses and financial ...utions said Mel Broom, fund ...drive chairman. "The campaign will ...be until each of the 3,000 homes ...r community and all the ...ness and financial institutions ...been contacted."

...ording to Broom, a special gifts committee will contact the business community and campaign workers will continue to visit homes in the community during the coming weeks.

The plaque in the CESA building now has 72 names eligible or those who have pledged from $100 to $799. The big memorial plaque that will eventually be placed in the assembly hall already had 13 businesses and individuals listed who qualified through pledging amounts from $400 to $2,500 for building materials.

Public Relations Director Schuyler Sharpe has said the plates for those donors will be installed for the board in the CESA building as soon as they can be made.

Section chairmen who led Sunday's drive were Don White, Frank Tallant, Milton Riedel, Ron Stutz and Cedric Hess.

Chairman Broom pointed out that the drive will include homes in the city's Country Club area as soon as Section Chairman Eugene Grills and Edward Merz are available.

878 cutover due Sunday

Southern Bell completes million dollar expansion

PORT ST. LUCIE Southern Bell's $1 million phase two expansion will be completed Sunday, April 28, when the remainder of River Park and Spanish Lakes will be cut over to the 878 prefix exchange.

"There will be a little over 1800 customers involved in the change over which is scheduled to take place between 2 and 3 a.m. Sunday," said George Nicholson, Fort Pierce manager for Southern Bell. "We hope nobody will be in the middle of a conversation at that time of the night."

The final stage of the cutover to the 878 exchange will be a relatively simple matter Nicholson explained. It will require only a few minutes to disconnect the cables from Fort Pierce and hook them up to Port St. Lucie and that is just about the sum and substance of the change over at this time. This will all be done from the central office, he said.

At the time of the cutover there will be some activity in the field as well. A crew will be on hand working the turnpike changing the pay station numbers in the area.

With the changeover completed, the 878 exchange area will include all houses south of Midway Road and east to U. S. 1 and Spanish Lakes. The proposed new 2,500 acre Midport East and West project of General Development Corporation will be included in the 334 exchange area.

Subscribers with the 878 exchange will be able to call toll free to the 334 exchange which includes South Port St. Lucie, Jensen Beach and Hutchinson Island. They will also be able to place toll free calls to the Fort Pierce exchanges of 464 and 465.

Likewise, the 334 exchange numbers will be able to call toll free to 878 and also to Stuart exchanges 287 and 283.

According to Nicholson, directory deliveries got underway last Tuesday and will be completed by May 3.

Subscribers on the 878 exchange will have the opportunity of taking advantage of three new services which will be made available within the near future.

These additional services will include speed calling, call forwarding and three way calling.

The speed calling service will enable a resident to call from 8 to 30 of his most frequently dialed numbers by dialing one digit instead of the seven digit numbers. The additional charge for such service will range from $1.50 for an eight number listing to approximately $2.25 per month for 30 numbers.

The call forwarding service will enable a subscriber to have incoming calls redirected to another number temporarily by dialing a code into the central office.

The third service available will be the three way calling which simply enables the subscriber to hold a three way conversation with two other numbers simultaneously.

The office is currently capable of handling the new services, said Nicholson, but we are waiting on the Customer Information Brochures which are being printed at the present time. It is necessary for a subscriber to have this brochure before the service can be installed, he added.

St. Lucie stops area council

PORT ST. LUCIE–St. Lucie County Commission is the only government which hasn't agreed to go along with the Council of Governments (COG) of Martin and St. Lucie counties.

The St. Lucie commissioners voted 2-2 last week not to join COG. Commissioner John B. Park was not present for the meeting.

Martin County Commissioner Tim Powers, who has been spearheading the drive for COG, argued his case before the St. Lucie Commission.

Commissioners George Price and Everett Green voted against the council with Chairman Willie McCain and Ed Koss voting for joining the council which would be made up of Martin County Commission, City of Stuart, Commission, Port St. Lucie Council and Fort Pierce Commission.

At an informal meeting of representatives of the governmental agencies at Port ST. Lucie City Hall, Mayor Eugene Kavanaugh said, "I think this council is a good idea. It brings out one very important point, as such you won't be operating unilaterally. We are faced with many problems common to everybody. I believe this council can do a lot of work on."

The Port St. Lucie mayor also noted, "There are many avenues in which we can work and as a group we can carry a lot of weight with our various legislative groups. That will be one of the greatest assets we have."

Powers said that without St. Lucie Commission City will not be able to function. The veteran Martin County commissioner was still optimistic about the future of the council.

"It was a setback," Powers said. "However the motion not to join COG wasn't defeated, it just failed to pass because of a two-two vote."

Powers has pointed out that Hutchinson Island is one important area of mutual concern.

He pointed out that the state recently refused to designate the island as an area of critical state concern based on the assumption that the council would regulate growth on the island in the two counts area.

Powers pointed out that the council is a positive step we can take to continue to solve our problems locally.

The Mirror has editorially called for the formation of such an agency for the past five years.

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE–When General ...opment officials appeared before ...rt St. Lucie City Council last ...ts to seek approval and support ...ning application on the third ...ec championship golf course ... were greeted by over 250 ...

...ation of such a turnout the ... public hearing was held at the ...ne Hilton Convention Hall ... meeting had no more than ... when the issue at hand, the ...approval for the golf course, ...pletely buried. Irate residents ...the first opportunity to bring up ...es family zoning, proposed for ...ne in the future.

...family zoning became the ...cing factor and the public ...ing could be aptly defined as an ...attack against the City Council ...ough some of the residents ...med to have an open mind, there ...ously others in the packed room ...no intention of even listening ...as being said. Still others so ...to attend the meeting they left ...manners at home, spent the ...ing shouting down speakers ...kers. City Council members ...eral Development officials ...idents accused the City Council ...ing out to General Development ...ion and making all major ...s during the summer months ...ne majority of residents were ...the state.

...ral Development was accused ...king in the multi-family units ...he cover of a golf course ...er us the hearing. Robert ... general manager of Port St. ... addressed the group telling ...he public hearing was solely to ...quest for the zoning of the golf ... how the multi-family housing ...all the maps we have drawn, all ...sentations we have made, and ...the correspondence we have ...to the City or anyone involved ...project, there has been no secret ...fact that it is the intention of ...to develop multi-family units in ...e of the new golf course."

...cost of a golf course is quite ...ive, and to support these costs it ...ssary to develop the multi- ...units.

...this point one resident, Roy Hanna, said, "In as much as Mr. Seeley has indicated the golf course and multi-family go hand in hand, it is not to be assumed that when the council approves the zoning for the golf course that they are also approving the multi-family zoning."

Councilman Lawrence Kimmel denied that was a true statement.

Kimmel, who does not favor the multi-family units said, "In my opinion if we the council approve the golf course zoning we are only agreeing to listen to their proposal. You the homeowners as well as the Council will have another opportunity to view the issue."

He pointed out however, that before GDC will come back and request formal zoning to accomodate the multi-family zoning it will be necessary under the new state laws to make an application for the development.

Seeley pointed out however that before the first shovel of dirt is turned in the direction of multi-family units GDC will have to make a total disclosure and a full application of all the supporting facilities the utilities, the electric gas water sewer systems road systems traffic control school and whatever else may be involved. This will have to be approved by the multiple agencies in the state that regulate developments of regional impact.

Moreover, Seeley said once GDC has obtained that approval it will be necessary for them to come back to the City of Port St. Lucie and submit our plans in detail for their approval.

A very pointed question was put to the Council by Lee Johnson another resident.

"Will GDC build that golf course without multi-family zoning"

Seeley said it was the intention of GDC to build the course, and, in their view, it will take the multi-family to support it.

Johnson requested the Council give GDC notice right now that they would not approve the multi-family zoning.

Another resident chimed in by saying that to put in a new golf course, and then bring in an additional 1700 families, the area would be as short of golfing facilities as it has been, if not more so.

Angler cookout is this Sunday

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. Lucie Anglers Club will hold their annual free cook out Sunday, April 28 from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Marina.

Members will be admitted on presentation of their 1974 membership card. Tickets for member's guests will be available thru the Special Events committee or at the door.

April has been reported as a busy month with the addition of twelve new members joining the ranks. New members include Tom and Evelyn Horton, John and Edith Jarvis, Hugh and Trina McMullen, C. A. and Betty Frazer, Ed Nathan, Thomas Dolan and Victor and Lorella Buckell.

Several nice catches were reported by fishing committee chairman Wayne Whitaker. Those catches included snook, trout, specs and blues.

Ed Buffington caught 1 snook, Emerson Ware 90 specs, Vince Metziger 2 snook, John Hecker caught some trout and sheepshead, and Spencer Kiddy reported a catch of 5 blues.

The Club was honored with an unusually interesting presentation by Dr. Walter Stokes (alias "Mr. Bass") of Stuart. Dr. Stokes spoke to the group on local ecology and bass fishing in the area. He also outlined what the individual citizen groups had done and could do in the future to reverse the destructive encroachments upon our local ecology.

He concluded his visit with an educational bass fishing clinic.

PSL Bank groundbreaking Friday

PORT ST. LUCIE–Friday morning area dignitaries will gather at 900 East Prima Vista Boulevard for the groundbreaking of the new Port St. Lucie Bank building.

If all goes according to plans, the bank will move into their permanent building approximately one year following the opening of the mobile facility on the site.

Frank L. Tallant Jr., vice president and cashier of the bank announced the informal groundbreaking ceremonies will be held Friday, April 26 at 10:30 a.m.

Both city and county dignitaries are expected to take part in the ceremony along with the banking officials.

When the Port St. Lucie Bank opened the doors of the mobile facility for business last October, it was the first full service facility to be located in the area.

The proposed new structure will be approximately 4500 square feet in size, one story with a foundation to accomodate the second story when the need arises.

"It will be a concrete block steel, stucco building and will fit into the contour of the neighborhood real well," said Tallant. "We feel the building is going to be a real asset to the community."

Nello Construction Company of Vero Beach, who has the contract for the new bank building, has estimated a completion date for the project at 180 days.

"It is our hope to be in the new facility by fall," Tallant said.

The new bank will be built on the area where the temporary mobile unit is located at 900 East Prima Vista Boulevard.

When completed the new bank will offer safe deposit boxes, night drop and three drive-ins.

WINNERS–Pearl Roberts was the champion of champions in the St. Lucie Country Club Women's Golf Association as play in the Championship tournament concluded last week. Buffett dinner is planned

PORT ST. LUCIE–The May 1st buffet dinner planned for members of the PSL Masonic Club and the PSL Womodausis organization will take place at the North Port St. Lucie Marina. Proceeds from the dinner will be used for a Womodausis project in the Nunland Training Center near Fort Myers.

Members are reminded to bring their own table service, since none is available at the Marina, according to Schuyler Sharpe.

The menu announced recently by President Sharpe includes ham scalloped and sweet potatoes, green beans, salad, cake, rolls and butter, tea or coffee.

This will be the last meeting of the season for the Masonic Club.

Crannells to celebrate 50th anniversary

STUART–Charles and Dorothy Crannel of Cedar Pointe will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary May 10.

They will leave Stuart May 1 for Malden, Mass., where a party is being planned by their three sons, John, William, Dr. Kenneth and friends.

The Crannells have eight grandchildren and four great grandchildren. They lived in Jensen Beach for five years before moving to Cedar Pointe.

Clip and save in a notebook — Each week the Charter will be this size.

PART TWO

The Jensen Beach City Charter

(Editor's note: For the next few weeks, The Mirror will publish sections of the Jensen Beach City Charter, with each section explained in non-legal terms alongside each section. It is our hope that this public service effort of The Mirror will enable all residents to collect and save the charter explanations in notebook form. Clip out and save.

V.F.W. news

BY CHUCK BENDER

I would like to thank everyone for their wonderful support and electing me commander for the up coming year. I would like to thank the past commanders and those who have helped teach and train me in the different duties of the officers and their jobs. I am both humble and proud to be your section to lead the best and the fastest growing post in the state. I promise to do the best to my ability to further our post and V.F.W.

You have also given me a great team of officers to work with. I can see no reason for this post to go anything but forward with officers like Sr. Vice Commander Elliot Nordine, Jr. Vice Commander Ray Cooke, Quarter Master Joe Svec, Chaplin Carl Brafford, Surgeon Frank Hey Judge Advoce Alex Gemza. George Hodge has agreed to stay on as service officer, three year trustee Commander Cecil Branford, two year trustee Sam Banks, one year trustee Ray Prentice. This is the making of a good solid team. Thank you again.

Service Officer's Report
By George Hodge

Mortgage Protection Life Insurance.

Persons who receive a VA grant for specially adapted housing are eligible for Mortgage Protection Life Insurance. Those eligible may buy an amount equal to their outstanding mortgage balance, or $30,000 whichever is the lesser.

This decreasing term amount stops when the mortgage is paid off, or the property is disposed of so the veteran no longer has a mortgage, or he stops paying the required premiums or he reaches age 70.

A low cost premium has been made possible by the Government paying the administrative costs, as well as the claims cost which exceed the premium payments. For those receiving compensation, premiums will be deducted by VA, otherwise, the veteran pays directly.

If you have further questions on the above or any veteran matter, contact either your local Service Officer.

SANANTONIO--Airman John W. Faber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Faber, 341 Emerson St., Port St. Lucie, Fla., has been assigned to Norton AFB, Calif., after completing Air Force basic training. During his six weeks at Lackland AFB, Tex., he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

IRCC students compete in DECA contest

CLEARWATER--Forty-five Indian River Community College students participated in various marketing and management competition at the Ninth Annual Inter-collegiate DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) Career Development Conference held in Clearwater, Florida, April 7-10, 1974. Competing with sixteen other junior and community colleges throughout the State, IRCC brought home 14 of the 37 trophies awarded.

First Place awards went to Carol Conrado of Ft. Pierce for preparing the Chapter's activities manual; Robert Pence of Ft. Pierce won two first place awards, one in the Training Manual Contest and the other in the Sales Manager's Contest; Barry Duke of Ft. Pierce and Richard Turner of Vero Beach, were awarded first place in the Advertising Campaign and Albert Trottier of Ft. Pierce won first place in Decision Making in Hotel-Motel Management.

Second place awards went to James Behana of Ft. Pierce in Decision Making -- Human Relations and to Melvin Folbrecht of Ft. Pierce for Decision Making -- Hotel-Motel Restaurant Management.

Third place went to Carol Conrado for Hotel-Motel Restaurant Management Decision Making, William Peters and Tom Mahoney of Vero Beach, for their Advertising Campaign, Julie Rights of Ft. Pierce, for Fashion Merchandising Decision Making, and Tom Mahoney for Individual Marketing Improvements.

Barry Duke won the Student of the Year Award. Mr. James Carlson, Mid Management Coordinator, was elected to the State DECA Board of Advisors and will serve for the year upcoming.

The following students will be going to Chicago to compete in national competition on April 27: Carol Conrado, Robert Pence, James Behana, Melvin Folbrecht, Barry Duke and Richard Turner.

Summer program at Academy

HOWEY-IN-THE-HILLS--- Howey Academy's school camp program, June 15-Aug. 2, can be an important change of pace for children otherwise faced with the doldrums of an inactive summer.

The typical "do nothing" summer is on its way out according to educational trends which show more and more youngsters who use these valuable months mixing summer fun with studies to help keep abreast or get ahead academically.

Howey will offer a 7-week summer session in which boys and girls in grades 4-12 may enjoy their favorite sports, specialize in arts and crafts, or be given attention in most subject areas and skills for make-up work or just to get ahead.

The program, designed for boarding and day students, will serve a dual purpose. For the camper it provides a unique opportunity to receive from two to seven weeks' personal coaching in horseback riding, water skiing, tennis, swimming, canoeing, sailing, golf, gymnastics, basketball and baseball.

For the student, the program will provide help in the basic tool skills such as reading, study techniques, remedial or enrichment mathematics and English, as well as social studies, science, Spanish, typing and drivers education.

Fellowship Day to be celebrated

STUART-Church Women United Fellowship Day will be celebrated in Martin County on May 3, 11 a.m., at the United Methodist Church in Stuart.

To stimulate thinking as the women explore new paths of local concerns and needs, Mrs. Charles Luther, chairperson, has invited Father Sullivan from the new parish of St. Martins to mention community needs as he, a new priest in the area, sees them.

George Bozone, Youth and Education director of the United Methodist Church will show slides recently taken showing points of concern, mentioning aims and goals planned.

Esther Kildea from the adult education department of the Martin County Schools will tell of local accomplishments since the last visit the Church Women United a year and a half ago.

Sister Jane from St. Joseph's parish, will lead the singing accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Snyder from the United Methodist Church.

A luncheon has been planned by the Methodist Women. Special music and honoring the clergy wives and denominational presidents of local church women's groups will be enjoyed at this time.

Following the luncheon, cluster groups will be set up for discussion and fellowship.

The State Assembly of Church Women United will be held in Ft. Lauderdale, May 14-15. Local church women are urged to attend. For further information, phone the local C.W.U. president, Eleanor Funk 283-4066.

Another date to remember is Oct. 10-14, when the Church Women United Ecumenical Assembly will be held in Memphis, Tenn. This assembly only meets every three years. The last was held in Wichita, Kan., in 1971.

Lydia Circle to meet April 17th

JENSEN BEACH-The regular meeting of the Lydia circle of the Jensen Beach Christian Church was held Wednesday, April 17.

The president, Zylpha Salyards, was in charge of the meeting. Dorothy Geeben did devotions.

It was reported that 122 Easter favors made by the Circle had been delivered to Martin Memorial Hospital and Annex by Mrs. Elsie Fronsoe and Mrs. Salyards.

The new drape at the altar and the new flooring in the fellowship rooms, made possible by the Circle, have been installed.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served.

The final meeting for the summer will be held Wednesday, May 15, at 2 p.m.

BUSINESS INSURANCE CHECKUP???

Just as you take an inventory periodically to make sure your business is in good shape, you should check the insurance on your business too. For example:

Do you have costly gaps or duplications in coverage?

Your local Kemper Insurance agent is the man to see for your insurance checkup. With his years of experience, he can review your insurance to help you determine whether you have the kinds and amounts of coverage you need. This checkup could save you money.

Buying the right insurance is good business — so is your business insurance checkup. See:

Geary won't run in fall; blames 'inept' reporting

STUART Obviously angered by newspaper articles claiming that area developers feel approval of their project often depends on donations to fire departments, Martin County Commission Chairman Dr. Edward Geary was to announce today, Wednesday, May 1 that he would not run for re-election.

In a three page prepared statement to be read at the commission session, Dr. Geary lashed out angrily at Today newspaper and its reporter, Mrs. Connie Bishop.

"I feel that you, Mrs. Bishop, with your inept news reporting have completely destroyed the total confidentiality that I was striving for with the citizens of Martin County. If this was your plan or the plan of those feeding you your information then you have won. I do not plan to run for re-election. You have won however if is the people of Martin County that are the losers, not myself."

Dr. Geary was referring to an article in Today Sunday, April 21 issue claiming that various area developers and attorneys feel approval of their projects often depends on donations to county volunteer fire departments.

The chairman asked State Attorney Bob Stone to attend a meeting with developers last Wednesday.

Stone did not attend the meeting but area developers and firemen attended and praised the commission for their actions in handling the project. Developers said they had not been coerced into making gifts to fire departments.

Dr. Geary said today that he would ask State Attorney Robert Shevin to conduct an impartial investigation.

As chairman of the commission, I welcome an investigation. However I still maintain that none a member of Stone's office has been quoted as saying that the commission has mandated developers. Stone's office is not the proper office to conduct an impartial investigation."

Dr. Geary also said that he would not be willing to submit to any investigation.

Referring to an article in Miami Herald in the Sunday, April 28 issue which the state Attorney General's office denied that they had to retrieve them in the other side.

Dr. Geary claims that the other side of the question hasn't been in Today.

If the net load that Mrs. Bishop should frame the commissioners by an article implied prejudice on the record effect that she wished to have strong about an investigation of the commission that not matter of information wished without getting involved.

He said that he welcomed the investigation but resented the time and wasted motion the commission inquiry will to answer unfounded signed charges printed in her paper.

Geary was appointed by the Governor to fill commission seat. It was understood that my primary concern in this position would be to work with developers around to Martin County.

Dr. Geary was appointed one year to term. Bishop Askew, who this position was suspended in 1973, was reinstated. She will be a two-year term ending in April of 1975.

The Stuart dentist was chairman of Gary Askew's campaign in Martin County and with Askew on the campaign and the governor and commissioner, who to recommend gary ...ons for judicial appointments.

A native of Tampa, Dr. Geary graduated from Florida State and then ...ed the University of Tennessee dental college.

Saying that he made his decision with utmost sincerity, Dr. Geary went on to say, "I had looked forward to being a part of the process of implementing and carrying out long range plans for the orderly and quality growth of Martin County. However, on the other hand, this decision will accommodate only the more than ans that I have made in the past."

Dr. Geary would have been up for election this fall.

DR. EDWARD GEARY

...department in South Africa. He was a salaried employee of the county.

Trogger's job was to coordinate the activities at over busy Langford Park in Jensen Beach.

With Trogger leaving his job Philbrick thinks that is time to set up a county wide recreation effort with a full time paid director. He doesn't want to eliminate the individual effort that has made Langford Park a center of recreation for the whole county under the effort of people like Vince Horchino and Frank Wacha who built the Jensen Beach Cubs into a fund raising group that had no peer.

Philbrick plans to approach the Florida Recreation and Parks Association for ideas on the subject when the association meets in Singer Island next week.

In the meantime Philbrick asked for feedback from residents on the idea.

Maybe it is time to get it all together on a county wide effort. We have carefully enjoyed," Philbrick said.

COG meetings scheduled

JENSEN BEACH—Pre-organizational meetings of the Council of Governments (COG) will be held the third and fourth Thursdays in May according to Martin County Commissioner Tower Powers.

The sessions will be held on planning and study and an organizational meeting will be held in June, he reported.

COG was given new life last week when the St. Lucie County Commission reversed an earlier decision not to join the area county council.

In a surprise move last week the St. Lucie Commission voted three to one to join the council. This vote followed a two to two vote the previous week.

Commissioner E.E. Green asked the commission to reconsider its action and changed his vote. The decision to join the council brings area governments into the council.

Commissioner George Price opposed the action saying that it would have another layer of government.

Commissioner John H. Pace, who is the swing vote, was absent the last two meetings.

According to one the county's St. Lucie commissioners additional participation through Part II COG of which Martin then will secure the county activities with the decision whether to continue as a member.

The limited time participation had been suggested by Powers.

The council will be composed of the chairmen of the two county committees and chairmen of Stuart, Port St. Lucie and Sewall's Point.

Council on aging meeting is Thursday

JENSEN BEACH—The Martin County Council on Aging will meet at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at the Jensen Beach Community Church and further discussion on public transportation is expected.

At its last meeting officers and directors were elected as a first step toward formulating a plan for the coming year.

County Commissioner Edith Ackers a member of the council, board of directors said Monday that a recent survey showed the need for public transportation.

The commissioner noted that it will be another week before the committee takes further action on a study that is proposed with the survey was made by Pearl Warnick and Mildred all of Jensen Beach. Another $6,000 would be spent if the commission gives the go ahead to determine what buses would be used and getting the easiest under way.

Trimmer favors the second study but said some commissioners disapproved are at low until they had time to study the report.

The commission has not earmarked to be budget for transportation.

Officers are Allen F. Rupp, president; W. Boyd Smith first vice president; Mrs. Ida Sapp, secretary and vice president; Marion Petrie, secretary treasurer; Dorothy Mosier and assistant secretary treasurer.

BIKE CHECK-Jensen Beach Elementary School third grader Kathy Bridson has her bike checked by George Bezone of the Gold Coast Bike Club and Rita McKenzie of the sheriff's department. After a 10-point check, brakes, chain, pedals, handlebar and grips etc. Kathy had to ride her bike under the watchful eyes of PTA and 4-H members who cooperated in the bike safety inspection program.

Kiwanians Monday. Jarrett said that the youth was receiving the concerns of environmentalists in their studies.

"We don't give them answers, but make them aware of the problems we face in the future," Jarrett said noting that it was "environmental concerns that defeated the Martin County Charter recently."

He told of the many facilities in the center, located in the old Jensen Beach elementary School buildings on Indian River Drive.

The brackish water of the Indian River right in front of the school is a storehouse of information on life cycles of critters that the students study in field trips daily, and the river water is pumped into acquaria that hold specimins that frolic in a natural habitat.

Jarrett told of a sting ray that comes to the top of the tank to be petted (carefully), and said that of 10,000 students that have gone through the program in the past two years, not one had been stung by a sting ray. One teacher had received a "glancing sting" when wandering through the shallows out of a path.

The sixth, seventh and eighth grades respectively, handle projects on the physical profile of the river bottom, survey spoil islands and study the Hutchinson Island beaches.

The projects deal with experiments on learning water table depth, salinity of the water, slopes of beaches, currents along the beaches, river bottom charting and other studies that reveal both information and the wonders of nature to the students.

Jarrett said that the center will have a high school program under way next fall, and there are plans to expand the program to provide field trips and study for adults in the area.

Inviting the Kiwanians along on the field trips Jarrett said that the center is open for anyone who wants to call ahead and set up a visit or who wants to drop in anytime.

Plan dedication is scheduled

JENSEN BEACH-Following a seminar on waste water problems and treatment at Florida Institute of Technology Friday, May 3, a dedication ceremony will be held in Indiantown for the first Sonozone waste water treatment system.

The seminar will begin at 10:45 a.m. the Indiantown Company plant will be dedicated at 2 p.m.

The waste water treatment system is a development of Telecommunications Industries Inc. The plant provides tertiary treatment of sewage with a capacity of about 600,000 gallons per day, yet measures only 51 by 37 feet in size.

The plant uses a high frequency sound waves and ozone a concentrated form of oxygen to remove microscopic solids the effluent in the advanced stage of treatment.

After the heavy solids are removed the almost clear fluid is cascaded through a concrete column charged with the sound waves and ozone which separate remaining microscopic solids and float them away in foam.

The Indiantown plant is the first to be built after the pilot operation.

Elementary presents "Dead Dog Gulch"

JENSEN BEACH-Jensen Beach grades 5 and 6 will be putting on an operetta of the Old West called The Saga of Dead Dog Gulch" at 7:30 p.m. the 16 and 17 of May at F.I.T. Auditorium formerly St. Joseph's College on Indian River Drive.

It is a colorful operetta of the Old West with colorful costumes and scenery. The children have done much of the preparation themselves.

The price is $1.00 for anyone. Also we are in need of 12 pair of long underwear for props. If anyone can help us out it would be most appreciated. Call Jensen Beach office 334-1466.

ENVIRONMENTAL-Finalizing slide preparation before his speech to the Jensen Kiwanis Club is Jay Jarrett, head of the Jensen Beach Environmental Center. Watching is Kiwanis program chairman Neil McMillan.

City charter filing today

TALLAHASSEE-The city charter of Jensen Beach will be filed in the Florida House of Representatives today Wednesday according to Rep. Chuck Sergard.

The representative said that the bill would probably be assigned to the House Community Affairs Committee by the speaker and possibly to other committees as the speaker sees fit. In that committee the bill will be reviewed for legality.

Sergard said that the first hearing on the bill would probably be held in the next two weeks by the committee.

Town votes sewer study

SEWALL'S POINT-A moratorium has been declared on approving any new subdivisions in Sewall's Point until a consulting engineer completes a master plan on a sewalls sewer system.

A study of consulting engineering firm of Black, Crow and Eidness of Gainesville is expected to take about five months.

The moratorium was put into effect at a special meeting of the town commission Monday.

The commission voted to sign a $12,500 contract with the firm for development of a master plan. In addition the firm will be asked to study plans for three subdivisions already submitted to the commission.

Landscape awards are received

SEWALL'S POINT-Sewall's Point residents Frederic B. Stresau and Marion D. Steward of Stresau Smith and Steward landscape architects received special awards during the 25th Landscape Awards Program of the American Association of Nurserymen.

The awards were presented by Mrs. Richard Nixon at the White House April 9.

Lucie rezoning may cost Martin

STUART-Rezoning 31 acres of St. Lucie County farmland for a condominium complex which will have its only immediate access through Martin County will cost Martin County over $1 million per year, Martin County Commissioner Timer Powers predicts.

Powers unsuccessfully argued against the rezoning of site which would increase maximum density from one unit per acre to 10 units per acre.

The 31 acres belong to Martin County developer William Matheson, who also wons the adjacent six acres in Martin County. It will be the site of the planned The Rivers condominium, containing 480 units.

Powers said that unless St. Lucie County makes special provisions for services it will prove costly to Martin County and will put a severe hardship on roads, bridges fire services and ambulances.

Court denies Bryant hearing

STUART-Former County Commissioner Paul Bryant has again been denied a hearing by the State Supreme Court on his 1972 bribe attempt conviction.

Bryant's Circuit Court conviction was upheld by the Fourth District Court of Appeals on March 5, and the State Supreme Court declined to review that decision.

The court case stemmed from allegations that while a county commissioner Bryant solicited about $15,000 from developers. He was suspended from office by Gov. Reubin Askew, and later resigned the post instead of fighting the suspension in a state senate hearing.

CRIME PROGRAM-Local merchants and residents turned out for a crime prevention program sponsored by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the Martin County Sheriff's Department last week. Security measures is the key to crime prevention

JENSEN BEACH-Basic security measures may deter burglars breaking into commercial buildings, it was learned last week by residents and local merchants who turned out for a crime prevention program sponsored by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce.

The program conducted in the Harry Hoke Community Room was held in conjunction with the Martin County Sheriff's Department, by sheriff's detectives Bill Scott and John Davis.

Tips on how to stop commercial robberies were the highlight of the program along with two films "Commercial Armed Robbery" and "Business Burglary" before a question and answer period.

In a pamphlet given to the businessmen it said, time is of the essence for the burglar. The longer it takes a burglar to break in a place of business the greater the probability he may give up. The burglar is in a constant race with the clock for once seen, he may be caught.

It stated further although it may appear that a wave of highly professional burglars are ransacking businessmen throughout the state the fact is that most burglaries are committed by opportunistic amateurs. They can be deterred by a business that takes basic security measures seriously.

FIT gets teacher grant

JENSEN BEACH-The Department of Science Education of Florida Institute of Technology has been awarded a National Science Education of Florida Institute of Technology has been awarded a National Science Foundation grant to conduct a teacher training and curriculum implementation program in cooperation with the Brevard County school system.

Twenty five county teachers will be trained to teach new biological science materials during a six week intensive study program to be held on the F I T campus beginning June 17.

The new science materials will be introduced to conty classrooms during the 1974-75 academic year. A series of 18 bi monthly meetings will be held throughout the year to provide for further program evaluation and teacher training.

The N S F sponsored program will be directed by Robert F. Richmond assistant professor of science education at F I T. The staff will be composed of faculty members of F I T and of the Brevard County school system.

Sewing class at IRCC

FORT PIERCE-Indian River Community College through its Community Services Program is having a Sewing Class Summer Semester I. The course will be held on the campus in Fort Pierce on Tuesdays and Thursday mornings from 10 to 12 from April 30 to June 13 in Room F 207.

The sewing course is a basic class for someone who doesn't sew or who would like to catch up on current techniques.

The course includes a study of fabrics, selecting the correct pattern and fabric, personal pattern alterations and demonstrations of many sewing techniques.

All Saints to start summer schedule

JENSEN BEACH-Starting on Sunday, May 5, the Sunday schedule of services in All Saints Episcopal Church will be as follows: 7:30 a.m. Holy Eucharist. 10 a.m. Sung Eucharist. Sermon, and Sunday School.

At a recent meeting of the Parish Vestry, Chester Martin was elected to serve two years.

At the same meeting, Irene Stewart was elected secretary of the vestry.

Typing course at IRCC

FORT PIERCE-A continuing education course in personal and professional typing will be offered at Indian River Community College on Mondays and Wednesdays from 5:30 to 8 p.m. beginning May 1, 1974. The course will be held in Room B-107 and will be instructed by Mrs. Katherine Isenburg. This course is designed to focus attention on individual needs of the students with emphasis placed on typing for beginners and refresher typing for students with previous typing experience. The registration fee is $6.

Day camp program

FORT PIERCE-The Fort Pierce-St. Lucie County Recreation Department is planning a day camp program this summer as part of its overall program of recreation activities.

The program will be conducted at the Savanna Recreation Area on Midway Road under adult leadership.

In order to institute the program, the department needs to know those parents interested in registering their children between the ages of 7 through 12.

A limited number of children will be accepted, the department spokesman said.

The temporary sub station in the club has no other postal services at the exception of stamps and general delivery. Patrons will be able to mail letters and parcels, purchase stamps, send special deliveries and buy stamped mail at the counter.

When asked if the city had had the facilities to move sooner, Kavanaugh replied that he was offered no place to move to.

Following an investigation of the area conducted by Fort Pierce Postmaster Clark and a postal official from Fort Lauderdale, it was indicated the amount of business being conducted at the station would not necessitate additional personnel.

Miss Powers who will be indoctrinated prior to the opening date will assume the duties of post mistress on the 16th. Included in the indoctrination procedure Miss Powers will spend one day at the Fort Pierce Post Office where she will be exposed to all routine necessary to handle the job.

Meanwhile, according to Mayor Kavanaugh the postal office real estate department is negotiating with General Development Corporation on the Industrial Park site.

"I am optimistic the negotiations will move along at a fast pace at GDC will cooperate Kavanaugh said. It is the hope of the postal authorities that positive action will be forth coming within six months. They are working very hard on it and will keep us posted on the progress."

Robert Seeley, general manager of Port St. Lucie and vice president of GDC said he has not been contacted about the Industrial Park site.

Ground is broken for new PSL bank

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE--There was a large crowd on hand last Friday when the groundbreaking ceremonies were held for the permanent building of the Port St. Lucie Bank.

Following the dedicatory prayers offered by Rev. Craig Possier of the Holy Faith Episcopal Church, Bank President Clement A. Bramley, Jr. addressed the group saying,

"It is with great pride and pleasure that we not only break ground this morning for the new bank, but that we also take this opportunity to rededicate ourselves to provide the kind of services you, the people of this area, deserve.

"With the completion of the new permanent facility we will take particular pride in being able to furnish the members of this community with the additional amenities which have not been possible in our limited temporary quarters," he added.

The additional services Bramley referred to will include safe deposit boxes, night depository and three drive-ins.

Barring unforseen complications, it is possible the bank will move into the permanent building approximately one year following the opening of the mobile facility on the site.

When the doors of the mobile facility were opened for business last October, Port St. Lucie Bank was the first full service facility to be located in the area.

"It is the warm reception we have received thusfar from all the members of this community that enables us to break ground for the permanent facility within six months of that opening," said Bramley.

The proposed new structure will be approximately 9500 square feet in size, one story with a foundation to accommodate the second story when the need arises.

The structure will be a concrete block, steel, stucco building that will fit into the contour of the neighborhood real well, according to Frank L. Tallant, Jr., vice president and cashier.

"We feel the building is going to be a real asset to the community," he added.

Netto Construction Company of Vero Beach, who has the contract for the new bank building, has estimated a completion date for the project at 180 days.

The new bank will be build on the area where the temporary mobile unit is located at 900 East Prima Vista Boulevard.

HAND-IN-HAND--Working hand in hand to complete the proposed new Port ST. Lucie Bank are Edward Netto, president of the Netto Construction Company of Vero Beach, and Architect William Vaughn. Both men were present for the groundbreaking ceremonies held last Friday morning.

Two Auxilians earn 5,000 hour pins

Mrs. Marti Bryant, awards chairman for the Martin Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, presented Mrs. Catherine Hall and Mrs. Lucille Stratton with 5,000 hours pins at the Annual Auxiliary Installation Luncheon held at Port St. Lucie Convention Hall.

Mrs. Mildred Naylor was presented with a 4,000 service pin. Mrs. Ruth Hawk was awarded a 3,000 hour pin. Mrs. Marge Bishop, Mrs. Peggy Combs, Mrs. Nerle Phillips and Mrs. Dorothy Reynolds were awarded 2,000 hour pins. 1,000 hour pins were awarded to Margarette Becker, Lucie Bennett, Mrs. Jane Freese, Anne Hudson, Mrs. Johnson, Garnett Stein, Julia Tyre and Juanita Edwards.

Diabetes Foundation thanks commission

JENSEN BEACH--At ceremonies at Martin County and City of Stuart commission meetings last week proclaiming the week of May 11-18 as Juvenile Diabetes Foundation Week the following statement was made by Mayor Marsteller.

"Thank you very much for signing the proclamation. Until a few years ago diabetes projects were funded only by private and federal sources, with the smallest amount allocated for research to find a cure.

"Therefore, the National Juvenile Diabetes Foundation and all of its chapters have dedicated themselves to do much of this needed research activity.

"Scientists are close to an exciting breakthrough, but they must have the funds to keep them going. The two main areas of research are: 1. transplanting or implanting of insulin producing cells into the body of the diabetic 2. implanting under the skin a small mechanical device that will monitor blood sugar levels and automatically release insulin when needed. This device is similar to the cardiac pacemaker.

"If we can keep these projects going, it is projected that one or both of these measures -- to stop the daily shots and possibly to stop the complications -- will be available to the diabetic within two to five years.

"Our fund raising plans include the placing of collection cannisters in many of the local stores and, in the banks, there will be "Wishing Wells." We will also have a large rummage sale.

PIONEERS--Among those present for the groundbreaking of the new Port St. Lucie Bank last Friday were two pioneers of the area. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Johnson were the first homeowners in the Port St. Lucie area, moving into their home at 140 Celestia Court on June 10, 1959. Johnson, a veteran home-builder, helped to build the first homes in the area.

ARTICLE V
CITY COUNCIL

5.01 The Legislative Power of the city shall be vested in the city council consisting of four members and the mayor, who is the executive.

5.02 City Council members. Two members shall be qualified electors from an area of the city designated as district one. One member shall be elected to a seat designated as seat one (1) and the other member elected to a seat designated as seat two.

(2) Two members shall be qualified electors from an area of the city designated as district two. One of these members shall be elected to a seat designated as seat three.

(3) and the other member elected to a seat designated as seat four.

(4) The Council member shall be elected by the qualified electors of the city at large.

5.03 Districts. District one shall be the area of the city south of east west line bordering the south border of the Town of Ocean Breeze Park. District two shall be the area of the city north of the east west line. The location of this line shall be changed by ordinance when necessary to fairly represent an equal number of voters in each district within six (6) months after publication of each decennial Federal Census.

5.04 Terms of Office. The councilmen for seats one and three shall initially be elected for a term of one year. Thereafter said term shall be for two years. The councilmen for seats two and four shall initially and thereafter be elected to a term of two years.

5.05 Judge of Qualifications. The council shall judge the qualification of its members and shall judge the grounds for forfeiture of their office. A member charged with conduct constituting grounds for forfeiture of his office shall be so notified by certified mail and shall be entitled to a public hearing on demand and a notice of such a hearing shall be published in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the City at least one week in advance of the hearing. Decisions made by the council under this section may be subject to review by the courts.

5.06 Salaries. The council shall set the salary of the mayor and councilmen by ordinance. The council shall set the salaries of the city attorney and city clerk. No salary shall be paid elected city officers during the first year after the adoption of this charter. City employees who handle funds or monies as part of their job responsibilities shall be bonded.

5.07 Vacancy. The office of councilman shall become vacant upon his death, resignation, removal from office in any manner authorized by law, or upon a declaration of forfeiture by the remaining members of council.

5.08 Forfeiture. Upon notice and hearing, the council may find a member has forfeited his office by declaring he:

(a) lacks at any time during his term of office any qualification for the office prescribed by this charter or by law; or

(b) violated an express prohibition of this charter, or has been

CITY COUNCIL

The Mayor and the four council members shall serve as a legislative body with the Mayor holding the executive position. All five have equal voting privileges and weight. All five will be elected at large, however two councilmen must reside in the southern part of the community and two in the northern half. This will help to get equal area representation.

Each councilman is elected for a two year term. However two will be elected in one year and the other two in the next year, so that at any given time there will be two members of the council who will be serving their second year.

The charter provides for the forfeiture of office of any one of its council members by the other members if they can satisfy themselves that the member does not have the qualifications or is otherwise inept. Public notice of the hearings are required however to protect the rights of an individual so charged. The courts can also be asked to decide, if necessary. This provision protects the individual but also requires forfeiture of office, if that best serves the interests of the community.

The salary of Mayor and Council men will be set by ordinance. However, no salary will be paid during the first year that the charter is in effect. The council will set the salary of city clerk and attorney. Any employees handling monies must be bonded.

Vacancies are to be filled by a majority vote of the remaining members of the council.

Regular meetings are to be held at

REFRESHMENTS--Edward Faulkner takes time out at the groundbreaking ceremonies of the new Port St. Lucie Bank for refreshments and a refreshing chat with two of the bank lovelies, Mrs. Beth McCorkle, operations assistant, and Mrs. Charlotte DeVane, assistant cashier.

Judge Geiger trades robe for bars in summer reserve

KINGSBAY, GA.--Among the more than 100 reservists of the 32220th U.S. Army Garrison of West Palm Beach currently training for two weeks at the Military Ocean Terminal here is Dwight L. Geiger, Marion County judge and part-time acting circuit judge.

Capt. Geiger is personnel officer with the Garrison, wich has the role of providing support for the more than 20 units from eight states training at the Terminal. In effect, the Garrison is the housekeeper for nearly 1,500 citizen-soldiers at the camp, and as personnel officer, Capt. Geiger oversees the work of 10 men in his section which manages the actions, assignments and records of the Garrison's personnel.

Capt. Geiger also serves as a member of the Garrison adjutant's staff, a job with which he is well familiar as he was the adjutant during last year's annual training. He says he finds his duties at camp demanding, interesting and important.

'WE SERVICE WHAT WE SELL'

WE SELL BOOKS, MAPS & CHARTS
If you wish to purchase a book on any subject or a map or chart of any area, come see our selection at Valentine's Bookshop, 129 East Ocean Boulevard in Stuart.
We sell books, maps and charts.
We specialize in selling just books, maps and charts so that we can offer you the best selection and service to be found. To offer you this wide assortment and personal attention we are sales agents for:
U.S. Geological Survey offering topographic maps of all areas of Florida and the United States.
U.S. Department of Commerce offering Nautical and Aeronautical charts and publications of and about U.S. and adjacent waters.
U.S. Naval Oceanographic Office offering nautical charts and publications of and about the world's oceans.
You won't find newspapers, nor greeting cards, nor sunglasses, nor camera film or any of the many items sometimes associated with the sale of books.
We sell books, maps and charts.
We don't try to compete with the many merchants who sell those so-called bookstore-related items.
So if you're looking for a book, map or chart, come see our selection at Valentine's Bookshop, 129 East Ocean Boulevard in Stuart.
We sell Books, Maps and Charts.

Venture Out News Notes

By Willard Auch

As we drove around the park today we saw many empty lots ... we miss your smiling faces. We hope you all have had safe and happy journeys to your homes – all we can say is "hurry back."

Andy and Edna Wilston are leaving for their Canadian home this week.

The Al Edwards left us Monday and Mary Ellyn Michelson who had just moved into her new Coachman trailer and lot has also gone north for the summer. We will miss her excellent reporting on the outer fringe.

In the Indian River addition the George Sterlings have moved into their new Terra trailer and are getting things ship-shape.

The War Irwins are enjoying being back home in beautiful Tennessee with some 40 degree temperatures and a roaring fire in the fireplace.

Ward the gardner has many vegetables up and is now planting potatoes.

Mercy Whitney's boat the Roberta II has headed north to Plymouth, Mass. for the summer. We will miss her excellent talents around the club house.

Dot Tucker reports:

The Ravinets are recuperating from their grandchildren's visit. Although it was a bit hectic, Unabelle states that it was great fun and she enjoyed every minute of it. The report around the park is that the young Ravinet girls are a joy to have in the park. They are thoughtful, helpful and kind. It was wonderful to watch the care they take of each other. Come back soon, girls.

Rita Autenreith cooked the Tuckers one of her famous Curried Chicken dinners. What a treat! The Tuckers believe Rita should be called the Cook of the Year.

Theo's brother and sister-in-law were visitors in the park this past weekend. Woody loves to fish and can be seen any old time of the day, lolling in his chair waving his fishpole. He doesn't catch too many fish, but he says that isn't really the purpose of fishing. It is the art of just sitting and letting the rest of the world rush by that he loves.

Dot Tucker heard all about the Davis-Nickerson trip to the West Coast via boat. Get Betty to tell you about it some time and you'll drool too.

Jessie Shaver's mother is visiting here. She is very much interested in everything that goes on, even though she is nearing her ninetieth year and can't get out too often.

Col. Gabe and Kathryn Lewis visited the Tuckers this week. The Lewises and the Tuckers become good friends on the Mexican Caravan back in 1969 and since then manage to see each other once a year anyway. The Lewises are from Texas.

Fran Treer reports:

So glad that Doc Smythe is home again after his hospital stay and is doing very well indeed. He looks as well anyone would guess he had been on vacation.

Edith and Dick Painter just got back from a trip to Jacksonville, Fla., to visit their daughter. They picked up some wild phlox to plant around their place to add to the beautiful garden. They saw them blooming by the acres as they came back and thought the phlox would make a nice addition.

Ida Hausman not only plays very good golf but manages to add money and golf balls every time out. Her eye sight should be the envy of any professional caddy, she spots not only the balls of her foursome but sees other balls tucked away on the course long given up for lost by their original players. This week she found 60 cents on one hole, and has often picked up money other days other places. Last year walking in Fields Department Store, first she picked up $10 and a few minutes later 10 cents. Eagle-eyed Ida! Anytime Harry feels poor he can send Ida out for a walk, and she probably will come home richer.

Catherine and Hank Higgins unexpectedly decided to visit good friends on the west coast of Florida for a few days. They had a gay time, went to Busch Gardens and Kapok Tree Inn again, and spent hours reminiscing with their friends. One of the men has a roomful of memorabilia of his baseball and basketball days and much of it involved our Hank, who was a celebrity for many years in high school and college for his terrific ballplaying. Now we know who the grandsons take after, good ole Grampa still one of the most athletic men in the park.

The Jones boys are having a good time. Brother of Al, Pete Jones, and his son, Doug, from Memphis, Tenn., are visiting Betty and Al. Pete retired from his job as manager of Sears Roebuck in Ft. Pierce but missed Betty and Al and also the good fishing in these parts so he and Doug came back from Memphis for a week.

Mate Greening reports:

These past few days have found the Bill Greelings in a flurry of fun activity with their visiting Michigan neighbors Agnes and Howard Gloor. It was a marvelous opportunity to show off the surrounding area by boat. A cruise on Sunday to the St. Lucie Hilton brunch included the Auchs and their niece Olivi, who is visiting from Chicago.

Betty Daves reports:

Tuesday 23 4 a.m. Alice and Bill Sirkau joined Jake and me for a memorable 5 day trip on our 24 Stamas SF. St. Lucie lock now open and command caused no wait, but after May 1 it goes on 2 hour schedule. A really big alligator, tall proud egrets, fishing shacks, modest homes adjacent to occasional mansions kept us interested.

Clewiston Inn leaves little to be desired. The staff from an excellent manager to the dining room help, and the wagon driver all make you feel very welcome. Large air conditioned rooms look out upon a beautifully landscaped courtyard. Murals of Florida wild life cover the walls of th lounge and are exquisitely done.

Wednesday the trip to Fort Myers was beautiful. Pelicans nestled in fleecy clouds were gently drawing water from the Okeechobee waterway. Miniature waves from our wake curled lazily up over the rocks watering the feet of healthy, heavy Australian pines.

Patches of water hyacinth swayed wildly in the wake and momentarily returned to tranquility. Reflections of rocks, trees and shrubs doubled the beauty in a telescopic view behind the bank. Tiny brilliant yellow blossoms on the cypress and white elderberry blossoms offered great contrast. Masses of white morning glory were reminiscent of Grandmas eiderdown comforter. Cattle and calves silhouted the blue sky as scruffy palms replaced the pine.

Thursday a.m. the wide expanse of water was a welcome relief. The trip to South Seas Plantation at the tip of

THE MIRROR MAY 1, 1974 PAGE 5B

Captiva who served excellent drinks and a beautiful buffet at noon. From there we went on to Cabbage Key accessible only by boat. It is unique in every way. Breakfast menu features turtle legs and grits. Back to Ft. Myers to gas up and stay overnight. Smittys Beef House adjacent to the Elks Club has long been one of our favorites.

Friday headed home, once more stopping at Clewiston Inn. Sent Jake for a toilet article and he returned with a violin instead. Problem sleeper that he is he was roaming Main Street at 4:45 a.m. to be asked for identification when he was perusing a jewelry window.

Saturday at the west end of the South Rim of Lake Okeechobee at about 2000 rpm we suddenly hit an invisible rock. Propellar looks as though it had a permanent. Just an incident to keep it not quite a perfect trip.

Congenial company is the key to any such venture and we had it.

PSL Homemakers Club annual luncheon

PORT ST. LUCIE-The Port St. Lucie Homemakers Club will hold its annual luncheon on Thursday, May 9, at Dorothy Vernon's Restaurant. The happy hour will start at 12:30 p.m. followed by lunch at 1 o'clock.

The next monthly meeting is scheduled for September 12. Arts and crafts sessions will continue throughout the summer at the marina from 10 a.m. to noon.

The "Good Old Day's Bazaar" held April 21 at the marina was successful. A variety of deliciously prepared dishes were enjoyed by many visitors. The fine selection of cakes, cookies and rolls as well as many attractive items made by the club members sold quickly.

Donna Privateer and her pupils held an art show on the lawn of the Marina and Helen Terry sketched portraits in the building.

Thelma's Dress Shop showed dresses and pants suits for every occasion which were modeled by members of the club.

A painting donated by Donna Privateer was won by Mrs. D. Hillegas and Mrs. A. Miller won the portrait donated by Helen Terry. Mrs. J. Krall won third prize, a beach jacket.

Pinelake Village News Notes

BY SHARYON TILTON

The residents of Pinelake Village held their first post luck dinner Monday evening.

Those attending were: Bill, Grace and Dutch Ehren, Gene and Mildred Gray, Sid and Rhea Hewes, Camiel and Rachel LaCluyse, mFred and June LaVigne, Stuart and Susan Mays, Mac and Alice mcPherson, Ken and Patty Tilton, Sharyon Tilton, Doc and Gwen Wiegand, Carmon and Betty Wilson, George and Esther yost and Dennis and Marlene Graves.

Following dinner, there was a discussion of the interests of the new mobile home village. Since several seemed to be interested in crafts, Rachel LaCluyse volunteered to be the hostess for a meeting next Monday afternoon, May 6, when the ladies may show some things they can do and discuss what new things they might like to try.

Everyone seemed to have a good time and suggested we have another pot luck soon.

Jed Specialties, your window specialist

PORT SALERNO-If you're wondering what to do about that drab window in your home, give Roger Scheider a call at Jed Specialties in Port Salerno for an appointment.

Schneider is the new owner of Jed Specialties which carries all varieties for any kind of window. Made to order window shades, drapes, patch shades, venetian blinds in over 100 colors, roman shades and a upholstering service backed by 30 years experience.

Service is the name at Jed Specialties located at 10 St. Lucie Ave. in Port Salerno. Twenty four hour service is given to window shade customers once an appointment is made and measurements taken. A definite advantage for those just moving into a house, apartment or condominium.

As for prompt service, all drapery orders are given a two week guarantee delivery date along with free drapery rod installation.

If its just a shade or a whole room to be redone, give Jed Specialties a call for an appointment at 287-3918.

OWNER-Roger Schneider, owner of Jed Specialties in Port Salerno, stands by some of the many samples carried to decorate any windows. Service is the name at Jed Specialties, where 24 hr. service is given to window shade customers along with free installation.

Luncheon held

PORT ST. LUCIE—Twenty seven members of the Gab 'N Eatas Social club gathered at Pasquale's Restaurant for their April luncheon on Thursday April 25.

Mrs. Arthur Coulon had as her guests Mrs. Fred Adler, Mrs. John Karrer and Mrs. Paul Zinter. Mrs. Donald Porter, club president, brought Mrs. C. W. Kaestner as her guest.

Mrs. Porter announced a board meeting for Thursday, May 2, at her home.

The club will go to Stuart for their May coffee on Wednesday, May 8, at 10 a.m. Mrs. Ewald Swenson will be hostess at her home in Vista Pines.

Canopies for shuffle courts

PORT ST. LUCIE—PSL Shuffleboard Club President Bert Deckert reported this week that the long-hoped-for canopies over the North Port rec area courts will be installed by June 1.

General Development will pay half the cost, according to Deckert, the balance to be paid by the club membership.

Seventy members attended the meeting called to discuss the matter and more than half of the club's cost was pledged on the spot.

Deckert said he believes the comfort provided by the canopies will promote a lot more summer play.

CONDOS Q's & A's

DEAR T. L.,

I have heard there is a condominium in Stuart that features single story living with plenty of wide open spaces. It sounds like a great concept, but how can I be assured that I won't get stuck on a new concept that I may regret later?

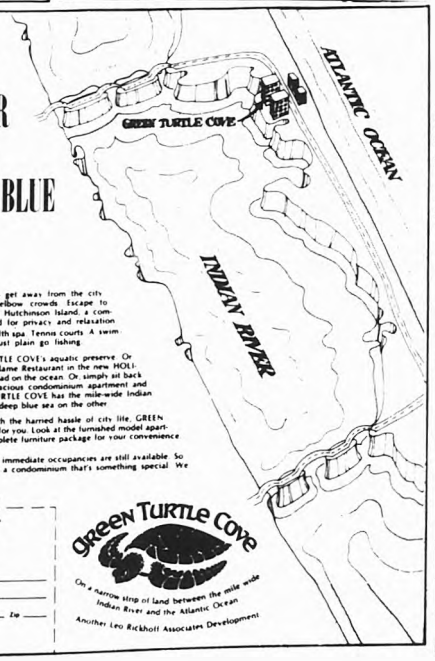
Still Not Sure

DEAR STILL NOT SURE,

What you have heard is true. Twin Lakes is a totally fresh look at condominium living. It's low in design, density, and price. (all in the 20's). Your hesitation is understandable. That is why Twin Lakes offers a Lease-Purchase arrangement. Move in today. Rent up to one year. If you like it - you'll buy it. How's that for a deal?

For straight answers to your Condominium Questions, write Dear T.L., Post Office Box 2353, Stuart, Florida 33494, or for free personal consultation, come to Twin Lakes on U.S. No. 1, one mile south of Cove Road Stuart, any day 10 a.m. until dark. No appointment necessary.

BETWEEN THE RIVER AND THE DEEP BLUE SEA



Go ahead, lose yourself — get away from the city noises, and the elbow-to-elbow crowds. Escape to GREEN TURTLE COVE, on Hutchinson Island, a complete community designed for privacy and relaxation. There's a clubhouse. A health spa. Tennis courts. A swimming pool. Or you can just plain go fishing.

Walk through GREEN TURTLE COVE's aquatic preserve. Or dine at the new gourmet Flame Restaurant in the new HOLIDAY INN right across the road on the ocean. Or simply sit back in the comfort of your spacious condominium apartment and enjoy the view. GREEN TURTLE COVE has the mile-wide Indian River on one side and the deep blue sea on the other.

So if you're not happy with the harried hassle of city life, GREEN TURTLE COVE is the place for you. Look at the furnished model apartment. And there's a complete furniture package for your convenience.

Prices start at $48,950. And immediate occupancies are still available. So think about getting lost in a condominium that's something special. We built it with you in mind.

The Indiantown plant treats 470,000 gallons of sewage per day for the 4,500 western Martin County community.

Some of the advantages of the Sonozone system pointed out include minimum space requirements, reduced handling of raw materials, and discharges de-contaminated and non-toxic effluent (no chlorine is used).

Further studies on the Sonozone system will be conducted both at Indiantown, the University of Notre Dame and at FIT.

FIT's Dean Tealey welcomed the seminar speakers to the campus.

Albert Roach, chairman of the board of Telecommunications, turned the plant over to Mrs. Y.R. Famel, chairman of the board of the Indiantown Company, which operates the facility.

Visiting nurse service need is cited

JENSEN BEACH–The need for a visiting nurse program in Martin County was cited at last Thursday's meeting of the Martin Council on Aging at the Jensen Beach Community Church.

"We don't have as many doctors or hospital beds or nursing homes as we'd like to have," Dr. Mitchell Benedict said.

"We need a visiting nurse service to help us out," Dr. Benedict said. He is a member of the council and has lived in Martin County for 12 years.

Mrs. Leta Williams, social worker with Martin Memorial Hospital, said the 120-bed nursing home is inadequate for the number of elderly and younger persons who need care.

Council president Alvin Rupp said that the visiting nurse service would be "one area of concern" for the council.

Rupp noted that the first priority of the council is establishing an information and referrel center and the second priority is a public transportation system for persons over 60 years of age.

County Commissioner Ed Glucker, who is a member of the council board of directors, said that he hopes that the county will have a transportation system by next fall.

The county has conducted a bus survey, and Glucker said that the survey shows the need for a bus service. And he said that he was sure that the commission would approve a second phase of the study would establish bus routes, fares, schedules, financing and management.

Rupp said that about $10,000 has been earmarked by the council for public transportation for the elderly.

Rupp said that about 77 per cent of the council's budget, $55,000, is federally funded with the remainder coming from the local community.

The council is looking for office space and has openings for a part-time director and a full-time clerk-secretary.

The council leader cited the need for volunteers to help in the programs.

Persons attending the session also noted the need for bike trails in Jensen Beach, and there was some persons who felt that there was a need for a meals-on-wheels program.

Membership in the council is open to anyone 60 years of age or older, according to Rupp.

COUNCIL LEADER–Alvin Rupp, president of the Martin County Council on Aging, talks about priorities for the council at a meeting last week at the Jensen Beach Community Church.

PORT ST. LUCIE–Funeral services for Port St. Lucie Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh will be at 11 a.m. Thursday, May 9, at Ayrock Funeral Home in Jensen Beach.

Colleges to honor Evinrudes

JENSEN BEACH–Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Evinrude will be honored by the Independent Colleges and Universities of Florida (ICUF) at a banquet Thursday in Miami.

The Evinrudes are among nine persons to be so honored as "chiefs" (Champions of Higher Independent Education in Florida) by the 17 presidents of colleges and universities in the state.

The Evinrudes will jointly receive the plaque honoring them. Also included is John Fogarty, Rev. Otis Washington Fogarty, Maurice Gusman, Dr. Alexander Schure, Thomas A. Sessa, Dr. Donald E. Warren and William R. Wright.

Master of ceremonies will be Dr. John E. Johns, president of Stetson University.

The Evinrudes have been major supporters of Florida Institute of Technology, and Dr. Evinrude serves on the board of trustees of FIT.

Also on the program for the banquet, to be held at the Miami Marriott Hotel, are the six candidates for the U.S. Senate, who will speak to the issue of higher education.

Part of library

Monroe music is donated to college

JENSEN BEACH–Part of Vaughn Monroe's library has been donated to Indian River Community college. The widow of the famous band leader, Mrs. Marion Monroe, made the presentation recently to Dr. Herman Heise, college president.

Monroe, of Sewall's Point, died May 1973, shortly after an engagement at the Kentucky Derby.

Monroe, who gained his recognition as a vocalist back in the forties during the "big band era," was a popular figure in the community, taking part in many charitable events, the most prominet being his annual promotion of the Martin Memorial Hospital Ball.

He was a top artist on the RCA Victor Records label and his records sold more than 76,000 copies, including four million selling singles.

Some of his big hits were "Ghost Riders in the Sky," "Racing with the Moon," which was his theme song, "Ballerina" and "There, I've Said It Again."

During the big band era, he performed in such places as the Sahara, Flamingo, Tropicana and Dunes Hotels in Las Vegas, the Mainsonette of the St. Regis Hotel in New York City. He toured throughout Europe making appearances for the servicemen based there.

Monroe was the "official voice of RCA" on all the company's summer trails for 15 years, and he toured the country as the goodwill ambassador for RCA.

An outstanding talent in summer stock, he appeared in many popular productions. He also starred in motion pictures, one of which was The Toughest Man in Tombstone. In this motion picture Monroe introduced his famous hit, Mule Train.

The part of Monroe's library given to IRCC includes stage band music, music from radio and television shows, special arrangements for dance bands.

The library also contains a guitar, fluegelhorn, trumpet and some percussion instruments.

The music library is being displayed in the Charles S. Miley Learning Resources Center at the College.

Paul Bryant ordered to begin serving sentence

STUART–A mandate for former Martin County Commissioner Paul Bryant to start serving a misdemeanor sentence arrived Monday at the courthouse.

Circuit Court Clerk Louise Isaacs received the document which ends the appeal action initiated by Bryant after he was sentenced Dec. 22, 1972, for attempting to solicit a bribe.

During the appeals, Bryant has been free on bond.

Mrs. Isaacs took the mandate to the office of Judge C. Pfeiffer Trowbridge for execution, but the judge is out of town.

Bryant is to serve three months of a one-year sentence in the Martin County jail, to be followed by two years and nine months of probation.

He also was fined $1,000.

Retail merchants elect

JENSEN BEACH–With 18 Jensen Beach merchants present, the Retail Merchants Division of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce was formed Monday night.

Meeting at the Chamber office, the merchants elected Clarence Rydell, chairman; Joe Bumbera, vice-chairman; Ginny VanDien, secretary; George Duao, treasurer; and Gerry Lauder, membership committee chairman.

The group discussed aiding the fireworks program along with perhaps holding an outdoor meet put on by the local merchants. The annual Fourth of July Fireworks Program, an event of the Chamber of Commerce, was soundly backed by the merchants as an event of benefit to the whole community and worthy of the merchants' support.

The idea of an outdoor event put on by the merchants, perhaps at Langford Park, was discussed as a future event, along with several other ideas from the past two meetings.

Rydell, in commenting on the turnout and discussions to date, said, "I'm more than pleased with the number and the quality of the ideas that have been put forth. I think that we are going to have a good organization and we are going to do something in a concerted way."

Street light ok is expected

JENSEN BEACH–A new street light for SR 707 and SR 723 near Baker Road was scheduled to be approved at today's meeting, May 8, of the Martin County Commission, according to Commissioner Ross Philbrick.

Commissioner Philbrick also said that a new assistant county engineer, Charles Kinker, Jr. of Vermont, is expected to be employed.

County Administrator has recommended Kinker for the $18,000 job.

County Engineer Ken Ferrari's starting salary was $22,000.

Noble said the additional help was needed because of the heavy workload in the engineering department.

Chamber week is May 12

...SEN BEACH–Residents of the ...Beach area are invited to visit ...ew Jensen Beach Chamber of ...rce building on Commercial ...ering Chamber of Commerce ...chamber president Joh Chicky.

...ber of Commerce week is May ...ough 18, and Chicky said refreshments would be served at the chamber office from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. during the week.

"We welcome everyone to come in and see our new office," Chicky said.

Gov. Reubin Askew has proclaimed May 12 through 18 as Chamber of Commerce week in the state.

Boat is donated to school system

STUART--A 19-foot boat owned by Mr. and Mrs. Scott Fletcher, "Miss B III," has been renamed "Tiger Shores" and donated to the Martin County school system.

Jay Jarrett, director of the Environmental Study Center in Jensen Beach, said that the boat would be used by students on the high-school level.

At Fletcher's request, the boat's name was changed to "Tiger Shores." He said that the gift was made to the students for the $35,000 they raised to help the beach fund along.

Fletcher served as executive director of the "Save Our Beaches" drive, and one strip was named "Tiger Shores" by the high school students.

"Because of the magnificent performance of our Martin County students, enthusiastic encouragement from all principals, teachers and parents, Mrs. Fletcher and I decided sometime ago to donate our boat to the Martin County School Board. The understanding is that this is to be used only for formal instructional activities for the Environmental Studies Center," Fletcher said.

"It is our hope that this gift of our boat will play an important role in the ecological and conservation studies for the future welfare of Martin County, or any other counties where some of our students may live in the future."

Quarterly dividend is declared

TAMPA--At its May 3 meeting the Board of Directors of Florida Steel Corporation declared a quarterly dividend in the amount of 21½ cents per share payable June 12, 1974, to shareowners of record on May 31, 1974.

This is the 69th consecutive quarterly cash dividend to be paid by the Tampa-based firm.

Nuclear plant review is set

JENSEN BEACH--The applications of Florida Power and Light Co. to operate Unit 1 and to build Unit 2 of its St. Lucie nuclear plant on Hutchinson Island will be reviewed May 16 in West Palm Beach.

The subcommittee of the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards will conduct the hearing scheduled from 1 to 5 p.m. in the Sheraton Inn, 1901 Palm Beach Lakes Boulevard.

Meetings of the subcommittee is not part of the AEC's public hearing process. Public hearings are conducted by Atomic Safety and Licensing Boards, usually at the locations near the site.

The May 16 session of the subcommittee will hear technical presentations by representatives of the AEC Regulatory Staff and FPL.

While members of the public may attend the meeting, the committee is interested only in oral or written statements on the specific matters set forth in the notice of meeting.

Palefaces get Florida tan

TALLAHASSEE--Pale Scandinavian faces may soon be tanning on sunny Florida beaches.

Twenty-one Scandinavian travel agents recently completed a five-day tour of the Sunshine State.

The tour, conducted by the Florida Department of Commerce (FDC) in conjunction with the U.S. Travel Service, SAS Scandinavian Airlines and National Airlines in late April, included a brief bask on the beaches at St. Petersburg and Daytona.

Tour guide Leslie Hadi of the FDC Division of Tourism said the Scandinavians told him the beaches were the highlight of their tour.

Hadi also showed the state's Scandinavian guests the sights of Cape Kennedy, Walt Disney World, Cypress Gardens, in addition to Tampa, Miami and Orlando.

"They seemed very impressed," Hadi said. "They have seen for themselves many reasons they should encourage Scandinavian tourists to visit Florida."

Included in the tour were six travel agents from Denmark, three from Finland, five from Norway and seven from Sweden, plus a Swedish tour escort.

Speech class to be held at Stuart Middle school

STUART--Parents of small children, pre-school teachers and all adults who work with or are interested in helping children to talk, are invited to attend a new class held at Stuart Middle School.

The class, taught by Speech Consultants Eugene Moore and Ellen Fox, shows parents how to recognize normal patterns of speech development and how to determine whether their child is learning how to communicate effectively.

Three workshop sessions include the use of slides, audio cassettes a 16mm film and handbooks.

There is no charge for the course which is sponsored by the Adult Education Department, Martin County Public Schools, as a community service.

The class meets each Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Open Concept, Stuart Middle School, 575 Georgia Avenue, Stuart.

For further information about this and other adult education classes, please call 287-4400 weekdays between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Tourist traffic down in state

TALLAHASSEE--Cars stopping at Florida's welcome stations are down 31 percent compared to last year, according to figures released by the State Department of Commerce.

Cars entering Florida on Interstate 75 at Jennings during the week of April 25 to May 1 totalled 4,035 with 11,082 people.

This compares with 5,973 cars and 17,244 for the same week in 1973.

Sunday traffic April 28, 1974 totalled 738 cars and 2,126 people compared to 1,047 cars and 4,118 people for Sunday, April 29, 1973.

Comparison at other welcome stations in other sections of the state was about the same, percentage decrease in cars and people.

Jensen Art League plans Sunday exhibit

JENSEN BEACH--Members of the Jensen Beach Art League will have an exhibit of their paintings on Sunday, May 12, from 12 noon until 5 p.m. on the grounds of Elliott Museum.

The public is invited free.

Plans for the art show were made at Monday's meeting of the group at Elliott Museum, conducted by Mrs. Dorothy Butler, president. For further information call Mrs. Butler at 283-4726.

SERVICE OFFICERS REPORT
BY GEORGE HODGES

Approximately 29 million men and women are living today who served in our nation's armed forces during periods of national emergency. They represent that valuable resource known as the veteran population.

This group includes 3,000 Spanish-American War veterans, 1,281,000 World War I veterans, 14,123,000 World War II veterans, 5,908,000 veterans of the Korean conflict (including 1,256,000 vets who served in both World War II and Korea), 3,113,000 veterans who served the nation during the cold war hostilities between 1955 and 1964, and 5,976,000 Vietnam Era veterans (including 350,000 veterans who served during both the Korean Conflict and the Vietnam Era).

American veterans range in age from less than 20 years old to 100 years old; their average age is 44.7 years. Of the 29 million veterans, seven percent are 65 years of age or older, 43 percent are 45-64 years of age, 31 percent are 30-44 years, and 19 percent are 29 years of age or younger.

More than 3 million veterans, comprising approximately eleven percent of the total veteran population, are disabled.

The rate of participation of male veterans in the labor force is almost 96 percent, compared to only 72 percent for non-veterans.

Major trends in the veteran population between 1967 and 1972 show that the total number of veterans has increased by more than 3,000,000, largely as a result of the disengagement of American military forces in Vietnam. The male veteran labor force has increased rapidly from 22.3 million to 24.4 million.

The majority of the entrants into the labor force are between the ages of 20 and 24, predominantly Vietnam veterans.

During the last quarter of the fiscal year 1971, an average of 866,000 war veterans were unemployed, reflecting a rate of 3.8 percent, as compared to an unemployment rate of 6.4 percent for non-veterans. A year later the average number of unemployed war veterans was reduced to 649,000, reflecting a rate of 3.77 percent, as compared to an unemployment of 6.2 percent for non-veterans.

Of the 29 million veterans in our population, eleven percent are disabled. The unemployment rate for disabled veterans is estimated to exceed 14 percent.

V.F.W. to honor Captain Adams

JENSEN BEACH–Maurice K. Langberg Post 10066 will honor Capt. Francis Adams on his 100th birthday Saturday, May 11 at the post home on Savannah Road in Jensen Beach. A banquet in his honor is expected to draw notable celebrities from the VFW state officials and members of state and national governmental offices. The banquet will start promptly at 6 p.m.

Captain Francis Adams was born May 11, 1874 in New York City at 43rd and Broadway, known in those days as Long Acres Square, now known as Times Square. The Captain was widely known and resided in N.Y. for the first 75 years of his life, before coming to the Martin County area.

In 1897 Capt. Adams joined the N.Y. National Guard, famously known as "The Rainbow Division". Sworn in as a gunner in the light artillery, he was made a sgt., but quickly rose to 2nd lt. Immediately after the sinking of the Spanish Maine, his battery was sent to Fort Hamilton, N.Y. Adams asked for and got a transfer to the Infantry, where he could get into the action.

Sworn in as a private, his regiment took their training at Roosevelt Field at Mineola, N.Y. then went to Tampa, the jumping-off base to "San Diego De Cuba". Led by Col. Frederick Dent Grant (son of Ulysses S. Grant) Adams was commissioned to 2nd lt. Again, the lt. was assigned to Col. Grant's staff as liason officer. Upon being sent to Cuba, Lt. Adams was put into a special mission which brought him in contact with Col. Theodore Roosevelt and his "Rough Riders". This later prompted the Capt. to write his famous book, "Roosevelt's Enemies and his Friends".

On July 4, 1898, with the war being over, Capt. Adams was ordered back to N.Y. at which time he was transferred to military intelligence.

At the onset of World War I, Capt. Adams was assigned to company commander of Co. N. of the 22nd regiment, then later went back to military intelligence directly under General J.J. Pershing, and served in this capacity until Armistice Day.

From 1898 till 1917, Capt. Adams was editor and publisher of the "Adams Magazine" devoted to the military of the U.S.

During WW II, Capt. Adams was again called upon to serve in military intelligence in the South Pacific and European campaigns, under Generals Eisenhower and McArthur.

Capt. Adams has also been the owner and publisher of a magazine known in the industry as "Man Made Fibers". The Capt. is still chairman of the board of the magazine.

Capt. Adams was married to the former Minerva Wyne Goynes of Richmond, Va. Oct. 7, 1917 in Long Branch, N.J. The first Mrs. Adams passed away 17 years later. The Capt. married again to Mart Gertrude Bratton, alias of Richmond, and the Adams' lived together 40 happy years before her passing.

Civilian Francis A. Adams is a devoted student of Shakespeare, and often quotes from many of his works. Adams is also a guest speaker at many functions and enlightens his public with stories of his vast experiences and travels. He is noted for keeping his audiences spellbound with his stories.

The Capt. attributes his longevity to not overdoing anything such as eating, drinking, or staying out late. Francis also says he will never retire.

Post 10066 and the VFW at all levels are extremely honored and proud to have this fine veteran and devoted American in its ranks. Capt. Francis A. Adams, the Veterans of Post 10066 proudly salute you on this, your 100th birthday.

JENSEN BEACH–The Ruth Circle will meet Monday, May 13 at 1:15 p.m. in Fellowship Hall of the Trinity United Methodist Church. Mrs. Calvin Baker and Mrs. Emil Backman are [illegible]

Jim Love is named director of sales

FT. PIERCE–James C. (Jim) Love has been named Director of Sales for Costa del Sol, an approximately 200 acre residential and recreational community now under construction on oceanfront property north of Ft. Pierce on Highway A-1-A.

Costa del Sol, a project of Costa Development Corporation of Florida, offers oceanfront living in the 12-story, 116-unit La Sagra condominium, which will be ready for occupancy this summer; townhouses and tri-plex residences. Additional condominium units are planned for future development. Highlighting the recreational amenities in the nearly $100 million community will be tennis courts, a 9-hole executive golf course, beach club and racquet club.

Genealogy workshop

STUART–A genealogy workshop meeting will be held Thursday, May 9 at 1:30 p.m. in the conference room of the Martin County Public Library.

The group is a branch of the Palm Beach County Genealogical Society. All persons interested in family history research are invited to attend.

$50,000 gas refunds

JACKSONVILLE–The Internal Revenue Service announced today that nearly $50,000 is being refunded by 25 Florida service stations as a result of investigations completed during the last two weeks in April.

Bob Newell, acting IRS district stabilization manager, said that 78 stations were checked during the same period for compliance with Federal Energy Office Price Regulations. A total of $49,621 is being refunded due to recent overcharges for gasoline.

Eight Sarasota county stations will be refunding $26,862 due to overcharges ranging from one-half cent to 4.6 cents per gallon. One station alone will be returning $11,451.

Service stations in Broward, Collier, Dade, Duval, Lee, Manatee, Martin, Okeechobee, and Palm Beach Counties will also roll back their prices and refund money to their customers.

NEW OWNER–Malcolm (Mack) Finnane, left, is the new owner of Maryland Fried Chicken and Tradewinds Restaurant in the Jensen Beach Plaza. Charley and Dottie Beyer opened the restaurant in March, 1973. Mr. and Mrs. Beyer operated the Tradewinds for many years in Stuart.

Beyers sell Tradewinds

JENSEN BEACH–Charley and Dottie Beyer have sold the Maryland Fried Chicken franchise and Tradewinds Restaurant in the Jensen Beach Plaza to a Wisconsin native.

The new owner is Malcolm (Mack) Finnane of Janesville, Wis., and the effective date of the sale was May 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Beyer, long-time operators of the Tradewinds Restaurant in Stuart, opened Maryland Fried Chicken and restaurant in the Plaza May 20, 1973.

"We will have business as usual," Finnane, a restaurant and cafeteria operator in Wisconsin, said.

He said that his wife, Sheila, a first grade school teacher in Janesville and 15-month-old daughter Colleen, will join him in Jensen Beach June 5.

Finnanne said he had visited Jensen Beach several times on vacations.

"I've worked in restaurants and have relatives in the business but this is the first one that I've owned," Finnane said.

Long-time residents of Martin County and restaurant operators, Mr. and Mrs. Beyer are retiring. Beyer said they plan to travel and visit their summer home about 40 miles from Pittsburgh, Pa.

FIRESTONE LEADERS–Tom Higgins is the manager of Firestone Store in Stuart and the assistant manager is Carolyn Ryan. Higgins is the former planning, zoning and building administrator for Martin County.

Higgins is Firestone manager

STUART–The former administrator of planning, zoning and building for Martin County is the manager of the Firestone Store, 909 Johnson Ave.

Tom Higgins became manager of the store two years ago and was joined about the same time by Carolyn Ryan who is now assistant manager.

Higgins said that the store has a complete line of Firestone Automotive Store parts, tires, batteries, shocks, etc.

A native of Vero Beach, Higgins came to Martin County about seven years ago to join the courthouse staff.

Miss Ryan is a native of Montreal, Canada and is a graduate of Martin County High School.

There are seven employes at Firestone. Higgins said, and the store is open five and a half days a week.

City pushes segregated sewers

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE–The State Department of Pollution Control cannot legally force Port St. Lucie to join a proposed county-wide sewer system by threatening or refusing to issue permits for the private system to make discharges, it was learned last week.

City officials went directly to the office of State Attorney General Robert Shevin last Thursday to call the hand of Richard Tash of Fort Lauderdale, a DPC consultant.

Port St. Lucie has its own system, and the county commission, Fort Pierce city commission and Fort Pierce Utility Authority want to take over that system to accomplish setting up the regional network.

The Shevin spokesman said in a telephone interview from Tallahassee that federal law does require central sewer systems. "But a person coming in and showing to the DPC satisfaction that he will provide the appropriate treatment cannot be denied permits."

"That's not correct as far as I know," he said.

Tash met with city, county and authority officials last week to outline methods of applying for federal grants for expansion and improvements to the sewer system. Estimating the cost of a county-wide sewage treatment system at somewhere in the neighborhood of $40 million, Tash said that federal grant money would be vital.

Rather than a municipal system, General Development, the Port St Lucie major homebuilder, operates a system and provides water and sewer services for the residents there. But county studies said a takeover of the Port St. Lucie system is necessary to handle the county-wide load.

Tash had said just last week that if Port St. Lucie didn't go along with the regional system, they could be forced to participate.

He said the state and federal Environmental Protection Agency could force the city to comply with requirements of "increasingly more stringent treatment and almost total purification" of sewage discharges into streams and waters. Tash went on to say this pressure could be brought about even though Port St. Lucie said it does not want federal money to expand or improve its sewer system, and would instead maintain it as an independent private system.

Port St Lucie Councilman Lawrence Kimmel said that he viewed the present attemps for the regional network as another back-handed attempt by Fort Pierce and county officials to consolidate governments of all municipalities county-wide.

Such a consolidation plan was killed in a county-wide referendum, and it suffered its worse defeat at the hands of the Port St. Lucie voters.

According to Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh, Port St. Lucie will stick to its own guns.

Kavanaugh also said that what they (DPC) is saying is that if we (city) don't do what they want us to do, they they're going to make life hard for us. Tash according to Kavanaugh, is way off base. He is telling this city that DPC will find something to use as a lever to bring Port St. Lucie into the regional system.

Road opened

Walton culverts invite lawsuit

BY ALICE HICKEY

FORT PIERCE–Despite a stop work order issued last Wednesday by the State Department of Pollution Control, St. Lucie County Commissioners ordered work to be completed on the Walton Road culvert. The culvert replaces the old wooden bridge, which commissioners recently ordered demolished, that crosses the savannas near the east end of the Walton Road.

Following a special meeting held late Thursday afternoon between the commissioners their legal staff, and a telephone conversation with the DPC legal staff in Tallahassee, commissioners ordered county road superintendent Emory Hayes to complete the installation of the culvert Friday. By 4 p.m. Friday the road was opened to traffic.

The county commission said that public safety was at stake because Walton Road is the only connector between Indian River Drive and U.S. 1 for several miles, and if construction stopped the road would be impassable to both emergency vehicles and people living in the area.

DPC officials informed the county road crew installing the two culverts and County Administrator Weldon Lewis late Wednesday that the installation violated DPC anti-pollution regulations, because no permits had been issued.

The commission maintained that since the work was located within county-owned right-of-way and adjacent property is privately owned, and since the county was not intending to make any structural change which would change the quality, nature or quantity of water containment emissions or discharges, they did not see any necessity for applying for permits from any other agencies.

A law suit is expected as a result of the commission vote in the matter, and DPC said the county may have to pay up to $5,000 a day in fines for violating the state order and not applying for a permit and possibly remove the two culverts.

DPC officials of the local office say the case is exactly the same as Universal Adams working in the savannas without a permit. The state sued Universal Adams and won a decision against the company including fines in a Circuit Court trial several months ago. The Walton Road culvert project is located just one-half mile south of the Universal Adams causeway.

The commissioners received no written notice of the DPC orders, but in the telephone conversations DPC Attorney Terry Cole read off a telegram of the orders he said was sent from Tallahassee on Thursday.

The telegram, signed by Peter Baljet, executive director of the DPC, said that the state owns the Savannas, and the filling operations in connection with the culvert were illegal because no permit was issued.

Cole said in the telephone conversation that he would notify the local DPC regional headquarters on whether verbal permits for the filling could be issued. He said the DPC could follow routine procedures and take two months to issue them.

The commissioners waited in their meeting until after the courthouse closed for word to come back, but no such word was received.

County Administrator Weldon Lewis reported that Alton Cox, Jr., regional director of the DPC, accused the county of breaking the law, and the state planned to file a lawsuit seeking damages for crimes (the county) committed.

The DPC was accused by Commission Chairman W. R. McCain of flaunting state law by imposing regulations which the legislature has never passed as state law. He pushed for action by the commissioners to contact State Sen. Dempsey Barron, who is leading a fight to take power away from appointed state agencies unless the regulations are subject to review by the legislature.

The commission voted to send telegrams to the governor, the cabinet, the chairman of the state DPC and State Sen. Barron protesting the action.

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Beautiful Waters Homemakers Club of Port St. Lucie will hold their May meeting on May 9 at the CESA building.

Since this is the last meeting until September, a covered dish luncheon is planned.

The fun will start at 12:30 with a happy hour. Husbands and friends are welcomed.

Admission will be a covered dish planned to serve at least four. Members are urged to bring their own service, but cups and coffee and tea will be furnished.

Any questions should be referred to Terry Helbacj at 878-1621 or Alice Bowen at 878-3866.

140 attend Masonic-Wimodausis dinner

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. Lucie Wimodausis and Masonic Club enjoyed a ham dinner at the Port St. Lucie Marina May 2nd, with 140 members of the two organizations in attendance.

The dinner was put on by the men for the benefit of a young lady at the Sunland Training Center in Fort Myers. She is sponsored by the Wimodausis and has been supported by them for several years.

reported that $300 was raised for this project.

The program for the evening consisted of an invocation by Chaplain Cecil Goddard, introductory remarks by the presidents of the two groups, Helen Spiller and Sharpe and a feature film. The Generations, provided by Charles White of Indian River Community College.

This marked the final meeting of the Masonic Club until September.

Community Pride Week starts Sunday, May 12

PORT ST. LUCIE–Sunday, May 12, has been designated as the start of Community Pride Week by the Port St. Lucie River Park Homeowners Association.

All items will be picked up May 13, according to Don White, chairman of the cleanup committee.

Articles must be placed at curbside by 8:30 a.m. and certain limitations will be imposed.

First of all the annual cleanup does not include trash and garden trimmings. The purpose of the cleanup campaign is to rid the homeowner of old appliances, lawn mowers, refrigerators, washers and the like.

All articles must be capable of being lifted by two men and they may not exceed four feet in width.

Through the efforts of the Homeowners Association and the cooperation of General Development Corporation St. Lucie County and Milton Garbage, the cleanup project is made possible. Two trucks with crews are donated annually by each.

During last year's cleanup campaign over 30 truckloads of junk were hauled out of the area.

PORT ST. LUCIE–Blood pressures are taken every Thursday from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at the CESA Building.

RECOGNITION–Lonnie Stubbs has been recognized by the Professional Golfers Association of America for his outstanding effort in conditioning the St. Lucie Hilton Country Club Resort for the play of the PGA Seniors Championship and other PGA winter tournaments. Pictured above, left to right, Charles Henderson, Lonnie Stubbs, superintendent, and Julius White, Jr. Stubbs is also a golfer and admits shooting in the 80's.

Regatta called 'Best ever'

STUART-The 1974 Stuart Sailfish Regatta was called the "best ever" by chairman Cal Walter.

An estimated 10,000 watched the 36th annual races this past weekend, and 60 boats were in the fleet which is sponsored by the Stuart Chamber of Commerce.

Sunday's final two races, the Sailfish Trial and Grand Prix, were delayed after a half-hour delay when the wind picked up.

Connie Cottrell of Tequesta won the Inboard Speed Skiff division Saturday, while he had to settle for second in the Sunday event as Bill Darby of Port Salerno took top honors.

Darby came back to win the Stuart Trophy Sunday, beating Darby and Jerry Boland of Oceanport, N.J. in the 7-Litre Class. Conrad Sheehly of Miami flashed around the five 10-miles in 3:48.

A second special race, The Governor's Cup, was won by Duff Daily also of Miami.

"We were very pleased with the drivers and boats and cooperation we got from everybody," Walter said.

Walter said he hasn't found out how many tickets were sold or how much money the United Fund will net from the proceeds.

Pony League results

Only three teams are left in the first race as the Pony League rolls into final week of games in the half. One of those teams, the Lions, needs a real miracle to pull out a tie in the final standings. They were given a fifth-month last week, when they were tripped up by Mosley, 7-6 for Fallin and Malcolm Delaney pitched exceptionally well to turn back the Lions by one. Mosley accumulated all seven runs in the final three innings after being held on

In other action, Sailfish took a commanding game and a half lead by defeating two foes. On Tuesday they defeated over Mosley 17-3, as Billy Hampton held Mosley early before giving over the pitching duties to Jeff McClanister. Then, on Friday night in Jensen, they completely whitewashed Kiwanis by a score of 17-0 after nine innings. Again Washington turned in a fine ball game, and thus, he has two games last week.

The Lions Club handed Myer their seventh straight defeat Tuesday night with an 11-4 win over the winless team. Stan Rinker pitched a fine game for the Lions 5-3 on the season.

Rinker smashed Kiwanis Thursday night as Jimmy Fallin hurled a no-hitter. This was the first in their last three games. Kiwanis has scored no runs, smacked Rinker 12 Kiwanis0

ARTICLE VII
MUNICIPAL PLANNING POWERS

7.01 Municipal planning powers. For the purpose of promoting the public health, safety, and welfare and of guiding and accomplishing coordinated, adjusted and harmonious development in accordance with existing and future needs and consistent with the need to protect the environment, the city council shall have all such powers and authority necessary to the preparation and enforcement of comprehensive plans for the development of the city. This power and authority shall include, but shall not be limited to, the power to:
(a) Adopt by ordinance, by reference or in full, building, housing, electrical, plumbing and related technical codes and regulations.
(b) Adopt by ordinance and to keep current, a master plan for the future development, redevelopment and growth of the city.
(c) Adopt by ordinance and enforce zoning regulations.
(d) Adopt by ordinance and enforce subdivision and other land development regulations.
(e) Adopt by ordinance an official map of the city.
(f) Obtain and utilize consultant, engineering, architectural, planning, zoning or technical services necessary and proper in the exercise of power under this article.
(g) Create by ordinance, specifying the powers, duties and membership thereof, such permanent, adjustment, regulatory and advisory boards as it finds necessary.

ARTICLE VIII
JUDICIARY

8.01 The county court of Martin County, Florida, shall have jurisdiction over all persons breaking any ordinance or law of the City of Jensen Beach. Any fine imposed by the county court shall be deposited to the general fund of the City of Jensen Beach or in accordance with the general laws of the State of Florida.

ARTICLE IX ORDINANCES

9.01 Definition. An ordinance is an official legislative action of the council which action is a regulation of a general and permanent nature, and is enforceable as a local law.
9.02 A resolution is an expression of the council concerning matters of administration, expression of a temporary character, or a provision for the disposition of a particular item of the administrative business of the council.
9.03 Each ordinance or resolution shall be introduced in writing and within one but one subject and matters properly connected therewith. The subject shall be clearly stated in the title. No ordinance shall be amended or revised by reference to its title only. Ordinances to amend or revise shall set out in full the revised or amended act, section,

ARTICLE VII
MUNICIPAL PLANNING

This article describes a very important function and one of the more important reasons for consideration of incorporation.

The municipality will have complete control over the planning of future growth. This includes type and kind of construction. Where building will be permitted. Establishment of commercial, industrial, multiple housing and single home areas.

The city would have the power to adopt standard construction codes and their enforcement would serve the entire community by insuring standard building practices thereby improving the well being of the entire community in terms of health, safety and fire prevention.

The application of these broad powers would be by ordinances, so that all considered action would be made known to all local interests, both business and private, who in turn would influence decisions.

The large open areas and the anticipated population growth (20,000 by 1980) makes intelligent and careful planning a must for every citizen. Not only the well being of each individual but the value of everybody's property is at stake.

There are many people in this community, who through education, training and experience could capably serve as consultants and become members of advisory boards on a volunteer basis.

The county now carries out this function on a countywide basis. They have many priority and sensitive situations so that only limited attention can be given to what might be considered lesser important sections.

In Jensen Beach every section will be important.

ARTICLE VIII
JUDICIARY

This article provides that the county court will have jurisdiction over all penal or other offenses in the city. There will be no requirement for establishing a court in Jensen Beach. All fines imposes will be deposited in

The Barn... plus

BY BARBARA GATELY

Spoon River Anthology progresses and this presentation is one I am really looking forward to.

Ray Hilton is using some very flamboyant effects, and each and every one of the cast is doing a fabulous job with the various parts.

Opening night at the Barn will be Thursday, May 16, at 8:30. Tickets will be on sale shortly at the usual places plus a few more for your convenience.

More sights and sounds of Mexico: The Angela Peralta Teatro in San Miguel de Allende was the scene of the combined efforts of Mexicans and North Americans alike in the presentation of H.M.S. Pinafore. As an interested bystander, I attended a couple of rehearsals, and gave them no hope whatsoever to be ready to go in three days time. Imagine trying to find 15 sailor suits in the middle of Mexico...or two Admiral's cockaded headgear! But-go they did- and with gusto.

Most of the male chorus were North Americans and most of the female chorus were Mexican ladies. The ladies were costumed in demure milkmaid costumes with sunbonnets. Imagine them entering at the rear of the theater, parading up the aisle, climbing up to the stage, and when they turned, seeing all those pretty faces framed by English sunbonnets and further adorned by long, dangling silver or gold Mexican earrings.

Final note on Mexico: I saw a bus with the rear end out of it. Literally. The whole axle and wheel assembly were parked about 20 feet astern of the bus. I never knew such a thing could happen- and not a scratch on the bus.

Juvenile Diabetes chapter has rummage sale

STUART—The Indian River Chapter of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation will have a large Rummage Sale on Saturday and Sunday, May 11 and 12 at the Flea Market of Stuart. Hours are 9:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. each day. Anyone who would like to donate good rummage may either bring it on the days of the sale or call 334-4611 and we will pick it up. We need all kinds of articles from utensils to furniture to clothing. We will have items varying from baby equipment and clothing plus some very good "White Elephants." There will also be some very good buys on brand new items. We invite all to attend. All proceeds go to Diabetes Research. This is our main Fund Raising Project and start of "Juvenile Diabetes Week"—May 11-18 which has been proclaimed by both City and County Commissioners.

Look for our Wishing Wells in the banks and our collection canisters in local stores. If you wish to contribute to the Foundation, our address is Juvenile Diabetes Foundation, Indian River Chapter, P.O. Box 1331, Ft. Pierce, Fla. 33450.

D & M News Notes

MILDRED STINNETT
334-4486

This week end our numbers will be depleted further by the departure of Al and Jo Enos, and Snoopy, for Holland, Michigan, towing their new travel trailer. Alice and Walter reeder for New Jersey in their new motor home, and Rea and Ray Waldron for Massachusetts by way of ocksonville and sundry other places. We wish them all safe journeys and a return to us in the Fall.

Adrian Snyder was delighted to have his grandson, James Barber with him for a week. Jim is Supervisor of the Sky Department at the winter resort of Hunter Mountain in New York. but he enjoyed our beaches very much.

Edna May's brother and sister-in-law, the Freeds of Ft. Lauderdale, came up to visit with their grand nieces Crissie and Dodie May of Stowe, Ohio, who were with their grandmother, stayed over night, then drove the girls to the airport in West Plam. Edna of course went with them, and remained with the Freeds for a week's visit.

Jane Winninger was hospitalized for a short time for minor surgery, but is home now and feeling pretty good.

Don Winninger is in Martin Memorial having a repair job done on a trick knee, which has been troublesome for many years. The surgery was successful and he'll soon be back.

The McBriars were saddened to learn of the death of a sister, Mrs. Lillian Page, at her home in St. Petersburg. Eileen and David McBriar accompanied Agnes Surrency to Pittsburg, Penn. for the funeral.

Ethel Phillips proudly showed me a gorgeous orchid which her husband Don had cultivated. Most of Don's orchids are white and yellow, but this beauty is lavender and purple, and she is delighted with his accomplishment.

My birthday on April 28 was a very happy one. My sisters and brothers-in-law, Charlotte and enry Hollweg, and Ida and Al Emerich, called from New Jersey, and my niece Barbara Fendelander of Denver surprised me with a telephone visit. Our daughter Jill Harris, and our grandchildren, Mark and Shannon, joined us for the day and for dinner at the Crow's Nest.

OUR SYMPATHY

Our sincere sympathy to the Reverend Robert Harmon's family. What a great loss to the community.

From his many friends at Venture Out and Holiday Out.

Art gallery show, last for the season

FORT PIERCE—The Fort Pierce Art Gallery will offer as its last show of the season, art work done by students of the John Carroll High School, St. Lucie Middle School, Dan McCarty Middle School, plus some work of the Elementary Schools. The exhibition will run from May 4 through May 18.

The art classes of the John Carroll High School are conducted by Suter Imrida, at Dan McCarthy Middle School by Helen Schoel, while Cindy Wolfe teaches art at St. Lucie Middle School. All three schools will exhibit painting, sculpture, ceramics, drawing, macrame, the result of this year's studies.

Gallery hours are 12 noon to 5 p.m. daily except Friday. Admission is free. The public is welcome.

In Section 5.03, the staff director suggested that the boundaries of the council seat districts north and south be included in the transitional article of the charter, with the lines being established firmly after the 1980 decennial census.

In Section 9.07, an amendment provided that a majority of the council approve emergency ordinances rather than four-fifths of the council, to make the voting comply with 8.05, which provides for the majority vote. Also, a change was made to clarify that the mayor would be counted as part of a quorum.

In Section 10.05, it was provided that the mayor could propose and change ordinances, while intent was to have the mayor propose changes and the council approve by vote. This amendment was accepted.

In Section 13.01, charter amendments were the property of the city council. The staff director recommended an amendment to provide the public with the power to seek changes by petition.

Hopes for a 3 mill cap on taxes received a boost as the sub-committee accepted Nergard's explanation that the millage had to be set so that the city could be eligible for 1974 tax rolls.

that the watches along and inland beaches are set for and June 29.

"We just hope that the turtles show up," Tomaszewski said.

An optimistic report on the Fourth of July fireworks was given by Don McCall who heads the committee seeking donations.

"We have more than $1,300 in cash and pledges," McCall said.

he said that fund raising events might be held to get the $3,500 needed for the fireworks.

And chamber president Jon Chichy noted that it was time to start contacting clubs and organizations which will operate concession stands and stage other events on the Jensen Beach Causeway.

The chamber is taking part in observance of Chamber of Commerce week, May 12-18, by serving coffee and cookies at the new chamber office on Commercial St.

There is a big sign in front of the office telling residents that this is a special week for the chamber.

Gov. Reubin Askew has proclaimed this week as Chamber of Commerce Week in the state.

And director Joan Betsch reminded residents that Friday, May 17, is the deadline for making reservations for the annual spring banquet of the chamber.

$500,000 operation

Piecemeal parks program costly

JENSEN BEACH–About a half million dollars on parks and recreation is being spent in Martin County and Stuart compared to about $270,000 in Ft. Pierce and St. Lucie County.

In Martin County, recreation programs are budgeted in each special taxing district, plus a Parks Department which does all maintenance work.

The City of Stuart operates its own recreation with a budget of over $155,000.

In St. Lucie County, there is a coordinated recreation program – Ft. Pierce – St. Lucie County budgeted program.

A county-wide recreation program with a full-time director is being considered by Commissioner Ross Philbrick.

The present total budget of each taxing district, excluding capital equipment, is $50,675 according to Philbrick.

Philbrick believes a county-wide program could function on a $80,000 budget for the first year.

The City of Stuart's Recreation Department budget is $155,992, according to City Manager Ed Glasscock.

In neighboring St. Lucie County, the Recreation Department is funded by the City of Fort Pierce and St. Lucie County.

Recreation Supervisor Tom Kindred said his budget is about $372,000, $240,000 county, and $107,000 city, for its operational budget, and $25,000 for capital outlay which is city-county funds.

Kindred said there are 30 full-time personnel with about half the number supervisory.

His department operates the beach patrol, Lawnwood Complex which has tennis courts, ball fields etc., two community centers and other baseball, softball fields and little league fields, and the Savannas Recreation Area.

Kindred points out that he has to budget money to pay county road crews for any work done in his parks.

"We also have to pay for all our utilities plus the maintenance work," Kindred said.

Maintenance work in Martin County parks and along the beaches is done by crews of the Parks Department which has a budget of $294,607.

With Martin County taxing districts budgeting something like $50,675 for operations of parks, and almost $295,000 going to the Parks Department mainly for maintenance work, plus the City of Stuart spending $155,992 for recreation – it adds up to about $500,000 for a recreation program in Martin County – City of Stuart.

This compares to a combined Ft. Pierce – St. Lucie County budget of $372,000.

Kindred is paid $15,729 to supervise all the parks and recreation programs.

Glasscock said that in the recreation department budget there is $12,043 budgeted for recreation director James cMahon with a total salary budget of $31,966.

The Stuart city manager said that utilities, transportation, maintenance, capital outlay, etc., all are in the $155,000 budget.

UF is short of goal

JENSEN BEACH–Still some $13,000 short of the $95,000 goal, the president of Martin County United Fund said Monday that the campaign has "formerly concluded."

Ken Ferguson said that it would be up to the new board of directors to decide what "the next course of action would be."

Election of new officers and directions will be held at 7:30 p.m. May 21, Tuesday, at the Community Federal Savings and Loan in Stuart.

"We urge the public to attend the meeting," Ferguson said.

HONORED–Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Evinrude were honored last Thursday night by the Florida Independent Colleges and Universities in ceremonies at Miami. The presentation by John E. Johns, president of Stetson University, honored the Evinrudes for higher education contributions. Evinrude is a member of the board of trustees of Florida Institute of Technology.

Wilkie opposed to rec plan

JENSEN BEACH–Martin County Commissioner Ross Philbrick asked for and has received feedback on a county-wide recreation program.

The commissioner received the feedback at Monday's meeting of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce when director Don Wilkie said that he was opposed to the plan.

Wilkie noted that he and many other volunteers had worked on Langford Park.

"The money for the park has been paid for by people of Jensen Beach through Taxing District A money," Wilkie said.

He also pointed out that if Jensen Beach is incorporated the status of Langford Park would be effected.

he promised to research the issue and report at next month's chamber meeting.

Executive director Mrs. Helen Richardson also reported that she has received opposition to the county-wide plan.

When langford Park director Charles Troger resigned May 1, Philbrick said that he thought it was time to set up a county wide recreation program with a full-time paid director.

Philbrick asked for opinions from Jensen Beach residents on his idea.

Jail deadline for Bryant

STUART–Former Martin County Commissioner Paul Bryant has until midnight Wednesday, May 15, to surrender himself to begin serving a three-month sentence for attempting to solicit a bribe.

Bryant was convicted in November of 1972 of attempting to solicit some $15,000 in bribes from Ransom Tilton, Jensen Beach realtor and Richard Berbic, developer, for approval of rezoning requests.

One-man battle

Medical facility is urged

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE–Fred Wiggin, in a one-man fight for a local medical facility, has a lot going for him. One of the largest assets is the fact that he refuses to entertain negative thought regarding the project.

Wiggin, supported by Al Boman, president of one of the largest groups in the area, the ort St. Lucie-River Park Homeowners Assoc. made his latest pitch for the facility directly to the Indian River Area health Planning Council.

e and Boman appeared before the group last Wed. when they held their regular meeting at Indian River Community College.

"We moved another step closer," Wiggin said. "The board voted affirmatively on the fact that a facility was needed in the PSL area.

A point at which Wiggin has been hammering away since he started the campaign is the desperate need for a facility to accomodate doctors in the south county community.

"We don't even have the facilities here to entice a general practitioner into the area," Wiggin said. "With the proper facility here we can get the doctors.

As a result of that meeting, John Anderson of the Palm Beach Comprehensive Health Planning Council is expected to contact General Development officials and diuscss negotiations for a suitable location. It has been further suggested that the Florida Homefinders Building would indeed provide both an ideal location and a suitable building for such a facility.

Appearing at the same meeting, a group of Stuart-area businessmen got a negative response to their request for the support of the Council in building a 200-bed private hospital in southern St. Lucie County.

Edward F. Glaser of Stuart, one of the four men who wrote the letter of intention to the Planning Council, said, "We certainly plan to move ahead with our feasibility studies regardless of the negative report from the Indian River ARea health Council."

The approval of the Health Planning Council is required before a hospital or nursing home can be licensed by the State of Florida.

Writing the letter to Richard Warfield, executive director of the Palm Beach County Health Planning Council were Glaser, Wm. J. Salva of jensen Beach, Arthur Weherman, executive vice president of the Stuart National Bank, and Paul Mueller of Boca Raton, a contractor and developer who has built medical facilities in both Florida and Illinois.

According to Warfield, the council felt that the additional 200-beds are not needed. He went on to point out that by 1978 the need in St. Lucie County will be for 202 beds, 33 more than presently available at the Ft. Pierce Memorial Hospital.

"And of course Martin Memorial Hospital is in the middle of an expansion program," Warfield concluded.

"We will go ahead with the feasibility studies," Glaser said.

Mueller said the group has selected the hospital location but is not revealing the site at present.

"We will have a lot more information in about two weeks," he said.

Mueller said the construction cost cannot be estimated until the study is completed and the group knows what type of services will be needed.

However, he said, the construction would probably run at least $8 million.

The group said Wednesday that the necessary financing can be obtained.

The proposal for a new 200-bed private hospital in southern St. Lucie County would be of interest to both Martin and St. Lucie County residents.

Old timers picnic Saturday

STUART–Final details are being worked out for the annual get together and picnic of Old Timers and their descendents of Indian River, St. Lucie and Martin Counties to be staged in Stuart Saturday.

Plans for the 68th anniversary event of the Early Settlers Association of the Lower Indian River are under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Fulton and Mrs. Leona Ross Smith, due to the absence of President Mark Witham.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. at the Stuart Youth Center, where the event will take place. The business session will start at 11 o'clock, followed by the picnic dinner at 12 noon.

Recognition will be given to the man and woman longest in residence in the three-county area; youngest boy and girl in attendance, and largest family in attendance. A memorial service will be held for Early Settlers who have passed away since last year's meeting.

Election of officers will take place at the business session, and such other matters as deserve attention will be taken care of.

Those attending the get together Saturday are urged to bring along picnic baskets bulging with luclous food. The Association will furnish coffee, cold drinks, bread, eating utensils, paper plates and cups.

See you Old Timers in Stuart on Saturday.

PIER FISH—Fishing from the old wooden pier on the north side of the Jensen Beach Causeway apparently is still good. Austin Saunders of Huntington, W. Va., probably will return to the pier to try his luck again since he caught this 24½ pound snook while fishing from the pier Tuesday morning.

Youth bowling begins Saturday at Jensen Lanes

JENSEN BEACH—Saturday May 17 at 9:30 a.m. is the kick off time for the Stuart-Jensen Jay Cee Bowling Clinic. So that as many boys and girls between the ages of 7 years and 21 years may avail themselves of this morning of fun, Jensen Lanes is giving free bowling including shoes and serving free refreshments of hot dogs and cokes.

Len Casey of Jensen Lanes reports that this also marks the first anniversary of the Junior Bowling program at Jensen Lanes.

All boys and girls are invited whether they participated in the program before or not.

Variety of fish caught last week

JENSEN BEACH—Trout and blues were joined by a variety of other fish in catches last week, according to the Snook Nook report.

Russ Bolton, Rob Russell and Dave Easton caught 4 snook, 4 snapper, 1 trout and 1 sail cat Monday. On the same day, Jack Klett and his brother-in-law Leo had 2 trout, 5 blue runners, 12 ribbons, and 6 snapper.

Duck White had 5 trout, 1 blue, 1 pompano, and 1 fluke for the week. Pete Peterson and Stan Lippincott got 42 trout, Irv Fisher, 41 trout; Ed Wagner, 25 trout, Fred Dushanek, 12 trout, and Ted Bloom, 29 trout.

Other catches recorded were Charles Arent, 5 blues and 1 snook; Sam Moore, 5 trout; James Clouse, an 11 lb. snook; Russ Bolton, Jack Feltman, and John Drick, 3 snook; 3 jacks, and 1 lady.

Oscar Dishman landed a 33 lb. snook. Carl and Evelyn Herzog with Vin and Rena Arecchi, fishing at Rand's, brought in 23 blues, and Stan Gardner had 2 pompano.

Rev. Stroud had 2 snook, 13 and 15 lbs. Joe Fusco and Harold Coder, 9 trout; 1 lady, 1 jack. Roy Greenwald, 5 trout, Vinnie Arecchi and Carl Herzog, 16 blues and 7 trout, and Lucie Hertest, 2 pompano.

Cox seeks pollution end

JENSEN BEACH—Two citrus packing firms are making adequate corrections" in their water disposal methods which should stop pollution in the North Fork of the St. Lucie River, an official of the Department of Pollution Control (DPC), said Monday.

Al Cox, Jr., regional director of DPC said that Treesweet Products and Indian River Foods are making "comprehensive changes" in their spray fields.

At the last meeting of the Martin County Conservation Alliance, Commissioner Ed Glucker reported that he had asked Cox to check into the reasons for the lack of fish in the North Fork, especially from St. Lucie Hilton northward.

Glucker reported that the two citrus plants were found to have been spraying such a limited area that the effluent is running of the fields and into the ditches and thence into 10 Mile Creek and eventually all the way down the North Fork.

Cox pointed out Monday that he had checked with the firms previously about the pollution problems and had told them "to shape up."

"This time I met with the consulting engineers and they agreed to ways to correct the problem," Cox said.

"The firms will break up the hardpan, increase the spray fields and fill in the low spots so there won't be any run off," Cox said.

"I hope this corrects the problem," Cox added.

Jensen Kiwanis faces trouble

JENSEN BEACH—Despite outstanding community activity programs, the Jensen Kiwanis club is in trouble. Low membership and monthly reports seem to be the two major factors, according to the Kiwanis lieutenant governor Ron Dorsett, Ft. Pierce, who issued a stern warning to the club Monday.

Dorsett pointed to late filing of club reports to the state and international organizations, acknowledging problems the club had in the past with such reports. He also said that much of the problems of the club could be solved "if each member brought in a member."

Dorsett asked to attend the next board meeting (planned for last night, Tuesday) so that he might bring some ideas to help the club continue in operation.

While lax in the paper work, the Kiwanians are active in financial support of the Langford Park youth activities, spending over $2,000 in the past year. The Kiwanians earn the money through such projects as their annual golf tournament and chicken dinner sales.

Lorrie wins another

PORT ST. LUCIE—Lorrie Jean Arvida surprised her mother by winning the Mother's Day turkey awarded at the regular Friday Nite Extravaganzaon May 10.

The Gang snooper had an easy evening reporting only three first timers in attendance: Florence E. Avery, originally from Alexandria, Va. and Mr. and Mrs. F. Martva originally from Hickory Hills, Ill.

Every select "quartette" rendered their song "Mother" during intermission.

Bertha Pink was welcomed back to the Gang after a long absence.

Bus system is in works

JENSEN BEACH—A consultant to draw up plans for a public transportation system for Martin County is expected to be employed this week.

Martin County Commission last week authorized Jack Noble, county administrator, and Tom Leonard, county planner, to negotiate a contract for the $8,000 study.

County Commissioner Ed Glucker, who has been pushing for a bus system, said, "We need to know what the system will cost by budget time."

He expects the state to pick up the $8,000 tab for the study which will show how many buses are needed, bus routes and maintenance cost.

A preliminary study was made by Peat, Marwick and Mitchell which was designed to show if there is a need for a bus system.

That study showed the county has about 500 potential customers for public transportation.

PSL duplicate

PORT ST. LUCIE—The last week of the present ten week's series of Duplicate Bridge lessons under the direction of Dick Lieberth will be held at the CESA building, Friday May 17 at 9:30 a.m.

Leaders throughout the first nine weeks of play are Betty Miller, Wilda Albert, Ruby Caseer and Fred Adler. Awards will be presented following the conclusion of Friday's session.

Registration for another ten week's series will be held at the CESA building Friday May 24 at 9:30 a.m.

PSL Pinochle Club to take summer off

PORT ST. LUCIE—Friday night the PSL Pinochle Club members voted to end play for the summer on May 31, and to terminate the season with a social hour immediately following play on that date.

High scores for last Friday night's play were made by Callie Pinter for the double-deckers with 829, and John Morales for the single-deckers with 373.

Medical class set for FIT

JENSEN BEACH-Dean Ernest E. Tealey has announced that next fall Florida Institute of Technology will admit the first class of 25 to 30 selected students in a newly established program in medical technology.

Students completing the first two years of the program will receive an Associate of Science Degree and be eligible to apply for the Florida State Medical Technician's License. Graduates of the two year program who have a high scholastic standing will then be eligible to continue for two more academic years toward a Bachelor of Medical Technology degree and State licensure as a Medical Technologist.

One of the unique features of the new program is the establishment of a Simulated Clinical Laboratory on the campus containing the latest automated equipment where the students will supplement their academic work with practical experience in a setting identical to the hospital and commercial laboratories in which they ultimately will be employed. Students will also gain on the job experience in the laboratories of local area hospitals.

Appointed to direct the new program is David Henderson, a highly experienced teacher and a licensed Medical Laboratory Director, who was previously owner and operator of a chain of medical laboratories in South Florida.

Some openings are still available for the Fall class.

National Hospital Week

FT PIERCE–Residents of St. Lucie County will have an opportunity to become better informed about the services, activities and future goals of Fort Pierce Memorial Hospital during National Hospital Week, May 12-18.

Fort Pierce Memorial Hospital is joining 7,000 hospitals throughout the country in observation of the annual event with the national slogan, "Get to know us before you need us."

The objectives of National Hospital Week 1974 activities are to encourage the people of this community, as well as those closely involved with the institution, to "get to know us."

Fort Pierce hospital will begin observation of National Hospital Week with an Arts and Crafts show in the hospital boardroom Saturday, May 11. Past hospital employees, members of the medical staff and hospital auxiliary participated in this show.

Residents of Ft. Pierce and Saint Lucie County are invited to visit the hospital to view the exhibits and participate in guided tours of hospital facilities.

National Hospital Week, sponsored by the American Hospital Association, was begun in 1920 when leaders in the health field established a National Hospital Day to mark the 100th anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, the woman credited with originating the modern profession of nursing. In 1953, National Hospital Day was extended to the week-long event now observed.

Bauhinia Circle

PALM BEACH COUNTY–Bauhinia Circle will meet May 28 to go on a field trip and picnic at John Dan Dickinson Park. Husbands are invited to join in this day long trip.

Welcome Wagon meets

JENSEN BEACH–Welcome Wagon North will meet at the Bay Harbor Club on Tuesday, May 21 at 11:30. There will be an installation ceremony for the newly elected officers.

Ann Lartaud presided over a special ceremony for the production of the following members in operation. They are, eleanor Lally, Lina Marshall, Borghield Songdahl, Edna Van Nortwick, Edith Baxter, Elisabeth Brumby, Rosa Herman, Evelyn Baumgardner, Maxine Clemons, Hazel Johnson, Esther Magnussen, Mary Stewart, Bea Wilkerson, Adelaide Roesaler and Trudy Worstenholm.

At the end of each year, WW North donates 90 percent of the money that was earned from various projects to charity. Checks were given to the following: Lions Club of Jensen Beach, Martin County Library Assn., Martin County Assoc. for Retarded Children, Audubon Society, Elliot Museum, and the House of Refuge.

Art Club meeting

FORT PIERCE–The Ft. Pierce Art Club held its last meeting of the season Monday, May 6.

A color film by Ray Hurn, demonstrating his techniques for painting wildlife subjects, was shown.

The group will resume meetings in September according to John Durham, president.

CHRYSLER INTRODUCES THE ALL-NEW SUPER-CHARGER 60

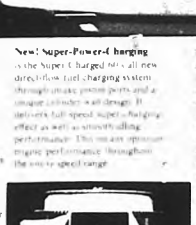
A step beyond. Chrysler's Super-Charged 60. The newest, most advanced 60-h.p.-certified outboard in its power range. The most powerful 2-cylinder outboard anywhere.

Sophisticated simplicity and design wherever you look, with engine cover on or off. It has the same piston displacement as competitive 3-cylinder models, yet the simplicity and light weight of 2-cylinder engines. It incorporates more space-age Chrysler engineering innovations than any other single outboard. To make all kinds of boating easier for you.

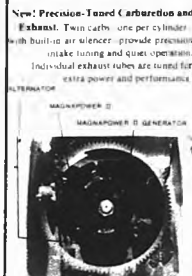
New! Super-Power-4 charging system. The Super Charged 60's all new direct-flow fuel-charging system through intake piston ports and a unique cylinder wall design. It delivers full-speed supercharging effect as well as smooth idling performance. This system optimizes engine performance throughout the entire speed range.



New! Exclusive Magnapower II, an advanced C.D. ignition system with only two moving parts! Makes starting and idling easier, smoother with increased spark power. All mounted out of the way under the new super strong forged steel flywheel, along with a new high-output alternator and voltage regulator. Battery saver (see X-ray photo below). Easy-to-replace modules make service easier, more economical. Even with no battery you can rope-start and run the 60, and it'll power itself!

Magnapower II opens a whole new era of outboard starting and operating dependability: no more ignition tune-ups (and change plugs)! easier, less time consuming, money-saving serviceability; greatly improved uncluttered appearance; better all-speed performance; and extra power.

New! Precision-Tuned Carburetion and Exhaust. Twin carbs, one per cylinder with built-in air silencer, provide precision intake tuning and quiet operation. Individual exhaust tubes are tuned for extra power and performance.



More Action from Two Cylinders than you'll find anywhere. On the back of your boat the Super-Charged 60's combination of Magnapower II, Super-Power Charging and precision tuning adds up to more accelera-tion, more horsepower, more dependable full-speed range performance than any other 2-cylinder outboard.

New! Thermostat-Controlled Cooling system features a bypass valve to eliminate excessive water pressure for added safety and life. Even if the thermostat valve remains open to keep engine fully water-cooled.

New! Separate Coils For Each Cylinder add safety and power reliability to this already-dependable system. All high-tension circuits, coils, lead wires and plugs are shielded under a single enclosure.

Kimmel appointed mayor

MAYOR--Councilman Larry ... was appointed Mayor of the Port St. Lucie last Tuesday ... during a special re- ... meeting of the Council ... will fill the unexpired term of ... Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh.

PORT ST. LUCIE--Councilman Larry Kimmel was appointed Port St. Lucie Mayor during a special reorganizational meeting held last Tuesday afternoon.

"I have an awesome responsibility facing me," Kimmel said following his unanimous appointment.

"I do not intend to attempt to replace the irreplaceable man. It will take the entire council working together to continue on with the good work that our former mayor started."

In concluding the interview, he added: "We will need all the help we can get."

Kimmel who resides with his wife Florence at 2855 Hillshire Terrace, was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh. Active in community affairs, Kimmel has served on the City Council for over two and one-half years.

The Kimmels have been residents of Port St. Lucie for the past five years, moving here from the Palm Beach area.

Born in Iowa, Kimmel has lived in Illinois and New Jersey before coming to Florida over six years ago.

Most of his life he has been affiliated with the Radio Corporation of America where he served as sales engineer and sales manager with the firm.

The Kimmels have five children and twenty grandchildren.

...T ST. LUCIE--Vaughn Lewis ...pointed to fill the vacancy of ... the City of Port St. Lucie ... appointment of Lewis to fill the ... term of the late Mayor ... P. Kavanaugh was made ... last Tuesday's regular meeting ... Council.

... brings with him over 30 years ... service in public education, ... as both principal and ... Pendent in Greene County.

Since moving to Port St. Lucie five years ago, Lewis has been active in community affairs he is a member of the City of Port St. Lucie Homeowners Association, a Rotarian, and member of the board of the Salvation Army Organization.

Lewis resides with his wife Betty, at 602 S.E. Verado Ave.

The term of the late mayor will expire in March 1975.

Mayor Kavanaugh died May 7 at Martin Memorial Hospital.

A moment of silence

PORT ST. LUCIE--Following the observance of a moment of silence in honor of the late Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh, a brief eulogy was given by Vice mayor Franklin Beardsley after the City Council met last Tuesday.

"If ever a man died with his boots on, Mayor Kavanaugh did just that. He gave endlessly of his knowledge, time and efforts over the past seven years in guiding us toward the wonderful city we have here.

"These things we shall never forget."

Beardsley then issued a proclamation declaring the City of Port St. Lucie will be in a state of mourning for thirty days from the date of death.

Mayor Kavanaugh died at Martin Memorial Hospital May 7.

CESA cruise plan

PORT ST. LUCIE--The CESA "Fun and Funds" cruise plans are progressing. Brochures may be obtained at the CESA building or by calling Marguerite Feller at 878-0724 or Alyce Thomas at 878-3298.

The cruise is sponsored by the CESA Volunteers for the benefit of the CESA Building Fund.

"Join your many friends on this fun cruise and forget about diets for three days," Ruth McDonnell said. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. McDonnell at 878-3137.

Senior citizens' night

PORT ST. LUCIE--All senior citizens are invited to the CESA building, Sat. May 18, 7:30 p.m. for a special "Senior Citizens Night."

Walter Walker will provide music for listening and dancing.

Happy hour ingredients are the responsibility of each person.

There will be a nominal charge for operational costs.

Drought continues

Utility issues watering schedules

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE--The severe drought conditions in the area have pressured General Development utilities, Inc. into initiating a watering schedule for the residents of Port St. Lucie area.

Clyde Sparks, GDU manager, urged the residents not to abuse the schedules saying "Cooperation on the part of every individual is needed to see us through this extremely dry period. The utilities staff has been working day and night to maintain the quality and quanity of water we feel the rresidents here deserve, but it is now imperative they cooperate and adhere to the outside watering schedule as set forth by the firm."

He went on to say that due to the single-pipeline system in the area, the water being used for lawns and shubbery has been treated just the same as the drinking water being carried into their homes.

"It is all the same water," Sparks added, "and without the cooperation of the homeowners the only alternative will be to ban outside watering altogether."

As far as being able to furnish this community with adequate water supply for household domestic uses, we have no problem what-so-ever."

Schedule "A", as outlined by Sparks, coves the South Port or Country Club area, and Schedule "B" includes the City of Port St. Lucie, North Port and River Park.

Under schedule "A", Section 1, watering will be done on Mondays and Thursdays on Wiltshire Terrace, Pruitt Road, Mayfair, Merritt Terrace, Morningside Blvd., Mitchess Blvd., Overbrook Drive, Treasure Island (west side to San Jeronimo), Woodring, all of Treasure Island beyond San Jeronimo, and Pocatella St.

Section 2 will have Tuesdays and Fridays to water lawns, which will include east side of Treasure Island to Morningside, San Jeronimo, San Anagnacia, Westmoreland to Pine Valley, Santa Anita, Sunshine Ave., Monte Vista Blvd., and San Sovina.

Section 3, with Wednesdays and Saturdays as watering days, includes Westmoreland North, Pine Valley to East from Sunshine, Adair Road, Hondo Ave., Italy St., Gibbs Ave., Ginza Ave., Erwin St., Gowin. Everything north of St. Lucie Blvd. on city system, and all of S.E. 14.

Schedule "B", Section 1 residents will water on even numbered days and will include that portion west and south of Floresta Dr.

Section 2, odd numbered days will apply to those residents in the portion east and north of Floresta Dr.

Commenting on the water system, Sparks said they had had some problems with pressure and discolor ation in the Country Club area, but that situation had been cleared up.

Discoloration is harmless, Sparks said. "A full time chemist, Tom Hussey, keeps a constant check on the water and makes regular bacteriologic reports for the various state and county agencies. There is nothing to hide within this system," Sparks added. If anything were to show up that wasn't safe, I wouldn't hesitate for one minute to shut the entire system down," he concluded.

Medical facility for PSL urged

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE--Fred Wiggin, in a one-man fight for a local medical facility, has a lot going for him. One of the largest assets is the fact that he refuses to entertain negative thought regarding the project.

Wiggin, supported by Al Boman, president of one of the largest groups in the area, the ort St. Lucie-River Park Homeowners Assoc. made his latest pitch for the facility directly to the Indian River Area health Planning Council.

e and Boman appeared before the group last Wed. when they held their regular meeting at Indian River Community College.

"We moved another step closer," Wiggin said. "The board voted affirmatively on the fact that a facility was needed in the PSL area."

A point at which Wiggin has been hammering away since he started the campaign, is the desperate need for a facility to accomodate doctors in the south county community.

"We don't ever have the facilities here to entice a general practitioner into the area," Wiggin said. "With the proper facility here we can get the doctors."

As a result of that meeting, John Anderson of the Palm Beach Comprehensive Health Planning Council is expected to contact General Development officials and discuss negotiations for a suitable location. It has been further suggested that the Florida Homefinders Building would indeed provide both an ideal location and a suitable building for such a facility.

Appearing at the same meeting, a group of Stuart-area businessmen got a negative response in their request for the support of the Council in building a 200-bed private hospital in southern St. Lucie County.

Edward F. Glaser of Stuart, one of the four men who wrote the letter of intention to the Planning Council, said, "We certainly plan to move ahead with our feasibility studies regardless of the negative report from the Indian River ARea health Council."

The approval of the Health Planning Council is required before a hospital or nursing home can be licensed by the State of Florida.

Writing the letter to Richard Warfield, executive director of the Palm Beach County Health Planning Council were Glaser, Wm. J. Salva of Jensen Beach; Arthur Wehrman, executive vice president of the Stuart National Bank; and Paul Mueller of Boca Raton, a contractor and developer who has built medical facilities in both Florida and Illinois.

According to Warfield, the council felt that the additional 200 beds are not needed. He went on to point out that by 1978 the need in St. Lucie County will be for 202 beds, 32 more than presently available at the Ft. Pierce Memorial Hospital.

And of course Martin Memorial Hospital is in the middle of an expansion program," Warfield concluded.

"We will go ahead with the feasibility studies," Glaser said.

Mueller said the group has selected the hospital location but is not revealing the site at present.

"We will have a lot more information in about two weeks," he said.

Mueller said the construction cost cannot be estimated until the study is completed and the group knows what type of services will be needed.

However, he said, the construction would probably run at least $8 million.

The group said Wednesday that the necessary financing can be obtained.

The proposal for a new 200-bed private hospital in southern St. Lucie County would be of interest to both Martin and St. Lucie County residents.

There will be a meeting of the Martin County Council on Aging, Thursday, May 23 at 1:30 p.m. at the First Federal Savings and Loan Bank Building of Jensen Beach in the Hoke Room. Please all attend that can. Thirty-five thousand dollars has been budgeted for county. They need your ideas on services that you would like to see provided in your community.

Come in and tell the board the most pressing needs. Of course, this will reflect your own experiences. I know for one that visiting nurses and mini buses are desperately needed. Other possible services are homemaker services, meal on wheels, educational services, etc. Thirty-five thousand will just buy so much service of any kind, so we must decide what's needed most in our community.

Claudia Ross services are Tuesday

JENSEN BEACH–Memorial services for Claudia Ross, 27, who was murdered in Bangkok, Thialand on May 29, will be held Tuesday at 11 at St Johns Funeral Home in Stuart. The memorial services will be conducted by Rev. Donald Johnson, of the Jensen Beach Community Church. Mirror Editor Dick Campbell will deliver the eulogy.

Miss Ross is survived by her mother, Mrs. Adelaide Ross, Tjerra Verde, Florida. Persons desiring can donate to the Claudia Ross Memorial Fund, c-o Jensen Beach Bank, Jensen Beach, Florida.

The investigative reporter for the Bangkok Post was killed just after an article appeared on a sect called "The Children of God" in which Miss Ross wrote "they preach hate."

In the almost two months since the murder there have been no arrests in the far east country, and no reports of leads in the late night murder in which Miss Ross was stabbed many times while asleep.

Miss Ross was a cub reporter for The Jensen Beach Mirror in 1969-70, and, in 1970, won an award for editorial-feature writing from the Florida Press Association. She worked as a woman's news reporter for the Palm Beach Post-Times in 1970-71.

The Florida Press Association is considering a memorial award in Miss Ross' name for outstanding investigative reporting, and efforts are under way to establish a scholarship in her name at the University of Florida, according to Campbell.

fter bidding

ity will share fire plans

PORT ST. LUCIE–Fort Pierce Fire D R M. Register appeared before Tuesday's City Council meeting to what was termed as an unusual uest by Councilman Lawrence ennel.

egister, representing the fire board ict, requested permission for the of Port St. Lucie to use the PSL station plans for the proposed on in White City. He further ested that the fire board be wed to approve the plans as licable to the White City station r to the time the City of Port St ie awards the contract.

am a little embarrassed that you ld make such a request, because e are your plans and you (the fire d are going to pay for them in the Kimmel said.

e have no intention of hiding the from anyone but we are at the est in the bidding procedure and as accepted practice, morally and apa even legally required, that we ery careful to follow these edures at this time."

mmel went on to point out that he aware the plans could not be approved for the White City station with out selling those plans.

"We have no desire to keep you from working with the architect and I am sure you can save both time and money if you use the same architect. I do, however, respectfully request you withhold receipt of these plans until the bids are in.

"The bids are to be opened at 4 p.m. May 21 here at the city hall. At that time everyone will be present, the city attorney, the architect, the council, representatives of the fire board and probably you," Kimmel said.

"At that time you can do whatever you want with the plans because the bidding procedure cannot be affected at that point in time," he added.

From the time the bids are opened, there will then be a thirty day review before the contract is awarded.

The City of Port St. Lucie and White City are involved in a race to see which station can be the first completed since the Fire Board agreed to put into operation the first of the two stations completed.

The remaining site will sit idle for one year because the board claims it does not have the money to put two fire stations into operation during the same fiscal year without a tax increase.

The fire board has appropriated $130,000 for land purchase and the construction of the White City station.

The City of Port St. Lucie furnished the necessary land for their station, agreed to pay for the construction of the station, furnish a rescue vehicle and handle the construction bids and contracting to get the station in the south county community.

The construction costs are to be repaid to the city in three installments, interest free, commencing one year after the station is in operation.

Both cities are anticipating an October completion date.

ER AWARD–If the Rio Lindo Garden Club had a Super-Yard-of-the-month d, it would still fall short when it comes to recognizing the indescribable ty manifested in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Appel of 191 N.E. ln Road. Mrs. Appel, who takes the full responsibility of the yard, admits nding an average of five hours per day working in it. "Keeping the yard way we like it is terribly involving, but I enjoy every minute I spend ng out here," Mrs. Appel said.

PART FIVE

PUBLIC NOTICES "BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW"

ARTICLE X
FINANCIAL PROCEDURES

10.01 Period of Time. The fiscal year of the City shall begin on October 1 and end on September 30 of the following year.

10.02 On or before August 1 of each year, the mayor shall submit to the council a budget for the next fiscal year with his explanatory message. The budget shall provide a complete financial plan for all City funds and operations for the fiscal year.

10.03 The council shall provide by ordinance for public notice and public hearing on the adoption of the budget. Adequate copies of the budget and message shall be available in public places for inspection by the public.

10.04 The council shall adopt a budget for the fiscal year which appropriates funds not exceeding the anticipated receipts from taxes and other sources for the fiscal year. No officer shall draw money from the treasury except as provided in the appropriations of the budget ordinance.

10.05 The mayor's budget and the budget ordinance may be amended by the council in the manner provided by ordinance.

10.06 To effectively administer the operation of municipal government, the mayor may transfer unencumbered appropriations between departments by amendment to the budget ordinance.

ARTICLE XI
INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM

11.01 Initiative. The electors of the City shall have power to propose ordinances to the council and, if the council fails to adopt a proposed ordinance without any change in substance, to adopt or reject it at a City election, provided that such power shall not extend to the budget or capital program or any ordinance relating to appropriation of money, levy of taxes or salaries of City officers or employees.

11.02 Referendum. The qualified voters of the City shall have power to require reconsideration by the council of any adopted ordinance and, if the council fails to repeal an ordinance so reconsidered, to approve or reject it at a City election, provided that such power shall not extend to the budget or capital program or any emergency ordinance or ordinance relating to appropriation of money or levy of taxes.

FINANCIAL PROCEDURES

This provides that the Mayor is responsible for preparing the budget by August 1 of each year. The budget must include all financial factors of the government including expected income by source and anticipated itemized expenditures.

The budget is submitted to the council who will act on it as an ordinance. This requires complete public notice and hearings as outlined under ARTICLE IX. The people will have the opportunity of learning and influencing how their taxes are to be spent.

The budget cannot exceed anticipated income. No officer can draw money from the treasury except as provided by the budget. The budget becomes a fixed document which can only be changed by ordinance.

Excessive budgets requiring higher taxes would result in strong public objection unless there was a purpose that met with public approval.

It is expected that the voting public will demand an economy minded government which will keep the city millage rate at 3.0 or less, or no more than 1.0 mills over the present, under the unincorporated program. State law permits a millage of 10 and for a municipality to obtain revenues sharing monies, a minimum of 3 mills must be levied, or its equivalent. A $15,000 net assessment would cost the [illegible] no more than $2 a year over the present.

ARTICLE XI
INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM

This article provides that the electors have the power to require the council to adopt a new ordinance or reconsider and reject an ordinance previously adopted. This does not apply to the budget or other money matters such as taxes and salaries.

To accomplish this [illegible] the

V.F.W. news

BY CHUCK BENDER

...V.F.W. Post twice was proud to honor ...optain Francis Adams on his 100th birthday with a banquet held on the front lawn of the Post home.

Among the guests paying tribute to ...Adams were State Representative ...Jack Gerstad and County Commissioners Ross Chubbuck, Charles Foster, and Ray Crowe.

...Birthday greetings were sent by President Nixon, Governor Askew, ...Senator Ted Gurney, Congressman Skip Bafalis, and many others.

National VFW Commander Ray Soden sent his best wishes and a 25th Anniversary Pin which was presented to the Captain by Commander Cecil Branford.

The 100 year old veteran of three wars stated he was "glad we are together under God's canopy."

I love that flag, long may it be our symbol. Keep faith in God, your country and yourself" were his words.

He also stated he wants to go to Philadelphia in '76 for our nations birthday.

A special thanks is extended to new member Loren Delehant, the new proprietor of Seymour's Inn. Loren donated a complete kitchen to the post home. Many, many thanks ... are will put it to good use.

The auxiliary will hold their regular meeting Wednesday, May 15 at 7:30 p.m. at the Post home.

The regular meeting of the V.F.W. will be Thursday, May 16 at 8 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

Every Friday will be ... Night from now on. Come and meet your friends and have a good time.

go up and support our new Bar. Prentice who is a candidate for District 11 commander. If you have never been to a district meeting now would be a good time.

Sunday, May 26, along with the auxiliary, we will have a joint installation of the officers for the coming year. After the installation we will have a spaghetti dinner and music will be provided for listening and dancing pleasure.

Come and meet our new officers.

Service Officers Report

...Participation in CHAMPVA is entirely voluntary for the physician or any other source of medical care under the CHAMPVA cost sharing plan; the government pays a share of the reasonable charges for authorized health benefits. In determining if a charge is reasonable, the customary charges made by the physician and the prevailing charges of other physicians in the community for similar services are considered. If the services are unusual circumstances and prolonged clinical effort, special consideration, similar procedures used to determine reasonable charges for the usual services rendered other specialists in the locality. Hospital charges are the reasonable charges for hospital in the area if participating physician or other source of care under CHAMPVA. ART GALLERY–Ruth Decker, owner of the Pieces of Eight art gallery in Port Salerno stands beside one of Peter Drew's water colors on exhibit now. The Pieces of Eight art gallery and gift shop is located on St. Lucie Avenue.

Pieces of Eight, a quality art gallery

PORT SALERNO–The Pieces of Eight Art Gallery in Port Salerno has come a long way since its opening late last year. Owner Ruth Decker has gathered some of the most talented artists to exhibit their work both from the local and state level.

Margaret Zierer Smith a local artist, just finished a one woman show at the gallery and a well-known husband and wife watercolor team, Peter and Jeri Drew are now exhibiting their work.

The Drew's are represented in galleries in several states and many private collections including Sammy Davis Jr. and the late Nat King Cole. The Miami couple have a very long and impressive resume, too long to mention here.

"We're booked solid for next season," Mrs. Decker said, "We're planning artists like Bunny Coppe, Margaret Zierer Smith, Peter Drew and many more."

Plans for a tentative photo show next February are in the works now Mrs. Decker said. She added that it would include both black and white as well as color photogrpahy.

Pieces of Eight also exhibits local art and Indian art. A wide selection of local lithographs are available and the gallery can also do custom framing. The Pieces of Eight also features a boutique with many different and unordinary gifts.

PLEASED—The Mirror's place at the annual Florida Press Association better newspaper awards luncheon was loaded with awards at the conclusion of the presentations. The pleasure of Mirror Editor Dick Campbell and his wife, Salli, is evident. The sweepstakes trophy is at right.

Seven top plaques

Mirror sweeps awards; wins 'Best Weekly'

TALLAHASSEE—The Jensen Beach Mirror won its third "Best Florida Weekly Newspaper" honor, sweeping the Florida Press Association better newspapers contest with twelve awards including seven first place awards in journalistic excellence at the annual FPA convention here Saturday.

The Mirror won in twelve out of the 28 categories in the contest and placed first in typographical excellence, best editorial page, best use of photographs and artwork, best pictorial series, special issue, newspaper promotion and in-depth reporting.

Second place honors were won in best use of color and community service. Third place honors were won for best sports story and conservation writing. An honorable mention award was received for Americanism Editorials.

Judging of the contest was by award winning editors of Oklahoma. The awards were presented by Jack Lake, president of the St. Petersburg Times and Independent, president of the FPA.

The Mirror ran away with the "sweepstakes" award, denoting the top weekly of the year, outdistancing the Coral Gable Times, which won four first place awards and a total of ten, and the Vero Beach Press Journal, which won two first place awards and a total of eleven.

The traditional rival of The Mirror in awards competition, The Stuart News, won three second place awards, three third place awards and four honorable mention awards, a total of ten awards.

"I have never been so pleased in all my life," said Mirror Editor Dick Campbell, following the presentation luncheon. "Charles Cates predicted that we would have the best weekly award, but I just couldn't believe it would happen. As it turned out, it was a run-away."

This is the third time that The Mirror has won the coveted "sweepstakes" award. Other winning years were 1968 and 1970.

The awards covered work by all members of The Mirror staff. The pictorial series was Alice Hickey's photos of the pelicans used in a full page layout in The Mirror mail-away edition. That edition also won first place in special issue.

The sports story award was for Campbell's story of a sailboat trip down the intracoastal waterway. The environmental award was on The Mirror effort to get the Council of Governments established.

News Editor Charles Cates effort in traffic problem solution won the in-depth reporting award.

Campbell's editorials were honored in the Americanism editorial award, and The Mirror coverage of the telephone book scandal in Jensen Beach won the community service award.

avannas endangered y sandmining projects

UART—Before a meeting of the n County Conservation Alliance Friday, Dr. Walter Stokes ed the Savannas Sand mining ions adjacent to the Savannas presents the most savage to the Savannas because the ions could drain the whole thing estro, the water supply for the Beach area," Stokes said.

Stokes who has been sport in the Savannas for over 20 and studying the area for the last ears, said that the sand mining ions are now about 14 feet below el of the Savannas and plans are to about 30 feet below the sand being dredged is silicon and is extremely fine and is used king concrete. There are 196 involved in the three mines now ion. The mining was stopped where a group of Indian River residents protested, but regulations were tightened by the St. Lucie y Commission and mining was ed to continue on Sept. 11 under wing conditions: performance were to be furnished; hours of ions limited between 8 a.m. and and trucks would not use River Drive any more than was ely necessary.

mining is right on the very edge Savannas and "when you look at God, you think you're on the Stokes said in describing the g operation.

ook the companies are afraid of closed again because recently l trucks are entering or leaving ons every two minutes."

water from the Savannas ally drains under ground into the n River but the mining could ately drain the area, Stokes said.

"The Savannas just can't stand it. It can barely make it now.

"That's the most dangerous thing in the Savannas," John Heyburn of Jensen Beach chimed in.

Dr. Stokes said that dredging operations by Universal Adams also pose a threat to the Savannas. The operations have been stopped by court action.

Although the Universal Adams project was stopped by court action several months ago, Circuit Court Judge James Alderman fined the company $10,000 for starting construction on a causeway across the savannas without a permit and asked the developer to seek an alternate access route.

The agreement did grantde, however, that if the property owners in the area refused to sell the necessary rights-of-way for the alternate access to the development within thirty days, the developer could proceed with the savanna access.

Dr. Stokes is chairman of a committee representing St. Lucie and Martin counties to recommend a plan for the preservation of the Savannas.

"Come hell or high water, we'll have some kind of preservation in the Savannas if it isn't drained dry first," Dr. Stokes said.

$500,000 damage to Martin County

STUART—Stuart's Monterey section was the hardest hit area last week when 100 m.p.h. winds with heavy rains hit the area resulting in an estimated $500,000 in damage.

Only one person was reported injured from the storm which began at approximately 3:30 p.m. last Wednesday afternoon.

Edward Solloman, a resident at the Monterey Yacht and Country Club Condominium, received a fractured hand and cuts about and fractured hand and cuts about and fractured hand and cuts about and UR GENERATIONS–The Ethel Sapp family of Fort ierce was the only family at Saturday's Early Settlers nic with four generations present. Family members above, are (not in order) Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright, Annie Wright, Vera Ferrell, Warren Donald Bennett, Jr., Cora Ann Bennett, Ethel Sapp and Alene Ferrell.

Bryant begins jail term

STUART–Former Martin County Commissioner, Paul Bryant, convicted of soliciting a bribe, began serving his sentence last Wednesday night at the Martin County jail.

A work release request has been made by Bryant. Approval for the work release program must come from Sheriff James Holt and the local Probation and Parole Commission.

Bryant was to serve a one year sentence, but Circuit Court Judge D.C. Smith, who gave the original sentence, said after Bryant served three months of the one year sentence, he would be released on probation for two years and nine months.

Bryant was convicted in November of 1973 of attempting to solicit some $15,000 in bribes from Jensen Beach realtor, Ransom Tilton, and Richard Berbic, developer, for approval of a Hutchinson Island rezoning request.

July 11 will be the first meeting for the membership, with more meetings planned for October, January and April.

Endangered-lands listing

STUART-A list of environmentally endangered lands for Martin County to present to the state for purchase is being prepared by the local planning staff.

The list will primarily concern property on Hutchinson Island where the county has refused to permit development on the intertidal lands.

The state purchasing department has provided the county with an application from the State Division of Planning to review the lands proposed for purchase. County staff has been asked to prepare a list for commission review before the application is sent to Tallahassee.

Army engineers issue St. Lucie Inlet report

JACKSONVILLE-Army Engineers today issued an environmental impact statement on the St. Lucie Inlet channel stabilization.

The St. Lucie Inlet environmental report has now been filed with the President's Council on Environmental Quality and Congressional action is underway to consider federal-local improvements to the inlet. The project consists of deepening the entrance channel to 10 feet, providing a 7-foot deep inner channel connecting with the intracoastal waterway extending the existing north jetty 500 feet and constructing a 1,200-foot long south jetty and a recreational walkway. The project also provides for beach erosion control south of the inlet on state-owned lands.

Army Engineers said no long range environmental effects will result from the proposed work. Temporary impacts should be minor, the report concludes.

Engineers said the draft environmental statement has been sent to all local, state and federal agencies for review and that comments on the plan have been requested by May 30.

Copies of both environmental reports are available from the U.S. Corps of Engineers, P.O. Box 4970, Jacksonville Fla. 32201.

Jack Tyler arrived Tues. May 14 from San Francisco to spend the week with his parents Fred and Hulda Tyler of Vista Drive. Has pop said Wed. when it was raining so hard, "Everytime you come you bring us rain. We're sure glad you came this time because we sure needed the rain."

Hazeltine Simonson flew husband Harold home to Maine with a nurse in attendance in April. A niece came down to help her drive home. They stopped their first night out in Georgia. When they called home they were informed that Harold had had another stroke and had died that morning, April 16. We are so sorry that things turned out this way. A neighbor gave me this address. Mrs. Hazeltine Simonson, 15 Pleasant St., P.O. Box 93, Clinton, Maine 04927.

Nellie Schaubach called Mary Weeks Sunday and said that husband Ora was feeling better.

This week I have had tic douloureux, extreme pain on one side of my head and face. A shot by my doctor relieved it after four days.

Irene Burgess of 6th St. was so glad to hear from Isable TGaylor. She asked, "Will you please give my best regards to my old friends. It seems as I read the ocean Breeze news that the old timers are few." Her address is Mrs. Isable Taylor, 350 Juniper St. Park Forest, Ill. 60466.

Arnold and Margaret Sherman wrote to their new neighbors Al and Jean on Arbor Vitae that they arrived home in 60 degree temperature, which is not bad for Michigan at this time of year. I hope they eat their free dandelion greens for a spring tonic, they are 39 cents a little bunch here. They stated that the Whites (Ann and Whitey) had arrived home safe. Their address is A. Sherman, 8341 Arlis, Union Lake, Mich. 48085.

J.B. and Harriet Pair of Colonial Trailer Park in Ft. Lauderdale spent a long weekend, Friday until Tuesday, with their friends, Fritz and Bunny Springman of Vista Drive. They took them to Lord Chumbleys for dinner Sat. night. Then Sun. the Springmans took them to the beach for a picnic and even entertained with accordian music.

Mrs. Frank (Therese) Wittenbert took Frank to the veteran's hospital in Miami Mon. for tests and returned the same night.

Gladys Becroft says Ocean Breese is a wonderful place to be when you are recuperating. She is getting along remarkably well following double eye surgery.

Oscar and Marguerite Dishman enjoyed their granddaughter Linda Brugger of Elk Rap. Ida Mich., who came to help them celebrate their 46th wedding anniversary. They took her to the airport and she flew to Atlanta to visit her oldest sister Marguerite Vonesh for 3 weeks before going on home to work June 4.

Marie Montanaro underwent surgery at Martin emorial last week. Husband Bill thinks she is progressing nicely now.

It makes me wish that I had five attentive children when I hear the telephone ringing and see all of the flowers and gifts going to Gladys Becroft, my neighbor, as she recuperates.

Hospital auxiliary seeks volunteers, reports news

FT. PIERCE--The Martin Memorial Hospital Auxiliary is in need of volunteers to help cover their designated work duties at the martin Memorial Hospital. Arthur hesse, chairman of the Auxiliary Anchormen has asked all male volunteers to call him at 287-3755 he will answer questions about qualifications and furnish an application.

Mrs. Anne Hudson 1st Vice President, 287-3319, will answer questions from women.

Mrs. Merle Phillips, Awards Chairman of the Martin Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, recently announced that Lois ARtons, Evelyn Dupont and Ellen Failing had earned their 1,000 hour pins for volunteer service to Martin memorial Hospital. Mrs. Ruby Lutz was awarded a 2,000 hour service pin. Five Hundred Hour service pins were awarded to J.D. McGarrah, Margaret Buoh, Helen Chandler, Janet Chafer, Ruth Fox and Gladys Springer.

During the month of April 336 volunteers worked a total of 5,844 hours. This included the 627 hours worked by 38 Anchormen.

Art Associates to meet June 7

STUART--The Art Associates of Martin County will meet June 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room of the First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart.

The program will center around "Understanding Art Better," and some techniques and disciplines will be demonstrated.

The panel program will cover four areas relevant to works of art: drawing and the new disciplines, light and shade, composition and picture values, and color dimensions.

The panel will consist of Mahlon Cline, moderator; Iola Connolly, drawing; Frostina Frodel, light and shade; Mahlon Cline, composition; and Dorothy Stafford, color dimensions.

Each member is encouraged to bring one picture for evaluation.

There will be a special announcement at this meeting about a special project for the summer months, according to publicity chairman Peggy Meissner, who adds, "Don't miss it."

Please call Al Termini at 334-4956 for reservations.

The Art Associates will not meet again until the first Friday in October.

THE PORT ST. LUCIE
MIRROR
VOL. 5 NO. 20 MAY 23, 1974 10¢

PATHS-Gary Ament, St. Lucie County Planner, outlined the proposed system for bike paths in St Lucie County The County Commission is ed to approve the proposal this week, and it is the hope of the bike ee to have the proposal in Tallahassee before July 1 This shed St Lucie County would be in a position to receive state funding if it should become available

Council cancels workshop, revamps agenda

PORT ST. LUCIE–The decision was made by the Port St. Lucie City Council to revamp the agenda for the regular meetings, and to discontinue the every-other-week workshop sessions.

Mayor Larry Kimmel made the suggestions which met with the approval of the council during the workshop session held Tuesday.

"In going back through some of the minutes from our previous council meetings, I find an excessive amount of time has been taken up in the midst of the meetings with items other than city business," Kimmel said. "I suggest that we change the format of the meetings to enable the Council to conduct city business without the interuption of lengthy discussions between buyers and sellers that does not, in my opinion, constitute city business."

Kimmel suggested time be alloted at the end of the meetings for such discussions generally arising between the homeowners and General Development officials.

It was further agreed that the regular workshop sessions held on the first and third Tuesdays be discontinued.

"In the future the workshop sessions will be held as deemed necessary," Kimmel said, adding that the press would be notified in advance of such sessions.

In the past the workshop sessions have been held on alternate Tuesdays from the regular council meetings Council meetings are held on the second and fourth Tuesdays at 9 a.m.

Country Club homeowners apologize

PORT ST. LUCIE–A letter of apology was received by the Port St. Lucie City Council last week from the St. Lucie Country Club Homeowners Association.

The letter was issued by C.A. Bramley, Jr., president of the association, following an April 23 public hearing held by the council in which General Development Corporation officials appeared to seek approval and support for the zoning application on the third championship golf course. The hearing was held at the St. Lucie Hilton Convention Hall.

The meeting had no more than started when the issue at hand – the zoning approval for the golf course – was completely buried amid shouts from irate residents opposing the multi-family zoning proposed for sometime in the future.

The apology dated May 8 read:

"It has been reported that at the April 23, 1974 public hearing held by the Council, some of those in attendance engaged in tactics and comments which could be described only as rude and inconsiderate if not downright disorderly and disruptive. We assure the Mayor and Council that no one representing the St. Lucie Country Club Homeowners Association Inc. acted or spoke in such a manner and that this Association by formal action of its Board of Directors deplores and dissociates itself from such actions, remarks and attitudes.

We have urged and will continue to urge our members and indeed all homeowners to make their views known to city Officials in a reasoned and orderly manner on appropriate occasions. But we do not and shall not advocate or condone heckling, booing, shouting, interruptions of speakers, attempts to monopolize the floor or other unmannerly and disorderly acts. In fact we would support a firm exercise of the authority of the Chair to the extent required to maintain order and propiety in public meetings."

In recent weeks residents and home-owner-group members have turned out in numbers protesting the multi-family zoning, although the original master plan for the Port St. Lucie community called for multi-family construction as far back as the year 1960. These plans are posted on the wall of every office within the city.

uncil gets sneak peek

ST. LUCIE–Council members k at the proposed bike paths Lucie County at last Tuesday's g session.

Ament, St. Lucie County r, outlined the basic arterial and pointed out that the bike would not necessarily be paved areas. Due to the high construction, it is intended that streets and sidewalks will be ver possible.

According to Tom Kindred, St. Lucie County Recreation Director, the committee will explore the possibility of using the telephone, electric or gas company's rights-of-ways.

The arterial route, as tentatively set forth, is the backbone of the entire system, Ament said.

The proposal is expected to be formerly approved this week by the St. Lucie County Commission, according to Kindred.

"It is the intention of the bike committee to get this proposal to Tallahassee on or before July 1," Kindred said. "This will put St. Lucie County in a position to get state funds if and when they become available."

Where paths will be constructed, they will be 8 to 10 feet in width and have some type asphalt surface. Estimated cost of construction has been set at $10,000 per mile, plus the cost of the rights-of-way.

The basic intent of the arterial system is to tie in all communities in the county, and also fit into the overall plan for the state and surrounding counties of Martin and Indian River.

The proposal indicates the route will start at the Martin County line, extend north along U.S. 1 to Prima Vista Boulevard, west to Airoso, north to St. James, 25th Street and on to Edwards Road. East west routes include Virginia Ave. to Indian River Community College, and across Midway Road to Indian River Drive.

Mirror sweeps awards; wins 'Best Weekly'

TALLAHASSEE–The Jensen Beach Mirror won its third "Best Florida Weekly Newspaper" honor, sweeping the Florida Press Association better newspapers contest with twelve awards, including seven first place awards in journalistic excellence at the annual FPA convention here Saturday.

The Mirror won in twelve out of the 28 categories in the contest, and placed first in typographical excellence, best editorial page, best use of photographs and artwork, best pictorial series, special issue, newspaper promotion and in-depth reporting.

Second place honors were won in best use of color and community service. Third place honors were won for best sports story and conservation writing. An honorable mention award was received for Americanism Editorials.

Judging of the contest was by award winning editors of Oklahoma. The awards were presented by Jack Lake, president of the St. Petersburg Times and Independent, president of the FPA.

The Mirror ran away with the "sweepstakes" award, denoting the top weekly of the year, outdistancing the Coral Gable Times, which won four first place awards and a total of ten, and the Vero Beach Press Journal, which won two first place awards and a total of eleven.

The traditional rival of The Mirror in awards competition, The Stuart News, won three second place awards, three third place awards and four honorable mention awards, a total of ten awards.

"I have never been as pleased in all my life," said Mirror Editor Dick Campbell, following the presentation luncheon. "Charles Cates predicted that we would have the best weekly award, but I just couldn't believe it would happen. As it turned out, it was a run-away."

This is the third time that The Mirror has won the coveted sweepstakes award. Other winning years were 1968 and 1970.

The awards covered work by all members of The Mirror staff. The pictorial series was Alice Hickey's photos of the pelicans used in a full page layout in The Mirror mail-away edition. That edition also won first place in special issue.

The sports story award was for Campbell's story of a sailboat trip down the intracoastal waterway. The environmental award was on The Mirror effort to get the Council of Governments established.

News Editor Charles Cates effort in traffic problem solution won the in-depth reporting award.

Campbell's editorials were honored in the Americanism editorial award, and The Mirror coverage of the telephone book scandal in Jensen Beach won the community service award.

BUSY DAY–Postmistress Ann Power found her first day on the job a busy one. Miss Power is pictured above turning over the first day's mail to Judge Black of the Fort Pierce Post Office. On May 16 the post office sub-station operation was taken over by the Port St. Lucie City Hall. The temporary station will be located at the city hall until negotiations are completed for a permanent facility to be located in the Port St. Lucie area.

CESA to have senior dinner

PORT ST. LUCIE–The CESA Volunteers are planning a Senior Citizens Dinner on June 15 which will be served at the CESA building and catered by Mrs. Helen Everett and her committee.

The Volunteers will be around with tickets and are asking folks to save that date for a very enjoyable evening. They also express regrets for the cancellation of the May 18 plans.

Arrangements for the Drivers Ed course are shaping up. There will be an announcement soon for all who have expressed interest in the course.

Fine-Free book week scheduled

PORT ST. LUCIE–All patrons with long overdue books' Now is the time to return them! The last two weeks of May, from May 20 through May 31, are fine-free weeks at the St. Lucie-Okeechobee Regional Library in Ft. Pierce, the Bookmobile, and the Port St. Lucie Branch Library.

No fines will be charged on overdue books during this period no matter how long the books have been overdue. All patrons with overdue books, and especially those with long overdue books, are encouraged to return them at this time.

Sandmining is hit by Dr. Walter Stokes

STUART–Before a meeting of the Martin County Conservation Alliance last Friday, Dr. Walter Stokes criticized the Savannas Sand mining operations adjacent to the Savannas.

"This presents the most savage threat to the Savannas because the operations could drain the whole thing and destroy the water supply for the Jensen Beach area," Stokes said.

Dr. Sokes, who has been sport fishing in the Savannas for over 20 years and studying the area for the last five years, said that the sand mining operations are now about 14 feet below the level of the Savannas and plans are to dig to about 30 feet below the Savannas.

The sand being dredged is silicon sand and is extremely fine and is used in making concrete. There are 180 acres involved in the three mines now in operation. The mining was stopped once when a group of Indian River Drive residents protested, but regulations were tightened by the St. Lucie County Commission and mining was permitted to continue on Sept. 11 under the following conditions: performance bonds were to be furnished; house of operations limited between 7 a.m. and 6 p.m.; and trucks would not use Indian River Drive any more than was absolutely necessary.

The mining is right on the very edge of the Savannas and "when you look at it, by God, you think you're on the moon," Stokes said in describing the mining operation.

"I think the companies are afraid of being closed again because recently timed trucks are entering or leaving the sites every two minutes."

The water from the Savannas normally drains under ground into the Indian River but the mining could completely drain the area, Stokes said.

"The Savannas just can't stand it. It can barely make it now."

"That's the most dangerous thing in the Savannas," John Heyburn of Jensen Beach chimed in.

Dr. Stokes said that dredging operations by Universal Adams also pose a threat to the Savannas. The operations have been stopped by court action.

Although the Universal Adams project was stopped by court action several months ago, Circuit Court Judge James Alderman fined the company $10,000 for starting construction on a causeway across the savannas without a permit and asked the developer to seek an alternate access route.

The agreement did provide, however, that if the property owners in the area refused to sell the necessary rights-of-way for the alternate access to the development within thirty days, the developer could proceed with the savanna access.

Dr. Stokes is chairman of a committee representing St. Lucie and Martin counties to recommend a plan for the preservation of the Savannas.

"Come hell or high water, we'll have some kind of preservation in the Savannas if it isn't drained dry first," Dr. Stokes said.

Boat-a-cade is planned by PSLYC

PORT ST. LUCIE–Port St. Lucie Yacht Club members and guests are reminded that the May 25th Boat-a-cade rendezvous time is 10:30 a.m. at the St. Lucie Hilton Marina, push off time is 10:45.

A happy hour is planned from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 at the Crow's Nest in Hilo, followed by a Cornish game hen dinner.

The committee in charge of the affair are Dora McCabe, chairman, Harold and Marian Ashe, John and Marge McGee and Helen Beckman.

May 20th was the deadline for tickets.

Tall buildings are opposed

JENSEN BEACH–A height limitation for buildings on South Hutchinson Island in St. Lucie County has been proposed by the Conservation Alliance of St. Lucie County.

In a resolution adopted at its last meeting the Alliance urges the St. Lucie County Commission to limit all future building on the natural bodies of water and Hutchinson Island to four stories.

County Commission honors late mayor

PORT ST. LUCIE–A framed resolution drawn up by the St. Lucie County Board of County Commissioners in honor of the late Mayor Eugene P. Kavanaugh, was presented to his widow Mrs. Grace Kavanaugh last week.

The resolution number 74-58 was passed late on the day of the Mayor's death, May 7, and read

WHEREAS, on the 7th day of May 1974, Almighty God, in His infinite wisdom, saw fit to take from our midst one of the outstanding citizens of St. Lucie County, the Honorable Eugene Kavanaugh, and

WHEREAS, Mayor Kavanaugh as he was affectionately known, was elected to the City Council of the City of Port St. Lucie in 1965 and became the Mayor of said City in 1967 during which time through his untiring efforts he did more than any other person to promote and shape the orderly planned growth of said City, and

WHEREAS, Mayor Kavanaugh was honored and respected by the people of St. Lucie County, not only as an outstanding city official, but also as a true friend and neighbor, and

WHEREAS, the members of this Board desire to give formal expression to the family of Eugene Kavanaugh the deepest and sincerest sympathy of each and every member of said Board, and does hereby note in its records the passing from this life of a man who was admired by his associates loved by his friends and respected by all.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a copy of this Resolution, over the signature of its Chairman, attested by its Clerk, be tendered to his family as a humble expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy in their grief.

The resolution was signed by W.R. McCain, St. Lucie County Commission Chairman, Roger Poitras, clerk; and Josephine B. Rice, deputy clerk.

COUNTY OF ST. LUCIE

The undersigned, Clerk of the Board of County Commissioners of the County and State aforesaid, does hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true and correct copy of a Resolution adopted by the said Board of County Commissioners at a meeting held on May 7, 1974.

Witness my hand and the seal of said Board this 8th day of May, 1974.

Golf course re-zoning is underway

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE–Last week the Council instructed Rupert Smith, attorney, to prepare an amendment to the zoning ordinance to allow rezoning of the third golf course in PSL and the clubhouse, golf cart storage building and parking area.

Once the ordinance has been prepared it will be approximately 45 days before it will become effective. Law requires two readings by the City Council before the final approval can be made.

Mayor Larry Kimmel emphasized rezoning would have nothing to do with the multi family zoning which will probably be requested by General Development Corporation sometime in the future. The multi-family zoning has not even been requested at this time.

He said the homeowners given an opportunity to vote on whether or not they wanted multi-family zoning in their area.

The Mayor pointed out that this multi family zoning and planning was something new that just came up as it has been on the master plan, which is on file in every office of GDC as well as in City Hall, since 1960. It was based on the original plans for the community.

In the June 28 issue of the Port St. Lucie News when the City Council gave final approval for the Mid Port development, the entire plan was published. Five paragraphs of that story read as follows

"It was the day that a full house of citizens came to the development plans for the massive grassy area east of I-95 all the way to the savannas and beyond.

"Over 100 were there to hear about the 178 acre Nat Harrison project, and paid but passing note to the General Development Corporation master planning of Mid Port, the mainstream center of the entire City of Port St. Lucie.

"East of US1 there would be a regional shopping center, multi-family areas, a business and governmental center and a hospital complex. There is an industrial park already existing on the north end of the development.

"First, however, would be the west Mid Port development, a string of cluster homes, single family and multi-family dwellings. All areas of building would avoid drainage areas.

Mid Port West would have 640 single family, 664 cluster and 1,325 multi family dwellings. The east sector would have 1,172 single family and 630 multi family dwellings. It is a five year plan.

As far as major or minor decisions being made during the summer months, Kimmel answered, "Running a city is a business. We operate just like any other city–12 months a year. When these people go north they go to some city, a city which I am certain also operates on the year round basis."

Mayor Kimmel went on to explain that the citizens of the City of Port St. Lucie have the right to request a referendum. There is an established procedure for doing that. Any resident or group of residents desiring this action can obtain the exact procedure from the City Attorney Rupert Smith, or they may find this information by looking it up in the charter issued and approved by the state and available at the city hall.

Three councilmen will be up for election in March 1975–Kenneth Thompson, Franklin Beardsley and Dr. Harold Nolttey.

Jensen Beach Charter explanation will be concluded next week with all amendments listed

Old west operetta

JENSEN BEACH–Parents, teachers, friends, and students packed the auditorium last Thursday and Friday nights to see the Jensen Elementary fifth and sixth graders present "Dead Dog Gulch".

Dressed in colorful costumes, the cast played the parts of miners, cowpunk kids, townspeople, and the members of the beautification society on Main Street in front of the jail of a make-believe mining town of Dead Dog Gulch, just before the turn of the century.

The old west operetta was directed by Mrs. Daniels, Mrs. Gladwin, Miss Young and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bonar with a lot of help from the mothers, teachers and sponsors.

Animal Birth Control, Inc. sponsors 'The Animal Attic'

STUART—"The Animal Attic" located at 920 South Dixie in Stuart, is the name of a new thrift shop sponsored by the Animal Birth Control, Inc., of Martin County.

It is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Thursday and Fridays, and 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays.

Clothing and miscellaneous items are for sale at bargain prices.

The shop is a fund raising project for the Spay Neuter program for animals promoted by the organization, and for furthering educational work on this subject.

Donations may be brought to the shop on open days. For further information, call Mrs. Dorothy Butler at 283-2611 or Mrs. Pauline Krupp at 283-4137.

Mrs. Adele Anderson is committee chairman and volunteers wishing to serve at the shop may call her during morning hours at 334-5528.

The group meets on the second Thursday of every months at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Room of the First National Bank of Stuart. Visitors interested in animal welfare are always welcome.

At the last meeting held May 9, Dorothy Butler, president, and Claire Taibl, past president, reported on progress made since the club was organized June 8, 1973.

A total of 31 cats and 29 dogs have been spayed or altered through funds raised by the organization amounting to over $1,000. Funds have also been used to promoting educational work in the public schools.

A booth was sponsored at the Martin county Fair where literature was given out and films shown.

Contributions as well as applications for spaying or neutering an animal may be sent to Animal Birth Control, Inc., P.O. Box 199, Stuart, Fla. 33494.

Two juveniles arrested

JENSEN BEACH—Two juveniles have been arrested in connection with vandalism at the Ricou Building in Jensen Beach. Approximately $400 damage with paint was done on the side of the building.

re Out was very lucky Wed ly the fringe of the very severe storm struck here. The black, fast traveling clouds were very ominous, but the heavy downpour of rain was very welcome. However, the Indian River was breaking over the sea wall and sending spray across Wahoo Drive. Gusts of wind caused the windows in the Tucker's front porch to vibrate so that they had to be forcefully held into their frames!

Fran Tener reports:
Crazy Eight card game on Tuesday night had to cancel because we didn't have enough players so we have disbanded until the fall. However I am sure that there are enough to play occasionally when the spirit moves rather than on a regular night. Edith Peister has a good batch of pennies she'd like to play with to recoup some of her losses.

Pot Luck on Monday night surprised us by having 26 diners. That was on the 13th of May. At this writing we have no idea how many will be there on May 30th. However, the dinners continue to be unbelieveably good, very well served, and excellent cooking. They will continue as long as there is interest, and perhaps over the summer smaller groups will organize their own "pot lucks". In the meantime, do come on May 27.

Carol and Henry Valaro, Joe's brother, from Long Island, N.Y. are visiting for about two weeks. We've met the rest of Joe's family and we all love them and look forward to their visits. This will be a first visit for Carol and Henry and undoubtedly they will be smitten with the place and the Valaro hospitality and be regular visitors too.

The Teners invited the Higgins family for a "turtle-watching" walk and a campfire. On the beach at dusk, they sighted eight sets of tracks, some only a day old. Grandsons Tom, Ray and John went back to the beach after dark with Catherine but couldn't find any turtles actually laying. Catherine is the right kind of grandmother to have: she provides chauffeur service when required and in addition such marvelous desserts as rice pudding, brownies, bundt cake with strawberries and cream etc. etc. The boys' parents Anne and Bob FitzHenry are really enjoying their permanent residence in Florida. The whole family may need a rest after the Little League season is over but in the meantime they are all going ho about the games at Langford Park.

Lee and George Chambers have been keeping busy with trips to Miami, projects and chores at home, and are looking forward to a trip to New England this summer.

THE FACTS—John Trosper as Norman looks unimpressed as Mary, played by Glenda Mosher tries to explain the facts of life. It all happens in Norman! Is That You? playing at the Lyric Theatre in Stuart May 22rd through the 26th.

Norman, is that you?

STUART—It sounds like a soap opera. Mother runs away to Canada with Dad's brother. Dad decides to visit his son in New York, only to find that said son is sharing a very frilly apartment with a very feminine young man.

Television could milk 26 episodes out of that one, but they take care of it in about two hours on the stage of the Lyric theater in the laugh-a minute presentation 'Norman! Is That You?'

Norman was first offered to Lyric theatergoers last October. At that time it won the praise of all who saw it, both for its light hearted, modern treatment of its very delicate subject matter, and for the sensitive performance of its five member cast. There are no 'but' parts in Norman. Each of the cast members is charged with contributing to the action of the show.

Norman himself, the young man who gives Dad a few new gray hairs, is played by John Trosper. John made his local theatrical debut in last season's presentation of Norman. His nightgown oriented, boy girl friend Garson is aptly portrayed by Ira Cox. Ira has been seen locally in Wait Until Dark, You Can't Take It With You and Forty Carats. Ben Chambers (Dad) is played by Bernie Selkin.

Anyone in the Stuart-Ft. Pierce-Vero Beach area who doesn't know Bernie just hasn't seen much theater. Before offering his interpretation of Ben, Mr. Selkin was seen locally in Goodby Charlie and the Fantastiks. Since the first 'norman' Bernie and his talented wife Hortie received standing ovations for their portrayals of Tevya and Yetta in Fiddler On The Roof. Hortie appears in Norman as the wandering Mrs. Chambers. It is well worth seeing the show just to watch her reaction to Norman's roommate. Last but certainly not least we have Glenda Mosher as Mary. Now Mary is a lady-of-the-evening hired by Ben to show Norman there really is another way-to-go.

All in all, this show guarantees an evening of enjoyment. Norman, produced by Rick Allen will be presented at the Lyric Theatre in downtown Stuart for four nights starting Thursday May 23. Tickets are now on sale at the box office.

Duplicate Bridge

JENSEN BEACH—The Community Duplicate Bridge Club, meeting on Monday, May 13 had nine tables in play and an average of 108 in both directions.

North-South winners were Marion and George Heath with 121½ matchpoints, second with 120½ were Katherine and Dwight Kelly, and Dr. and Mrs. Frank Hendrickson with 117½ came in third.

East-West winners were Frances Wilson and George Benoit with 143½ matchpoints, second with 140 were Dr. and Mrs. Charles Leaser, and third with 120½ were Gladys and John Michaelson.

On Friday, May 10, a Howell movement was used and coming in first were Lucille Stossel and Jack Alger. Bee and Bill Snelling were second, Frank Percuoco and Chuck Hawkins third, and fourth place went to Dorothy and Milton Methorn.

Game time is 1 p.m. on Mondays and Fridays in the Harry Hoke Community Room on Commercial Street in Jensen Beach. All area bridge players are welcome and a partner is always available.

Chew Get speaks

Philbrick says

More service would increase tax

BY CHARLES CATES

JENSEN BEACH–Additional millage for Taxing District A (Jensen Beach) would provide more services to the people, according to Martin County Commissioner Rosa Philbrick.

The proposed charter for the incorporation of the City of Jensen Beach includes a three-mill cap.

Millage for Taxing District A — Jensen Beach, North River Shores, Rio and part of Hutchinson Island — is now 1.2 mills.

Philbrick, who represents the taxing district, points out that additional services can be provided to the district with an increase in millage.

"We would have to have some kind of poll to see if the people want additional services," Philbrick said.

"I would want some reaction from the people who would pay the bill," he said.

If the district millage was increased to three mills, Philbrick said the additional services could include:

1. A higher level of road repair, receiving more work on top of what the district is now receiving.

2. Budget additional money for the Jensen Beach and Rio Fire Departments, employing personnel.

3. Around the clock patrol from the sheriff's department. Instead of one deputy for the area, there would be four.

Philbrick emphasized the fact that he didn't want to take sides in the incorporation issue.

"I don't think it would be fair for me to," he said.

Philbrick noted that he wouldn't be a voter in the incorporation referendum. He lives on Hutchinson Island.

Philbrick noted that the 1.2 mills for the district brings in about $80,000, with about $30,000 budgeted for the two fire stations, $25,000 for street lights, $17,000 for Langford Park.

He pointed out that there isn't any road money budgeted for district road work.

The commissioner said that the park serves "a lot of people that are not in the district," and there was some federal money budgeted for park improvement.

On the point of additional deputies for the area — Philbrick estimates around the clock protection which would include four deputies at a cost of $50,000 — he noted that there would be the additional expense for a city police force of setting up headquarters and a radio dispatcher, etc.

"The sheriff's department already has the dispatcher and headquarters," he said. Also, he noted that other services are provided by courthouse personnel to the district which is not included in the district tax.

He admitted, however, that additional district tax wouldn't improve planning and zoning for the proposed incorporation area, but he said he was confident that the planning and zoning is improving.

"We are taking a very hard look at the planning problem," Philbrick said, noting that the island received first priority in the zoning study.

And the commissioner noted the possibility of creating other taxing districts "to take care of specific needs."

But Philbrick cautioned that before there would be any increase in district taxes, he would have to hear from the people who pay the bill.

Kiwanis disbanding vote sought

JENSEN BEACH–The members of the three year old Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club will be asked to consider disbanding the club, according to action taken by the board of directors of the club last week.

In a memo sent to members, President Robert Mayer asked that the membership come to a meeting on June 3 prepared to discuss and vote of the withdrawal from Kiwanis International.

Local Kiwanians have been praised for their community service projects, but criticized for their failure to fillout the forms required monthly by Kiwanis. The district governor openly told the Kiwanians they were "in trouble" at their luncheon meeting on May 20, suggesting that he attend the next meeting of the board.

The board met the next night and action was taken to recommend to the membership that the club be abolished.

In the memo to members, Mayer said that the discussion would take place after lunch, when guests would be excused from the meeting.

ROUNDTRIP TICKET–F. C. Wareheim, chairman of the board of Jensen Beach Bank presented Lisa Loveday with her roundtrip ticket to San Francisco last week as her advisor, Carole Wisler, looks on. Lisa will compete in typing at the FBLA conference this June 13-15. She is the first Martin County student to compete in any national competition.

Jensen girl to compete in national typing finals

JENSEN BEACH–Martin County High School senior Lisa Loveday, 17, will compete in typing this June 13-15 at the Future Business Leaders Conference at the San Francisco Hilton.

Miss Loveday, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Loveday, Jensen Beach, is the first Martin County student to compete in any national competition.

She first entered competition for her district at Palm Beach Junior College and later became first place winner of Florida at the FBLC competition in Jacksonville.

At California she will compete against students representing every state. A one hour time limit will be given to the students to type letters, tabulated copy and manuscripts. The judging will then be done on the accuracy rather than quantity.

Last week F. C. Wareheim, chairman of the board of Jensen Beach Bank announced the bank would pay for Lisa's roundtrip ticket to San Francisco.

Lisa is enrolled in the vocational office education program which is office occupation training under the direction of Carole Wisler, who is also the FBLA advisor at MCHS.

Density control hearings set

JENSEN BEACH–An ordinance which would restrict construction on Hutchinson Island will be considered at a public hearing by Martin County commissioners at 9 a.m. Wednesday, May 29.

Ordinance 33 would restrict construction on the island to one unit per acre and provides for procedures for construction, if any is allowed in certain environmental protection areas.

Commissioners also will hear comments on Ordinances 34 and 35 which adopt the Doyle Report on the island, and provide for a Planned Residential Development (PRD) zone.

After the island is rezoned for one unit per acre, developers may be permitted to build at greater density if they agree to work under PRD zoning provisions.

Under PRD, commissioners could approve density up to 12 units per acre if the developer meets certain conditions.

COG meeting scheduled

JENSEN BEACH–The first official meeting of the Council of Governments (COG), will be held Thursday, May 30 at 8 p.m. at the Martin County Courthouse in Stuart.

Martin County Commissioner Tim Powers, who has spearheaded COG, said the session will be held in the commission meeting room.

Officers of the two-county council are expected to be elected, according to Powers.

The council is composed of mayors of Stuart, Port St. Lucie and Fort Pierce and county commission chairmen of Martin and St. Lucie counties.

Pre-organizational meetings of the council have been held the past few weeks after all the governmental agencies approved COG.

Powers has emphasized at various meetings that the council will not be a law-making agency, but rather will meet in an attempt to bring the counties together to discuss common problems.

The veteran Martin County commissioner has cited the cooperation in planning for development of north Martin and south St. Lucie counties.

His four points of immediate concern is to deal with population density, water and sewage and intergovernmental communications and roads.

Powers first proposed COG last December, and received the backing of the major governmental agencies of the two counties.

Clergy fears Christian Arabs are leaving the Holy Land

BY DENNIS DOYLE

JENSEN BEACH-Christian Arabs need moral, spiritual and material support, is what one Jensen Beach woman found during a tour of the Holy Land last Easter.

"They have suffered war and years of unrest, to the point many are leaving the country," she said.

One clergyman who Natalie Lawrence described as "a lovable man with many heavy burdens," told her, "The Christians are becoming less and less. They're all moving away."

In later conversation with a priest, Natalie learned another concern.

"One of the main fears of the Clergy in the Holy Land is that the Holy Shrines will one day become museums and not actual living churches," she said.

"One thing I will never forget," Natalie said "Good Friday afternoon we had a Moslem guide taking us around the top of Mount Olives which overlooks Jerusalem. He said that during the six day war, Arabs, Jews and Moslems all came together to this tomb praying in different languages, with different movements but all praying to the same God.

Despite the country's international problems, Holy Week is a very special time in that land. She said the crowds were terrific during the ceremonies and processions. News accounts there reported crowds were down, but Natalie said not only were there just the crowds in the streets, but also she could see groups of people watching from the mountains. She estimated over a million watched.

Natalie went to the Holy Land on a tour with 34 other Americans from different religions and walks of life.

"We all came back feeling we experienced a certain kind of peace but together as a family," she said.

This peace which Natalie talks about is something she said she never found until she taught bible classes to younger people with problems.

"I began helping a few, then the rest followed when they told their friends," she said. Most had family problems. "Anyway," she said "I felt lost and scared. I envied people I saw who had a spiritual and contented look.

"I decided, hey, I want to find this for myself," she explained.

"Slowly I finally found this peace I was looking for. I became deeply spiritual, but it had nothing to do with religion. It was all spiritual. This was what I meant by all feeling a certain peace together from the trip.

Natalie Lawrence

On Good Friday, Natalie and her tour went by the Way of the Cross, according to languages. "We took turns, carrying the cross, it was beautiful to hear all the languages singing and praying," she said.

The only other time any of us had any fear, and only for a short time, was Easter Tuesday when we stopped to eat lunch at the Sea of Galilee," she added. "At that point we were only 3 or 4 miles from the shooting in the Golan Heights area.

Her only other indirect confrontation from the fighting was on her way home through Tel Aviv. When her bus got to the airport, which had cannons outside pointing in three directions, a guard boarded the bus with a submachine gun to look the group over. She said, They were courteous but strict.

"Every inch of me and my baggage was checked to the point of even running their fingers through my hair," she said.

"I didn't mind though, in fact I was glad they did. I felt it was for my own protection as well as for everyone else," she added.

Later Natalie spoke to a pilot who said, "There is much tension at the airport since the planes were blown up in Athens and Rome."

As for Natalie's own feelings for the Arab people after the trip, she said, "I feel deeply for the Christian Arabs. So many of them are leaving the Holy Land."

Perhaps the best words came from a clergyman she spoke to, he said, "We beg for prayers for these people and the land, or soon there will be only the Holy places and no Christians."

G. DISABLED VETERANS ID CARD

(1) Letter from the Veterans Administration dated within the last six months, stating that veteran has a service-connected disability evaluation of 100 percent.

(2) Marriage certificate (if obtaining card for wife).

(3) Birth certificate for each child listed on the form.

4. SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS:

(1) Application for ID Cards will be filled out in two copies each. The application will be completed on both sides. The application must be signed by the SPONSOR in ITEM 21 on the reverse side of the form. Application with supporting documentation will then be forwarded to Ft. Stewart, Georgia for verification. It is highly recommended that correspondence be forwarded as REGISTERED mail.

(2) If applicants reside in Orlando, Florida, area Headquartes, Ft. Stewart will verify applications. Once application is verified, applicants may take applications to the nearest MILITARY INSTALLATION for photo and issuance of new ID card.

The Veterans Administration is authorized to furnish any drugs and medicines that might be needed by a veteran who is eligible to receive disability pension with either Housebound or Aid and Attendance benefits.

The Veterans Administration may also provide such a veteran with any medical or sickroom supplies that may be required for his health, as well as prosthetic appliances.

The items which may be furnished to eligible veterans are too numerous to list, but the following will serve to illustrate the variety of the supplies, appliances, etc., that are available. The Veterans Administration may furnish any item if the veteran's doctor will prescribe it and justify the need.

Participation in CHAMPVA is entirely voluntary for the physician or any other source of medical care. Under the CHAMPVA cost sharing plan, the government pays a share of the reasonable charles for authorized health benefits. In determining if a charge is reasonable, the customary charges made by the physician and the prevailing charges of other physicians in the community for similar services are considered. If the care involves unusual circumstances and professional effort, this is taken into consideration. Similar procedures are used to determine reasonable charges for authorized services rendered by other specialists in the health profession. Hospital charges are determined to be reasonable when they are the customary charges of that hospital to the general public. Once a physician, or other source of care, accepts a patient as a VA beneficiary under CHAMPVA, the patient does not have to pay more than the cost sharing amount. For this reason, it is recommended that a patient confirm in advance that a physician, or other source, will participate under CHAMPVA. A patient who selects a non-participating source of care may find that the cost sharing portion of the payment may be greater with such additional cost to be paid by the patient.

It is requried that a patient having other health care insurance provided by law, through employment, or under a private plan, that such other insurance benefits be used before CHAMPVA can make payment. CHAMPVA will pay the remaining allowable charges, if such charges do not exceed the amount that would have been paid had there been no other insurance.

Forms Used-CHAMPVA claims are filed on either Da Form 1863-1 or 1863-2. The DA Form 1863-1 is used by hosp itals, and the 1863-2 form is used by other sources of care and beneficiaries.

Most sources of care have been furnished supplies of the appropriate form. Blank forms may also be obtained from the office to which a claim will be sent.

What an Itemized Bill or Receipt must contain-patient's name, diagnosis, care of service provided and dates therof, and the charges. Drug receipts must show the name of the patient, the name of the pharmacy, the prescription numbe date filled, and the amount charged.

In the case of insulin, no prescription number is required, but the receipt must specify "INSULIN".

"RECEIPT" means a statement of services, or supplies, furnished and charges, therefore that have been marked "PAID" and signed or initialed, by the source of care, or his representative. Similar evidence of payment, such as a cancelled check, or money order stub, may be enclosed with an itemized bill that has not been receipted to establish proof of payment.

CHAMPVA stands for Civilian Health and Medical program Veterans Administration.

Senator invited to fishing meet

STUART-The fourth annual Offshore Small Boat Tournament of the Stuart Sailfish Club is set for June 15-16, and U.S. Senator Lawton Chiles has been invited to fish in the tournament.

A club spokesman said that the Florida senator not only has been invited to fish in the tournament, but to inspect the St. Lucie Inlet channel, which is "lost, strayed or stolen."

While shoaling of the inlet has been called "worst ever" by local fishermen, club officials point out that the entrance to the ocean is perfectly safe for the up-to-25-foot boats which will be used in the tournament.

Another record turnout of fishermen is expected. Last year about 400 anglers were in the tournament.

CAMP OUT–Thirty 3rd and 4th students of Dean Baumgartner at Jensen Elementary School camped overnight at Viking Park a[illegible] to the school last Thursday night. Baumgartner organized and supervised the camp out which also included 3 brave girls with the 27 boys. Above Scott Burrows, Randy Robinson and Val Gardenas look through the window of a junk VW door they found in the woods next to the park.

Howey Academy enrollment nears end

HOWEY IN THE HILLS–Only two weeks remain for students to enroll for full academic credit in Howey Academy's 2 week summer session, June 15-August 2.

This is educational preparatory school in central Florida is offering another two-part recreation-academic program which was so successful with students in grades 4-12 last summer.

Because enrollment is limited immediate application is urged by Howey officials.

While students seeking up to two units of scholastic credit must enroll by June 15, those who wish less credit or who want only the recreation and sports program may still enroll after that date.

Students interested only in recreation and sports may enroll for as few as five weeks and will take advantage of all Howey facilities including horse stables, private beach, and art center. Professional coaching will be available on team sports, tennis, golf, sailing and horseback riding, with a student horse show and art show scheduled at the conclusion of the summer program.

Any part of the recreation program may be combined with academics by students who need individualized instruction for remedial, make up or extra credit work.

For more information contact Howey Academy's Public Relations Department 904-324-2701.

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C.–Navy Chief Hospital Corpsman David H. Saidler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Saidler of 122 Linda Drive, Jensen Beach, Fla., reported for duty at the Marine Corps base in Camp LeJeune, North Carolina, May 16.

IN APPRECIATION

We wish to express our eternal thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kind expressions of sympathy with flowers, Mass offerings, and cards for our beloved wife, mother, and grandmother, who passed away recently.

We also wish to thank Father Morgan and all the priests of St. Joseph Church, and The Holy Name Society. Last but not least, Father Sullivan and the "Good Works Council" of St. Martins Parish in Jensen Beach for their kind assistance in our behalf.

Al Kerekes and Bernice and Dan Carlock and Grandchildren, Danny, Floyd, Michael and Lisa

Pinochle Club

PORT ST. LUCIE–A highly successful season of play will end Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the CESA building as the PSL Pinochle Club terminates [illegible] until the first week in September, exact date to be announced later.

President Fred Siddons and his [illegible] will host the final session, which will be marked by a social hour with refreshments. All who have taken part in play during the season are urged to attend.

Winners last Friday night were [illegible] double-deckers, Fred Siddons with a score of 1028, and Jim Landis, who scored 558 points in single-deck play.

One year trial

PSL garbage collection is competitive operation

PORT ST LUCIE–The City Council last Tuesday agreed trash and garbage pickup in the city would thrive better operated on an open, competitive, license basis.

"It has been my feeling that competition brings the lowest rates and the fairest type service," Mayor Larry Kimmel said. "I think this method will serve us well."

Garbage pickup will be operated on a license basis without restriction by the city at this time. The standard fee is $50 per year.

"We will try this method for a period of one year and if at that time we find the service is not adequate the city will re-consider a garbage collection franchise."

General Development, who has offered the service in the past to certain areas, has issued a letter to residents that such service would be discontinued effective July 1.

Presently there are three garbage contractors operating within the city.

The largest is Milton's Garbage Service operating in the area of North Port. All County Sanitation handling the Country Club area and a third carrier St. Lucie Sanitation.

Russell Wolf of Westmoreland Boulevard asked the Council if those residents being served by GDC would find themselves temporarily without service while they negotiate service with an independent carrier.

"I am certain that if All County won't start your service immediately, Milton will be only too glad to come down from North Port to cover the area," Kimmel answered.

Following several weeks of discussion and meetings with the various collectors, the city decided against the franchise method which had been considered.

When the three collectors met with the council during a workshop session, there was little constructive information from them regarding the franchise method. Each collector came up with his interpretation of what constituted trash and garbage, where such pickups would be made, curbside, front of garage or to the rear of the house, and with different prices attached to each location.

By the time the discussion was ended, the mayor said he was beginning to visualize a price list resembling a railroad time schedule.

"If there is one thing which the council has agreed on, it is that the City is not interested in going into the garbage collection business," Mayor Kimmel said.

...e station bids undergo review

ST. LUCIE–Bids for the new ...ucie fire station were opened ... at the City Hall.

...ms bidded on the project ...re considerably higher than ...ated cost of construction, ...ey Kimmel said. ...der for the station was Don ...onstruction from Ft. Pierce with a figure of $138,005.29.

Subsequent bids were received from B&B Construction Company of West Palm Beach at $155,500 and Hatcher Construction Company with $163,410 was the third bidder.

The city had originally estimated the cost of the building between $80,000 and $100,000.

The bids will now be received by a committee consisting of the architect C.W. Everett, the city council, and the Ft. Pierce-St. Lucie County fire district board.

"The review committee will have thirty days to negotiate this matter and see what can be done to bring the cost more in line," Mayor Larry Kimmel said.

...uncil denies public comment

ST. LUCIE–Mayor Larry ... out off public discussion on ... reading of the controversial ... of the golf course project of ... Development Corporation at ... meeting Tuesday.

...ntry club homeowner Lee Johnson rose to ask a question during the introduction of the reading of the ordinance. Mayor Kimmel refused to allow him to speak, saying that he could discuss the subject after the council meeting was over.

Under a newly applied rule to conduct city business without interruption, the council then heard the first reading of the ordinance, and passed the reading without discussion.

When the official city council meeting was adjourned, Kimmel asked Johnson to speak, but the homeowner said, "It's too late now." He had intended to speak to the issue of the ordinance.

"All I wanted to do was simply inquire whether or not they were legally required to advertise the zoning ordinance for a period of thirty days, and also find out if those property owners within 500 feet of the golf course had been notified of the new zoning ordinance. After the first reading was passed, and the meeting adjourned, my inquiry would have been rather useless," Johnson told The Mirror after the meeting.

Johnson also mentioned that later in the city council meeting the mayor "did see fit to carry on a conversation with Russell Wolf with regards to the garbage collection in the city. I don't see how that could have been any more pertinent than the question they wouldn't let me ask."

The legality of silencing public comment in a public meeting has not yet been questioned, but the new format follows the pattern of not providing a public forum for issues before the city council. Previously, the city council allowed residents of the city to comment on just about every issue that arose.

The move to eliminate public comment on business before the council was designed to stop the resident discussions with General Development officials at the meeting, on matters not considered city business. Mayor Kimmel told those attending the meeting recently that they could take up their personal matters with GDC representatives after the meeting so that the city business could be expedited.

This is the first instance of public participation having to do with a subject under consideration by the council being stifled.

...anizational meetings of the ...ve been held the past few ...ter all the governmental agencies approved COG.

Powers has emphasized at various meetings that the council will not be a law making agency, but rather will meet on an attempt to bring the counties together to discuss common problems.

The veteran Martin County commissioner has cited the cooperation in planning for development of north Martin and south St. Lucie counties.

His four points of immediate concern is to deal with population density, water and sewage, and inter-governmental communications and roads.

Powers first proposed COG last December and received the backing of the major governmental agencies of the two counties.

Junior women baby-sitting clinic

PORT ST. LUCIE–A Red Cross babysitting clinic, sponsored by the St. Lucie Junior Woman's Club, will be held at the North Port St. Lucie Marina from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. on June 17, 18, 19, 21, and 25. Registration is at 9 on Monday, June 17, with class to follow at 9:30. Registration fee is $2.00.

Girls and boys of middle and high school age are invited to attend.

The purpose of the clinic is to provide girls and boys with the confidence a sitter needs to safely and effectively care for young children. Those satisfactorily meeting the Red Cross requirements of the course will be awarded certificates.

The Indian River Community College's community services department has arranged for a qualified Red Cross instructor to teach the classes.

FT. PIERCE–The annual installation banquet of Indian River PBX operator's club held Sat. May 25 at Tony Marco's Inn with Mrs. George (Jean) Anderson, president, PBX Clubs of Florida, as installing officer. Mrs. Anderson is from Orlando. Officers for the 1974-75 term included president, Mrs. Ann Reusz; Vice President, Mrs. Bob (Louise) Pendavaris; Secretary, Mrs. Arthur (Kay) Rodgers; Treasurer, Mrs. George (Marie) Power.

Each year PBX operators (private branch exchange telephone operators) throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico celebrate the first full week in June. This year June 2-8 has been proclaimed International PBX Week.

The PBX Club of the Indian River district FL. takes in three counties - Martin, St. Lucie, Indian River - is an affiliate of PBX clubs of Florida and International PBX clubs. The purpose of PBX clubs is to upgrade the status of the private branch exchange telephone operator. PBX clubs are not just social clubs but have many projects as a civic organization throughout the year. The PBX club of the Indian River district celebrates its tenth year as a club with members made up of working, retired or ex switchboard operators.

PSL anglers announce June program

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. Lucie Anglers Club will meet Tuesday, June 4, at 7:30 p.m. at the Port St. Lucie Marina.

Fred Dushanek of the Snook Nook in Jensen Beach will be the guest speaker. His talk is to be on "Trout and Snook Fishing in the Indian River."

Tuesday, June 18, same time and place will be awards night. Thirty five awards will be presented at that time for the free fishing contest which ends May 31.

PSL Blood Pressure Clinic

PORT ST. LUCIE–A free blood pressure clinic is held every Thursday from 10 a.m. to noon in the CESA building.

Queen to be crowned June 8

PORT ST. LUCIE–Candidates have been selected by the various Little League teams to compete in the Little League Queen Contest sponsored by the Port St. Lucie Little League Women's Auxiliary.

Nine young lovelies, little league age, will compete for the crown. Votes will be tabulated in terms of a penny a vote.

Each candidate made her own containers which are being carried by members of the representative teams. A picture of the candidate and the team name appears on each of the canisters.

The Queen will be crowned during ceremonies held at Sportsmen's Park in Port St. Lucie on Saturday, June 8.

Although prizes will be awarded to each contestant, there will be special prizes for the Queen and the top three runners-up.

The nine candidates representing their respective teams are Lou Ann Householder, PSL Juniors; Mary Heinold, Optimist; Kathy Bondesen, Homeowners; Kathy Bartz, Bucket Mart; Mary Kelly, South Side Kiwanis; Wendy Weil, East Coast Lumber; Jennifer Schaefer, Holtol Tractor; Kathy Catenaci, Kiwanis B League; Kelly Bailey will represent the Optimist B League.

Votes will be counted June 7 by Delores Ramondo and Joyce Wardrop, according to Joyce Inaogna, chairman of the Port St. Lucie Little League Women's Auxiliary.

Proceeds from the contest will be used by the Little League Association for the purchase of uniforms, equipment and field maintenance.

Gale, Grossnickle Griffin are tennis champions

PORT ST. LUCIE–Gale, Grossnickle and Griffin captured the women's club tennis championship at the St. Lucie Hilton Resort last week.

Lucha Gale became the singles club champion by defeating Brenda Grossnickle in the finals 6-2, 6-1. According to Mario Obando, head of the St. Lucie Hilton Country Club tennis program, the 15-year-old Brenda gave a closer match than the scores indicate.

In the semifinals Lucha defeated Tina Renaldi, also 15-years-old, in a very close match, 6-4, 6-4. While Brenda defeated Gabriela Blundun 6-4, 7-6.

In the doubles events Brenda Grossnickle and Tami Griffin scored an upset by defeating the team of Lucha Gale and Kathy Breeden, 6-3, 6-3.

The men's singles and doubles are currently underway with final play scheduled for June 3.

Mixed doubles will start June 6 and conclude June 8.

The top Juniors, boys and girls of the club are eligible to participate in these matches, according to Obando.

South Bend boosts Jensen turtle time

JENSEN BEACH–The turtle egg-laying time at Jensen Beach got a big boost from the South Bend (Ind.) Tribune's Action Line column recently, according to a clipping sent in to the Mirror by Mr. and Mrs. R. Rothy, winter visitors who stay at Riverside Village.

The article follows:

TURTLE ROOKERY TIME–This is the season for sea turtle rookery in Jensen Beach, Fla. When we heard that, we immediately contacted the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce. Action Line doesn't like to see anyone get rooked. Not even a turtle. But the Chamber patiently explained to us a rookery is a place where turtles lay their eggs. They also said May is the first month of the annual Turtle Watch there. From about this time through August, on any given night, scores of female sea turtles can be seen invading the beaches of Hutchinson Island, off Jensen Beach. They swim hundreds of miles to reach that particular beach, and as far as man knows, always have. The 200 to 2,000 pound mama turtle leaves papa about a half mile off shore and makes her way to the beach alone to lay up to 300 eggs. Throughout that exhausting process, believe it or not, she sheds tears big enough to fill a teaspoon. IF she could know what the fate of most of her young will be, we'd have to believe those are tears of frustration. Between the efforts of raccoons, pelicans, and man, only a few baby turtles will survive. But, as mama turtle carefully covers her enormous nest, Jensen Beach observers tell us she seems to think it's all worth while.

Art festival is Saturday

STUART–The first art festival at the Monterey Plaza will be held 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sat., June 1. Professional artists from five counties will display their work.

Officers of the Monterey Plaza Association were held recently and elected Herb Anstett as chairman.

Other officers are Charles Salisbury, vice chairman; Patrick Hurley, treasurer; and Lindsay McGrath, secretary.

VACATION–A seven-day cruise to San Juan, St. Thomas and Nassau on the T.S.S. Mardi Gras of Carnival Cruise Lines was part of a recent C... vacation for Mr. and Mrs. William Andrews of Jensen Beach.

harter clears House

SEN BEACH—The incorpor- charter for the City of Jensen ed cleared the Florida House of sentatives last Friday, May 24, oved on for final passage in the shers approval is expected this State Rep. Charles Nergard ed Tuesday.

gard said the House approved Bill No 4634 – Jensen Beach – with no major changes.

state legislator who represents sen Beach area said the only es as recommended by the staff more to clarify and improve the ge of the charter."

said that he gave the senators – Russell Sykes, Tom Johnson and Phil Lewis – who represent the county copies of the bill in hopes that they could push it along for passage before the final legislative day which is Friday.

When the House Committee on Community Affairs made some recommended changes, Nergard noted that the suggested amendments were mostly "verbiage" and that when the House passed the bill it was "intact."

He cited an example of the verbiage change. Section 4.03, the word "or" was changed to "and."

Passage of the bill by the House climaxed months of work by a Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee headed by Art Hansen, and the many meetings were attended many times by Rep. Nergard.

The bill presented by the Legislative Delegation prior to the Legislature session, and it received the unanimous approval. The delegation is composed of the three senators representing this county, Nergard and Rep. Jack Poorbaugh.

The charter requires a referendum which is slated for July 16. Absentee ballots will be available for voters who will be out of town that day.

UF leaders set work session

JENSEN BEACH—Officers and directors of the United Fund of Martin County will hold a worksession Monday night at the conference room at Martin Memorial Hospital. UF president Guy Cromwell said Tuesday.

Cromwell, hospital administrator, was recently elected UF president, succeeding Ken Ferguson.

Serving with Cromwell will be Buck Mauldin, vice president; Ed Strickland, secretary, and Mrs LaVaughn Tilton, treasurer.

Cromwell said that the officers and directors will consider plans for next year's campaign, what agencies should be included in the fund and funds to be distributed to the agencies.

This year's drive netted about $81,000, short of the $86,000 goal.

"MR. MUSIC"—Lee Keener, formerly of Las Vegas, provided the entertainment for the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce's annual dinner held Friday night. Keener is also known as "Mr. Music" and now resides in Ft. Pierce.

ARTICLE XIII
TRANSITION AND PRESERVATION

13.01 Names to be placed on ballot for first municipal election. Any person having the qualifications of an elector under the general laws of the State of Florida governing elections, and who shall have registered to vote in accordance with the ordinances of the county and who shall have filed with the supervisor of registration a statement of intention, in such form as it now exists for the county elections not less than thirty (30) days nor more than forty five (45) days prior to the date of the first election in accordance with Article 4.02 shall be placed upon the ballot of the first election as a candidate for the office proclaimed to be sought in the statement of intention filed by the candidate. The names of all candidates for the office of mayor shall be placed upon the election ballot first and in alphabetical order. The names of all candidates for council seats shall be placed upon the election ballot in alphabetical order for the seat to be voted upon. Council seats shall be listed on the ballot in numerical order. Candidates must comply with Article 5.02, 5.04 and 5.05. Run off election ballots shall be in the same form as prescribed in Article 4.05.

13.02 All county ordinances and resolutions which are in force in the incorporated territory shall remain in full force to the extent that they are not in conflict with this charter, or future municipal ordinances.

13.03 All rights, claims and contracts shall remain in force except as modified pursuant of this charter.

13.04 All provisions of this charter shall be considered separate and severable. If any article, section, sentence or word invalid, the other provisions shall not be affected. If the application of this charter to any person or circumstances is held invalid, application of the charter to other persons and circumstances shall not be affected.

13.05 The City shall levy during its initial year of operation an ad valorem tax of three (3) mills on the municipality on non-exempt property.

13.06 Schedule. (1) This act shall become law when approved by a majority of those electors voting in the election to be held for the first special election to be held July 16, 1974. The supervisor of elections of Martin County shall conduct the election and certify the results.

Road and bridge fund is cancelled by City

PORT ST LUCIE—The City's general fund suddenly became approximately $5,000 richer last Tuesday when the Council passed a resolution cancelling out the Road and Bridge fund.

In presenting the resolution to the Council, City Attorney Rupert Smith explained that a court decision issued nearly four years ago stated the county did not have to levy such fund. Since that time St. Lucie County has not levied the fund and consequently the City of Port St. Lucie's road and bridge account has remained at a standstill.

Until now the city has been keeping the two separate funds, but the passing of Tuesday's resolution will enable the balance to be transferred to the general fund.

Betsy Horner to head PSL Jay-C-Ettes

PORT ST. LUCIE—At their April meeting in the home of Mrs. Robert Post, the Port St. Lucie Jay-C-Ettes elected officers for the coming year.

Betsy Horner was elected president, Judy Windt, vice-president, Joyce Randall, secretary, Judy Kissel, treasurer.

Liboria McDonald was chosen state director, and Butch Post was selected to serve as a director.

Any one interested in Jay-C-Ettes, contact Judy Windt at 878-2513.

"Ray of Sunshine" publisher passes away

BY ARLENE WOODRUFF

HOBE SOUND—Miss Alice M. Paul 92 of Spring Lake Manor Nursing Home formerly of 12 Cheers Lane Jensen Beach, passed away Saturday May 25, at the nursing home

She was a native of Woonsocket, R.I., and had been a resident of this area for the past twelve years

She is survived by six brothers and sisters, all of Woonsocket

Graveside services will be held at Union Cemetary in North Smithfield R.I. with the Hall Funeral Home of Woonsocket in charge Johns Funeral Home took care of local arrangements

Miss Paul was a 1902 graduate of Benbrook College in Woonsocket with a Bachelor of Arts degree

She was a member of the Jensen Beach Community Church and of the Church Aid Circle

In 1951 she was instrumental in starting the first Senior Citizens group in R.I. and was past president of the Golden Age Club of the Y.W.C.A.

Fresh from college she went to work in the Superintendent of Schools office and later spent 30 years as a teller with the Woonsocket Trust Company

In latter years, Miss Paul published The Ray of Sunshine a monthly newsletter for and about the residents of Spring Lake manor

Never wishing to be cited for her accomplishments she always said "It was something to do" When asked to do something her response was "I promise I'll do my best"

That was her creed and her was of life

WINNER—Mrs. Dale M. Hudson is show with the two trophies she won this past week end, while attending the 80th annual convention of the Florida Banker's Association held at the Americana Hotel, Miami Beach, Florida She received the large trophy for winning the 1974 Florida Banker's Association Mixed Doubles

Mrs. Hudson won the smaller trophy for being the Runner Up in the 1974 Florida Banker's Association Womens Singles

PENNY'S CORNER
Grilled Steak au Poivre
The success of this popular steak depends on cracked pepper ground pepper will ruin the dish To crack your pepper, put the pepper corns into a paper or plastic bag and crush them with a rolling pin or meat mallet Or buy cracked pepper in any supermarket As for quantities, experience will tell you after you have tried the recipe, you might like less pepper or you might like more
Makes 6 to 8 servings
1 sirloin steak, about 2 inches thick, weighing about 4 pounds
2 tablespoons cracked pepper
Salt
1 Wipe steak with damp paper toweling Using your fingers and heel of hand press half of the pepper into each side of the steak Let stand at room temperature for 1 hour
2 Grill about 5 inches from hot coals, about 8 to 10 minutes on each side for medium rare Sprinkle with salt when removed from heat
Note — For a showy touch, flame the steak Transfer the steak to a hot platter Warm ¼ cup brandy, pour over steak, ignite

Announcing The Simple Interest Loan.

Now you can pay less for the money you borrow to buy a car. Only at Sun Bank.

With the Simple Interest Loan, Sun Bank introduces a major breakthrough in auto financing.

It's the loan that lets you control the amount of interest you pay. Because the interest is figured daily.

With Simple Interest, you pay interest only on the money you use for the time you use it.

And there are two ways you can save on the amount of interest you pay.

Either by making a payment before your regularly scheduled due date. Or by paying more than your regular payment.

The earlier you pay, the more you save.

And you can pay off the loan with no prepayment penalty.

But no matter when you make your payments, you'll always know where you stand. Because we send you a quarterly statement that shows how much principal and interest you've paid so far. And the balance due. (Similar to the statement you get with a charge account.)

And our statements serve as an exact record of your interest payments for tax deduction purposes.

So send in the coupon or ask your Sun Banker about buying a car with a Simple Interest Loan. The loan that lets you save money when you borrow.

dward Geary, chairman of Martin County ion who was elected COG chairman, said Martin ucie counties and the City of Port St. Lucie need to the "save-the-savannas" issue that has y died at the state level.

Mayor Robert Hall noted that the savannas are ate concern to his government. He said he will xpression of views from other city commission d agree, however, that the COG should be with problems of Hutchinson Island since the part provides water sold on the island by Southern ties.

ntatives of four of the five governments in COG the organizational meeting.

Mayor Charles Padrick was absent because of injuries sustained in an automobile accident earlier Thursday.

The council is the result of months of effort by Martin County Commissioner Timer Powers to bring together the heads of two counties and three major cities in an advisory group capacity.

McCain noted that his own government did not want another level of government. "We are not looking for another layer of government and I think most of you will concur with that. I'd like to assure that this council's decisions are all to be subject to the ratification of our individual governing bodies and that the council will work whole-heartedly with the respective governments," McCain said.

Mayor Kimmell also pressed for a written devinition of the council's objectives to limit the group's power.

Dr. Geary and Powers both pointed out that the council would not be another layer of government, but a "positive tool" which provides the governmental agencies with a means to solve area of common concern.

McCain and Kimmell also suggested that the council might study the possibility of standardizing building codes between the two counties and the possibility of organizing inter-county bus service for the elderly.

Elected with Dr. Geary as COG officials are Mayor Padrick, vice chairman, and Mayor Hall, secretary-treasurer.

The next session of the council will be held June 27 at Port St. Lucie City Hall beginning at 7:30 p.m.

"We want to give the people the plus and minus of incorporation," he continued.

Frank Wacha, former Martin County Commission chairman who acted as an advisor to the Incorporation Committee, is expected to preside at the first meeting, according to Hansen.

"We want to tell the homeowner what taxes he can expect to pay if Jensen Beach is incorporated," Hansen said.

He explained that the homeowner would probably pay about 20 percent of the city's expenditure with other revenues coming from state and federal revenue sharing, franchise tax and businesses.

"We expect to have a speakers bureau and have persons available to explain the tax forms of homeowners," Hansen said.

"We will continue to have meetings until the July 16 vote, and applications for absentee ballots are now available at the supervisor of elections office in the courthouse," he said.

Parallel parking

Commercial gets traffic lanes

JENSEN BEACH--One phase of traffic plan recommended by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Traffic Committee a year ago to improve the Commercial Street traffic flow was implemented by Martin County Road Department last week.

"The chamber is very pleased that the county has followed our recommendations," Art Hansen, chairman of the Chamber's Traffic Committee, said.

The improvements referred by Hansen includes making five parallel parking spaces on the north side of Commercial Street immediately west of the Indian River Drive intersection.

Parallel parking made it possible for the county crews to establish two 12-foot lanes for east bound traffic -- one lane for left turns and one lane for right turns.

Beginning of the two separate east bound lanes, marked with turning arrows, are at about the Mirror building, some 80 feet from the Indian River Drive intersection.

"We believe the two lanes will serve as a temporary traffic relief," Hansen said. "But if it doesn't help the situation next winter, the committee will proceed to make further study."

He said that a sign should be erected at the intersection informing motorists that a right turn on a red light is permitted.

Also, Hansen said that a sign should be erected on Indian River Drive, re-routing 707A along Ricou St. "This would take some of the traffic off Commercial St.," Hansen observed.

The Chamber's traffic plan was presented by Hansen to the County Commission in May of 1973.

At the May, 1973 meeting, Ransom Clifton suggested that the commissioners consider a one-way traffic plan for Commercial and Ricou streets.

While county engineer Ken Ferrari later in the year recommended a one-way traffic plan, with traffic control signals at four intersections of Commercial, Palmetto, Ricou and Indian River Drive, Hansen reminded County Commissioner Ross Philbrick at an April, 1974 chamber meeting that his committee had not recommended a one-way traffic plan.

In January of 1973, The Mirror began a series of articles pointing out the need for improving traffic flow on Commercial Street, recommending elimination of some angle parking to make another traffic lane.

PAINT JOB--A member of the Martin County Road Department paints new lines on Commercial Street at Indian River Drive. The county road crews painted new lanes and turning arrows and designated five parallel parking spaces on the north side of Commercial Street.

PARALLEL PARKING--There are now five parallel parking spaces on the north side of Commercial Street, permitting three lanes of traffic at the Indian River Drive intersection -- one west bound lane, and left turn and right turn lanes for east bound motorists. Martin County Road Department crews did the painting of parallel parking lines and turning lanes and arrows last week.

House of Refuge restoration set

JENSEN BEACH--The House of Refuge on Hutchinson Island may be restored to the way it was at the time of its construction nearly 100 years ago, the chairman of the restoration committee said.

Mrs. William Clark Shepard, chairman of the committee whose responsibility it will be to raise $50,000 -- half of the amount needed for restoration -- said that the museum's nomination for listing on the National Register for the Preservation of Historic Sites has been accepted.

Acceptance of the nomination permits the Martin County Historical Society to request matching federal funds for the restoration of the old building.

"The plans will, briefly, return the structure to the way it was at the time of its construction, nearly 100 years ago," Mrs. Shepard said.

"Downstairs three walls will be replaced, dividing the space into an old-fashioned kitchen with a fireplace, a living room, and a bedroom. Upstairs the open dormitory will be reconstructed, fitted to accomodate 18 shipwreck survivors, including women and children."

The south building, now used for exhibition purpose was built in the mid-1930's as living quarters for the Coast Guard officer in charge of the station. It will now be made into living quarters for the museum keeper and his wife.

The boathouse will also be restored to its original status, and it will be used as the compound's administration building.

"Inasmuch as restoration does not include such things as providing electricity and air conditioning for the preservation of the collections on exhibition, these items must be taken care of by the Historical Society," Mrs. Shepard said.

"An interesting fact," she added, "is that the exterior of the House was originally siding, not shingled, so in order to obtain the government's matching funds, the present shingles must be removed and the outside walls covered with siding."

The original construction cost of the installation was $2,900, she said. The present value of the installation is $1.5 million.

Members of the Jensen Beach and Stuart chambers of commerce and other civic leaders will serve with Mrs. Shepard on the committee to raise $50,000.

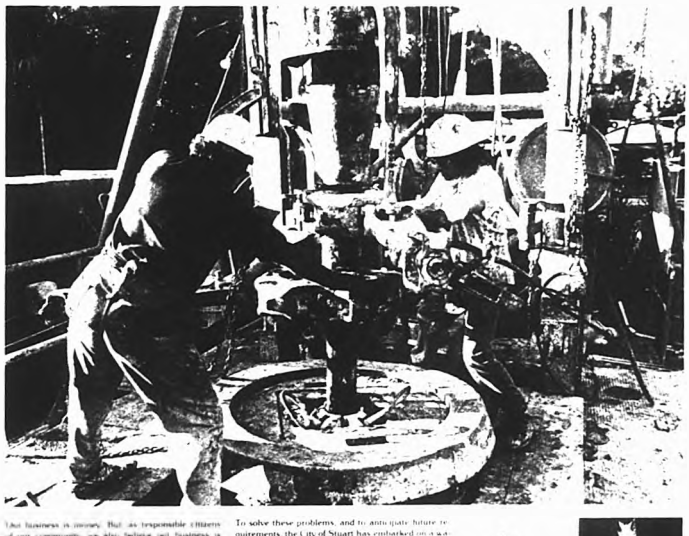
In Martin County...
We're helping it happen!



That business is necessary. That as responsible citizens of our community, we also believe our business is service.

In a rapidly growing area such as Stuart, being able to rely on an adequate water supply, to meet tomorrow's needs as well as today's is vital. Just as important is the need for the capability to dispose of our wastes in an efficient, non-polluting manner.

To solve these problems, and to anticipate future requirements, the City of Stuart has embarked on a water and sewage construction and expansion program that is unequalled in Martin County's history.

At First National, being selected as escrow and paying agent for this $8.7 million project was a welcome task. We were delighted to put our expertise in financial matters to work to help such a necessary, endeavor.

For those projects that make a positive contribution First National is always anxious to be of assistance. Helping to make the right things happen in Martin County is just one way that we can serve you and our community.

At First National, we're proud to call ourselves "the bank that grew up with Martin County."

We are also proud of the role we have played in that growth and are dedicated to continuing our policy of "Helping it happen" for Martin County's future.

BY SHARYON TILTON

The ladies craft class is growing. Rachel LaChyse is teaching basket making with pine needles and raffia. Some of the ladies are planning a sewing class soon.

Those present for crafts Monday were Gwen Wiegand, who acted as hostess, June LaVigne, Sue Mays, Ann Wilson, Kate Ramsey, Noni Crossett, Rachel LaCluyse, and Sharyon Tilton.

A Father's Day pot luck dinner is being planned with Rachel LaChyse named as chairman. The men will be in charge of the games that follow.

The ladies are planning a birthday celebration at the beginning of every month to honor those having birthdays in that month.

June LaVigne has a slimnastics class which meets every Wednesday morning in the recreation building. Class is followed by a swim in the pool.

A poker party was enjoyed Friday night by Stoo and Kate Ramsey, Camiel and Rachel LaCluyse, Harry and Noni Crossett, George McPherson, and Don Wiegand.

THANK YOU

The Disabled American Veterans wish to thank the people of Jensen Beach and Stuart and the workers for their generous support during their Forget-Me-Not sale. Your support is greatly appreciated. All the money from the sale is used to aid disabled veterans in Martin County.

Judge orders driving class

STUART–Martin County Judge David Harper announced the start of a defensive driving school for traffic offenders, citing the sharp increase in the number of traffic accidents in the county this year as the reason for his decision.

The school will be operated by Martin County Deputy Hal Enders.

"In 1973, 23 people died on the county highways," Judge Harper said. "So far this year, we recorded 21 traffic deaths."

Beginning in July, the judge says he will select the worst traffic offenders and order them to attend eight to 12 hour defensive driving course at Martin County High School as part of their punishment.

"Instead of just taking a guy's money, we want to teach him how he should drive."

The offenders will be fined in addition to the driving course. Those refusing to attend the class will be found in contempt of court, the judge said.

Director candidates nominated

PORT ST. LUCIE–A ten-member slate of candidates has been selected for the upcoming election of five new directors to the governing board of the Ft. Pierce-St. Lucie County Chamber of Commerce, according to an announcement by C. of C. President Richard Stebbins.

The candidates are: William Braun of First Federal Savings and Loan Association; Realtor Stan Brouillon; Feg Grose of Interstate Moving and Storage; Delores Konow of Seaside Apartments; Grover Leslie of Indian River Uniform; Gloria Mack of Moore's Appliances; Don Raffey of White's Tackle Shop; Robert Rodman of Ocean Village; Astor Summerlin of Summerlin's Baywood Fishery and Tom Wagers of Artco Supply Co.

The candidates were selected by a special ad hoc committee chaired by Chamber President-elect Mike Jeffries. "We believe the committee has come up with an excellent group of people who represent most all aspects of St. Lucie County's business community," commented Jeffries.

The time schedule for the forthcoming directors' election calls for ballots to be sent to the membership in mid-June and counted around July 1. The five winners will be announced after the ballots are counted, and the new directors will be installed at the Chamber's annual meeting in September.

JBWA met June 3rd

JENSEN BEACH–The Jensen Beach Women's Association met at the clubhouse on Sugar Hill Road June 3. Elsa Rohadanz, Grace Lewis, Margaret Raush, and Genevieve Heasley served as hostesses.

Marion Green and Margaret Reeser were received as new members.

President Hilda Costello read a letter from the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce asking the club to participate in the Fourth of July celebration to be held on the causeway. The following ladies volunteered: Ivy Wahl, Fay Gay, Marie Miller, Hazel Houghton, Mike Friedrichs, Edna Bassett, and Hilda Costello.

The committee in charge of the salad bar luncheon, to be held on June 17, will meet at 11 a.m. June 10 at the clubhouse.

E Fucher, president and chief ...utive officer of the Miami-based ...ensive developer stated that in ...ition to the new appointments, C.C ... senior vice president – ...mestic Development, has been ...ned expanded responsibilities to ...de future land acquisition and ...ning, utilization of resources, and ...rdination.

...ss, as will head the company's ... Division with complete ...nsibility for the sale and ...uction of housing at the firm's ... Florida communities. He was ...erly president of Levitt Residen... Communities, Lake Success, N.Y. ...ition he held since 1971. Ross ... Levitt in 1966 and served in ... positions including regional ...ion manager of its 1000-house-per ... Philadelphia region, and senior ...sident of staff for Levitt and ... Prior to 1966 he headed his own building company on Long Island.

"General Development has a tremendous potential housing market which will play an increasingly significant role in the company's future," Ross said. "With the large number of homesites already sold and our ability to reach potential new residents throughout the country, we will continue to see a marked growth in our housing production."

As president of Levitt Residential Communities, Ross was responsible for the total development and construction of 26 residential communities in eight regions covering the Eastern and Midwestern United States as well as Canada. He holds a degree in civil engineering from the University of Michigan.

Avella, 38, will head General Development's Financial Division as well as such administrative areas as customer service, personnel, purchasing, management information systems and corporate planning.

Prior to joining General Development, Avella was vice president – finance and Administration of the Larwin Group Inc. of Beverly Hills, California, a subsidiary of CNA Financial Corporation, a position he held since January, 1973.

He had previously served as vice president – operations Leasco, and vice president – Planning and Administration of Levitt and Sons, Lake Success, N.Y.

Before joining Levitt in 1969, he held various management positions with IBM Corporation. Avella earned his BBA and MBA degrees from the City University of New York.

Crump was elected senior vice president to head the Homesite Development Division in October, 1973. He joined General Development in 1969 as manager – Land Development Construction.

The Homesite Development Division of the company is responsible for the complete planning and preparation of all property prior to home construction. This includes the construction of paved streets – 2,500 miles of which are already complete – community service and recreation amenities such as hotels, golf courses and country clubs.

Crump holds a degree in civil engineering from Virginia Military Institute. He is a member of the Florida Engineering Society, American Society of Civil Engineers, National Society of Professional Engineers and the Florida Society of Land Surveyors.

Millage rollback opposed

JENSEN BEACH–Residents of Jensen Beach and Port St. Lucie were urged to write Governor Reubin Askew asking him to sign the millage rollback bill now on his desk. Rep. Chuck Nergard, who was one of the strongest proponents of the bill in the recent legislative session, urged the letter writing campaign after the St. Lucie County Commission voted to wire Askew asking him to veto the bill.

"People who feel that there should be relief from taxation by the county commissions and the school boards should write to the governor asking him to sign the bill," Nergard told The Mirror.

The bill requires that the county roll back millage gained due to increased assessments, offering a limit increase of ten percent, and an emergency five percent.

The bill as passed contains a statewide referendum, which Nergard believes would pass "by nine to one."

He said, "Unless I am badly mistaken, the people want restraints, and I hope that the governor gives the people the chance to vote on it."

Volunteers needed

PORT ST. LUCIE–Robert Roden has been named Coordinator of the C-F "Breath of Life" Campaign in St. Lucie County, according to Franklin D. Kreutzer, President of the South Florida Chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation.

Volunteers in Port St. Lucie are needed to help with a public education and fund raising campaign to support research and care programs for children affected by serious lung-damaging diseases. These include cystic fibrosis, severe asthma, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis and childhood emphysema.

Planning and recruitment of volunteers will continue during the summer. Anyone wishing to help should contact Mr. Roden at 286-4491 evenings or weekends, or by mail at P.O. Box 1946, Ft. Pierce, Fla. 33450.

Cystic fibrosis, an incurable genetic disease, is inherited when both parents carry the recessive gene for C-F. It is believed that one in twenty persons, or ten million Americans, may carry the C-F gene, usually without knowing it. Current research funded by the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation is seeking a practical test to identify these carriers.

This marks the first year of real activity by N.C.F.R.F. in St. Lucie County. While Roden has been involved in education and community-related activities in New York State and Ft. Pierce and belongs to the local Knights of Columbus, this is also his first year of trying to organize the C-F fund raising and public information program, and he will be needing the cooperation of many volunteers within the community, especially during the summer. The campaign itself will culminate in September with a house-to-house appeal.

Shufflers begin summer play

PORT ST. LUCIE–Shuffleboard tournament director Jud Reading announces the Saints and Sinners summer tournament got off to a good start last Tuesday evening. There were 44 members playing in the matches. But you Sinners had better come out as there was a surplus of five Saints," he added. The first evening's score: Saints 7, Sinners 9. Reading hops all who want to play will report promptly at 6 p.m. for roll call. Anyone wishing to play should contact him.

Jeannie DeKeulenaere reports the Petticoat League opened Thursday evening with 32 members playing. Three games of 12 frames each are played. The individual winners of each game have their cards punched. At the close of 13 weeks of play the first four winners will receive trophies.

Many ladies received 3 punches Thursday, and it promises to be a good contest right down to the finish.

President Ali McDonald reports players are thoroughly enjoying the new shelters recently erected. Sufficient donations to clear the payment of these has not been received. Any contributions will be gratefully acknowledged.

PARTICIPANTS–Grace and Bob Cousins were among the boaters to enjoy a recent boat a rade held by the Port St. Lucie yacht Club. Grace is the club secretary.

Project rezoning is denied

STUART–A rezoning request which would have allowed development of a 50-unit condominium apartment which would be part of a total 480 unit project in St. Lucie County was denied Monday by the Martin County Planning and Zoning Commission.

The request for rezoning of about six acres of land from R1A to R3A submitted by The Rivers Corp. was unanimously rejected by the commission because of lack of a adequate road access, and the fact most services for the project would come from Martin County.

Present road access is over West Murphy Road through the Palm City area.

Petticoat League director hospitalized

PORT ST. LUCIE–Mary Connolly our director for the Petticoat League is in the hospital but hopes to be home in a few days. All are happy to hear of her fine recovery.

During her absence, Jeannie DeKeulenaere is acting as director.

...have been assured that ...te action will be forth...White said.

...homeowners association has ...aken this opportunity to ...te their request, which was ...y made in April 1970, for ...control signal at the inter... of RioMar and U.S. 1.

Anticipating the traffic pattern which will result when the St. Lucie Shopping Plaza opens later this year, White emphasized the urgent need for traffic control.

Reporting on the progress which is being made, White said the four-way stop at the intersection of Floresta and Prima Vista will be a matter of immediate installation.

"The four-way control is an interim measure to be followed by a traffic control signal," the homeowner official added. "It will, also, probably be necessary to install another signal at the intersection of Airoso and Prima Vista once the new elementary school is opened."

"Traffic control in this area has become an emergency situation," White said. "Prima Vista Boulevard is overloaded already, and few seem to realize the number of new homes which are being completed behind the church area and in Floresta Pines, not to mention the opening of the elementary school — probably in January."

Bike paths in the area is another major concern of the homeowner's group. Just last Tuesday, White appeared before the city council to seek their support for improvements along Prima Vista and bike paths.

Mayor Larry Kimmel suggested a feasibility study of paving the normally dry drainage ditches for use as bike paths.

Although the local authorities are in complete agreement the bike paths must be resolved immediately, the exact location of such paths is yet to be determined. White expects considerable controversy on the matter.

"The funding is not too important," he said, "because that is very obscure at the present time. It simply boils down to the fact that if the state doesn't fund them the county must.

Contract awarded

City agrees to five-year term on fire station

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE–Within two or three weeks it should be evident to the residents of Port St. Lucie that a new fire sub-station is on the way.

Don Willems Construction Company was awarded the contract by the City Council last Friday morning during a special session of the council. Willems was low bidder with $138,005.29.

At the same time the city agreed to a five-year repayment plan by the St. Lucie Fire Board in lieu of the three-year term which had originally been set forth.

Willems told the Mirror Friday afternoon that, depending on the survey, construction could start within a week to ten days.

"I do not anticipate any problems with the shortage of building materials," he said. "I haven't had any real problems within the past couple years and by using my same sub-contractors, which I feel is the secret to success, I think everything is going to go along smoothly."

"Matter of fact, I am looking forward to building the second station," Willems added optimistically.

The station will be located on the southside of Port St. Lucie Boulevard just west of Morningside intersection.

The City of Port St. Lucie furnished the necessary land for their station, agreed to pay for the construction of the station, furnish a rescue vehicle and handle the construction bids and contracting to get the station in the south county community.

The construction costs are to repaid to the city in five annual installments, interest free, commencing one year after the station is in operation.

The City of Port St. Lucie and White City are involved in a race to see which station can be the first completed since the Fire Board agreed to put into operation the first of the two stations completed. The remaining site will sit idle for one year because the board claims it does not have the money to put two fire stations into operation during the same fiscal year without a tax increase.

The site for the proposed White City fire station was approved in April. The two-and-a-half-acre tract is located on Midway Road and Rigina Drive about a half-mile east of U.S. 1.

Other bidders on the Port St. Lucie station included B&B Construction Co. $155,500, and Hatchco Construction Co. with a high bid of $163,410.

Savannas, island

COG elects leaders

JENSEN BEACH–The organizational meeting of the St. Lucie River Council of Governments (COG) was held last Thursday night at Martin County courthouse, and the first order of business for the new two-county council apparently will be preservation of the savannas and future development of Hutchinson Island.

"The subject of Hutchinson Island is broad enough to bring everyone in," Mayor Larry Kimmel of Port St. Lucie observed.

Dr. Edward Geary, chairman of Martin County Commission who was elected COG chairman, said Martin and St. Lucie counties and the City of Port St. Lucie need to revitalize the "save-the-savannas" issue that has apparently died at the state level.

Stuart Mayor Robert Hall noted that the savannas are not of prime concern to his government. He said he will seek an expression of views from other city commission members.

Hall did agree, however, that the COG should be concerned with problems of Hutchinson Island since the City of Stuart provides water sold on the island by Southern Gulf Utilities.

"I personally feel that the majority of our board would like to see the savannas studied to see to it that it remains in the hands of local caretakers and not the state," St. Lucie County Commission Chairman W.R. (Willie) McCain said.

Representatives of four of the five governments in COG attended the organizational meeting.

Mayor Charles Padrick was absent because of injuries sustained in an automobile accident earlier Thursday.

The council is the result of months of effort by Martin County Commissioner Timer Powers to bring together the heads of two counties and three major cities in an advisory group capacity.

McCain noted that his own government did not want another level of government. "We are not looking for another layer of government and I think most of you will concur with that. I'd like to assure that this council's decisions are all to be subject to the ratification of our individual governing bodies and that the council will work whole-heartedly with the respective governments," McCain said.

Mayor Kimmell also pressed for a written devinition of the council's objectives to limit the group's power.

Dr. Geary and Powers both pointed out that the council would not be another layer of government, but a "positive tool" which provides the governmental agencies with a means to solve area of common concern.

McCain and Kimmell also suggested that the council might study the possibilty of standardizing building codes between the two counties and the possibility of organizing inter-county bus service for the elderly.

Elected with Dr. Geary as COG officials are Mayor Padrick, vice chairman and Mayor Hall, secretary-treasurer.

The next session of the council will be held June 27 at Port St. Lucie City Hall beginning at 7:30 p.m.

...G to consider area jail

...ES BEACH–The possibility of ... a jail to serve the four-county ...pected to be discussed at the ... June 27, of the Council of ...ents (COG).

...Chairman of Martin and St. ...mmissions agreed that a jail ...ounties of Martin, St. Lucie, ...iver and Okeechobee would be ...em to study."

...ce County Commissioner Ed ...uggested the possibility of ...a four county jail, or sentence ... the commission meeting.

...cie County Commission... ...n W. McCain, who also is a ... of COG, said that "a four ...ail would be a good subject for ...study."

Dr. Ed Geary, chairman of the Martin County Commission and chairman of COG, agreed with McCain.

Commissioners point out that tighter state controls of local jails mean counties will have a tough time raising money to meet state jail standards.

"I can see the day when we'll have to have a professional warden," Enna believed. "These people (state officials) are talking about making jail staffs professionals. All the counties are going to be in the same boat – it's going to take a lot of money."

Dr. Geary pointed out that it will cost more to maintain the jail, and that an area jail would be more feasible.

SHUFFLER SHADES–The new shuffleboard shelters have been completed at the Port St. Lucie Marina. The shelters were erected by East Coast Aluminum. The $4,200 tab was shared between the Shuffleboard Club and General Development Corporation.

'Fun and Funds' cruise shaping up

PORT ST. LUCIE–The "Fun and Funds" cruise, sponsored by CESA Volunteers, will leave Miami July 28 for Nassau and Freeport on the brand new S.S. Freeport, returning on July 28.

Arrangements have been made for round trip bus transportation to Miami and back home.

To make reservations, call Ruth McDonnell at 878-3137. Reservations are available to all price ranges.

"Early reservations will insure having the kind of accomodations you prefer," Mrs. McDonnell said this week.

Proceeds from the cruise are earmarked for the CESA Building Fund.

Mid-term opening hopeful for PSL Elementary

...rything looks like it is starting ... to on schedule finally," ... added. "Once they are ready ... wall panels, that building ... move right along at a rapid ... Although the bid on the new school was 300 days, Seelinger said he did not anticipate it would take that long.

"I feel like the schedule will be met sometime around January – that is what we are shooting for now," he said.

"There were a number of preliminaries to be taken care of, and we were faced with a lot of problems in getting things rolling, but after talking with the architect, contractor and our own maintenance man here, I feel that things are looking pretty good at this point," he said.

The superintendent said that construction didn't seem to be pushing quite as hard as it had been two or three months ago. He attributed this fact to the high interest rate and went on to say that with the building slack in the area people are now looking for work.

"They have jacked the interest rate up so high now that, by golly, it is just tough for people to get enough money together to do business," he said.

The completion date for the new school, which Seelinger admits is more or less a guesstimate at this time, has been tentatively re-set for January of a mid-term opening.

The new school, located on a 15-acre site which was purchased from General Development Corporation for $3,000 per acre, is situated north of Sportsman's Park on Prima Vista Boulevard.

The total bids for both phase one and two of the building, excluding equipment and property, is $1,458,735.

When completed the building will be capable of housing 750 students from Kindergarten through the fifth grade.

The new school in Port St. Lucie will serve the rapidly growing southern part of the county and is the first school to be built this far south.

Youngsters compete for little title

PORT ST. LUCIE–Another old fashioned Fourth of July celebration is being planned at the Port St. Lucie Marina by the local Optimist Club.

The Opti-Mrs. Club will sponsor the Little Miss and Little Mister Port St. Lucie contest.

Any Port St. Lucie boy or girl between the ages of 4 and 6 years is eligible to enter the contest. Entry forms are available at the marina on Prima Vista Boulevard. Entries must be submitted at the marina on or before June 22 according to Twink Bazan, club secretary.

Winners of the contest will ride in the July Fourth parade and will receive both trophies and prizes.

Only one entry per child will be permitted and the winners will be drawn on June 22.

The day's festivities will get underway with a parade starting at the library and ending at the marina.

It will be a day of games, fun, food and festivities. There will be game booths, an egg throwing contest, a dunk tank and many more activities still in the planning stage.

Oughterson takes honors in Hilton tennis

PORT ST. LUCIE--The St. Lucie Hilton Country Club had its first annual club championship tennis tournament with the finals in the mens and womens played Sunday, June 2.

Head tennis pro, Mario Obando who directed the tournament said, "I was very pleased with the excellent quality of tennis displayed and the number of close exciting matches."

Bill Oughterson, Stuart attorney, won the mens single championship by defeating Dr. James Grosanickle, Stuart surgeon, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4 in a very close and hard fought match in the finals. Bill reached the finals by beating Pete Silvero in the semi finals.

Dr. Grosanickle beat Scott Oughterson, the number one seeded player in the other semi final 7-6, 6-4.

The father and son team of Bill and Scott Oughterson won the men's doubles title by defeating Dr. Grosanickle and Pete Silvero in the finals in a see saw battle that went 7-6, 1-6, 6-1.

Lucia Gale won the women's singles championship by defeating the number 3 seated 13 year old Brenda Grosanickle in the finals. Mrs. Gale reached the finals by defeating another excellent 13 year old, Tina Rinaldi. Miss Grosanickle upset the number two seated player, Gabriela Blundun in the other semi finals.

Brenda Grosanickle and Tami Griffin of Ft. Pierce won the women's doubles championship by beating the number one seated team of Lucia Gale and Kathi Breeden 6-2, 6-2 in the finals.

The St. Lucie Hilton Country Club is having its mixed doubles club championships this week with the finals being scheduled for Sunday, June 9.

Obando stated that the team of Scott Oughterson and Lucia Gale are the number one seated mixed doubles duo and that Dr. and Brenda Grosanickle are seated number two.

AWARD WINNERS--Wall plaque trophies were presented to two of the top winners of the annual St. Lucie County Fishing Tournament sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce. Pictured receiving the awards are 8-year-old Allen Goodwin of Linwood Ave. for the most outstanding youth catch, and Bruce Greenwood of Midway Road for the largest sailfish. Making the presentations is Sonny Kohlegard, center, chairman of the Chamber's Fishing Tournament committee.

Yacht Club elects

PORT ST. LUCIE--Bill Holzapfel has been unanimously elected fleet captain of the Port St. Lucie Yacht Club.

Along with assuming the duties of the fleet captain, Holzapfel will also serve on the board of directors. He will be assisted by Earl Grattage. Holzapfel will fill the unexpired term of Mike Grossman who recently resigned due to business pressures.

Both men are familiar with their duties in the club. Holzapfel was the first commodore of the Yacht Club and Grattage was the first fleet captain.

Commodore Fred Johnston spoke briefly to the club members on reports that have been received about speeding boats causing wake on the river near docked boats. He urged member to be considerate and pass the word to other boaters in the area. He also mentioned reports of some boaters littering the waterways with empty drink cans.

Several new members were welcomed into the club during the May meeting by John and Florence Schwartz and Vince Metziger the welcoming committee.

David and Helen Holtzbaugh, Willard and Milly Green, Jean and Charles Riley, Howard and Adele Klark were among those welcomed.

Rosa and Fred Oelkers were also accepted as new members although they were not in attendance.

Frank Jones and John Schwartz were the winners of the 50-50 raffle conducted by Doris Hinchcliffe.

Guests attending the meeting included John and Jo Parise, Frank and Emma Jones, Jim and Kay Poleski and Stacey Griffin.

Post 126 commander makes report

JENSEN BEACH–In reviewing the activities of the past year, Jensen Beach Legion Post 126 observed:

"We close our year with a great deal of accomplished, but did not reach our total goals."

Virgil Rathbone will be succeeded as commander by Richard Neeson at the installation of officers June 29 at the Crow's Nest Restaurant.

Rathbone lists each month's activities in his "commander's report," beginning with the Sept. 10 meeting. The post is closed July and August.

In September, the members voted to allow the State Unemployment Bureau to use the post building on Savanna Road. This saves a trip to Ft. Pierce for local residents.

In October, the speaker was John Busby, an American Legion commander in Palm Beach, was the speaker.

The post donated its share of money and helped the children's Halloween party at Langford Park during November. Also, $25 was donated for the Jensen Beach C.U.B.S. football dinner.

Also in November, there was a report by the boy and girl staters in conjunction with Stuart Post 62.

The Christmas party was held in December.

A $200 emergency fund for veterans in distress was established in January, and a trophy was presented to Walter Woods, the boys state representative.

The post reached 100 percent paid-up membership in February. The post also voted to donate a television set to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Miami; donated $50 to the Tampa V.A. Hospital; donated $100 to the U.S.O.; donated $25 for the Jensen Beach Elementary School fourth grade picnic; and sent a check for 16 school award metals and certificates. Cost and presentation of the medals is shared by the Stuart post.

In March, the post members voted to donate all proceeds from the four Saturday night bingo games to Jensen Beach Volunteer Fire Department, Good Samaritan Volunteer Ambulance, Jensen Beach C.U.B.S. and Martin Memorial Hospital. Also, new flag poles were purchased for Boy Scout Troop 811, and boy state representative Woods was chosen as an exchange student to be sent to Japan, and received $150 for expenses.

The District 12 commander, James Christensen, and district officers visited in April, and Chin Chew Get, former commander of Post No. 85 of Miami Beach, visited.

District officers include Bob Bechard, district committeman; Lee Tate, finance officer; James Hill, adjutant; and Gertrude Hill, historian.

In May, checks for all bingo nights in April of $622 were presented to designated organizations, plus $40 to Rio Fire Department.

The Memorial Day services were held in May at All Saints Cemetary.

Rathbone acknowledged the dedication and efforts of Bill Herzog as finance officer and bingo chairman. The commander noted that he did not miss a Saturday night calling bingo in four years.

Mr. & Mrs. Al Enos are in Michigan now. After a leisurely trip through the southern states in their new travel trailer, and are enjoying the company of their children and grandchildren. Jo wrote that it had rained nearly every day since they arrived, but that there were showers they have been gathering mushrooms

Bill and Fran Gehres, accompanied by their two poodles, left their home here for the North, but anticipate returning sooner than usual

Arthur and Mona Wendt are on the road to Detroit, Michigan, to visit with relatives and friends before proceeding on to their woodland cottage in Canada. Their American flag waving in the breeze in front of their mobile home, of course, been taken down, but will be a welcome sight once more when they return.

Mike and Walter Reeder sent a note saying they had gotten to their home in New Jersey safe and sound, in their new Dodge Home purchased here a short time before they left. They planned on taking their daughter and her family in it when they go to the mountains for the Memorial Day holiday. Alice also said her mother, Grace Stelser, Aunt Alice and Uncle Harry Eastlack – all of whom spend the winter here in our park – are fine and very busy putting their grounds in order

Don and Ethel Phillips are travelling in upper New York State by way of AmeTrak to spend the summer. The evening before they left Esther and George Grindley hosted them for dinner

Edna May went to Martin Memorial for tests, but we expect her back home shortly

The class in Conversational Spanish will meet at the home of Carrie Worrell on Wednesday morning. We will miss Ethel Phillips, but she has promised to study diligently while she is away.

Jane and Marvin Winninger have been entertaining their sister-in-law, Mrs. Janie Wininger and her daughter Jeanetta of Clayton, Indiana

Lois and Don Winninger have as guests Lois' brother Alfred Hoggs his wife Judy, and little daughter Tanya from Greenwood, Indiana and last week it was Lois' mother, Mrs. Martha Monaghan, also from Greenwood and her brother Ernie from Orlando Florida

Edmede Winninger got news that her daughter Hilda Bell, of Brownsburg Indiana had broken her foot so Edmede flew up to care for her son-in-law and three grandsons, Michael, Ricky, and Jonathan.

Babe Adamson had a freak accident and injured his foot while working at Outdoor Resorts, but is getting aroundon crutches

Venture Out News Notes

By Willard Auch

We are getting several new travel trailers in the park. The Fitzageralds are sporting a new Concord and Dr and Mrs. Mariana a new Tara

Have you noticed the new sign on Venture Out Ocean acess - "183 feet ocean front for sale"? Maybe we will have another new high rise

Alice and Bill Nickau arrived at their Linville, North Carolina based Island Harbour lot to 36 degrees nights and lots of rain. But for the most seems they drather be here. Bill had ordered two B gravel by phone from here for their driveway and found golf ball size instead. This does not make for happy Airstream locating on the side of a hill. Better wait next year. Bill and watch the delivery.

Betty and Jake Davis drove Dab and Sam Tucker to melbourne for their flight to Fresno California to visit their children there. Sam is grumbling about a three hour layover in Los Angeles without even a movie.

Crow's Nest was scene of farewell to the Teners and Tuckers. Left us a little sad, but all looking forward to next fall.

Fran Teser reports

Larry Atkins has had an exciting week. He caught an 18 lb. snook in the surf, and we all know what a feat that is. Also he played good samaritan recently in Walton. Larry was on his way to golf outing and catch some other when he found a man lying on the trail, exhausted and with a cut foot. Larry and the other man were able to get the injured man to his car and sufficiently revived to carry on himself.

Many of the people remaining here are looking forward to Jai Alai at Ft. Pierce now that the new frontion has opened. Get together for a winning night up there and have a lot of fun with your neighbors.

The park may have thinned out but it has been very pleasant for those of us who remain. The pool has been perfect – clean, the right temperature, uncrowded. Several of the poolside country club set have been around for the daily swim and conversation. Recipes and fish stories still being swapped

Jessie Shaver reports:

Because of wind and threat of rain the cook-out on Monday was moved to Theo Slagle's porch and carport. It was a great success and was a farewell party for the Middletons, the Teners, and the Tuckers who are leaving us for most of the summer

Theo's guest Maurice Rosenberry was approved by the group

A letter from Jean and Gil Van Willigen says they had a lovely trip home. However, they have had cold weather and frost. They miss our Florida weather

Also a letter from STan and Barbara Clark saying they were leaving June 5 for Scandinavia to be gone until June 28. They will return to Venture Out in October

Betty and Make Davis invited the Shavers and Theo Slagle for a trip on their boat and a luncheon at manatee. Such a lovely day for a marvelous trip

JBWA to award scholarship

JENSEN BEACH--The Jensen Beach Women's Association is granting a three year scholarship for nursing which will be presented by Mrs. Mildred Greenland on June 6.

Hostesses for their May 30 meeting were Thelma Cadwell, Mary Weeks, Hulda Tyler, Lois Speck, and Vincie Taylor

The club gave a dessert card party on May 27 with Mildred Greenland, Marion Hill, Maude Peterman, and Jo Bowen as hostesses. Hilda Castello won the door prize

On June 17 the ladies are planning another salad bar luncheon followed by cards. The executive board will have charge of the affair

Landscaping work

JENSEN BEACH-A comprehensive landscape program is under way at the North Stuart Baptist Church on U.S. 1, according to pastor the Rev. Robert E. Lee

He said that the church members have challenged themselves to have grass, plants and trees in abundance on their six and one-half acres of church grounds

Some of the landscaping work includes 23,000 square foot of sod, 62 palms and a sprinkler system has been installed

Plans call for adding 25 or more flowering trees, numerous citrus and about 400 Australian Pines

Andrews points out that if a person trades his car and gets a heavier car, from a compact or "plain" tag to a "W" tag, the person must also pay the difference in the two license plates.

Or, if a car owner trades his luxury car "W" down to a "plain" tag, there is no refund on the license plate, Andrews says.

The price of the new tags will be 25 cents more this year, Andrews says, and the prices include $13.50 for "D" tags, $21 for "plain tags, $28.50 for the "W" tags, and $36 for the "WW" tags.

The present tags expire Aug. 20.

How much will it cost not to incorporate?

BY DICK CAMPBELL

JENSEN BEACH—The cost of incorporation of Jensen Beach was burned around this week by former county commission chairman Frank A. Wacha, who asked, "How much will it cost not to incorporate?"

In an interview with The Mirror, Wacha urged all residents of the proposed new city to "know the provisions of the act to incorporate our area and plan to vote intelligently."

He added, "There is a lot more money available to help incorporated areas than there is to help unincorporated areas."

The former county commissioner said that persons desiring to know what incorporation will cost them should bring their tax bills for 1973 to the incorporation public hearing Friday at the Harry Hoke Memorial Hall, above The Mirror office on Commercial St.

"All who wish to know how much it will cost them, if anything, should bring their last tax bill to one of the meetings being held on incorporation, and your tax will be computed. I believe those over 65 who will be entitled to the new $10,000 homestead exemption will be pleasantly surprised," he said.

The incorporation will levy a three mill tax for city operation, which will mean a 1.8 mill increase in taxes for the average homeowner. But that figure does not include funding available only to municipalities according to Wacha.

"If we adopt the act of incorporation on July 16 there will be enough new revenue provided to employ a five man police force and there will be additional funds available to increase street lighting in the area by 25 percent.

"A recent release on crime in Martin County shows that crime has increased 47 percent in the county. How much it costing not to have extra police protection and additional street lighting?" Wacha asked.

He also touched on the applications of large land-owners for annexation into the City of Stuart, saying the same was possible for areas in Jensen Beach for annexation into the City of Stuart and the City of Port St. Lucie.

Wacha said that many services could be provided through District A county taxes by increasing the millage, but said, "the problem is that the only income the district would receive would come from the tax increase, while the incorporated city would receive funds from state and federal revenue sharing, funds from the 02 cents of cigarette taxes and we will receive from the county one-half of the road tax collected in our area, and one-half of the amount over $1.50 of the cost of trailer tags sold in our area.

The eight-time county commission chairman, who was finance officer of the county for many years, also pointed to revenue from franchise taxes of Florida Power and Light Company, Southern Bell and Martin County Cable Co.

"We will get these additional funds if we incorporate, for disbursement within our city limits. So, how much will it cost not to incorporate?" he said.

Wacha pointed to the voice of the people in planning, zoning and growth of the area, and the voice needed in what happens to the Jensen Savannas, and said that the people should have a say in when or where central sewer and water will be installed.

"I believe that if each of us is honest withourselves, we will find there are more unknown answers about future costs for the unincorporated area than there are for the incorporated area," Wacha said, adding, "Jensen Beach will be that kind of city that those who will actively participate in it want it to be."

Kiwanians vote to stay Kiwanis

JENSEN BEACH—The Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club has decided to stay the Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club.

Members agreed Monday to remain in the fold of Kiwanis International after several board meetings and member discussion periods concerning the future of the club.

Former Kiwanis District Governor Bill Oughterson, Stuart, one of the founders of the Jensen group, is working with new secretary Tom Wyatt, a past president to get the club records up to date and a new aggressive program is under way according to Vice President Richard Penick.

Program chairman Neil MacMillan Tuesday announced that Frank Wacha, a member of the Jensen Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee, will talk about the charter incorporation election on July 16 at the next Monday meeting (June 17) of the group.

On June 24, Sen. Russell Sykes will discuss the activities of the Florida Legislature, and bills that affect the community.

Charter signed

JENSEN BEACH—Gov. Reubin Askew Tuesday signed Local Bill No. 4034, the charter of Incorporation for the City of Jensen Beach.

Charter hearing is Friday

JENSEN BEACH—A public meeting on the proposed incorporation charter for the City of Jensen Beach will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday, June 14, at the Harry Hoke community Room on Commercial St.

Art Hansen, chairman of the Incorporation Committee of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, said that the meeting is to "inform the people."

"We want to give the people all the facts about incorporation," Hansen said.

"We will talk about the sources of revenue, ordinances regarding planning," he said.

"We want to tell the homeowners what taxes he can expect to pay if Jensen Beach is incorporated," he added.

Hansen cited the fact that under the homestead exemption law of $10,000 for homeowners who are 65 years or older and have lived in their home for five years, they would pay less taxes in an incorporated area than they are now paying in a special taxing district.

He explained that homestead exemption does not apply in special taxing districts but would apply in a municipality.

112 FIT students to receive degrees

JENSEN BEACH—One hundred and twelve Florida Institute of Technology students will receive degrees at commencement at 4 p.m. Thursday, June 13. The commencement program will take place in the chapel of FIT's Jensen Beach campus.

Commencement speaker will be Harmon W. Shields, executive director of Florida Department of Natural Resources.

Dr. Jerome P. Keuper, president of FIT, will preside at the ceremony, and Ernest E. Tealey, dean of FIT's School of Marine and Environmental Technology here, will make the introduction.

Presenting degrees will be Dr. John E. Miller, vice president for Academic Affairs of Florida Institute of Technology.

Twelve students will receive bachelor of technology in oceanographic technology; 28 students will receive associate of science in ocean technology degrees; 13 students will receive associate of science in marine science technology, and associate of science in ocean electronic technology degrees will be received by nine students.

Among the graduates will be Mark Douglas Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton S. Perry of St. Lucie Boulevard, Stuart, who will receive the degree of associate of science in marine science technology with distinction.

At FIT's main campus in Melbourne, 316 undergraduate and graduate degrees will be conferred at 4 p.m. June 14.

Dr. Frank Loucks Hereford, Jr., president-elect of the University of Virginia, will receive an honorary doctor of science degree. He will, in addition, give the commencement address.

Merchant leadership is established

JENSEN BEACH—The issue of who should be a member of the Merchants Division of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce was decided at Monday's meeting of chamber directors.

Other guidelines for the division were not resolved, and will be discussed further at the merchant's meeting Thursday, June 20, at 7:30 p.m.

Membership in the merchants group should consist of merchants who have a county retail license, it was decided.

Clarence Rydell, chairman of the chamber committee which organized the Merchants Division, pointed out that more merchants had attended each of the previous meetings.

"New people are coming out at every meeting," Rydell said.

There was discussion, but no decision made, on whether or not a member of the Merchants Division should be a member of the chamber.

Joe Bumbera, who served with Rydell on the comittee, noted that some merchants, because of some past differences with their hometown chambers, didn't want to be a member of the chamber.

"They have a negative attitude toward the chamber," Bumbera noted.

Buck Mauldin, however, said he believed division members should be chamber members. He said that the division members could hold some fund raising drives, and that would work against the chamber.

Mauldin said that some of the dues of the Merchants Division should go to the chamber.

By-laws and guidelines are expected to be set at the next division meeting.

Rec group is considered

JENSEN BEACH—Organization of a Recreation Assoc. is being considered by Jensen Beach residents, according to Don Wilkie.

Wilkie announced plans for the proposed recreation group at Monday night's meeting of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber director said that representatives of the North Miami Beach Optimist Club met with Jensen Beach area parents last Saturday night at Langford Park.

Another meeting will be held this Saturday night at the park, according to Wilkie.

He said that the purpose of the association would be to organize recreational activities.

"Operation of activities is getting too large for a few volunteers," Wilkie said.

Summer recreation program is scheduled

JENSEN BEACH—A supervised summer recreation program at Langford Park in Jensen Beach will begin June 17 and continue through July 26.

The activities at Langford Park and the Environmental Studies Center is part of a county wide program which is being sponsored by the County Commission and the Martin County School Board.

There will be planned activities Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. with teachers at each park to supervise the activities.

Activities at Langford Park include:

Monday — a team of coaches will instruct youngsters in sports from 9 a.m. to noon.

Tuesday — open recreation with supervision.

Wednesday—Transportation will be provided to the Environmental center to study marine life, and returned to the park by 2 p.m.

Thursday — transportation will be provided to Martin County High School for gymnastics and wrestling lessons at the school gym. This activity is from 9 a.m. to noon. Classes will be held at the high school gym in the afternoon but parents must provide transportation.

Friday — open recreation at the park.

The Wednesday trips to the Environmental Center will last for teh first three weeks, and the following weeks the youngsters will be transported to Jonathan Dickinson State Park each Wednesday.

Jensen utilities 'opportunity'

PORT ST. LUCIE—The possibility of the establishment of water and sewage utilities service to Jensen Beach was looked on as "an opportunity" by Lou Fisher, president of General Development Corporation.

Fisher made the comment Tuesday at a press conference at the St. Lucie Hilton, and opened the way to the future possibility of private development of utilities in the Jensen Beach area.

Mirror Editor Dick Campbell asked Fisher, president of GDC for eight weeks, if he would consider serving Jensen Beach through General Development Utilities "when the two communities grow closer together and the need is evident."

"I would look on that as an opportunity when the time comes, though I am not aware of any plans at the present," Fisher said.

TUNA IN THE SEA–This trio of fishermen came across some tuna in the ocean last Thursday around noon, 10 miles straight out from the inlet. It's rare for a tuna to be in these parts, and they were mighty proud they were the ones who found it. Standing outside the Bait Box with their catches are, Nelson Justic with a 14 lb. black fin tuna, John Taylar with a 17 lb. barracuda and Chuck Tilton with a 13½ lb. dolphin.

SCHOLARSHIP NIGHT–$120,000 in scholarship pledges were awarded to seventy-two Martin County Hight School seniors last Thursday night. The ninty-two scholarships increased this year's pledges $32,000 over last years $88,000. More pictures will appear in the next issue of the Mirror.

Ideal Sports -'74 National League champions

PORT ST. LUCIE–Ideal Sport Shop wrapped up the National League Babe Ruth championship by defeating Haffield 10 to 3 last Saturday.

Ideal is the first Port St. Lucie team to win a league title.

With a season's record of 12 wins and 4 losses, they hold a 6 game lead over second place Optimists, with 5 games to go.

Contributing to the 12 win-4 loss record was the pitching of Robin Hall and Keith Breedlove and the hitting of Robin hall, Glenn Nergard, and Keith

Mosquito fight is told

JENSEN BEACH–The mosquito battle was told to the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce directors Monday night by the man in charge of the fight.

Using color slides to highlight his talk, Les Scherer told about the methods and machines used in the attempt to control mosquitoes.

Scherer, director of the county's mosquito control and sanitary landfills noted that some developers help create some problems with filling of areas.

"They create a high marsh with their filling of an area," Scherer observed.

He also said that the area south of the Jensen Beach Causeway and west of A1A on Hutchinson island would be a good area for a trash landfill.

"Island developers have to haul their trees and other materials out to the western part of the county," he said.

Scherer showed slides of his department's equipment and its work in ditching and sanitary landfills and the latest in fogging machines.

AAUW OFFICERS–Officers of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) were installed recently. ED GLUCKER

Gluckler to seek re-election

STUART–Stating that he will "stand on my record," Ed Gluckler announced Tuesday that he will be a candidate for re-election as Martin County Commissioner.

"There are many special projects in which I have taken a hand that I'd like to see completed," Gluckler said in announcing his candidacy.

"I would like to see the mini-bus studies reach a conclusion in transportation for either the elderly or the indigent or both, and while state red tape has slowed studies that must be done before positive moves can be made, I do see an end to studies and a decision to be made in the not too distant future."

Gluckler, District 2 Republican, won his seat on the commission two years ago when Bill Owens resigned and made an unsuccessful try for the state representative Jack Poobaugh defeated Owens in the 1972 general election.

Gluckler, former newspaper reporter, noted that he has been accused of being particularly out-spoken in his nearly two years as commissioner.

"I want no one to be in doubt as to where I stand on anything in which the public has an interest," he said.

He said that he would like to see an 18 hole golf course completed, the St. Lucie Inlet project and the Kiwanis Club swimming pool project completed.

Martin County must remain environmentally safe and ecologically productive, aesthetically pleasing and economically sound," he said.

Gluckler said that he has named his wife Patricia, as campaign treasurer, and qualification papers will be filed as soon as practicable after the official filing period which begins July 9.

Cox quits DPC post

JENSEN BEACH–The state Department of Pollution Control (DPC) director for this area has resigned, effective June 21, and will join Telecommunications Industries, Inc., which developed the Indiantown waste water treatment plant.

Al Cox Jr., who has been with DPC for more than three years, said he will be a southeastern states representative of the New York-based firm.

He said he will be a vice president in charge of engineering.

A native of North Carolina, Cox sold antipollution equipment before joining DPC. As a regional director of DPC, his office was responsible for the four-county area of Martin, Okeechobee, Indian River and St. Lucie counties.

DPC regional administrator Warren Strahm of Ft. Lauderdale said he would look throughout the DPC statewide organization to find a replacement for Cox.

Anthony is graduate of banking school

BATON ROUGE, LA.—James C. Anthony III, vice president, First National Bank and Trust Co. of Stuart, is one of 376 bankers graduating from The School of Banking of the South at Louisiana State University. Classes started may 20 and continue through June 1, covering advanced study in all phases of banking, economics, and finance.

The School sponsored by bankers associations of 15 southern states, requires attendance at campus sessions for three years, plus extensive home study work during the remainder of the year. An outstanding faculty of more than 130 bankers, businessmen, economists and educators teach courses dealing with modern bank management, service and operations.

During their three years at LSU, banker-students receive a total of 180 hours of classroom instruction, 30 hours of review, organized evening study and written final examinations at the end of each year. Since the School began in 1950, graduation certificates have been awarded to more than 4,000 graduates.

"This program makes an important contribution toward improving and increasing the type and quality of banking services being offered in the South," said Charles Cassidy, Director of the School. Mr. Cassidy is chairman of First State Bank and Trust Co., Bogalusa, Louisiana.

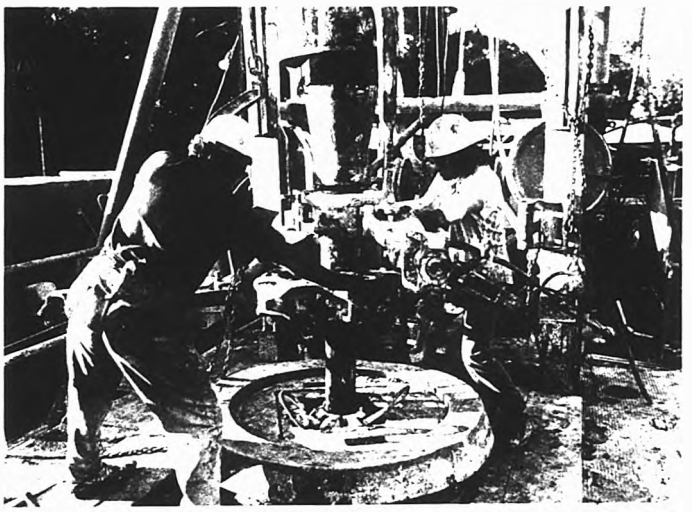
In Martin County...

We're helping it happen!



Our business is money. But, as responsible citizens of our community, we also believe our business is service.

In a rapidly growing area such as Stuart, being able to rely on an adequate water supply, to meet tomorrow's needs as well as today's, is vital. Just as important is the need for the capability, to dispose of our waste in an efficient, non-polluting manner.

To solve these problems, and to anticipate future requirements, the City of Stuart has embarked on a water and sewage construction and expansion program that is unequalled in Martin County's history.

As First National being selected as escrow and paying agent for this $8.7 million project, was a welcome task. We were delighted to put our expertise in financial matters to work to help such a necessary endeavor.

For those projects that make a positive contribution, First National is always anxious to be of assistance. Helping to make the right things happen in Martin County is just one way that we can serve you and our community.

At First National, we're proud to call ourselves "The bank that grew up with Martin County."

We are also proud of the role we have played in that growth and are dedicated to continuing our policy of "helping it happen" for Martin County's future.

Veterans benefits threatened

Elements in this country's political and social structure are doing their best to strip the veteran of his standing as a man who did something for America which others did not do and to relegate him to the status of a welfare case

This attempt is not new We have seen it after each war First it was the two Hoover Commissions Then the Phillips subcommittee report and the Hughes study The most recent attempt was in 1956 with the Bradley Commission recommendations Two common themes run through all these reports There is nothing special about military service in time of war and the veteran should receive social benefits under welfare programs established for all

What is new is that now another such group is being formed, no doubt to reach the same conclusions if judgment can be made from the press release issued by the Twentieth Century Fund which says

"Veterans programs, which cost taxpayers about $13 billion a year will be studied and reported on by an independent 11 member Task Force The study comes at a time when increasing concern is being expressed about the adequacy of benefits for Vietnam veterans

Meanwhile, veterans of World War II are approaching retirement age expected to increase dramatically in the next few years The Task Force will review the extensive network of services for veterans in order to recommend reform, which may entail elimination of some services and suggestions for improvements in others

The Task Force will also examine the politics behind the various veterans programs and evaluate them in the context of social programs that serve the population at large

It is quite clear from the tone of the press release that this foundation has already formed the opinion that the veteran should be placed in the welfare category and the sums spent for veterans programs are solely the result of political pressures brought about by veterans groups

A former secretary of HEW which administers the country's welfare programs is to chair the task force and a former employee of the Bureau of the Budget who was on the Bradley Commission is on the panel Former VA Administrator Wm Driver is one of the other members It appears the veterans can expect warmed over thinking to come up once again with recommendations which would deny the veteran his special status, reduce most programs or place the veteran under some welfare scheme

Two major facts are ignored by all the previous studies The first is that veterans programs are extensions of the cost of war Before a war is undertaken by a nation one question must be answered by its leadership Can the country afford the cost of war?

One of the most important of these costs and the most expensive in dollars is the expenditure of funds for years after a war for the veterans Included are the immediate needs to rehabilitate and retain the man returning to civilian life Then come compensation payments for service connected disabilities The hospital system to take care of eligible veterans is necessary to treat the special needs of veterans all across the country Next pensions for needy veterans Burial benefits and in some cases payments to widows and orphans go on for years

Billions upon billions of dollars hang in the balance when our nation's leaders are deciding to go to war Once that decision is made, there is no escaping the unalterable fact that the commitment has been made and the money must be paid The cost of war do not stop with an armistice, cease fire or the surrender of the enemy

To suggest that because the cost is high the programs should be eliminated reduced or transferred to a welfare status does injustice to the sacrifices made by the veteran To say, as did the Twentieth Century Fund press release, "costs of their benefits are expected to increase dramatically" is to state the obvious It also suggests that the country should change the commitment made to the veteran when the decision was made to go to war

The second major fact overlooked by many is that a veteran is a special person He is different from those who were not called to fight for their country Many attempts have been made by the social reorganizers to gloss over this salient point The Bradley Commission made the statement "Military service in time of war or peace is an obligation of citizenship and should not be considered inherently a basis for future government benefits Our national survival requires that every citizen do his part and make whatever contribution is required of him" This strange philosophy from one of America's greatest soldiers is not only damaging to the veteran by its very appearance, but it is also difficult to understand when you look at the facts

Method of selection service performed change in profession and location physical and mental demands uniform requirements and the fact that the majority of the population did not serve make the veteran a special person The name of the governmental system which brought him into the service indicates that he was selected He had to meet special mental and physical requirements He had to undergo special training He had to leave his family He had to fight And many died early and untimely deaths By no yardstick can a veteran be considered a part of the general citizenry nor should he be lumped with them for the necessary veterans programs

History is filled with examples of our government giving special treatment to those who fought Compensation for the war disabled was well established in Colonial laws prior to the Revolution and was provided for veterans of that war shortly after it started A non service connected pension was given to the needy veteran of the Revolutionary War setting precedent for this program Land was given to these veterans to help them reestablish themselves in their communities after the war The Civil War saw the establishment of veterans preference in employment and the VA hospital system had its birth in the provision of domiciliary and medical care in the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers certificate.

The Gang Snooper reported only two first-timers in attendance. Terry Goldberg originally from New York City, and Vera Abbott, from Arlington, Va.

The Snooper also came up with one birthday, Jean Fordham, 39 years old. A very special male quartette sang the usual birthday song to Jean.

In a complete reverse from the previous session of the Gang, the lucky number 50 was conspicuous by its absence.

The Gang wished a special happy vacation to Elizabeth Ebaner on her expected summer visit to her son in Washington, D.C.

Johnson-Taylor vows

JENSEN BEACH—On May 3 Cynthia Ann Taylor, daughter of Mrs. Bonnie W. Taylor of San Diego, Calif. and Laird Hibbard Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton G. Johnson, Colorado Springs, Colo., were joined in marriage.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Milton Frymire, Sr., at the Jensen Beach Christian Church.

Given in marriage by her brother, Robert Lynn Taylor, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza which featured re-embroidered Alencon lace collar, cuffs, waist, and bodice. Lace also fronted the long bishop sleeves. She wore a crown to which a lace-edged mantilla veil was attached.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Abbott served as best man and matron of honor.

A garden reception was held at the home of the groom following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are presently residing at 42 S. Palmetto Drive, Jensen Beach. They are planning to take a wedding trip later.

The bride is a graduate of Colorado Springs High School and attended Midwest Business College in Colorado. She is currently employed by Carroll and Lowry Insurance Associates, Inc. in Jensen Beach.

The groom graduated from high school in Colorado Springs and is presently attending Florida Institute of Technology in Jensen Beach.

SL drops ty court

BT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. City Council approved the d and final reading of three inces which will abolish the ripal court.

city fathers designated the court in Ft. Pierce to handle all and City Attorney Rupert Smith hat the move by the city council eliminate the possibility of the aving to set up and finance a full ourt staff.

county court has been handling violation cases for a period of ars way, although the mayor hac city judge to enforce city inces.

or Larry Kimmell said he could remember one time when the acted as city judge.

council said plea days and l hearings would still be at Port ie City Hall, but conducted by a judge.

trials will be held at the house in Ft. Pierce.

u Fisher

AVID GOLFER- Wilbur Hyde shot the best game of his career last week while playing the 72 par Saints Course in Port St. Lucie. Hyde, 76, shot one better than his age when he birdied on the 18th hole to come through with a score of 75. He has a 15 handicap.

Nergard: A people's bill

Council opposes millage rollback

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. Lucie City Council voted unanimously Tuesday to support St. Lucie County Commissioners in their request for a veto of the millage roll-back bill.

The bill, as presented by state representative Chuck Nergard, provides that when property is reassessed, millage must be reduced or rolled back accordingly. The bill does without question, restrict local government officials from increasing the property taxes over 10 percent in any one year. There is also a provision included in the bill that millage does not have to be rolled back below a level which would qualify the agency for state and federal revenue sharing funds.

Referring to the bill as being sugar coated, Port St. Lucie Mayor Larry Kimmell said "In my opinion Nergard is saying if you let me run your city business, I can save you money. When is he going to change his mind about saving money and just run his local business?"

"I don't think we would particularly care for Tallahassee running our city any more than the county wants them interfering" Kimmell added.

Kimmell went on to say the City of Port St. Lucie has never increased their millage, they have kept their expenses in line and worked energetically pursued other sources of income.

"We are running a government here that I don't think Nergard could improve financially by such a bill."

In turning the matter over to the council for their consideration Kimmell said. "It is up to you gentlemen what you want to do. If you want outsiders coming in and telling you what you are going to do with your government, support it. If however you want to run your own government and do the right thing for the people that have elected you in your own way, then I would suggest that we support the County Commissioners stand."

An interview with Rep. Nergard following the council meeting revealed intended purposes of the legislation.

All this bill does is to restore what has been general law in the State of Florida for years," Nergard pointed out. That law was omitted a few years back leaving a loophole whereby local governments could push taxes right on up to the ten mill limit without any restrictions what so ever.

The state wide millage roll back bill passed the house by a 15 vote margin, but was defeated in the senate by an 18-18 reconsideration he vote at 4 p.m. on the final day of legislation. Nergard said.

At that point, a local millage roll-back bill was presented and passed covering the counties of Indian River, St. Lucie and Martin.

The bill is subject to voter approval in November so why not give the people who pay the taxes the opportunity to decide whether or not they want to restrict the increase in taxation?"

Everyone I have contacted, excluding some government officials, have favored the bill. I think the people want a restraint placed on increased taxes at all levels of government," he concluded.

There is no question this bill does restrict local government officials from increasing taxes over 10 percent in any one year while the present law has no such restriction, other than the 10 mill ceiling," he added.

Optimistic future redicted for GDC

BY DICK CAMPBELL

RT ST. LUCIE–With over 80 nt of homesites in Port St. Lucie the new president of General opment Corporation is looking to quit to sell land, and he is looking crease community participation DC not curtail it.

s was the optimistic presentation Fisher president of GDC for the right weeks, to a group of ment officials gathered at a reception Tuesday afternoon.

her spoke of the soundness of the , the quality of development three major GDC communities and the high quality of management executives in a relaxed opening speech to the people gathered to meet him.

He projected ten percent earnings above the previous year and spoke of the responsibilities of GDC to the consumer. they ll get their money s worth and more. GDC employees they need an environment to achieve their objectives in satisfaction and rewards. the stockholder needs a fair return and benefits of prudent management and the communities, counties, state and nation we must make all a better place to live.

Fisher said that he would look into GDC participation in hopes for a new professional building for lawyers doctors and dentists in Port St. Lucie and assured his audience that he would continue to support community requests, in every way possible.

Calling Port St. Lucie the model community of GDC where it all came together here. Fisher said the company would be looking to acquire more land, rather than sell any. He said that the present inventory of land for sale would be sold within four to seven years.

Fisher added that GDC would be looking for package plans for financing from local institutions for lot and home sales.

July Fourth plans near completion

PORT ST. LUCIE–Plans for a bang-up Fourth of July Celebration at the Port St. Lucie Marina are nearing completion, according to Al Rokaw coordinator.

This is expected to be the biggest and best ever, said Rokaw. We have several added attractions this year and made an effort to have more competitive activities available.

The Port St. Lucie Optimist sponsored celebration will begin with a 10 a.m. parade from Sportsman Park down Prima Vista Boulevard to the marina.

Fireworks scheduled to start at 9 p.m. will be one of the highlights for the day long celebration.

Beginning at 11 a.m. there will be an afternoon of merriment at the marina consisting of games, contests, dunk tank, food, drinks and much, much more.

A junk car bash has been included this year according to Rokaw.

A white elephant sale will be held in the afternoon. Those having items to donate are requested to call 878-2372 or deliver such items to 131 Naranja Ave.

Following the break from 6 to 7 p.m. there will be an evening of live music for dancing and singing under the stars.

Awards will be made for the three best floats, and the three best individual costumes in the morning parade during the dance and sing along.

Anglers awards night set

PORT ST. LUCIE–June 18 awards night at the Port St. Lucie Anglers Club meeting to be held at the Port St. Lucie Marina on Prima Vista Blvd. at 7:30 p.m.

The awards are given to members who have entered fish caught during the contest period Dec. 1, 1973 to May 31, 1974. A total of 26 prizes will be awarded by Bob Gordon and Ed Buffington.

At the June 4 meeting, the newest anglers to be welcomed into the club as new members were Larry and Shirley Haverstad, Earl and Kay Grattage and Morris and Claire Legg.

Fishermen reported catching snook trout and flounder during the past two weeks. Snook fishing has greatly improved.

Third golf course rezoning finalized

PORT ST. LUCIE–The highly controversial rezoning of the third championship golf course in Port St. Lucie became a thing of the past Tuesday when the city fathers stamped the final approval on the ordinance.

The city council this week approved the rezoning on the second and final reading. The land to be encompassed in the golf course was zoned R-1, while a B-1 zoning was approved for the clubhouse, golf cart maintenance building and parking area.

Day camp at Savanna

PORT ST. LUCIE–The day camp at the Savanna Recreation Area off Midway Road will begin June 17 and continue through Aug. 8 according to the Ft. Pierce-St. Lucie County Recreation Dept.

The program will be set up on a weekly basis and any boy or girl between the ages of 7 through 12 may participate. A child may register for one week or the entire eight weeks.

Presidents to meet

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Presidents Council of Port St. Lucie will meet at the CESA Building on Thursday, June 20, at 2 p.m.

The Council consists of the heads of the various organizations operating in Port St. Lucie and meets regularly on the third Thursday of the month.

Council president Cedric Benz urges a large attendance at this meeting as a matter of importance is scheduled to be brought up. If the head of any organization cannot be present, he is asked to send a representative.

Saints-Sinners answer

PORT ST. LUCIE–Tournament director Judd Reading says, "When the roll is called up yonder, I mean at the Marina Tuesday nights at 6 p.m., you Saints and Sinners better be there. Sixty four members played last Tuesday night and again there were extra Saints.

The Sinners had a winning night, beating the Saints 10 to 6. The present standing is Sinners 19, Saints, 13.

Players were in position on the courts ready to play by 6:30, which speaks well for director Judd Reading and his helpers," reported President Al McDonnell.

McDonnell reminds members that there is still a financial deficit for the new shelters and contributions would be greatly appreciated.

Tournament director Jeannie De-Keulenaere passed out cards to 32 Petticoaters Thursday evening. Players received 1, 2, or 3 punches, depending on games won.

The players voted to begin at 7 p.m. from now on instead of the 6 p.m. starting time originally set up.

Baby sitting starts June 17

PORT ST. LUCIE–A baby sitting clinic, sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club, will be held June 17, 18, 19, 21 and 25 at the Port St. Lucie Marina from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Registration will be June 17 at 9:30, followed by the first class session.

Boys and girls of middle and high school ages are eligible for the clinic.

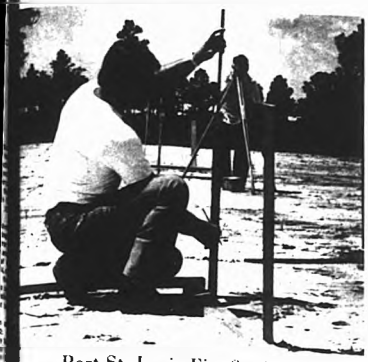
Widespread construction marks rapid growth of Port St. Lucie



Port St. Lucie Fire Station

...nstruction of the new Port St ...ie Fire Station is in the earliest ...ible stage ...esday the survey was being made ...according to Don Willems, the ...tractor. construction will get ...ways within the next week to ten ...days. ...ems was awarded the fire station contract for a bid of $138,000.29.

The station will be located on the southside of Port St. Lucie Boulevard just west of the Morningside intersection.

The contractor anticipates no problems with the building material shortages and has estimated an completion date of four months.

St. Lucie Hilton's Brass Sandpiper

Under construction on the north fork of the beautiful St. Lucie River is the Brass Sandpiper, a combination restaurant, cocktail lounge and coffee shop.

Construction is moving along on schedule, according to Alan Bland, director of Sales at the Hilton complex. A fall opening September or October is anticipated.

The $80 seat combination facility will be one of the most beautiful and modern in the state of Florida when completed.

The coffee shop and cocktail lounge will each seat over one hundred and the dining room will accomodate over 300.

The cocktail lounge and dining room will overlook the St. Lucie River.

Soroptomists receive service award

STUART–A special international award has been given to the Soroptomist Club of Stuart for its outstanding leadership in serving community needs.

Mrs. Eileen Bidwell, president of the Soroptomist Federation of the Americas, cited the Stuart club for the help they have given to the Community Pool Fund. This fund was originated by the Soroptomists in 1959, and the funds received were turned over to the Kiwanis Club to continue the drive. Scholarships given to seniors at scholarship night, the loan basket of toilet articles, games, books and necessary items for needy women prisoners in the county jail, the children's corner with books and toys at the Mental Health Clinic are all examples of the club's community outreach.

In addition the Stuart Soroptomist Club promoted the Martin County Historical Society in 1955 and this lead to the rehabilitation of the House of Refuge.

The Stuart Club is one of 150 clubs to receive the 1973-74 Soroptomist achievement award. They also received it for 1972-73.

Meinzie Swigart, president of the Stuart club, in accepting the recognition paid tribute to the community at large. "We are proud that Stuart has been selected as an example of community spirit and we work to justify it. Each home in the area helped to make our program possible the Sheriff's department, Kiwanis Club, land owners, many others."

The Soroptomist Federation of the Americas is the world's largest professional service organization for executive and professional women. It numbers more than 950 clubs in 13 countries and is one of three federations belonging to Soroptomist International.

Living in Leilani

BY JACKIE SHAW
Tele. 334-3530

Leilani Heights Retirement Park new families this past week. Bringing our total residents up to seven!

Have you noticed the new landscaping around the entrance to Leilani Heights entrance sign? Shrubs and trees are in native vegetation and makes a pretty appearance as one approach. Plans are already in motion to add both sides of the street leading into the development planted with a hedge of pine trees which sounds appealing.

Mail marking go into effect this week. The Jensen Beach Post office is installing a rain protected mailbox system for every family. Every family will have their own box and mailbox with a lid at the top for outgoing mail. The post office is in the process of mapping out convenient locations for these units.

Tour Tuesday of the week in the Recreation's Office and Hall. Those arrived were from the Fellowship and Stuart Congregation on May 7. The Management Team & Staff of the Leilani Mall in Stuart, stage a contest to give lunches and all sorts of goodies away free. (Boy would be there!) Sounds like a fun time for all. The Recreation's have a table reserved for Leilani Pilgrim.

Hope to have a few Pictures of the Leilani Residents Club of Stuart and its Officers in their annual Christmas parade. You're all a great group and popular in that town. (The parade is scheduled for early December with plenty of time to get ready.)

Residents including Gardening and is presently planting a lot of flowers in front of their homes. Looks like a beautiful green.

Happy birthday!

JENSEN BEACH–Happy birthday wishes are extended this week to Hollingsworth Harold Sallier, Mary Harold, Robert Carson and Allan Carson, every happy day to "A" Scott Mayer, Scott Hewes and Lourdes Mayer. Sonny's Wife, Herbert Turbo, Mary Ann Hallowell, Wagner and Marianne Hugh Hamm, Mrs. Barnes, Wesley and Jean Turbo and Jeanne Kemp, Mrs. Harris, Carolyn Hallowell, Mrs. Sam Wagner.

Airman Kemp to get extra training

STUART–Airman Roger A. Kemp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kemp, 1 SW Lemon Ave., is a student for the Airmen Education and Commissioning Program, AECP. Patrick Air Force Base officials reported.

The information office said Kemp will undergraduate training in electronics and engineering.

AECP provides up to 36 months of college study leading toward a degree. Airmen with at least one year of active duty and three more years of college credit are eligible for the program.

Kemp is the son of Mrs. [illegible] of Stuart.

Received a letter from Esther Kaiser notifying us of the death of her husband Charles on May 17, at their home in Clay Center, Kansas. The Kaisers had spent the winters in Florida for the past 12 years in the Jensen Beach area, many of them here in our Park. Mrs. Kaiser's address is 725 Lincoln Ave., Clay Center, Kansas, 67433.

Jane Wininger brought Edna May back home, after a short stay at Martin Memorial Hospital where she went for tests. Good to have you back, Edna.

Darlene Patnaude is sporting an eye patch, necessitated after the removal of a cyst, and although it is uncomfortable, she is doing very well.

Babe Adamson is still part time on crutches, but his foot, injured recently, is making a satisfactory recovery.

Bob McBrier wasn't so lucky while working on an electric table saw last week -- he inadvertently included his thumb with the material he was working on, so Herman Patnaude got him into the Emergency Room where they patched up his hand, but he will be minus a left thumb from now on. Bob has an indomnitable spirit, and was present at Bingo the same night.

Emery Pappal is preparing to join his sister, Mrs. Domine, in New Jersey for a short stay.

Mrs. Rachel Mybi has taken off for Norway, and on her return to this country, her husband will join her in New Jersey, before coming back here. We know Rachel will be happy to visit her native land and to be with family and friends for a while.

The Burtons are occupying their mobile for a short time, and joined all the Wiringers for dinner at the home of Jane and Don, to say "so long" to Devon Wininger, Marjorie and Stephan, who are going to Indiana to live.

Devon sold his home in St. Lucie to Mervin and Elsie Wasmiller, who have been renting the mobile next to ours for the past few months. Elsie is the daughter of Leonard Kiehler, a long-time resident of our Park.

The Ritenours are happy to have as their guest, Thelma Jones, who arrived last week-end.

We all wished Marvin Wininger a very Happy Birthday on June 8.

In spite of departures and severed thumbs, there were fourteen persons present for Bingo last Tuesday.

The Spanish Class met at Carrie Worrell's home, and were vastly entertained by Pepper, the parakeet who ordinarily lives with the Twelts, across the street, but Alice received word that her mother was very ill, and hastened to her side, leaving her pet in Carrie's care. Pepper is a most accomplished bird, and speaks so clearly every word can be understood. He has an astounding vocabulary of words and sentences and just about disrupted the class because we were so fascinated by him.

Geneology Workshop meets June 13th

STUART--The monthly meeting of the Geneology Workshop group will be held Thursday June 13 at 1:30 p.m. at the Conference Room of the Martin County Public Library. All persons interested in family research are welcome to attend. The group is a branch of the Palm Beach County Geneological Society and meets on the second Thursday of each month at the library.

Mrs. Swigart elected convention delegate

STUART--Mrs. Meinzie Swigart, immediate past president of the Soroptomist Club of Stuart, has been elected to serve as delegate at the twenty-third Biennial Convention of the Soroptomist Federations of the Americas, Inc.

The convention will be held in Portland, Oregon, June 30 thru July 4. Mrs. Swigart and her husband leave June 18 to visit relatives in Arizona, California and Oregon on their way to Portland. Mr. Swigart will visit with his sister in Albany, Oregon, while the convention is in session.

Mrs. Meinzie will receive the "That's Who!" club award for outstanding leadership of the Soroptomist Club of Stuart and for serving community needs. The award will be presented at a special "That's Who" luncheon on July 2.

Millie and Gene Gray are back after a month's vacation. Their first stop was in Ohio to visit Millie's mother, then to Kalamazoo, Mich., to their daughter's; and, finally on to Chicago to visit Gene's mother and father. They tell of cold weather even slept in thermal garments, so they are glad to be back in the sunshine.

Heard from Curt Chase reporting his eye operation was a success. He can see to drive a car once more. Now Muriel and Curt are flying west to Utah and Wyoming to take in the Grand Tetons and Yellowstone Park. From there they will go to Colorado to visit their son. In December, they are going to take a cruise out of Port Everglades and will be in the park for a short stay before returning to Mass. for his second operation.

Kay Stephenson wrote saying she hasn't been feeling too well and is taking a series of tests. She still hopes to come up to the park.

Ila Taylor wrote reporting that she and Alton celebrated their 40th anniversary after leaving here, that they were glad to arrive home, but miss Holiday Out.

"Mac" has the laundry-mat open and doing good. The store hours are longer now. Come in, meet Mac, and look the store over.

Now. Pay less for the money you borrow to buy a new car.

Get a Simple Interest Loan. The loan with the low interest rate. Only at Sun Bank.

With the Simple Interest Loan, Sun Bank introduces a major breakthrough in auto financing.

It's the loan that lets you control the amount of interest you pay. Because the interest is figured daily.

With Simple Interest, you pay interest only on the money you use for the time you use it.

And there are two ways you can save on the amount of interest you pay.

Either by making a payment before your regularly scheduled due date. Or by paying more than your regular payment.

The earlier you pay, the more you save.

And you can pay off the loan with no prepayment penalty.

But no matter when you make your payments, you'll always know where you stand. Because we send you a quarterly statement that shows how much principal and interest you've paid so far. And the balance due. (Similar to the statement you get with a charge account.)

And our statements serve as an exact record of your interest payments for tax deduction purposes.

So send in the coupon or ask your Sun Banker about buying a car with a Simple Interest Loan. The loan that lets you save money when you borrow.

TO STUART–Frank Wacha showed Jensen Kiwanians the area of land ly annexed to the City of Stuart east of the former city limits. The former r county commissioner pointed to the loss of land to the proposed city of n Beach as being an increase in taxes.

Wacha explains

200 hear facts on incorporation

JENSEN BEACH–Approximately 200 persons heard Frank Wacha explain facts, figures and taxes of an incorporated area Friday night at the Harry Hole Community Room above The Mirror offices on Commercial Street.

The public meeting was presided over by Art Hansen, chairman of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee.

"I was highly pleased with the turnout," Hansen said following the meeting.

"It was evident that people want to know what the incorporation charter is all about."

Hansen pointed out to the audience this is the first public meeting since the charter became law.

Gov. Reubin Askew signed the local bill of Incorporation of the City of Jensen Beach last week.

Hansen reminded the audience that his committee "will meet with any group who wants to know about the charter."

A meeting is scheduled with the Merchants Division of the chamber Thursday, June 20, and with the Civic Club Tuesday, June 25.

Wacha, former Martin County commissioner for 12 years and an advisor to the Incorporation Committee, said, "I'm not trying to sell it (the charter) and I'm not trying to defeat it."

"Personally I favor it," he added.

Using charts and information obtained from the tax collector's office, Wacha explained what revenues are available to an incorporated area, and gave some examples of what a homeowner could expect to pay if Jensen Beach Rise incorporated.

And the former commissioner emphasized the fact that "there is no way the taxes can double if the area is incorporated."

Also, Wacha pointed out the danger of annexation by nearby cities, taking up vacant lands that could provide tax dollars to the city of Jensen Beach.

In the examples of what homeowners are now paying in taxes and could pay in a city, Wacha pointed that a person could pay less taxes in the City of Jensen Beach. He said that persons are paying Taxing District A millage of 1.2 on the $5,000 homestead exemption which they would not pay in a city.

Sources of income for Jensen Beach Rise area include:

Advalorem tax, $135,000; state revenue sharing, $120,000; franchise tax (Florida Power and Light, Bell Telephone, cable television) $64,000; a cigarette tax $72,000, etc.

Anticipated expenditure pointed out by Wacha includes:

Crime and traffic control (five policemen) $110; fire protection $35; street light $25,000; road maintenance $50,000; administration $25,000.

Wacha estimated that the anticipated revenue would be $128,000 over expected basic expenditures. This would be placed in other appropriations.

The five-man police force was questioned by Alex Wilson, saying that more would be needed for eight-hour shifts.

We wouldn't lose the sheriff patrol or highway patrol of counts and state roads, Wacha said.

Wacha pointed out that in the city the added street lights and more policemen would aid in combating crime, which is up 27 percent.

Wacha noted that while Langford Park is mostly owned it has been maintained with taxing district funds, and that most of the Fire fighting equipment which has been paid for by donations is owned by the Jensen Beach Fire Department.

He also pointed out that nearby towns of Seawall's Point and Ocean Breeze Park do not have sidewalks or central water and sewers.

And he noted that after the first year, the city could go from three mills to the 10 mill cap required by the state.

"Ten years ago," Wacha said, "we were talking about incorporation and this is the first time an incorporation bill has passed so the people can vote on it."

tuart annexation in Jensen hit

NSEN BEACH–County district A will increase in Jensen Beach the recent annexation of land by City of Stuart, and more ation of Jensen area land is ted Frank Wacha told Jensen ans Monday.

cha said that an area of land to st of the former city limits was ed by the city. It includes the own in the map pictured above. ded that a triangle of land north city limits to U.S. 1 was also considered by the city. It is the a proposed shopping center.

the City of Stuart annexes more ore the tax base changes, and increase. The only alternative is poration," Wacha said.

ging the city limits of the ded city of Jensen Beach, Wacha said the limits are the Indian River on the east, the county line on the north, U.S. 1 on the west, and "north of the City of Stuart line, wherever it is at that time."

He said that if the people of Jensen Beach want the town to "stay as it is and don't believe that it is changing every day then I don't have any words for you."

He added that the area was incorporated into the City of Stuart without publicity saying, "No one could read the legal ad and know where the boundaries were."

He outlined the revenue available to the city that is not available to District A, saying that some residents, those over 65, would actually get a tax cut in some instances since city taxes are figured with homestead exemption.

Asked if he has favored incorporation in the past, Wacha quoted from an editorial in The Mirror of June 4, 1964, in which he was quoted as saying he, as a county commissioner, had too much power and responsibility providing city services through district A taxes to the unincorporated area.

"For twelve years, I was the sole dictator of this community," Wacha said.

"Now, there is no one on the county commission from Jensen Beach. There is no one from Jensen Beach on the planning and zoning board. There is no one from Jensen Beach on the Save the Savannas Committee," he said.

atewide softball tourney features 32 teams

SEN BEACH–A marathon of 62 slow pitch softball will get under way Friday night gford Park as the eight annual Beach Softball Tournament at 7:15 p.m.

ches will be played on all three according to Vince Bocchino, ar of the tournament. There e nine games played Friday, 16 games played on Saturday, games on Sunday as the best ll teams in Florida compete for honors.

ots on the third field have been ed so that 11 fields are lighted, ino said. Though there is no sion charge, Bocchino said that pass the hat to raise money to e the $3,000 transformer recently installed for the third field lighting system.

Top slow pitch softball teams are coming from Ocala, Naples, Miami, West Palm Beach, Ft. Lauderdale, Orlando and Cocoa. ptimist Club for Jensen considered by 35 persons

SEN BEACH–A Jensen Beach club is expected to be ized by July 1, it was announced ng a meeting of more than 35 ns Saturday night at the ford Park Fieldhouse.

as the second meeting of Jensen area men who discussed ing an Optimist Club or a ation Association.

majority of the persons attending week's meeting voted to organize timist Club.

Representatives of the North Miami Beach Optimist Club met two weeks ago with persons interested in forming a club or Recreation Association to direct the recreation activities at Langford Park.

To organize an Optimist Club, it must have 35 members, and it was reported that 38 men attended last week's meeting. Also, there must be an Optimist Club to assist the new club in setting up a charter, by laws and procedures for electing officers.

Absentee ballots available

JENSEN BEACH–The procedure for obtaining absent ballots to vote in the July incorporation of the City of Jensen Beach was outlined Monday by Mrs. Sandra Randolph, supervisor of elections.

Mrs. Randolph said that a voter may write her office requesting an absentee ballot application. She said that she must have the person's signature, local address and address the application will be mailed to.

Or, a person can come in to her office and receive an application. An application is needed for a ballot to be issued.

Deadline for receiving an application is 5 p.m. July 15, the day before the election. Absentee ballots can be returned and will be accepted to 7 p.m. on July 16, the election day.

Mrs. Randolph said that the books for the referendum are closed, and that persons who have moved into the Jensen Beach area and haven't changed their voting addresses will not be eligible to vote.

amber seeks fireworks money

SEN BEACH–So that the nds of Jensen Beach area nts may thrill to the Fourth of fireworks display on Jensen Causeway, the Jensen Beach ber of Commerce Fireworks mittee is seeking donations to pay s year's fireworks.

A committee headed by Don McCall is seeking donations to pay for the fireworks which cost about $2,500.

Donations to the fireworks funds may be mailed to the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce or the Jensen Beach Mirror, P.O. Box 787.

Protect nature, grads told

JENSEN BEACH–Because of Florida's population explosion, everyone is going to have to learn to live with less, Florida Institute of Technology School of Marine and Environmental Technology School of Marine and Environmental Technology graduates were told by the executive director of Florida Department of Natural Resources.

Harmon W. Shields was the principal speaker at FIT's Jensen Beach campus commencement exercises June 13.

Shields told the graduates to "help us better protect our environment."

Shields noted that more people are coming to Florida every week, and 85 percent want to live within five miles of the coastline.

"It seems that the people only want to live in one place, and that is where the water's not," he said.

He said that the tremendous grown and demand for housing space near the coast creates a problem in the state's natural resources.

Degrees were awarded in several areas of marine technology, and there were 112 students in the graduating class.

Dr. Jerome P. Keuper, FIT president, welcomed the audience and class, and Dean Ernest Tealey introduced the guests. Dr. John E. Miller, vice president for academic affairs conferred the degrees.

July 15 start

State survey of Savannas due

JENSEN BEACH–A state survey of the savannas is expected to be under way by July 15, it was reported at a meeting of Council of Governments (COG) last week at Martin County courthouse.

"The ball is finally beginning to roll," Dr. Walter Stokes said.

Dr. Stokes, who served as chairman of the "save the savannas" committee, said that because of opposition to some property owners the survey has been delayed.

A decision could come soon after the survey to determine whether the state will attempt to preserve the south savannas by purchase or lease, according to Dr. Stokes.

Dr. Stokes said that because of opposition by some property owners it seems unlikely the state will be able to purchase or lease the property for preservation. He said there is a strong possibility the state cabinet could declare the savannas an area of critical state concern and establish state controls over land use.

Stokes' committee recommended in its report several months ago that a special board be set up to give Martin and St. Lucie counties and Port St. Lucie control over the savannas. However, Martin County Commission voted for state controls.

Mrs. Marjorie Silver Alder, also a member of the savannas committee, urged that ordinances should be passed to control construction in the savannas and sand mining operations.

St. Lucie County Commission Chairman Willie McCain, a member of COG, noted, however, that overall plans for preservation of the savannas should be considered before ordinances are passed. McCain also suggested that planning should come after the state survey.

Dr. Stokes said that the water resources are important to the Jensen Beach area and uncontrolled uses of the land could mean destruction of the water supply.

He also noted that the sand mining increases the probability of salt water intrusion into the savannas.

The northern part of the savannas, north of Midway Rd. in St. Lucie County, is a public recreation area. South of Midway Rd. to the Jensen Beach Cutoff Road is still in its wild state.

Port St. Lucie Mayor Larry Kimmel pointed out that both Universal Adams and General Development Corporation, both with large holdings in the savannas, have gone to great lengths to isolate the savannas from any development.

Universal Adams has put a golf course between any of their proposed buildings and the savannas.

General Development has planned the Green Belt Parkway, the main purpose of which is to say that all lands west of the parkway is not savannas. East of the Parkway is the savannas and nothing shall be done in that area.

"I don't know how much better they can be preserved than to set them aside, isolate them, and leave them alone," Kimmel said.

When Universal Adams acquired a large amount of acreage in the savannas that was annexed to the City of Port St. Lucie, they offered the city title to their savannas property with the restriction that it not be changed in any manner.

At this time the city has not accepted the offer although Mayor Kimmel said, "It probably will see favorable consideration at a later date."

Stuart defeats Ft. P chessmen

The top four players of the Stuart Youth Center Chess Club defeated four members from Ft. Pierce last Tuesday night at the Youth Center in Stuart.

Dick Ripper, L.D. Kirkpatrick, and Richard Sherman won their matches for Stuarty, while Henry Morrell was defeated.

The matches were played in a best-of-three format.

Ripper downed Ernie Correll two games to none. Kirkpatrick zonked Jim Kirk by the same margin, and Sherman edged Lee Smith by a score of two games to one.

Meanwhile, other action was taking place. Kirkpatrick held tight to his spot on the top of the ladder, while 19 others fought it out behind him.

Community leaders express opinions on incorporation

DAVID DECI, Vice chairman of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee and businessman. Incorporation would mean government for the people and by the people.

JOE FORSBURG, president of the Rio Civic Club. Incorporation would give us better services, better planning, and increased services and community improvements would more than offset what the cost would be.

DR. RICHARD PENICK, vice president, Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club. We can't afford not to incorporate. With our rapid growth and the lack of representation we have now in our present county commission, we must incorporate.

AL WALKER, owner of Walker Plumbing of Rio and civic leader. We will have five people representing us in a city instead of one county commissioner. I think the county has given us everything we'll ever get without raising taxes.

RICHARD NEESON, commander Jensen Beach American Legion. Incorporation is the only salvation for a cleaner community, and a more fully protected community than it has been in the past. With the rise in the crime rate, I think incorporation is the only answer.

RANSOM TILTON, Jensen Beach real estate agent and businessman. The small homeowners will benefit from home rule, but people who own business property will be paying more taxes. I'm neutral on the issue.

ALEX WILSON, past president of the Rio Civic Club. On the subject of water and sewer -- I could go along with the idea of sewers, it would be a good thing, and eliminate septic tanks. But if septic tanks were eliminated, would the water be needed? We all know that Jensen Beach has the best water on the East Coast of Florida.

Mosley upsets Lions

BY DONNIE WILKIE

Nobody expected Mosley Construction to fall over and play dead against the Lions Club last Thursday night, but most figured that the Lions hitting would overcome the Mosley attack.

But it was to be one of those things that happen when a team that is breezing along runs into a team that is way back but has nothing to lose.

Final score -- Mosley 6 Lions 2.

Eric Stemle's third inning single knocked in two runs and highlighted the six run Mosley outburst.

The inning began when Brad Fallin was hit by a pitched ball. Morris Chen walked, and Donnie Wilkie singled to right, bringing in pinch runner Henry Harriel with the first run of the game.

Malcolm Delancy then walked, thus loading the bases. Losing pitcher Ricky Bright walked scoring Chen. He then walked Steve Pollard to again load the bases. Brent Laycock struck out, but Stemle singled to center, scoring Wilkie and Delancy. After advancing on wild pitches Pollard and Stemle scored on Aymar Moore's two out single to center field, completing the Mosley scoring for the evening.

The Lions came alive in the fourth, when Bright doubled to left and Bobby Bibbee singled to center, scoring Bright. Stan Beswick's one out single brought in Bibbee, but that's when the rally ended. Malcolm Delancy, the winning pitcher, got out of the jam when he retired Dan Blackford and Nate Manao.

Reliever Steve Pollard came in in the fifth, and despite two short rallies by the Lions, he held the opponents scoreless.

The rallies came in the fifth and seventh, when the Lions loaded the bases twice, but on neither occasion could they reduce the Mosley lead.

In other action last week, Kiwanis forfeited two games to Rinker and Sailfish. The other scedulied games, Meyer at Lions Sailfish at Mosley, and Meyer at Rinker, were rained out.

Pony League Standings (complete through June 17): Rinker 5, 1, .833; Lions 4, 2, 1, .667; Sailfish 3, 2, 1½, .600; Mosley 3, 3, 2, .500; Kiwanis 2, 4, 3, .3330; Meyer 0, 5, 4½, .000.

Last week's results: Mosley 6 Lions 2, Sailfish 6 Kiwanis 0 (forfeit); Rinker 6, Kiwanis 0 (forfeit); Meyer vs Lions postponed, rain; Sailfish vs Mosley, postponed, rain; Meyer vs Rinker, postponed, rain.

This week's games: Thursday, June 20: Kiwanis vs Lions (suspended game of June 4th will be played out with the score 7-7 after 7 innings); At Jensen, 7:30 p.m. Lions vs Kiwanis (regularly scheduled game); at Jensen, after completion of suspended game of June 4th Mosley vs Rinker at Salerno, 7:30 p.m.

Saturday, June 22: Rinker vs. Sailfish at Salerno, 7:30 p.m.

You want to know

(Editors note: These incorporation questions were asked in a letter by Herbert Foehr, who thought the answers of the Chamber incorporation committee should be made available to Jensen Beach residents. We have added several asked at the recent public hearing. This space is available each week for those who seek answers to questions on the upcoming charter vote July 16 for the City of Jensen Beach.)

1. Where will the city hall be located?

Temporary city offices will be in the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce or the Jensen Beach Community Center, next door, on Commercial St.

2. What will the mayor's salary be? How many commissioners will there be, what is their salaries, and what expenses will they receive?

The mayor and four councilmen will receive no salary during the first year Jensen Beach is a city. They will be reimbursed for out-of-pocket expenses. Salaries for succeeding years will be established by ordinance, requiring complete public notice and public hearings before enactment.

3. Will the police force be operated separately from the county police? Where would prisoners be housed and who would pay for their keep while in jail?

This will be determined by the council at public hearings. Either an independent police force or contract for services with the county sheriff's department is seen. Prisoners would be housed in the county jail and be the responsibility of the county with their keep paid for out of the fines and forfeiture fund of the city.

4. Who will preside over cases of persons arrested for crimes or misdemeanors?

The county judge, as provided for in the new state constitution.

5. Will the fire department remain voluntary?

Yes. We encourage the council to contribute an additional $3,000 for a part time fire inspector for fire prevention work. This might reflect in lower insurance costs.

6. How will maintenance work on streets and roads be handled?

The county and the state will continue to maintain codnty and state roads. The council could establish a road repair crew for city streets or have the necessary work done by contract. The county now has $9,450 available for maintaining the streets in our community. We believe that $50,000 should be budgeted for this purpose since many of our street surfaces are deteriorating.

7. What is the present millage tax in the City of Stuart?

City of Stuart millage is 6.79 for operating revenue.

Town of Sewall's Point is 3.5 mills.

City of Port St. Lucie is 3.1 mills.

City of Ft. Pierce is 3.94 (Note: the city charter in Ft. Pierce limits general fund taxes to 6.5 mills.)

Town of Ocean Breeze Park is 3.0 mills.

8. When and how would the mayor and commissioners be elected if charter is passed, and how would candidates be selected?

Individuals seeking the council or mayor seats file with the county supervisor of elections. The non-partisan election will be held in the first fall primary, Sept. 10. A majority of votes in city would be needed for election. The term of office would be for two years, but two council seats would be for one year in the first election so that two council seats would be open for election during each of all future years.

9. Will curbs and sidewalks be required if Jensen incorporates?

Not unless the people demand it and the council approves it.

10. Will the state be more apt to require sewer and water facilities if we become incorporated?

The health needs would dictate this whether or not Jensen was incorporated. The difference lies in that local people would plan an important part in what should be done, when it should be done, how it should be done, and who will do it.

11. Would the city officials vote themselves enormous salaries?

If they did, it would have to be by ordinance, so we would know about it ahead of time by public hearing and public notice. The charter provides a way to remove officials who place their interests ahead of the community interest.

12. What will stop taxes from increasing to the ten mill limit?

Elected officials generally do what the people ask them to do. Candidates would be asked to commit themselves to holding the line on taxes when they run for office. The incorporation committee feels that the three mill property tax is adequate, considering the several other sources of revenue such as state and federal revenue sharing, franchise taxes, occupational license taxes, and the city share of cigarette and mobile home tag sales taxes.

Bafalis seeks answers

WASHINGTON, D.C.--U.S. Rep. L. A. "Skip" Bafalis, R-Fla., appealed to 10th Congressional District residents Sat. to answer his second annual districtwide questionnaire, now on the way to all residents.

The questionnaire, which should be received by every household in the sprawling 18-county district, is designed to give constituents an opportunity to make known their feelings on the major issues facing our nation, the Republican Congressman said.

The 10-part questionnaire seeks the feelings of 10th Congressional District residents on such diverse issues as the move to impeach President Nixon and plans to drill for oil in the Gulf of Mexico and off the Atlantic Coast.

Summer adult classes are available at four locations

STUART--The Adult Education Department, Martin County Public Schools, is sponsoring art classes for adults at four school locations this summer.

Classes in beginning and advanced oil painting, sketching on location, portraiture, and sculpture will be available starting the first week of July.

Beginning oil painting, taught by Mrs. Ruth Bowman, will commence at Jensen Beach Elementary School each Monday morning at 9 a.m., starting Monday, July 1.

Mrs. Bowman will also teach a class in advanced oil painting each Monday afternoon at 1 p.m., with the first session scheduled for Monday, July 1, at Jensen Elementary School.

A class in portrait painting, taught by Ms. Connie Hamilton, will be offered at the Special Education Building, Stuart Middle School, 400 E. Ocean Blvd., Stuart, at 6:30 p.m. each Tuesday, commencing Tuesday, July 2. Ms. Hamilton will also teach portraiture each Thursday evening at Jensen Beach Elementary School, S. Savannah Rd., Jensen Beach, commencing Thursday, July 11.

On-site sketching will commence Wed. July 3 at 9 a.m. with the class meeting at Portable number 78, Martin County High School, taught by Ms. Hamilton.

A sculpture class taught by Mrs. Herg. Wood, will meet at Jensen Elementary School, S. Savannah Road, Jensen Beach, each Friday morning at 9:30 a.m. The class starts Friday, July 5.

An advanced class in sculpture will be offered Friday afternoons should there be sufficient interest.

For additional information about these and other adult summer classes, please call 287-6400 weekdays between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Byrant suit is settled

STUART--A civil suit against former Martin County commissioner Paul Bryant apparently has been settled out of court.

Bryant and his former business partner William H. White were the defendents in a suit filed by Garjac, Inc. Garjac was seeking more than $13,000. The money was allegedly owed for building supplies used in construction of a house.

BANK WINNERS--Winners in the customer referral contest of the First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart have been announced. From left are Martin Wyrich, first place, Irene Fletcher and Gloria Patterson, second place, Dorothy Young, Anne Cattania and Dick Grant, third place. The first place winner will receive an all expense paid trip for two to the Bahamas.

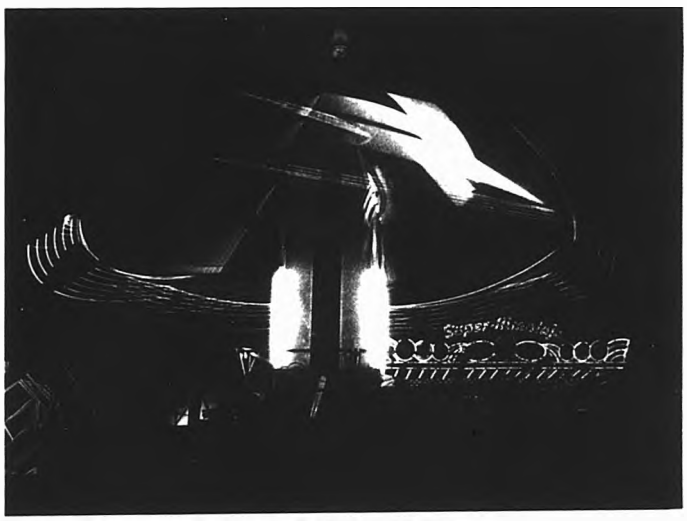
In Martin County...
We're helping it happen!



Our business is money. But, as responsible citizens of our community, we also believe our business is service.

County fairs are entertaining, educational and fun for the whole family. They are also a lot of work for those who have the responsibility of organizing and producing them. They don't just happen. They take long hours of planning and effort by dedicated people.

We are fortunate to have such people in the Martin County Fair Association -- a non-profit organization of volunteers who, each year, try to outdo the previous year's fair in terms of size, attendance, interest and fun. And somehow or other always manage to do just that.

So, when the Fair Association needed funds to enlarge the facilities at the Fair Grounds to provide more display area, we were delighted to help with the financing that would make it possible.

For those projects that make a positive contribution, First National is always anxious to be of assistance. Helping to make the right things happen in Martin County is just one way that we can serve you, and our community.

At First National, we're proud to call ourselves "the bank that grew up with Martin County." We are also proud of the role we have played in that growth and are dedicated to continuing our policy of "helping it happen" for Martin County's future.

Pinelake Village New Notes

We had two birthdays in the park this week. Gene Gray on June 15 and Jane LaVigne on June 16. June went to Vero Beach to celebrate her birthday

We have been receiving news that it is still too cold to go north. It was 37 in Indiana, and Gene and Mildred's daughter said she had her furnace on in Michigan.

Speaking of Michigan, Rachel LaCluyse said she heard from Clarlevoix Michigan and some friends there are happy to see our news in The Mirror. Come down and visit, it's much warmer here.

The LaCluyses had a surprise visit from Glen Voelker from Crystal Falls, Mich. last week. We hope he enjoyed his visit.

The LaVingnes have house guest now, little Crissy Ragan. She's a doll and we're happy she came.

The Weigands had visitors, too. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Freund from New Jersey and their two children.

Judge and Rhea Hayes spent Fathers Day with their son and daughter-in-law in Jacksonville.

Friday night poker has become a regular thing. We're glad to see people using our recreation building more. Crafts class is still meeting on Monday afternoons and exercise class on Wednesday mornings.

We have a new teacher in the park. Doc Weigand is teaching Gene Gray to play cribbage. Does anyone else play? Maybe you can give them some competition.

Travel is their business

JENSEN BEACH-Have you put off taking that vacation trip of a lifetime because you just felt you couldn't afford it?

Many people think they have to be wealthy to travel but according to Helen Englebretsen of the Jensen Beach Travel Service, it just isn't necessarily so.

And the one thing you can be assured of is that is cost you nothing to stop by the Commercial St. office and talk to any of the staff about those vacation trip plans.

Jensen Beach Travel is locally owned and operated and the entire staff takes great pride in their reputation for service and reliability. There isn't any travel they can't offer whether it be a one day trip to Disney World a seven day cruise to the Caribbean or a six months cruise around the world.

All services at the Jensen Travel are [illegible] to go. From that point on the staff of Jensen Beach Travel Service will handle every detail from the mode of transportation to incidental shopping tips.

An interesting point brought out by Mrs. Englebretsen was that due to the devaluation of the dollar a tremendous amount of travel is being booked within the United States and Canada.

Stop dreaming about that vacation trip, stop by Jensen Travel Service and get the facts. You might well be pleasantly surprised about the cost.

You too will find it in their earnest desire to get you the best routings and accomodations available wherever you want to go, anywhere in the world.

Take advantage of their knowledge and experience. It can mean the difference between an ordinary trip and an outstanding one.

THE PORT ST. LUCIE
MIRROR
VOL. 5 NO. 25 JUNE 19, 1974 10¢

NE FISHING--With school out for the summer, young ermen are to be found on every river bank and canal in Port St. Lucie area. Pictured above, left to right, ert Whitaker and Walter Tarkelly are busy trying to get their days bait. Walter has already hauled in a three pound bass since the close of school. Both boys are avid fishermen and can be found just about any summer day fishing at the Port St. Lucie Marina.

Committee to study garbage

PORT ST. LUCIE--Port St. Lucie Mayor Larry Kimmel recently appointed a three-man committee to conduct a study of the entire garbage problem in this south county community.

The main objective of the committee, which includes officials of General Development and the city, is finding a dump site in the immediate area.

"At present garbage collectors must make a 30 mile round trip to deposit garbage in the county landfill or they must go to Stuart, which is equally far away," the mayor said.

The county landfill is 70 percent filled, Kimmel pointed out.

"With just 30 percent more to be filled, I think we should find some place more convenient. It is costing the collectors nearly $1 per mile to make the 40 mile round trip. This cost is, of course, passed on to the customer," Kimmel added.

The county commission is also searching for a larger dump site. Whether the county could prohibit Port St. Lucie from bringing garbage to the county dump is not certain.

Councilman Harold Nottley referred to a recent Kiplinger newsletter article "recovering trash is going to be big business spurred on by growing shortages of raw materials. Some towns Nottley said even report selling trash to firms for recovery, no longer paying for its disposal."

Appointing the committee, Kimmel suggested they look into Nottley's suggestion saying. "If we can't make money perhaps we can reduce the cost to both the contractor and the customers."

At the same time however Kimmel complains that the residents aren't placing their garbage and trash properly to be hauled away. He said grass and shrubbery clippings are being placed in a manner in residential areas that he said was "not desirable."

Robert Jensen and Ken Miller of General Development and the city engineer have been named to the study committee.

More than a year ago the city and county met to try and work out the joint selection of a dump site for Port St. Lucie, but the talks broke down and were discontinued.

At present three private firms collect garbage and trash in Port St. Lucie.

Senior night a sell-out

PORT ST. LUCIE--A sell out crowd of Senior Citizens attended the dinner and entertainment arranged by the CESA Volunteers under the leadership of Ruth McDonnell last Saturday night.

Against a background of organ music several young ladies, recruited from the Methodist Youth Group, served fried chicken with all the "fixins" prepared and catered by Helen Everett who was assisted by Shirley DeLaune, Jean Riley and Olga Horton.

A musicale, under the direction of and Emceed by Roy Whitely followed dinner. A variety of musical numbers presented by Walt Walker at the organ, Roy Whitely on the banjo and a quartet, which had been trimmed to a trio consisting of Bert Decker, Bill Pfau and Al Hazel was enjoyed by all. When Walker and Whitely teamed up the resulting harmonies had the rafters ringing with applause.

The feature which really brought the guests to their feet was the close harmony of the voices of Bert, Bill and Al, as they rolled back the years and sang several oldies as well remembered by their listeners that many joined in as the evening progressed.

As one listened to the favorable comments at the conclusion of the entertainment together with the many requests that it be repeated it was hard to determine who enjoyed it the most, those who put it on or those who came to enjoy it. Don White said.

The rousing vote of thanks which was accorded Ruth McDonnell and her corps of CESA Volunteers was indicative of the deep appreciation of the guests for their efforts.

White continued, saying that one thing was conclusively evident, many more tickets can be sold for functions of this nature if facilities are made available for seating.

"This again emphasizes the need for a rapid completion of the present drive to obtain funds for construction of CESA's planned expansion," he concluded.

PSL bike paths get priority

PORT ST. LUCIE--The St. Lucie County Commission said this week that the bicycle paths along Prima Vista Boulevard in the River Park area of Port St. Lucie would be given top priority in upcoming budget sessions.

County commissioners indicated they would budget 420,000 for the asphalt bicycle paths on two stretches of the road between Floresta Dr. and U.S. 1.

Commissioners also said they would ask General Development Corp. the major homebuilder in Port St. Lucie, to negotiate on four-laning Prima Vista to the vicinity of the city marina.

W.H. McCain, commission chairman, said the four-laning and bicycle path projects would be kept separate and the board said it would take several years for the four-laning because of the lengthy process of getting fill permits where the road crosses the St. Lucie River.

Other areas of Prima Vista already have facilities for bicycles, and support of the paths came from the commissioners after representatives of a homeowner's group appealed for them.

Resident Don White told the commissioners that the bicycle paths were necessary because the new Port St. Lucie Elementary School is being built in the Prima Vista area and traffic of the road would present a hazard unless children have some place to ride.

He said he had talks with the School Supt. D.R. Seelinger who he said had authorized him to report that only about 15 percent of the more than 700 students at the new school would be bused. This meant, White said, that many youngsters would be riding their bicycles to school.

The county has applied to the state for money to build a county-wide bicycle path network, but White said that if the county waited for that money there might not be enough.

Babe Ruth playoffs start

PORT ST. LUCIE--The best of three playoff series for the Babe Ruth League Championship between the National and American League Divisions begins at 2 p.m. Saturday, June 22, at Sportsman's Optimist Park in Port St. Lucie.

The Ideal Sport Shop teams are the National division champs. They are the first Port St. Lucie team to win a division championship.

The American Division championship has not been decided yet with Shultz Chevrolet and Sportsman Center teams vying for top honors.

Coaches Chuck Nergard and Harry Ryan are hoping there will be a big turn-out.

PSL cubs burn flag

PORT ST. LUCIE--A solemn flag burning ceremony was held at the June 10 Pack Meet at St. Andrew's Lutheran Church. The burning was done in accordance with the flag code.

Burning is the proper procedure to dispose of an exhausted American flag. The canton of field of blue is cut out and the remainder is cut into small pieces which are placed one by one into the bonfire. The canton is the last to be put into the fire.

The theme for the month was "American Flags and Their History." Each boy made a flag and told of its time of glory. Den 2 sang "It's a Grand Old Flag," assisted by younger brothers. Proper flag folding was demonstrated by Den 3.

Cubmaster Tom Hillegas presented the following awards. Induction into Cubs, Darin Lanham and Michael Burley; advancement to Gold Arrows, Ricky Roglo and Matthew Davidson; advancement to Bear, Teddy Yankello, Michael Farmer, Chris Tatusko, Tom Broom, and Billy Moore advanced to Wolf.

Teddy ankello and Tom Conboy advanced to Webelos. Stephen Klein, Mark Andrews, and Maitland Davidson graduated into Boy Scouts.

A special plaque was awarded to Webelo leader Wm. Jordan for his leadership over the past year. Jordan and his family are moving away.

Webelo advancements presented by leader Wm. Jordan were Wm. P. Jordan, Aquanaut and Scholar; Greg Walsh, Engineer and Forester, and David Larres, Engineer, Forester, and Showman.

Arrow of Light, highest Webelo awards, went to Greg Walsh, David Larres, and Jimmy Schaefer.

July 15 start

State survey of Savannas due

JENSEN BEACH--A state survey of the savannas is expected to be under way by July 15, it was reported at a meeting of Council of Governments (COG) last week at Martin County courthouse.

The hall is finally beginning to roll, Dr. Walter Stokes said.

Dr. Stokes, who served as chairman of the save the savannas committee, said that because of opposition to some property owners, the survey has been delayed.

A decision could come soon after the survey to determine whether the state will attempt to preserve the south savannas by purchase or lease, according to Dr. Stokes.

Dr. Stokes said that because of opposition by some property owners it seems unlikely the state will be able to purchase or lease the property for preservation. He said there is a strong possibility the state cabinet could declare the savannas an area of critical state concern and establish state controls over land use.

Stokes committee recommended in its report several months ago that a special board be set up to give Martin and St. Lucie counties and Port St. Lucie control over the savannas. However Martin County commission voted for state controls.

Mrs. Marjorie Silver Alder, also a member of the savannas committee, urged that ordinances should be passed to control construction in the savannas and sand mining operations.

St. Lucie County Commission Chairman Willie McLain, a member of COG, noted however that overall plans for preservation of the savannas should be considered before ordinances are passed. McLain also suggested that planning should come after the state survey.

Dr. Stokes said that the water resources are important to the Jensen Beach area and uncontrolled uses of the sand could mean destruction of the water supply.

He also noted that the sand mining decreases the probability of salt water intrusion into the savannas.

The northern part of the savannas, south of Midway Rd. in St. Lucie County, is a public recreation area, south of Midway Rd. to the Jensen Beach Causeway Road is state property.

Port St. Lucie Mayor Larry Kimmel pointed out that both Riverside Estates and General Development Corporation, both with large holdings in the savannas, have gone to great lengths to insulate the savannas from any development.

Universal Adams has also said it could be helpful in their proposed holdings and the savannas.

General Development has proposed the Green Belt Parkway, the purpose of which is to separate the west of the parkway to the east of the parkway.

"I don't know how that further can be preserved than it is now," Kimmel said. "Aside from the sand mining aspect, I don't know what else."

When Universal Development has large amounts of acreage in the savannas that was given to them by the City of Port St. Lucie they intend to use it for their subdivision property, with the condition that it be preserved in its natural state, although Mayor Kimmel said he probably will see a change in that consideration at a later date.

Travel is their business

JENSEN BEACH-Have you put off taking that vacation trip of a lifetime because you just felt you couldn't afford it?

Many people think they have to be wealthy to travel, but, according to elen Englebretsen of the Jensen Beach Travel Service, it just isn't necessarily so.

And the one thing you can be assured of is that is cost you nothing to stop by the Commercial St. office and talk to any of the staff about those vacation trip plans.

Jensen Beach Travel is locally owned and operated and the entire staff takes great pride in their reputation for service and reliability. There isn't any travel they can't offer whether it be a one day trip to Disney World, a seven day cruise to the Caribbean, or a six months cruise around the world.

All services at the Jensen Travel are free to the customer - not only is there no added charge for tickets or phone calls for reservations, but the experienced and courteous staff can furnish first hand information in answer to your questions and offer many worthwhile suggestions.

If you have your heart set on a cruise - a tour of Europe, a trip to Hawaii, Alaska, the Orient, or anywhere - stop by and talk it over with either Helen Englebretsen or Sandra Schock. Both experienced tour guides. They have the answers because they have been there.

They will recommend only cruises and tours they know to be superior in every way. They will not only provide you with their first hand experiences and knowledge, but will supply you with colorful brochures.

A visit to Jensen Beach Travel will leave only one decision up to the traveller - where he or she would like to go. From that point on, the staff of Jensen Beach Travel Service will handle every detail from the mode of transportation to incidental shopping tips.

An interesting point brought out by Mrs. Englebretsen, was that due to the devaluation of the dollar, a tremendous amount of travel is being booked within the United States and Canada.

Stop dreaming about that vacation trip, stop by Jensen Travel Service and get the facts. You might well be pleasantly surprised about the cost.

You too will find it is their earnest desire to get you the best routings and accomodations available wherever you want to go, whenever you want to go, anywhere in the world.

Take advantage of their knowledge and experience. It can mean the difference between an ordinary trip and an outstanding one.

D & M News Notes

MILDRED STINNETT
334-4486

The arrival of Ethel Jones made us all happy, for we have missed her. She has opened her home, and is preparing for a visit from her daughter who will stay several weeks.

Rose and Chet Randall have taken off in their new car for Warren, Ohio, where Chet's son lives, and will also call on friends and relatives in and around Warren.

The morning the Weismillers left for their new home in Port St. Lucie, they received a telephone call from a daughter in Jacksonville, Michigan, informing them that a tornado had hit there, uprooting her apple trees and destroying the chickens. Unfortunately, it also flipped over the new mobile which hadn't yet been occupied by them.

When they moved into the former home of Devon Weisinger, they found that Devon and his family had taken off, forgetting two pieces of bread in the toaster.

Ethel Phillips is busy getting settled in her home in upper New York State, but found time to write and let us know that, just like last year, AmTrak's cooling system broke down, making the trip to Washington uncomfortable. Don has weathered the journey well, and they are already planning on the trip back here in the Fall.

Edna May left Tuesday to fly up to Akron, Ohio, to stay with her son Karl and his family, and to get acquainted with a new great-granddaughter.

Juanita Brouillette, telling us about the extensive alterations she and her husband Bob are making in the houses they recently purchased in Momence, one of which they live in, Juanita will soon be attending Art classes at the college nearby, and we are looking forward to having her instruct the Art class here at D & M when she returns.

IRCC summer term registration

FT. PIERCE—Registration for Summer Term II at Indian River Community College is being held today until 8:30 p.m. on the main campus in Ft. Pierce. Students who register for classes on that day will not need an appointment.

Students who will attend classes which meet at either the Roschman Site in Stuart or the Vero Site at St. Helen's School may register at the site as follows: Roschman Site in Stuart until 8:30 p.m. and at the Vero Site at St. Helen's School from 5:30 p.m. until 8:30 p.m.

Classes begin on Thursday, June 20.

Living in Leilani

BY JACKIE SHAW
Tele 334-3526

This week I'd like you to meet the Reed's — the fourth family to make Leilani their home. Brenda and Dick Reed moved here from Stuart on May 17. Originally Brenda was from Montreat, N.C., and Dick lived in Baltimore, Ohio. They have one child, a pretty little daughter, Danette, who is just two. This lovely couple own the Dee and Re Pizza on U.S. 1 in Stuart. Brenda paints extremely well in all media and also excels in ceramics. On top of these talents, she is a ballet and tap dancer and is presently teaching Danette a few steps.

Elmer and Helen Hagen have their daughter, Sylvia Schubring, and two grandchildren, Tracey and Brett visiting them They came down from Wisconsin on AmTrak

The Hagens will be taking them back when they begin their summer vacation

Tracey and Brett have been having a ball on the beach, in the pools, at Disney World, and on the Jungle Queen dinner cruise We will miss these two riding their bikes early in the morning around the park

Academy summer program

HOWEY-IN-THE HILLS-Howey

Academy's successful academic recreation summer program which began June 15 and ends August 2, will accept a limited number of additional students in grades 4 12

Wm M Branyon, director of the 7 week summer program at this co-educational preparatory school in central Florida, said that Howey's summer staff is competent and experienced in all areas of academics and recreation and students need not enroll for academic studies in order to enjoy the recreation program

Students in need of one academic credit may still earn it at Howey by applying before June 24 But those interested only in the recreation program may apply on a weekly basis said Branyon

PUBLIC NOTICE
Notice of special referendum election regarding adoption of proposed charter for the incorporation of the City of Jensen Beach!
WHEREAS, 1. The incorporation Committee of Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce presented the proposed charter for the incorporation of the City of Jensen Beach to the Legislative Delegation on February 15, 1974.
2. The said proposed charter was published in full on January 9, 1974 after public hearings on March 13, 1974 in The Jensen Beach Mirror.
3. The Act, Local Bill No. 4034, approved and passed by the Legislature, requires that a special election shall be held on July 16, 1974, at which special election a referendum of the qualified electors of the territory to be incorporated shall be held to determine whether the said Act shall or shall not be adopted.
Now, therefore notice is hereby given as follows pursuant to Florida Statute 100.342
1. A special election shall be held on July 16, 1974, for the purpose of conducting a referendum of the qualified electors within the territory to be incorporated to determine whether the Act creating a City of Jensen Beach shall not be adopted.
2. The voter registration books of the county shall close for this special referendum election as required by law.

Public meet scheduled by Charter committee

JENSEN BEACH–Incorporation Committee spokesmen are keeping their promise to meet with any group or individuals prior to the July 16 referendum on the incorporation of the City of Jensen Beach.

We will meet with groups or individuals any time to discuss the proposed charter that the people will vote on," Art Hansen has repeated at public hearings.

Last week Hansen, chairman of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee, and Frank Wacha, committee advisor and former county commissioner, met with the chambers Merchant Division.

Wacha pointed out monies that would be available if Jensen Beach is incorporated: state revenue sharing, franchise, cigarette tax, etc., as he has in previous meetings.

Also Wacha told about the City of Stuart annexing land that could affect the tax base for residents of the area.

If the City of Stuart annexes more and more, the tax base changes and taxes increase," he said.

And Wacha pointed out that an increase in District A, Jensen Beach, to three mills would not mean as much as three mills in a city.

He told the merchants that incorporation means protecting the area, better services and a voice in saving the savannas.

While the former county commissioner reviewed the tax structure and advantages of incorporation, he stressed the importance of voting on July 16.

Hansen said that a public meeting will be held Thursday, June 27, at the Harry Hoke Community Room above The Mirror on Commercial St. beginning at 7:30 p.m.

"Committee representatives will be available at the Chamber of Commerce building on Commercial St. and at Langford Park Field house," Hansen said.

Committee members will be at the fieldhouse from 1:30 to 5 p.m. Friday, June 28, to meet with any group or individuals, and Saturday, June 29, individuals or groups may meet committee members at the chamber from 1:30 to 5 p.m.

Other meetings slated include:

Monday, July 1, 7:30 p.m. meeting at Fisherman's Haven Club House.

Tuesday, July 2, 1:30 to 5 p.m. at the chamber building.

Wednesday, July 3, 7:30 p.m. public meeting at Langford Park Fieldhouse.

Saturday, July 6, 7:30 p.m. public meeting at Langford Park Fieldhouse.

Saturday, July 13, 1:30 to 5 p.m., at Langford Park Fieldhouse for individual or group discussion.

MERCHANTS CONFER–Mrs. Virginia Van Dien and Clarence Rydell are shown at the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Merchants Division meeting. Speaker for the evening was Frank Wacha, advisor to the chamber's Incorporation Committee.

July 4

Day of fun, fireworks planned

JENSEN BEACH–Another Independence Day celebration will be held on Jensen Beach Causeway with area clubs, organizations and the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce providing a day of games, fun and food.

The day's program will start at 9 a.m. with the Legion, Boy Scouts and VFW taking part in the raising of the colors, according to Dick Neeson, coordinator of the day-long activities.

We will have games and food from noon to 6 p.m.," Neeson said.

At dark, the fabulous fireworks display will be held with Bill "Boom Boom" Yurillo's fireworks exhibit once again thrilling the crowd that gathers along the causeway, Hutchinson Island and mainland.

Organizations taking part in the July 4 celebration include the Stuart-Jensen Beach Jaycees, Lions Club, Kiwanis Club, Scouts and the auxiliaries of the Legion and VFW, according to Neeson.

He said that the auxiliaries will be in charge of serving food, and the Lions will be in charge of the games.

The chamber committee has been in charge of raising money to pay for the display, and about $2,200 of the $3,500 needed has been raised, according to Buck Mauldin and Joe Bumbera, fund-raising co-ordinators.

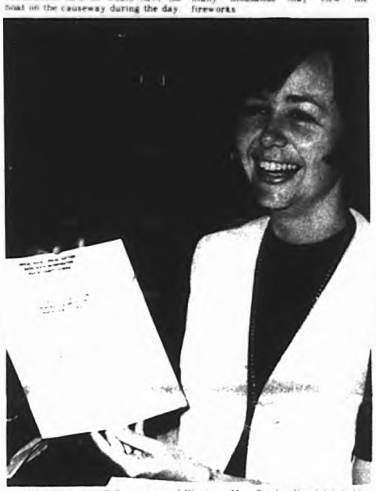
John Heyburn, in charge of the chamber's booth for the July 4 celebration, said he would have his boat on the causeway during the day collecting donations for the fireworks fund.

Heyburn, Art Hansen and Al Tomaszewski will have chamber literature and pictures at the chamber booth.

"Any money raised by organizations will be returned to the fireworks fund for the 1975 celebration," Neeson said.

"Anyone wanting to donate to the fireworks fund or work July 4 on the causeway should contact me or the chamber," Neeson said.

The causeway will be closed to traffic from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m. so the many thousands may view the fireworks.



ABSENTEE BALLOT–Supervisor of Elections Mrs. Sandra Randolph holds an absentee ballot for the July 16 referendum on the incorporation of the City of Jensen Beach. Absentee ballots are now available at Mrs. Randolph's office in Martin County courthouse.

Absentee ballots are available

JENSEN BEACH–Absentee ballots for the July 16 referendum on incorporating the City of Jensen Beach are available at the supervisor of elections office in the courthouse.

Supervisor Mrs. Sandra Randolph said that a voter may write her office requesting an absentee ballot application or that a person can come on to her office and receive an application.

Deadline for receiving an application is 5 p.m. July 15, the day before the election. Absentee ballots may be returned and will be accepted up to 7 p.m. July 16, election day, Mrs. Randolph said.

She pointed out that if voters write in requesting an application, the person's signature is necessary.

Mrs. Randolph said that all voting will be at Langford Park Fieldhouse from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., and four voting machines, with one standby machine, will be available.

Precincts voting at the fieldhouse include No. 1, Jensen Beach, excluding Hutchinson Island; Precinct No. 2, Northwood; and Precinct No. 15, Rio.

Mrs. Randolph said Tuesday that her office has received about 30 requests for absentee ballots.

Compared to the county wide charter referendum when we only had about 10 absentee ballots requests, there appears to be a lot of interest in the election.

1974 'Girl Staters'

JENSEN BEACH–Debbie Tranowski and Rhonda Cumpsty returned home from Tallahassee last Friday where they were delegates to the annual Girl's State held from June 14 through June 21. They were sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 126 of Jensen Beach. Both girls are 16 years old and have just completed their junior year in high school.

Debbie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tranowski, 111 Sandra Dr., Jensen Beach. Rhonda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Cumpsty of Ocean Breeze Park.

Miss Cumpsty was appointed by Gov. Askew to serve as chairman of the Community Affairs Committee and served as a page to the Senate.

Miss Tranowski was elected to the House of Representatives and served on the Health and Public Welfare Committee.

While in the state capitol, the girls lived in the Jennie Murphree Dormitory on the Florida State University campus.

When asked what they learned, Miss Tranowski said they were given a real insight into the way government is run. Both expressed appreciation for the fact that Governor Askew and several Cabinet officers were on the scene, talking to the group, teaching the, and listening to them.

Miss Cumpsty said they got a lot of practical experience in parliamentary procedure.

"The best part was meeting and making so many new friends," they reported. There were 284 girls in attendance, each one representing an American Legion Auxiliary Unit in Florida.

JENSEN BEACH GIRLS' STATERS–From left, Debbie Tranowski and Rhonda Cumpsty were Jensen Beach's delegates to the 1974 Girls' State in Tallahassee last week. They were sponsored by American Legion Post 126 Women's Auxiliary.

hope we have another fine turnout the next watch, Saturday, June 29," said.
I want to commend the people for good behavior. Everyone acted in orderly manner and were very teous."
arine patrol officer Dan Byrd and ndt Dept. Corp. Mike Quinn ated and directed the crowd, ording to Tomaszewski said.
eeps for transportation were vided by Jim Nowland and Lard nson, he added.
We are looking forward to seeing ny more people at the beach this turday night," he said.

SLEEPER–Guess what Vince? The camera had him in it this time. Vince Bucchino took a nap during the softball tournament last weekend at Langford Park. Local volunteers in the Jensen Cubs worked hard during the games of the tournament. Some rested, like Vince, where they could. Pictures and story on page 1-B.

Telephone committee organized

JENSEN BEACH–A telephone committee has been established by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee for citizen contact, it was announced by Art Hansen, chairman.

The committee will be headed by David Deci, a past president of the Chamber. It will consist of key citizens in the Jensen and Rio areas who will call people to inform them of meetings of the incorporation committee so that the public is better informed on the proposed city charter.

We want everyone who hasn't been to a public hearing on the charter to come out," Hansen said. He added that the telephone committee would also be organized to get out the vote on July 16.

The committee members will be trained to answer questions on incorporation, and to inform citizens of the charter contents.

You want to know

(Editor's note: These are questions raised in the past week by residents of Jensen Beach who seek to have their questions answered by the Incorporation committee of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce.)

1 What will the business license fees be?

The Incorporation committee has suggested that the license fees be set at a minimum. The city council will set the fees, however.

2 What will the salaries of the city council and mayor be?

The council and mayor will serve for one year at no salary. Then the council will set its own salary. The committee suggested elected people who would be fair, but added, "if they take advantage of their power we can always throw them out of office."

3 Who will be the chief of police?

The council will select the chief of police.

4 What will be the requirements for patrolmen on city police?

The state sets the standards for city police, requiring set numbers of hours of training, and refreshers for the police. These are set by the Florida Police Standards Board. The committee also suggests that the city should select patrolmen carefully. There is a possibility that the police service can be contracted from the Martin County Sheriff's Department.

5 Would the franchise taxes charged Florida Power and Light Company, Southern Bell and Martin County Cable raise our utility bills?

No. According to Gene Van Curen district manager of Florida Power and Light Co., the franchise fee paid by FP&L is "paid out of earnings for the privilege of doing business with Jensen Beach."

6 How soon would the city get its money from taxes, etc?

Jensen Beach would be a city on October 1, 1974 if the referendum on the city charter passes. Taxes then would be received as soon as 1974 taxes are paid, possibly by November or December. State revenue sharing would be paid quarterly, possibly by June 1975. Cigarette taxes would be paid monthly, probably starting around June 1, 1975. Federal revenue sharing comes in quarterly, but there is no idea how soon that would come in. Franchise taxes would be paid one year after the city council passes a franchise ordinance.

7 What will stop the city from borrowing lots of money?

The charter limits borrowing to $100,000 in any fiscal year. The charter also provides that it would take a referendum to get more money.

8 Should the city run short of money, can an emergency tax be levied.

No. The budget is set by the city, and the county collects the taxes that includes the city millage. The charter forbids deficit financing, providing that the budget cannot exceed the anticipated taxes.

9 A property owner asked if the city would have planning and zoning that would keep him from having poultry on his land?

No. Whatever is in existance at the time of incorporation would be allowed to remain in existance as long as it is not a danger to the health and welfare of the city.

As a guide to what other cities are doing, the following cities pay their councilmen:

Stuart, $200 month
Port St. Lucie, $300 month
Sewall's Point, no salary
Ocean Breeze Park, no salary
Ft. Pierce, $6,000 year, mayor $5,000 year, councilmen.

Women express opinions on incorporation

MRS. DAVID ADAMS, housewife: I'm opposed to incorporation. I think that proliferating of small towns are bad. There doesn't seem any reason for it, and the county can give us all the acceptability to government we need.

JOAN BETSCH, owner of El Clare Motel: Incorporation would mean a better run city with long needed services where all the people can have a part in the future growth of this growing community.

MARTH MOORE, owner of Lord and Lady Shop: Incorporation would do a lot for Jensen Beach the entire community, business and everything.

DOLORES MILAN, secretary: I think it should have been done a long time ago, because it is good business.

MRS. MARY VILLES, owner of the Shell Shop: Incorporation means better control of local government.

NANCY TUCKER, housewife: Incorporation means preserving Jensen Beach's identity, and it won't be absorbed by Port St. Lucie. Incorporation means having our own governing body and Jensen Beach is a landmark.

ANN BACON, Mirror compositor: I'm against it. It will raise taxes. I pay enough taxes already.

Inlet work is near

STUART—Funding for the St. Lucie Inlet improvement project is expected within the next few days according to county officials.

Planned improvements for the inlet call for dredging a boat channel by removing sand which has washed into the inlet, extended a jetty on the north side and building a jetty on the south side.

Martin County will share in the cost of the estimated $5 million project.

Snapper fishing picks up

JENSEN BEACH—Snapper fishing picked up last week according to the Snook Nook report. Tony Vecelarelli had 15 snapper on Friday, using frozen shrimp. Paul and Jimmy Klett had 10. Chuck Fulton, 57, Chris Crowl, Joe Revia and Russ Bolton, 3 snapper along with 6 snook and 1 trout, and Bill and Buckey Ivey caught 4 snapper, 1 snook, 2 tarpon, and 2 ladies.

Don Rose and Charlie Kessler, fishing with Joe Rose and Curtis Randy, and Terry Mcelhim, had 5 trout, 2 snapper, and 1 jack. Fishing by himself, Charlie landed 3 trout and 1 flounder.

Ed Wagner had 8 trout, 2 snook for the week, and fishing with Fred Dushanek, 4 trout and a 15 lb. jack. Duck White brought in a variety: 5 trout, 1 snook, 1 pompano, 1 grouper. Frank Morgan had 3 blues, Ted Bloom, 6 trout, Michael Foust, 1 20 lb. snook, Dave Woods, 1 trout, Paul Alberta, 1 snook and 1 trout, Don Wilson, 1 grouper, E. Stremple, 2 snook, Tommy Hilliard and Ed Layman, 31 trout, Jr. Dushman, 9 tarpon, released all; Dan Schmidt, 17 lb. trout, Pete Petersen and Stan Gardiner, 3 trout.

Ed Curtiss landed a 10 lb. channel bass on Wednesday. At marts, 18 trout; Charlie Arenia, 5 snook; Harold Coder and Joe Fusco, 7 trout and 1 ladies. Fred Dushanek and Frank Blatterman, 8 trout; Mike Shue, 3 snook; Walter Neff, 1 snook.

Lucy and June Hertel caught 3 pompano, Jerry Doss, 1 snook, and Frank Morgan, 3 blues.

Fishing outside, 13 year old Joey Elie landed a 27 pound dolphin, and 12 year old Ricky Stillwell caught a 7'3" sail. Tony Sallazzo brought in a 28 lb. dolphin and 1 smaller, and, fishing with Fred Dushanek, 2 kings.

Dan Schmidt, fishing outside on Saturday, landed a 7 foot sail which he released, and 2 dolphin.

Youth parade at Stuart

STUART—The Stuart Recreation Dept. announced that the annual July 4 youth and baby parade will be held and trophies and ribbons will be awarded in four categories.

The theme of the parade will be most patriotic.

Various divisions of the parade will be walking singly all ages up to 16 years of age, group walking and decorated carriages and decorated bicycles.

New car tags available July 1

STUART—The new auto tags go on sale July 1 at the office of Tax Collector Alvin Andrews.

The new red and white tags will be good for three years, but residents will be required to pay an annual licensing fee.

Instead of a new plate issued in the following two years, a decal will be issued.

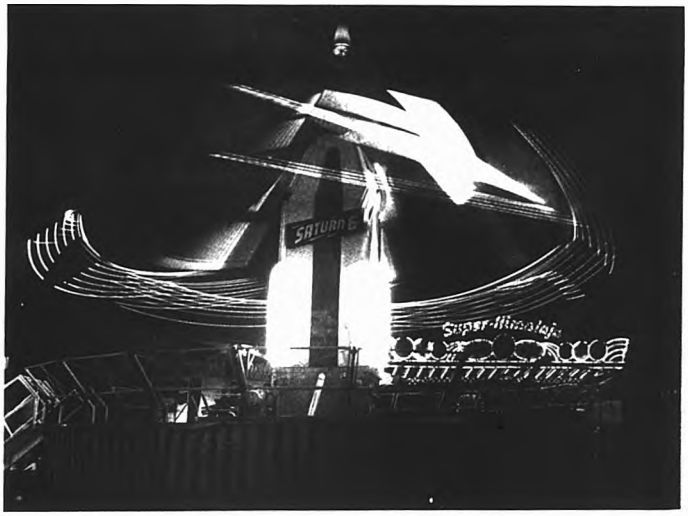
In Martin County...

We're helping it happen!



Our business is money. But, as responsible citizens of our community, we also believe our business is service.

County fairs are entertaining, educational and fun for the whole family. They are also a lot of work for those who have the responsibility of organizing and producing them. They don't just happen. They take long hours of planning and effort by dedicated people.

We are fortunate to have such people in the Martin County Fair Association -- a non-profit organization of volunteers who, each year, try to outdo the previous year's fair in terms of size, attendance, interest and fun. And something or other, always manage to do just that.

So when the Fair Association needed funds to enlarge the facilities at the Fair Grounds, to provide more display area, we were delighted to help with the financing that would make it possible.

For those projects that make a positive contribution, First National is always anxious to be of assistance. Helping to make the right things happen in Martin County is just one way that we can serve you and our community.

At First National, we're proud to call ourselves "the bank that grew up with Martin County." We are also proud of the role we have played in that growth and are dedicated to continuing our policy of "helping it happen" for Martin County's future.

LEWIS EDWARD STEWART

JENSEN BEACH–Lewis Edward Stewart, 47, of 2201 Skyline Drive, Jensen Beach, died Sunday, June 16 in Augusta, Ga.

A native of Wrens, Ga., Mr. Stewart moved to this area eight years ago, coming from Pensacola, Fla., where he retired after 23 years service in the U.S. Navy as a First Class Petty Officer.

He was a veteran of WWII, the Korean conflict, and Viet Nam. Prior to his retirement he served with the Support Unit of the famed Blue Angles.

He was a member of Naval Masonic Lodge No. 34, F&M, Warrington, Fla., and V.F.W. Post No. 10058 of Jensen Beach.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Stewart; two sons, Edward Daniel of Ft. Pierce and Richard Kenneth of Jensen Beach; two daughters, Mrs. Donna Louise Cooper of Stuart and Mrs. Lynda Faye Gomes of Indiantown; his mother, Mrs. Ophelia Welch Stewart, Augusta, Ga.,; two brothers, and six sisters.

Funeral services were held Friday, June 21, at the Aycock Funeral Home in Jensen Beach, with the Rev. H. Morgan Radford of Tropical Farms Baptist Church officiating. Chapel Masonic services were conducted by Acacia Lodge No. 163 F&AM of Stuart.

Interment was in Hillcrest Memorial Gardens, Vero Beach, with full military honors conducted by a detachment from the Naval Training Center in Orlando.

Foundation approves $600,000 for research

JENSEN BEACH–The National Board of Directors of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation has announced that $600,000 has been approved for various diabetes research projects, local chapter secretary Renee Marsteller reported this week.

The Juvenile Diabetes Foundation is a national voluntary research and educational foundation established in 1970 to meet the long-standing need for aggressive action to intensify research aimed at the eradication of diabetes. Eight projects were selected as high priority to be funded immediately for $350,000 and include three post doctoral fellowship grants.

A breakdown of funds collected so far in Martin County is as follows: Rummage Sale at Stuart Flea Market, over $300.00. Wishing Wells in Stuart and Jensen Beach banks, over $75.00. Cannister Collections, over $239.00. donations from clubs and individuals, over $250.00; according to Mrs. Marsteller. Total to date from Martin County, $864.00.

"Of course more money will be sent in at the end of our fiscal year and we will give you a statement on that at that time," Mrs. Arsteller said.

RECEIVE AWARDS–Three den leaders from Pack 801 Jensen Beach Community Church received Den Leaders Training Awards from Sail Fish District Chairman James Beasley recently. Those honored were, from left, Mrs. Lynn McCoskey, Mrs. Nancy Tucker, and Mrs. Janice Nunn. In addition, Mrs. McCoskey received her Den Leaders Coach award. Cub Chairman Steve Schroeder commended these leaders for their many years of service to the youth of Jensen Beach.

Now. Pay less for the money you borrow to buy a new car.

Get a Simple Interest Loan. The loan with the low interest rate. Only at Sun Bank.

With the Simple Interest Loan, Sun Bank introduces a major breakthrough in auto financing.

It's the loan that lets you control the amount of interest you pay. Because the interest is figured daily.

With Simple Interest, you pay interest only on the money you use for the time you use it.

And there are two ways you can save on the amount of interest you pay.

Either by making a payment before your regularly scheduled due date. Or by paying more than your regular payment.

The earlier you pay, the more you save.

And you can pay off the loan with no prepayment penalty.

But no matter when you make your payments, you'll always know where you stand. Because we send you a quarterly statement that shows how much principal and interest you've paid so far. And the balance due. (Similar to the statement you get with a charge account.)

And our statements serve as an exact record of your interest payments for tax deduction purposes.

So send in the coupon or ask your Sun Banker about buying a car with a Simple Interest Loan. The loan that lets you save money when you borrow.

Linda Jennings marries Richard Grimes

JENSEN BEACH–On June 8, 1974, Linda Kay Jennings and Richard L. Grimes were joined in marriage in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Donald E. Johnson at the Jensen Beach Community Church.

Given in marriage by her father and mother, the bride wore a full length white dotted swiss gown with scoop neckline, double capelet sleeves, full skirt and self bow in back. She wore a picture hat trimmed in white velvet ribbon and carried a hearth-side basket of white daisy mums.

Lee Jennings was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Lane Jennings (sister-in-law of the bride), Miss Mary Grimes (sister of the groom), and Mrs. Russ Dislinger. Their gowns were of mint green dotted swiss fashioned similar to that of the bride, but with cap sleeves. The maid of honor carried a basket of white and yellow daisy mums. The bridesmaids flowers were all yellow. They all wore white picture hats trimmed in dark green ribbon accented with a yellow daisy.

Russ Dislinger was best man, and the ushers were Bryan O'Neil, Mike Gordy of Ft. Lauderdale, and Lane ennings of Miami. The groom wore a white dinner jacket with black trousers. Grooms men were all in mint green jackets, black trousers and daisy boutonnieres.

The bride's mother chose a floor length aqua polyester gown with empire waist and short sleeves, and wore a white orchid corsage.

The groom's mother wore a floor length blush pink polyester gown, with lace empire bodice, long lace sleeves, and a white orchid corsage.

Prior to the ceremony, Nancy Loss of Ft. Lauderdale and Ric Christensen of Jensen Beach sang and accompanied themselves on guitars. Their numbers were "If I were a Carpenter", "Wedding Song", and an original song written especially for Linda and Richard. Mrs. Violet Chapman played the traditional wedding march and "We've Only Just Begun" to close the ceremony.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. Chris Koblegard, Fran Paulsen, Susie Horton, and Mrs. Thomas Hancock served. Bride's book was kept by Miss Koblegard.

Following a honeymoon camping in the Smokey Mountains, the couple will live in Ft. Pierce.

The bride is a 1973 graduate of Ft. Pierce Central, attended Biscayne Paramedical in Miami, and is now a student in Medical Lab Technology at IRCC.

Grimes graduated from Dan McCarty High School and Florida Atlantic University. He is in real estate with Ocean Village, Inc., Hutchinson Island, and is diving instructor at IRCC.

Among out of town guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Strawn of Orlando, Florida.

Methodist to meet

LAKELAND–Can the average church member leap denominational barriers and learn to accept and appreciate other religions, races and cultures?

That is one of the "learning experiences" which will challenge the more than 800 men, women and youth due to attend the United Methodist Church's School of Mission here July 19-26 at Florida Southern College.

Both the school's major study topics, "Our Faith in the Midst of Pluralism" and "Education for Global Consciousness," will focus on the church's role in a changing society.

The state wide school is sponsored by the denomination's Florida Conference Council on Ministries in cooperation with United Methodist Women and the church's various program agencies.

Co-deans are the Rev. Carl D. Shafer, St. Petersburg, and Mrs. A.M. Pettis of Gainesville.

Aim of the school, they said, is to "provide opportunity for intensive study and training in the church's total mission at the community, national and world-wide levels."

A 15-member faculty, comprising leaders from eight states, will head the study groups, and a daily Bible hour will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Ernest A. Smith, a national staff member of the United Methodist Board of Church and Society, Washington, D.C.

Missionaries leading discussion groups will include two Floridians, the Rev. and Mrs. Curran L. Spottswood Jr., who have served 28 years in the Philippines.

The school will open July 19 with a special weekend session for delegates who cannot attend the full five-day term.

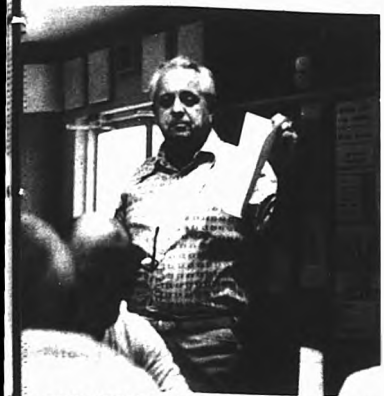
Volunteer ambulance gains President Council support



NEW RATES AIRED--Art Coulon, CESA house committee chairman, appeared before the Presidents Council last week to advise the heads of the various organizations and clubs in the area of the new use rates applicable to the CESA building. Members also were informed their meeting times would have to be approved regardless of prior committments.

PORT ST LUCIE--A suggestion offered by the newly elected head of the Welcome Wagon for a Port St Lucie Volunteer ambulance gained the support of the Presidents' Council last Thursday.

Mary Sheehan said she felt the monies of the various clubs and organizations in the area could be put to a better use by pooling their resources for the purchase of an ambulance.

"Instead of the various clubs giving little bits here and there as is the case each year, I think we should pool the money and buy an ambulance. That would be a goal to work for," Mrs. Sheehan said.

In introducing her idea Mrs. Sheehan noted the number of people who ask the Welcome Wagon, "What do you with the money you make?"

"I am not putting this CESA building business down," she said. "CESA is great but CESA is not going to save your life if you're sick and dying."

Mrs. Sheehan's suggestion brought forth a motion from Fred Johnston, Yacht Club Commodore, that the entire President's Council be appointed as members of the PSL Ambulance Board and organize in an effort to apply the necessary pressure to the elected officials.

"After all, we've got 21 percent of the county vote down here and the county commissioners can only buck their constituents for so long a time," Johnston said. "They have the funds and I think that if we go after the commissioners in strength the job could be done in a year or so, and a lot more efficiently."

In response to the motion by Johnston, Cedrick Benz, Council president, agreed to have the group scheduled for a workshop session of the St. Lucie County Commission.

Walter Wingberg, representing the Optimist Club, pointed out that the staffing would be a more crucial problem than obtaining the ambulance.

Even though Nickie Porter, of the Gab n Eatas, assured the Council the Red Cross held classes for the training of ambulance attendants, the majority agreed that the qualified volunteers staff would be difficult to come by.

Johnston feared that the volunteer service could create more problems than it solved and urged pressure on the county officials for the service.

"The county has the money, so let us get all of our organizations behind the issue and I feel certain this will bring about the best results," Johnston said. "The current contract for ambulance service will be up for renewal within a matter of a few short months. Now is the time to act."

School to be fully equipped

PORT ST. LUCIE--The new Port St. Lucie Elementary School will be completely equipped when the doors open for classes -- tentatively in January.

D.R. Seelinger, superintendent of St. Lucie County Schools, said it will cost $120,000 to completely equip the new school.

"Even though the enrollment will not meet the total capacity of 750 students, this year, we are going ahead and completely furnish the building," Seelinger said. "It is the feeling of the school board that this building will never be equipped any cheaper.

"We have the money and by buying all the furniture and fixtures at one time, we will, of course, be able to get a better price," he added.

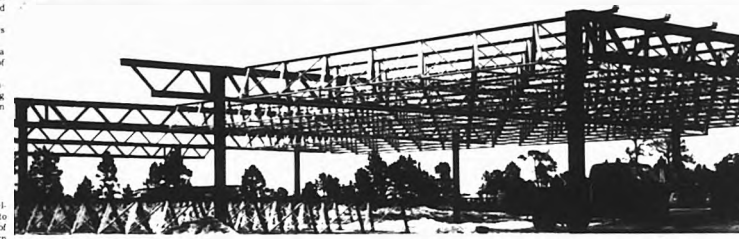
Seelinger expects the new school to fill up and fill up fast as the south county area continues it's rapid growth.

There will be several vendors involved in the purchases.

The steel work is moving along at a fast pace in the first phase of construction.

The 24 room building, when completed, will have a capacity for housing 750 students from Kindergarten through the fifth grade.

Located on a 15 acre tract just north of Sportsman's park, the estimated cost of the school is $1.4, including the land building and equipment.



MOVING AHEAD--The new Port St. Lucie Elementary School construction is moving along at a rapid pace. The steel skeleton, the first phase of construction, has begun to take shape. The school will tentatively be completed and the doors opened by January 75.

TELL'S STORY--This license plate was on the car parked at the golf course at the St. Lucie Hilton. Where else?

GDC requests lot rezoning

PORT ST LUCIE--General Development officials submitted a request to the City Council for the rezoning of thirty one lots located in the northern part of the city.

An R-2 family zoning has been requested for 31 lots situated on one single street to allow the developer to continue the existing pattern set forth in the area.

The street is located just immediately west of Galilean Lane between Nevada and Calmosa Drive.

The council agreed to proceed with the request announcing that a public hearing on the matter would be advertised and all residents within 500 feet of the area would be notified.

The property is now zoned A-1 agricultural.

COG meeting set Thursday

JENSEN BEACH--The regular meeting of the Council of Governments (COG) will be at 7:30 p.m. at the Port St. Lucie City Hall, and discussion on Hutchinson Island and the savannas are expected to top the agenda.

The savannas were discussed by representatives of COG and the Save the Savannas Committee at a special meeting last June 14.

COG members learned at the June 14 meeting that a state survey by the state of the savannas is expected to be under way by July 15.

COG is expected to await results of the state survey before taking any action on the savannas.

Other items COG is expected to disucss is standardizing building codes between Martin and St. Lucie counties.

COG is composed of representatives of Martin County Commission, City of Stuart, Port St. Lucie Council, Ft. Pierce City Commission, and St. Lucie County Commission.

Dr. Ed Geary, chairman of Martin County Commission is chairman of COG.

Babe Ruth playoffs rescheduled

PORT ST. LUCIE--The Babe Ruth League Championship playoffs between National division champs (deal Sports Shop and the winner of the American division will start at Sportsman's Park, Port St. Lucie at 5 p.m. Friday, June 28.

The second game of the championship series will be played at Lawnwood Stadium at 6 p.m. Saturday, June 29.

Scheduled to begin last Saturday, the playoffs were postponed because the American division champs had not been determined as that time. Because of all the rain it still has not been decided with the Schultz Chevrolet and Sportsman Center teams in contention for the top spot.

Ideal Sport Shop is the first Port St. Lucie team to ever win a division championship.

Mama turtle lays eggs

JENSEN BEACH--While mama turtle was a little late, she didn't disappoint the approximately 2,000 persons who gathered on Jensen public beaches Saturday night, June 22, according to Al Tomaszewski.

The Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce sponsored first organized turtle watch was scheduled for 10 p.m.

Tomaszewski, chamber chairman, said the first turtle made an appearance at 11 p.m. just north of Operation Resort Inn.

He said that some 300 persons watched the turtle lay her eggs.

"Two turtles were spotted about 8:45 p.m. north of the Jensen pavilion," Tomaszewski said, "and one more were spotted about 1:30 a.m. south of the pavilion."

"I hope we have another fine turnout for the next watch, Saturday, June 29," he said.

"I want to commend the people for their good behavior. Everyone acted in an orderly manner and were very courteous."

Marine patrol officer Dan Byrd and Sheriff Dept. Corp. Mike Quinn assisted and directed the crowd, according to Tomaszewski said.

Jeeps for transportation were provided by Jim Nowland and Lard Johnson, he added.

"We are looking forward to seeing many more people at the beach this Saturday night," he said.

Blood bank membership nears the 2,000 mark

PORT ST LUCIE--The Port St. Lucie-River Park Blood Bank, with 1900 members, is in excellent shape both money wise and blood wise, according to Cedric Benz, president of the organization.

Speaking before a meeting of the Presidents Council last week, Benz pointed out that he was not beating the drums for new members.

"We have over 1900 members and the blood," he said, "but it can't be emphasized too strongly that we are interested in the welfare of our neighbors above everything else."

They should know about the service, which only cost a single dollar per person to join. There are no annual dues and no extra assessments are ever collected, Benz said.

Benz told the meeting that membership in the blood bank relieves people from the necessity of getting donors in the event of an emergency or operation.

Benz cited a recent incident whereby a Port St. Lucie member slipped from the bottom step of a ladder which resulted in a spinal operation.

"She needed eight pints of blood," Benz said. "The Ft. Pierce hospital price is $35 per pint. The one dollar membership saved the family over $200 for the eight pints of blood used."

Benz encouraged the Welcome Wagon organization to distribute the applications for blood bank membership to the newcomers in the community.

"We must make every effort to see that all the residents of our community are made aware of this opportunity," Benz concluded.

Prizes aplenty await celebrants

PORT ST LUCIE--Members of the Optimist Club are wrapping up thrir final plans for the July Fourth celebration at the Marina.

The activities will get underway with a 10 a.m. parade from Sportsmen Park to the marina. The opening of the day long fair at the marina will commence at 11 a.m. All organizations interested in participating in the parade are asked to contact Chet Sams at 878-3176 as soon as possible.

During the day-long fair there will be prizes aplenty, contests, drawings and a junk car bash. There will also be food, drinks, desserts and salads available.

There will be a rock band both in the parade and at the fair. Starting at 7 p.m. the St. Lucie Trio - Bill, Alice and Roy will provide the music for dancing and a sing along which will be followed by the presentation of the parade trophies and the drawing for the cruise and other gifts.

The local boy scouts will present a short flag program followed immediately by the usual display of fireworks.

Another attraction in the day long events will be the White Elephant sale including a 'Thieves Market'. Anyone interested in renting a table for the day to sell their own collectables may do so by calling Al Rokaw at 464-7770. Those interested in donating items for the White Elephant sale, being operated by Mrs. Par Dolliver, should call 878-2246 or 878-2372.

At 5 p.m. there will be a break in the activities to allow the workers to get a breather, then at 6:30 activities will resume with a demonstration by the Gould Dancing School.

The food this year will be served cafeteria style. This should prevent long lines from forming during the afternoon. According to Al Rokaw, chairman of the celebration, the volunteers will be able to move more people through the line much more quickly and should be another attraction for the days event.

Looking forward to this year's celebration being the biggest and best ever, Rokaw assures each participant day long enjoyment.

Another attraction on hand for this year will be the casting competition presented by the Port St. Lucie Anglers Club.

Among the many contests scheduled, probably one of the most popular will be the watermelon eating competition to be held in the afternoon.

Other events scheduled will include the ladder climb, baseball toss, baloon bust, swing bowl, baseball roll, quarterback toss, basketball toss and the very popular dunk tank.

There will be a fishing game for those under 8 years of age and plenty of food and drink for all.

ENTERTAINMENT--Part of the entertainment for the day long July Fourth celebration at the Port St. Lucie Marina will be provided by students of the Gould Dance School. The young dancers will perform when activities resume following a hour and a half break from 5 to 6:30 p.m. The festivities are sponsored by the Port St. Lucie Optimists.

Court procedure is established

PORT ST LUCIE--It has been established the county court will hold all non jury trials for misdemeanors and traffic violations committed within the city of Port St. Lucie will be held at 10 a.m. on the first and third Monday of each month at the City Hall according to Jim Thomas, safety director.

St. Lucie County Judge DePriest will preside.

All persons who are confined in the county jail on all offenses that happen within the city limits, can, upon posting bond, request a non-jury trial with the option of appearing in the St. Lucie County Courthouse every Tuesday, or at the Port St. Lucie City hall on the first or third Monday.

Those persons charged with traffic violations, who are not required to appear in court, may dispose of the violation through the County Clerks office. Such cases will not appear on the court docket.

All city ordinances will be handled by the county court. According to Thomas, if he sees an ordinance violation he can issue a summons at the time. If, however, it is a complaint from a resident of the community, it will be required an affidavit be signed at the City Hall and the summons will then be issued by the States Attorney's office.

Miami team wins popular Jensen softball classic

WATCHING–This youngster had an easy watching position at the Jensen Beach Slow Pitch Softball Tournament at Langford Park last weekend.

JENSEN BEACH–Thirty two teams from around the state gathered here to watch the eighth annual Jensen Beach Invitational Slow Pitch Softball Tournament.

It was a hard fought affair with some local favorites such as Dave's Plumbing and Stuart National Bank entered.

Dave's Plumbing didn't do so well, as they lost two straight to Dade Sport Shop and to Central Materials. Meanwhile Stuart National Bank finished an impressive 4th. Their losses were to the Kiki Lounge and to Lou Mac of Miami.

But the biggest of all teams was the one named Waldrep & Son Roofing from Hollywood.

Managed and guided by the brilliant play of pitcher Tank Julian, the Roofers went undefeated until the championship series when they lost to the Kiki Lounge. But then, they came on strong to down the Lounge 7-6 to win the championship.

Finishing second was the Kiki Lounge, while Lou Mac took third.

SPORTS

BY DONNIE WILKIE

Finishing fourth was SNB while the defending champions, Bigham Insulation and the Indian River Merchants finished tied for fifth.

Krauser & Crane did well, as they recovered from an early defeat to hand Bigham their toughest game in a long time. The score was 4-3 in favor of Bigham.

No team came up with a longer day than did Abbco last year, but Bigham looked headed for that distinction until they lost to Stuart National Bank 17-15.

Abbco, if you'll remember, had to play and win six straight games last year before finally bowing out in the finals to Bigham in the finals. All this happened on the same day. Well, this year, Bigham had to play three games in a row, and if they had made the final, they would have had to beat five teams. If they had made the championship their possession, then they would have had to win seven straight.

Well, anyway, it's now history and it is a known fact that Waldrep & Son won the tourney.

Merchants

MERCHANTS

ST VALUABLE–Ron Huff was named the most valuable player Sunday as his team Waldrep & Sons Roofing won the championship game at the Jensen Beach Softball Tournament at Langford Ball Park. The presentation was made by Frank Wacha after the Miami team beat out Kiki Lounge of Tequesta, 7-6.

Venture Out News Notes

By Willard Auch

Mary E. meachum is back in the town for a few weeks. In the time she has been away she sold her farm at Peoria, Ill., sold furnishings from her 8-room home, and is now going to become a true Floridian. She expects to do some traveling this summer around the U.S.A. She is also enjoying the spaciousness of her new trailer with air-cond.

Herbert and Charlotte McKenzie with their two children, Sam and Boby, from Lakeland are visiting in Ward and Cora Lee Irwin's trailer. Charlotte is a niece of Ward's. They have enjoyed the good weather and swimming.

Joe and Millie Capra of Los Angeles have just purchased a lot in Venture Out of Indian River. They expect to spend some time here on their beautiful river view lot. The Capras are now guests of Bruce and Cathy Forrester.

I have been telling you from week to week about our dry weather. Well, today we have an all day rain which will help the grass and the flowers.

Lynda Wilson reports she and John had a pleasant trip to Venture Out at Gatlinburg where they spent a week. The park there was half filled for the week end. On the way north from Gatlinburg they stopped for a day with Curt and Helen Varland. They are both well and busy and hope to return to St. Lucie early in the fall. The drive from Cincinnati to Kirkland, Ohio was made in rain most of the way. Wilda keeps busy sewing for the two grandchildren and John is helping with the yard work. They are getting in some square dancing too. A letter from Jane Richdale indicates they are well and busy. Guy is apparently finding time for a lot of golf.

Jessie Shaver reports

News by mail from Stanley and Barbara Clark is that they are enjoying their trip to Norway, Sweeden Finland and Denmark. The weather has been beautiful and temperature 79 degrees. They will be home about June 26.

Sam and Dorothy Tucker are still in Calif. having fun visiting their two daughters and families. Dottie is getting plenty of material from the grandchildren to use in stories she plans to write. They still prefer Florida to Calif. and will return to Venture Out early in July.

A phone call from helen and Roy Williams let us know that they are fine but miss the beautiful sunsets at V.O.

Theo Slagle is home again from the hospital for a very painful back and leg condition. Therapy and good treatment from the doctors and staff made her stay not too bad. Brother Woodie and sister Cass are taking care of her at home now. All of us are so glad to have her back.

The Shavers enjoyed a four day visit of granddaughter Sharon Branch. Sharon also loves to fish and spent most of her time with fishing pole in hand when not at the beach or in the pool. She returns to Miami and her job at Southern Bell on Monday.

Selma Valaro reports

Al Jones was just a week too late in the fishing tournament. He caught a better than six foot sailfish which he then released. Honorable mention to a gentle man.

Lee and George Chamber's grandson Tony is vacationing up here for a week. Tony is having a fine time catching fish, swimming and being boy busy.

Troop 815 holds court

JENSEN BEACH-A "court of honor" was held by Boy Scout Troop 815 on June 17 at the First Presbyterian Church, troop sponsors, and awards were presented.

Skill Awards were presented to David Godfrey for camping; Alex Connolly for citizenship; Aymor Moore for citizenship first aid and swimming; Steve Pulliam for swimming; Noel Delaeport for camping, and Chuck Van Dien for conservation and communications.

Scouts receiving merit badges include:

Dean Roy and Aymor Moore for coin collecting, Alex connolly for leatherwork and first aid; Chuck Van Dien for space exploration, model design and building, stamp collecting and coin collecting.

Tenderfoot progress awards were presented to Connolly, Moore and Van Dien, and these three Scouts pinned their mothers with Scout-mother pins.

Ron Gierdorf is scoutmaster, officiated at the court along with district council executive Jim Edger and chairman of the parents committee W. Connolly.

Institutional representatives of the troop are Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Pulliam, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Godfrey, Mr. and Mrs. W. Connolly and Mrs. C.W. Van Dien.

Jensen Beach resident completes course

JENSEN BEACH-Sandra D. Roberts of Jensen Beach has completed the second annual continuing education advanced cosmetology program in Tampa, Fla. The course was conducted by the University of South Florida's Center for Continuing Education June 17-21.

Mrs. Roberts received a Certificate of Completion, along with four continuing education units of credit. The program is the only one of its kind held in Florida.

Included in the week-long program were 40 class hours of instruction divided between professional hair technology and academic subjects of value to cosmetologists.

Participating in the program were 75 licensed cosmetologists, master cosmetologists and cosmetology instructors from Florida and the Southeast.

Rhonda was one of two girls to be chosen to represent Jensen Beach.

Their sponsor the American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 128 of Jensen Beach, being at the Florida State University campus in Tallahassee June 14 through June 21. In order to be a delgate to Girl's State you must be a Junior in high school. Rhonda is a member of the National Honor Society and will be a senior in the fall.

While in Tallahassee the girls were divided into two parties and Rhonda was the Federalist and the other party was the Nationalists. They are divided into cities which are given Indian names. Rhonda's city is called Wakulla. The girls put in a full day learning about the government and forming their own government, trying to do as much as they could in the short time they were in Tallahassee.

There were 364 girls all finishing their Junior year in high school throughout the State of Fla. "It was one of the nicest experiences and an honor to be chosen," Rhonda said. Meeting girls from all over the state was something she will never forget.

Emily and Boyd Smith report a New Jersey visit during June with relatives and friends. Among social activities was a memorable dinner honoring both Emily's and her daughter's birthdays, Emily and Boyd's tenth wedding anniversary, the wedding anniversary of a grandson, and collegiate graduation of her daughter and another grandson.

All the events occuring on successive days made the candles and sparklers on the various cakes put out a heat wave over South Jersey from the Wildwood famous Lobster House.

Boyd has returned to Jensen Beach to share with other officers and directors the responsibility for setting up the much-needed Martin County Council on Aging office.

Emily is recuperating from an operation which defers her return until next month.

Verbal contributions don't maintain library

PORT ST. LUCIE–Last Tuesday the Port St. Lucie City Council unanimously agreed to the proposal of Vice-mayor Franklin Beardsley to financially support the St. Lucie-Okeechobee Regional Library with an increased $1,500 contribution.

Following a very gracious acceptance of the donation, Mrs. Margaret Beda, library director, just as graciously reminded Beardsley, who heads the city finance committee, that last year's $1000 contribution had not been forthcoming.

Beardsley, appearing to be a little more than somewhat embarrassed, said, "It was my understanding this was paid last October or November. I will assure you we will look into the matter and see that you receive a check right away."

In presenting the library proposal to the members of the council, Beardsley pointed out that every year the council had supported the library even though it was not physically located within the city of Port St. Lucie.

"The library is so close and it is used by our citizens as well as the bookmobile services which are extended into our area every other Wednesday," he said.

"I would like to propose that we increase our support this year to $1500 as a result of our increased population," he concluded.

It was when Beardsley explained to Mrs. Beda that the $1500 would be made payable in the next fiscal year which begins in October, that he was very gently reminded of the previous commitment of $1,000 had not yet been received.

PORT ST. LUCIE–V.F.W. Post 8130 and auxiliary will not have their social meeting on July 4 due to the holiday.

A regular business meeting will be held Thursday, July 18, 7:30 p.m., at the PSL Marina.

SUMMER FUN–What better way is there for the youngsters to while away their afternoon splashing in the surf. It certainly helps to keep a body cool

New rates for use of facilities

PORT ST. LUCIE–Last Thursday at the regular meeting of the Presidents Council, the new use rates and availability of the CESA building were aired for the first time.

Art Coulon, CESA house comm. chairman, made it clear that the new rates had absolutely nothing to do with the proposed expansion of the cultural, education and social facility.

Explaining that Indian River Community College pays CESA $300 per month for the use of the building for classes, Coulon said that this amount pays the mortgage.

Up until now, Carson Meyer, coordinator for the college, has tried to schedule the college classes around the meetings of the various clubs and organizations in the area.

"This," said Coulon, "is no longer possible. The college in a sense has given us a little slap on the wrist, a slap which we deserved."

He pointed out that Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday is IRCC prime time and starting this fall all other activities are going to have to be fitted in around the college classes.

"In the past many clubs have made contributions to the upkeep of the CESA building in lieu of rent, but, some haven't. Since CESA will be ineligible for federal funding after next year, it was decided that regular rates for the building usage had to be set, providing a source of income," Coulon explained.

Rates on the building vary. Users have been divided into two categories--non-profit and others.

The lowest rate available to the non-provit group will be $5 for the use of a single room during the morning or afternoon hours.

Top rate for charitable groups will be $25 for the evening for all three rooms plus the kitchen.

For private individuals, commercial or profit making groups a low rate of $30 will be cvharged with a top rate of $50.

All clubs and organizations, regardless of previous commitments, have been asked to contact CESA for rescheduling.

Coulon said the door had been left open for possible waivers from the above rates but application for such waiver would have to be submitted to the board.

PSL library summer reading

PORT ST. LUCIE–The summer reading program "Follow the Reader," sponsored by the St Lucie-Okeechobee Regional Library, started on June 17 and will continue through July 26, 1974.

There will be fun activities for all ages: story hours for the younger children and book discussion for the older ones.

Wednesday is the day at Port St Lucie Library, with story hours for ages 3, 4, 5 at 9:30 to 10:15 a.m. for ages 6 and 7, 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. Book discussions for ages 8 to 12, will be from 1 to 3 p.m.

For further information, inquire at the library or call 878-1467.

PSL Anglers plan Jai Alai program

PORT ST LUCIE–At the July 2 meeting of the PSL Anglers club, two representatives from the Ft. Pierce Fronton, Rick Bertman, program director and announcer, and Jai Alai star Joey will display and explain Jai Alai equipment and how the game is played.

The program will start promptly at 7:30 p.m. at the Marina on Prima Vista. A business meeting and refreshments will follow.

GET ACQUAINTED–Mr. and Mrs. William Lenz entertained neighbors with a get-acquainted cocktail party in their home on Camelot Crive June 13. The Lenzes were the very first couple to move into the Floresta Pines No. 2 section of Port St. Lucie.

Teeth added to lawn ordinance

PORT ST. LUCIE–Due to the seasonal rains the Port St. Lucie City Council sought ways of putting more teeth into the lawn maintenance ordinance.

"Complaints have been pouring into the city hall reporting lawns being from 1 to 2 feet high," Councilman Franklin Beardsley said.

"The present ordinance provides that the offender be notified by registered mail; he has two weeks after the city receives acknowledgment the owner received the letter. By this time three weeks have elapsed and the grass has grown up like mad in the meantime," Beardsley added.

"Although I can offer no real solution to this problem I do have one valid thought on the subject," he said.

In addressing that thought in the form of a question to City Attorney Rupert Smith Beardsley said, "When a lawn reaches 6 inches or more, isn't that sufficient evidence that the owner is in violation of the ordinance thus enabling the city to go in at that point and cut the lawn, charge him for the mowing costs and fine him if the city so desires?"

Smith said that such an ordinance could be passed but felt it would be rather harsh. Citing his own lawn as an example, Smith said, "Just recently my own grass was not a foot high, it was at least two feet high. The lawn service with whom I contract just simply had not had a chance to get over here. When they did arrive their mower broke down and it was another day or two before they returned.

"Now frankly I don't even own a lawn mower but I would sure hate to be in violation of the city ordinance being the city attorney," he added.

Smith pointed out that most of the lawn mowing services are set up for ordinary grass growth and when the rains continue as in the past three weeks, the contractors are bound to be behind — meanwhile the grass is growing an inch per day.

At the suggestion of Mayor Larry Kimmel, it was agreed the ordinance would be amended to provide the following: the original notification of the city of the property owner would be sufficient for the city to repeat the mowings should the owner fail to make arrangements for the regular care of the lawn. Also the length of time between the notification and action will be reduced to ten days instead of the 2 week period.

Another recent change in the ordinance added a clause providing the fine will become a lien against the property if not paid.

"Now a $25 fine does not amount to a whole lot," said Beardsley. "But if the owner keeps it up for a while, that total is going to amount to a considerable sum because we will continue to levy the fine plus mowing cost each time."

Maximum fine remains at $100.

Women dub Sinners course a monster

PORT ST. LUCIE–The Port St. Lucie Women's Golf Assoc. held a match play against par tournament on the Sinners Course on Tuesday, June 19. The players called the Sinners a monster, since no one beat par.

The first flight tied at down 5. A. Docos, H. Osborne, P. Roberts, M. Simmons, K. Scott, and V. Ellsworth.

In the second flight, two gals almost made it, being only down 1. They were B. Miller and G. Van Hulle. Other scores were D. Cook, down 4, W. Leary, K. Boaz, and I. Chapman, down 6.

M. J. Gates was down 2 in the third flight, followed by R. Neighbors down 4, D. Tanner down 5, and D. Bimmel and M. Jensen down 6.

Fourth flight has J. Radcliffe down 5, J. Fiscus, C. Lorenison and J. McDougall all down 7, and M. Thomas down 8.

J. Bowman in the fifth flight was down 7 while J. Hague was down 8 and K. Ryan down 10.

The players all said they would be glad to get back to play on the Saints Course in July.

Sinners trounce Saints

PORT ST. LUCIE–Once again the Sinners trounced the Saints at the weekly shuffleboard summer tournament play last Tuesday by a score of 11 to 5. Total scores thus far: Sinners 30, Saints 18.

The majority of the Petticoat League players were present by 6:30 on Thursday night. A vote was taken and there will be a change in time of play.

Please take note: Starting Thursday June 27, play will begin promptly at 6:30 instead of the usual 7 p.m. Blanche DeKeulenaere, interim director, asks that all players report before the 6:30 starting time.

87 requested

Absentee ballots are in demand

JENSEN BEACH-If absentee ballot requests are any indication of election interest, then the incorporation charter issue is running at a high fever in the area.

A total of 87 absentee ballot applications have been received, the supervisor of elections office reported Tuesday.

Sixty-seven applications have been received from Precinct 1, Jensen Beach; four from Precinct 2, Northwood, and 16 from Precinct 15, Rio residents.

Mrs. Sandra andolph, supervisor, pointed out that in the county-wide vote last April, there were only 70 absent ballot applications requested.

And there has been a lot of interest in the public meetings that have been held by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee.

Committe Chairman Art Hansen said that approximately 400 persons have attended the meetings and asked questions about incorporation.

"We have more meetings scheduled prior to the July 16 voting," Hansen said. "Committee members will be glad to meet with the neighborhood groups or individuals and discuss the incorporation issue.

Hansen said that persons may call the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce and ask questions about the charter.

The committee has meetings set for Tuesday, July 9, at Langford Park Fieldhouse beginning at 7:30 p.m., another meeting Thursday, July 11, at 7:30 p.m. at Roke Hall above The Mirror offices on Commercial Street, and another Hoke Hall meeting Friday, July 12, at 7:30 p.m.

Hansen said that residents are asking a variety of questions on incorporation, mainly about water and sewers, taxes, planning and zoning, etc.

He said that one person wanted to know why there was only going to be one voting place-Langford Park Fieldhouse.

Hansen explained that the county set up the polling place but Mrs. Randolph pointed out that it would probably be less confusing.

Mrs. Randolph said there would be four voting machines set up each marked for the three precincts Jensen Beach, Rio, and Northwood.

And on absentee ballot voting, Mrs. Randolph said that absentee ballots would be available at her office in the courthouse until 5 p.m. July 15. Deadline for returning the ballots is up to 7 p.m., July 16, the day of the referendum.

Former Martin County Commissioner, Frank Wacha, who has been a committee advisor, has explained the pros and cons of the tax issue at the public meetings.

Using charts to point up his income and expenditures for the proposed City of Jensen Beachm Wacha has noted that the city would share in federal and state revenue sharing, cigaret tax, franchise tax, county road tax and mobile home tax $.

He estimates that the total outside funds would be $323,325.

ax relief, incorporation
ed to two coming elections

BY DICK CAMPBELL

SEN BEACH-If there was thrust inority Republican members Florida Legislature in this last n, it was for tax relief, and Rep. Nergard tied the proposed e Beach incorporation vot to this ge rollback bill election to show t all works.

setting of that millage, however, ade it possible to hole millage in ture down, because if the citizens he millage rollback referendum, nmental bodies cannot increase beyond ten percent, or tenths of one milli people will decide if they want relief or not," Nergard said. ing a phrase of Gov. George ce, I hope that the people send a message. They want relief high taxes. The people want nments to operate with reasonastraint."

ard went on to discribe how he axes are increased without the knowing about it.

y (government officials) say axes are not being increased, but prices go up it increases the four nt you pay on purchases. Due to on, salaries go up, putting people different income tax bracket, using their income tax payments. s a tax increase."

millage rollback bill refers to assessment of property. County rnments, including school boards, maintained the regular levels of ge despite increases in assessa- same amount of millage in 1968 is probably worth twice that much today. If the assessment is doubled, under the millage rollback, if you were paying ten mills, the county would have to drop it to five mills. This would exclude new growth, so the county would have the new money to use to increase services," Nergard said.

The representative criticized state government for not "Leading the way to curbing inflation." He added that there was no restraint in passing the appropriations bill, and voted against the bill.

Nergard cited as "monument building" the 4,300 new state employees, $2 million for new House chambers (our facilities are adequate), $7 million for the new state capitol (and we don't know what it will be or cost), $8.2 million for a state fair building in Tampa, $8.2 million for Interama in Miami (if private enterprize couldn't make it go how can the state?), and $1.6 million to remodel the Biltmore Hotel in Coral Gables (maybe they will use it for housing state employees).

On the good side, Nergard cited the senior citizen $10,000 homestead exemptions, the $20,000 exemption from intangible taxes, reducing school millage to eight mills, with funding provided by the state, full payment of the health insurance policies prison reform and a change in administration rule-making.

The result, if the incorporation passes July 16, and the millage rollback referendum passes in November, shows how tax relief can be obtained, and the entire issue can be a model of tax reform for all Florida.

Nergard told Jensen Beach kwanians on Monday that the Charter for the City of Jensen Beach set the millage in the city at three mills. This figure was to enable the tax collector to set up tax bills, enabling Jensen Beach to get its operating revenue for the 1974-75 year.

July 4th celebration

JENSEN BEACH -The Fourth of July celebration on the Jensen Beach Causeway is going to be "bigger and better" than past successful events, and thousands are expected to enjoy the day of fun and thrill to the evening fireworks diplay, general chairman Dick Neeson said.

The day of fune, food, and games will begin at 9:00 a.m. with the raising of colors, Neeson said.

The Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce sponsered-event will climax shortly after dark with a 45-minute fireworkd display.

Bill (Boom Boom) Yurillo, who runs the fabulour fireworks display, promises another big bang to thrill the crowd.

Clubs and organizations in the area re planning for the big event, and will have booths and games for the kids.

Legion and VFW Auxiliaries will be in charge of serving food, Neeson said, and the Lions Club will be in charge of the games.

A chamber committee has been raising money, $2,500, for the fireworks display, and Neeson said that any money raised by the organizations July 4 will be returned to the fireworks fund for the 1975 celebration.

$50,000 is granted to FIT for center

JENSEN BEACH-A $50,000 from the Kresge Foundation has been received by the Florida Institute of Technology Jensen Beach the money will be used, with matching funds, to remodel the Leach Mansion on campus into a student center.

Dean Tim Tealy told The Mirror that he hoped to have the student center completed for next fall if he can raise the matching funds to qualify for the grant.

Island ordinances are approved by county

JENSEN BEACH-Three ordinances designed to control growth on Hutchinson Island were passed last week by the Martin County Commission.

Ordinances 33,34 and 35 set up a specific management plan for the island. The ordinances have been discussed at several public meetings, and revised more than once.

The ordinances have been a subject of controversy among builders and developers and even commissioners were not satisfied.

A local builder said after the vote that the ordinances were "bad," and said he expects lawsuits will result.

Evans Crary, Jr., an attorney, told commissioners, "You are taking exceedingly valuable lands and creating an artificial marketing system."

Ordinance 33, which establishes the coastal residential zone, was opposed by Commissioners John Kiernam and Ross Philbrick.

Kiernam said his objections centered on placing new values on property, particularly the environmentally endangered lands which become more valuable.

"All we are telling the developers is that we cannot afford to buy the property and the state won't," Kiernam said.

Commission Chairman Dr. Ed Geary said he had problems with the ordinances and remains dissatisfied with them but could not come up with a n alternative to building on the island.

The ordinances eliminate present land-use regulations on the island and limit future use of the property to sonstruction of single-family residences on one-acre or larger homesites without specific county approval.

Also, ordinances draw guidelines for approving future apartment and commercial developments on the island, with four apartments per acre as the base density and additional units if the developer contributes public facilities to the county.

And the ordinances establish a flexible planned unit development PUD) land-use zone to be applied to each new apartment or commercial development which gains commission approval.

In other island development, commissioners approved plans of the Bera Limited Partnership for a 1,065 residence community on 196 acres near the Elliott Museum.

It was the first development approved by the commissioners under the newly adopted guidelines.

A new fir station is to be built either on Bera property or on nearby county owned land.

Besides the dwelling units, the form plans a 12 acre shopping center.

State attorney will probe county commission

JENSEN BEACH-Gov. Reuben Askew has assigned a Bartow state attorney to investigate charges of misconduct on the part of Martin County commissioners.

Glen Darty of the 10th Judicial Circuit will investigate allegations charging commissioners "extorted" monies from local developers by mishandling impact fees.

The governor appointed the special investigator at the joint request of Commission ChairmanDr. Ed Geary and State Attorney Robert Stone.

Stone requested an outside investigation due to the close working relationship of his office and the commission.

Dr. Geary had urged to join him in his request for an "impartial investigation."

Darty, a Democrat who has served as state attorney in Polk County for 16 years, said he would probably begin his investigation after July 4.

Bruce Colton, one of Stone's assistants, was to conduct an investigation into the charges, but Dr. Geary complained that they would not be fair because of another of Stone's assistants, Atty. Dale Anderson, was one of those who had made the charges against the commissioners.

The governor, in his order appointing Dale said that the best interest of the state can be best served through the assignment of an outside investigation.

Last May 1, Dr. Geary, angered by newspaper articles claiming that area developers feel approval of their projects often depend on donations to fire departments, announced that he would not run for election this fall.

In this May 1 announcement, Dr. Geary said that since a member of Stone's office has been quoted as saying that the commission has extorted developers, Stone's office is not the proper office to conduct an impartial investigation.

VFW captures Bronco title with win over Arlington

DONNIE WILKIE

Bronco League's Most Valuable Player David Bocchino, won the league championship Monday night by defeating Arlington Electric 8-3 at Langford Park.

Bocchino pitched one of the best games ever seen in the Bronco League history, as he all but destroyed the Arlington attack.

VFW had its biggest success in the last of the fourth, when they scored five runs. In that inning, Bocchino tripled in three runs and scored on a wil pitch to break the game open.

The contest was the finale of the three game championship series, which saw VFW overcome a first game loss to take the title.

Arlington took the first game 9-5 in Port Salerno, but VFW came back to take the second by a count of 5-4.

That set the stage for the final game and Bosshino's spectacular performance.

ONCO CHAMPS-The Jensen Beach VFW took over the Bronco npionship Monday night by defeating Arlinton Electri 8-3. This last game e them the champs after a three game championship series. Left to right ding are; Manager, Pete Howanitz; Chris Williams, Eric Anderson, Mark Howanitz, Ryan Kinne, Brad Larson, Ralph Weight, Pop Delancy and assistant manager, Joe Grzelka. Local businessmen express opinions on incorporation

RICHARD CONWAY, I think incorporation is a good idea.

CARL SOVINE,Incorporation would be best for the community, according to everything I read in The Mirror

L.D. (KIRK) KIRKPATRICK, Incorporation means local representation and control, and it would create local interest in government

L.G. ARMSTRONG, Incorporation would mean another layer of government and more taxes

GEORGE DUSO, Incorporation would mean a better control of our local area by local people

Developers back sewer plan

JENSEN BEACH-A consulting engineer outlined preliminary plan for getting Martin County into the sewer business on Hutchinson Island at a special meeting last week. And island property owners and developers agreed to advance money to the county for the system.

Developers want assurance that the county will allow them to develop their projects if they advance money for the sewer plan.

Engineering consultant William Bishop said the county would be hard pressed to restrict island developments if it borrowed money for a sewer system that requires development to pay its bills.

Bishop said the central island sewer system capable of serving 3,032 dwellings could begin construction in 1972. When it reaches capacity in about 1982, an addition could be built to serve the island's ultimate development of 5,236 dwellings.

Bishop estimated the cost of the first phase of the plant at $3 million and the second phase at $1.3 million.

Financing of the project could come from revenue bonds, or from developers at $700 per unit which would reduce monthly sewer bill per unit to $8.75, or a plan which calls for $1,000 unit donation reducing monthly charges to $5 per month.

The treatment plant would be built on county owned property across SR A1A from the Jensen Beach public swimming area.

Public action, hooray!

Right on the heels of a successful Jensen Beach Softball Tournament comes another successful July 4 celebration of Independence Day on the Jensen Beach causeway.

The brightest part of both events is that they were conducted by volunteers working together to provide hometown entertainment for residents and visitors.

It was a lot of hard work and the volunteers have to wrup up the day-long activity of July 4 before earning a rest.

The Mirror is proud that it is in a town that has so many public-interested people to take part in and plan such events. We hope there will be more.

To those who took part in volunteering services, we say "Thank you." To those who attended, we say, "Wasn't it fun!"

In good company

The Mirror was honored to receive the highest state award of the Veterans of Foriegn Wars at their state convention last week.

Cecil Branford, who received the award on behalf of The Mirror, said that the top three newspapers in the state were so close in the competition, judges refused to give first, second and third place awards, all three newspapers received the award equally.

The other two newspapers were the Miami Herald and Cocoa Today.

It's nice to be in such good company.

It's good that we have a post as active as the Jensen VFW so that we can cover their news.

We congratulate VFW Post 10066 on the grand sweep of honors at the convention, and Branford on his election as state junior vice commandor of the Florida VFW.

Pot hole filled

South Savanna Road, from Commersial Street to the new section of the highway to the south, received some cosmetic treatment last week.

The spring-slamming pot holes got filled with asphalt by county road crews.

The rumble-tumble stretch of road is still a narrow hair-raiser, but it is safer with the holes filled.

Thanks, Martin County. We needed that.

The Hobe Sound exit on I-95

Coutny Commissioners continue to sit on a consideration on a recent decision of trucking on U.S. 1 through Martin County.

In the usual head-in-the-sand attitude, the commission voted to ask the Florida Department of Transportation to eliminate the proposed exit from I-95 in Hobe Sound. The reason given was to stop future growth in the area, and possibly deter the development of controversial Rotonda in the south part of th county.

This action is mind-boggling.

After the vote was taken, several commissioners learned the exit could take massive quantities of citrus hauling off U.S. 1, and place that heavily loaded trucking on I-95 for through traffic to the packing and concentrate plants of Fort Pierce, Vero Beach and points south.

The commissioners admitted their action was premature, taken with little knowledge of the remifications. DOT officials were somewhat incredulous.

However, commissioners have not taken action to rescind the vote, and there is a strong possibility that the exit would be eliminated unless the county changes its position.

There are an estimated 35,201 truck loads that would use U.S 1 in the next six year if there is no exit at I-95 in Hobe Sound. That figure is from just one grove, Hobe Groves. Multiplication of the loads would be easy if one were to check all the farms and groves of the south county area for their projected highway use.

As it is, the county has failed to solve the problem of proper north-south access. The only usable four-lane road in the county to get north and south is U.S. 1. The only other road is the dealy U.S. 441 in the westernmost part of Martin County, a narrow, two-lane road will all the attributesof killer U.S. 27 on the west side of Lake Okeechobee.

We know of no planning by the county to provide such a north-south road. We have only the hope of I-95, and the proper exits on that highway, to relieve the already overburdened U.S. 1.

I-95 is the best farm the market road we could get to serve the county for the next ten years. An exit at Hobe Sound is absolutely needed.

Superstitions

While waiting for my waitress to deal my dinner of her cull, I was amused at the superstitions that were listed in the placemat with cartoons illustrating the bad omens and good beliefs.

I disagreed, however, with the statement that most of the superstitions were no longer held.

I still believe that Friday the thirteenth is the day of misfortune; and I still throw salt over my shoulder or walk under a ladder.

If you walk under a ladder, the painter could drop a bucket of paint on your head, or drop a screwdriver on your head, making you somewhat screwyer than you are, or wer whiever the case may be.

Some folks believe that if your ears burn someone is talking about you. This problem I don't have. Even with a hearing aid I can't hear them talking.

How many remember seeing horseshoes over a door? To nail a horseshoe over the door assures good luck, and the open ends must point up so luck will not fallaway.

Since there are not many horses around, the shoes are hard to come by. If you nasla horseshoe over your door, make sure that it is nailed securely of it could fall on your head when you slam the door, and you might be sent to the funny farm.

Some folks believe, but I don't, that a child born in the summer will be brighter than if he were b another season. "I'm all for th the year babies.

Some folks believe, and I m majority, that crossing the when telling a lie will prevee You can still get a rap on t when telling a big one, but cros fingers eases the pain.

Some folks believe that a bl the tongue means that one ha lie. It could also mean th stomach is out of whack.

Of course, there is the old cat the one that is bad luck as a bl crosses your path. My only rem dation for this one is to put your some folks believe that an itchy hand means that money is comi itching left hand means m slipping away.

There hasn't been enough coming or going through my h give me an itch. This day and a the folks at IRS in Washingt itching right hands.

And some folks believe that a shoelace is a sign that some thinking about you. That supe must have started with highlig when kids were thinking abo mother to do the lacing before g school.

And remember the squeeky. There are all kinds of super about the sqeeking shoes, like they weren't paid for.

You didn't want to walk to the sharpener in the classroom bec sqeeky shoes.

And some people believe that l luck if you don't sit down returning to the house in the m for something you have forgott.

This one I observe, along with other superstitions.

If you leave the house mornings, odds are you are late you forget somethings, say yo keys, you rush back into the hou try to make up for lost mind driving off in a hurry.

Biscuits and soppin' gravy

I don't remember the name of the woman who ran the boarding house, but she was like most matronly, smiling, personality-plus ladies of sixty or so.

When I came to Sikestons, Missouri, for my first job on a small daily newspaper, fresh out of college, I learned about the place from my boss, Charlie Blanton, Jr., publisher and editor of the Sikeston Standard.

He was paying me $50 a week to sell advertising. I remember my professor telling me that I'd neve make any money there, but Blanton was "the best damn editor in Missouri and you'll learn more in a year than you'll learn in ten years anywhere else."

So, I went there, and needed an economical place to eat.

The boarding house served three meals a day, except on Sunday. Then there was only lunch and dinner.

There was always two kinds of meat on the table, and I'd change from one to the other for lunch and dinner, to vary the meal. Breakfast was special. Fresh-squeezed orange juice, hot coffee, a hot cereal and a cold cereal, eggs any way you liked them. Hot, steaming corn bread.

And, hot biscuits and soppin' gravy.

The highlight of my days there was sitting at the table after breakfast and lunch, eating the hot biscuits smothered in pan gravy.

You have to butter the biscuits first, then ladle the gravy over the top. Grab a fork, and dig in to your hearts content.

The lady got all her vegetables from the small farms around Sikeston. She got fresh eggs, and everything was made right there in her kitchen on that old gas stove that had some of the most ornate ironwork that I have ever seen.

I was reminded of this when I went to Cornwall's for breakfast recently. A special item had been added: fresh biscuits and pan gravy.

There are other things to go with the biscuits, but that biscuits and pan gravy stoppped me cold.

The biscuits were hot, but not steaming a little too much shortening, I guess. But once the soppin' gravy was poured on top, I was 22 years old in the boothesl of Missouri.

Memories are something else, and I reveled in the taste of the biscuits, the gravy, and the moment forgetting calories.

I told the cook how much I enjoyed the taste of yesterday, and asked if she planned some cornbread, steaming hot, for the future. I promise that I won't reminisce when I have my first cornbread, or talk about how the chickens crowed in the morning, or the dew on the unopened bolls of cotton in the fields. I will just eat the cornbread

Perspective

BY JAMIE BUCKINGHAM
VERO BEACH PRESS JOURNAL

The church bulletin board carried the intriguing slogan: "There are no strangers in our congregation – only friends we have not yet met."

That Sunday morning the minister put aside his usual cold formal practice of "welcoming the visitors," and asked the normally reserved congregation to play fruit-basket-turnover.

"I want you people to get up out of your pews and go speak to someone you don't know. Okay," he said looking at his watch, "you have five minutes. Go to it."

The shocked people looked at one another in horror. Church, to them, was a place to put your body when you didn't want your mind to think. A place to be seen (oh, yes, certainly to be seen...but not heard. Now their spiritual leader was telling them to get involved. Some were angry. Others terrified. All were uncomfortable.

Slowly, though, they rose from their pews. Timidly at first, then with increasing enthusiasm, they began to speak to one another. And in the process they made a great discovery. They actually liked being friendly. In fact, they liked it so much it took the pastor 15 minutes to get them back to their seats. People spoke to people. They inquired about children. And offered to help with problems. One man even shook hands with an associate on a long-pending business deal. And a daddy put his arm around his son. It was religion at its best.

I was thinking about this a couple of weeks ago when I spoke at the local Rotary Club. During the introductions, the emcee asked the Rotarians to introduce their guests. As each visitor stood he was welcomed by a chorus of hearty shouts. "Hi, Charlie!" "Hi, Abraham!" None of that formal Dr. Jones and Mr. Golstein business, just Charlie and Abe.

All this was accompanied by a lot of laughing and shouting. It bothered me at first, especially since the reserved newspaper editor I was sitting beside was hollering along with all the others. But by the time the introductions were over, I was joining in the chorus of greetings, laughing and shouting at my new friends. "Hi, Fred!"

I left the Rotary meeting thinking if Christians were only half as friendly as Rotarians, a lot of things would probably be different in our country.

Despite the claim of sociologists that people like to by anonymous, I believe men and women yearn to be recognized as brothers and sisters. We like to be loved, to belong to a family.

Last week I flew up to Louisville for an interview. The woman I had come to see insisted I meet her priest at St. Boniface Catholic Church, Fr. Decklan Thomas. "He's read some of your stuff and would love to meet you."

I stood in the parking lot while she dashed into the huge, fortress-type building. Moments later she was out, followed by a black-robed Franciscan priest. All kinds of thoughts ran through my Baptist head. How do you greet a priest? Do you kneel? Cross yourself (I never could remember whether it was left to right, or right to left)? Kiss his ring? I settled for sticking out my hand.

"Come on," the burly priest laughed, brushing aside my hand. "We're brothers, Jamie." And with that he threw his arms around me, engulfing me in his robe.

Suddenly the barriers were down. No longer was I protestant and he catholic. No longer strangers. We were just brothers who had never met.

Love always brings down barriers. And that's the way it's supposed to be.

Jury system..it's working

BY DENNIS DOYLE

JENSEN BEACH–We all hear too often that the system is outdated and useless.

At least once a day we constantly hear or read of Watergate, impeachment, the credibility of our president, Kissenger, the press and government officials.

How about the judicial branch of our government? These same c ourts of justice will be the means in judgin these indivisuals and groups.

Most everybody moans and groans when notified to appear for jury duty. When called, you can have that say in the system.

The judicial branch can't work without you, or a jury.

And the courts of justice aren't perfect, either. Many innocent people have been judged guilty.

It's a privilage to serve as a juror and judge your fellow man; a duty one should not forsake.

It's a relief to see this system in action, and how all the checks and balances work themselves out.

In every case there is right and a wrong. A juror must weigh the facts and remember that a person is innocent until proven guilty.

It's a responsibility, one someone must do. In how many other countries is a person innocent until proven guilty?

I, too, moaned and groaned when called to serve as a juror. But, after hearing a case and delivering a verdict, I saw the system in action and doing fine.

Things have a way of working themselves out. In a trial, as the one I served with five other people, we were individuals with different ages, religions, occupations, educations, and attitudes. All these combined with the evidence, do, in the final analysis, produce and honest, unbiased decision.

No, not everything is perfect. Our government had its faults. It's up to each individual, as best we know how, not to let these failures oddur and continue.

they say our government is outdated. Yet, I haven't heard anyone devise a system that will work better than the one we have.

Until then, all we can do is try harder to make the present system work better.

Letters to the editor

I have owned my own home in Beach for twelve years, and hearing Frank Wacha prese advantages of incorporation, very much opposed to it.

Having heard the facts given Wacha, I have had to change m and now urge that people in th vote for it, because:

1. Incorporation will give Beach control of its own destiny.
2. Municipal government can l for by State and Federal re sharing.
3. Probably Mr. Wacha woul drafted as Mayor at this part time and I know no one who kno way in State and County affairs or who could better give Jensen a sensible and economical admi tion.

Until now the County has opinion, given us everything we but as large developers come in area as they will more and more convinced that local control more and more desireable.

EN BEACH-Whether or not the ay night turtle watch held on Hoach was a success would entirely upon who you asked cess is to be determined by the which were attracted to the by the Jensen Beach Chamber merce sponsored event, then it a successful venture. An ated crowd of 4,000 attended were to ask the vast majority of rowd whether or not it were sful, the answer would probably least never had the opportunity ng the turtle, although five were during the three and a half atch.

spotting brought at least 500 persons swarming to the area. For the most part only a few were able to view the turtle.

While the turtle had the laboriously difficult task of crossing the beach, preparing her nest, laying her eggs and returning to the sea, the crowds pushed in so close around her, for the most part refusing to give up their position, that fewer than ten percent were able to view the spectacular act of nature.

The watch was scheduled to begin at 10 p.m., however, anyone trying to get to the beach pavillion at that hour was forced to give up in desperation. All parking facilities at the beach were filled to capacity by 9 p.m. and long lines of cars were parked on both sides of A1A.

The late comers, those arriving past 1:30, seemed to have only one alternative, forget the beach pavillion entirely and follow the line of cars being directed by the Martin County Sheriff Deputies hoping that they were headed in right direction to see a turtle.

Somewhere within one-to-five miles the procession would stop and each driver would seek out the closest parking space along A1A.

At this point the foot race began, first to the designated beach access, over the dunes, and on towards the poor unsuspecting turtle.

Those in charge of locating the nesting turtle pleaded wo the crowds to stand back from the turtle. Those pleas, for the most part, fell on deaf ears.

A shirt pocket was torn from one of the guides, while one person, irate at the turtle being disturbed, pitched a handful of wet sand on the NBC camera crew and their equipment.

The turtle watch organizers were quick to point out that the sand was not thrown by any member taking part in the organized watch.

"This was a small group of persons out on the beach by themselves," said Al Tomaszewski, chairman of the watch.

"We were embarrassed to see such a thing happen here, but, I suppose there will always be someone like that to upset anything you try to do," he added. "All in all, though, I think this was the most outstanding turtle watch ever held here."

Tomaszewski said the watch was very well organized and most found it to be very educational.

"I think the fact that it was being televised, perhaps made the spectators a little more eager to crowd in too close to the turtle," he said.

In an effort to eliminate this problem with furtue watches, Tomaszewski said they hoped to use both the Stuart and Jensen Beaches.

"It is our intention to have spotters working from the Sheraton Inn down to the Stuart Beach next year. By splitting up the watch, we hope to have smaller groups converging on the turtles," he said.

LARGE CROWD-An estimated 4,000 attended the final turtle watch held on Jensen Beach last Saturday night. There were five turtles spotted during the three-and-a-half hour watch. The event was sponsored by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce.

READY TO ROLL-- Six trucks lined up to move out to Orlando with 45,000 pound loads of citrus headed for packing and processing plants last Thursday morning at Hobe Grove in Hobe Sound. The trucks traveled state roads to reach Palm City, where they entered the Florida Turnpike for their trip north.

ER LOADER-George Sims, superintendent of operations at Hobe Grove, sponsible for the monumental task of moving over a million boxes of citrus the Hobe Sound fields.

EN LOAD-Millions of oranges are hauled loose in trucks, headed for btrate plants north of Orlando. Each truck carries 500 boxes of fruit, ng 90 pounds each.

1-95 is dormant

Citrus hauling trailer trucks point to need for Hobe exit

BY DICK CAMPBELL

HOBE SOUND The clouds of dust sparkle in the early morning sun as giant trailer trucks each loaded with 45,000 pounds of oranges and grapefruit roll down the dirt roads of Hobe Groves heading for the washboard surface of SR 708.

One truck slows to the entrance to the 5,500 acre grove, allowing several buisloads of harvesters to pull up into the grove. Then it swings out into the highway, its ponderous weight adding to the already overburdened, narrow two-lane surface.

Twenty eight such trucks will come and go each day during the peak of the harvesting season at Hobe Grove, picking up their loads and carrying them to packing houses in Fort Pierce, Vero Beach, West Palm Beach, Orlando and as far west as Bradenton.

The number will increase as the groves mature. At present the grove has produced 885,308 boxes of fruit, of 2,240 loads of citrus that have, in the harvesting period of October 1 to the present, had to travel the already overtraveled U.S. 1 to get from the grove to the market.

By the year end of harvesting, 950,000 boxes of citrus will have been harvested and Tom Gartland, manager of the groves, is worried. He needs a way to move that citrus from the grove to the processing houses that will be safer.

The answer to this problem lies in the proposed exit for I-95, an exit that the Martin County Commission has voted to be deleted from Florida Department of Transportation plans for the Interstate Highway now being planned for Martin County.

Hobe Grove is a young grove and by 1980 will be producing 1,700,000 boxes of fruit.

The county commission concerned over the natural growth that develops around interstate exits took the perception action without consulting the farmers in the area. Later, some commissioners expressed a change of mind on the issue, but no action was taken to rescind the vote.

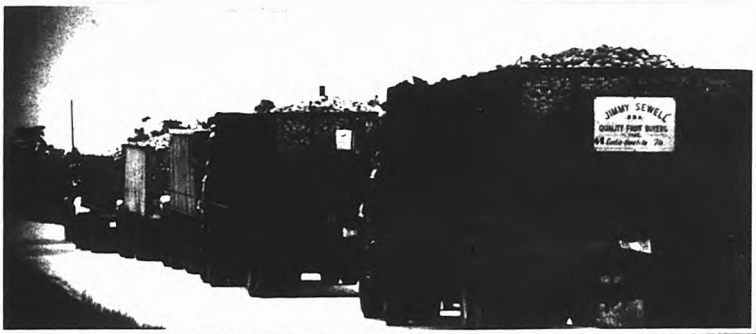
The DOT feels that the county has the power, through zoning, to discourage growth around the intersection of SR 714 (Pratt Whitney Road) and the Interstate, but has somewhat deferred to the county commissioners, are waiting for land use plans before taking up the subject.

We want to get these trucks off the county and state roads and put them on I-95, where they will be able to move quickly, at the least danger to the public, to the market, Gartlan said, standing on the dusty road as harvesters drove up the dirt roads pulling to the side as other heavily loaded trucks pulled out.

Gartland's concern is backed by his firms investment of $12 million in land and equipment, a quarter million dollar a year payroll, and his concern for the 45 year around employees and 25 harvesters who work seasonally.

If we were to take all the loads of citrus coming and going, and the truckloads of fertilizers, diesel fuel, and the many daily trips of harvesters and add them together, we would have an impact on traffic of 36,200 trips in the next six years.

The impact on streets now traveled by I-95 alone should be apparent, greatly increased traffic on exit at Palm Beach County, Gartland said.



ING ROADS-The goal of an exit at Hobe Sound for te 95 seems a good idea when viewed by the pounding Martin County roads take from tens of thousands of heavily loaded trucks hauling citrus to market.

THE LONG HAUL-Puffing diesel smoke, the trucks, filled with Hobe Grove oranges, descend the grade of the Palm City bridge on their way to the Florida Turnpike.

Venture Out News Notes

By Willard Auch

A letter from Bill and Mate Greuling from Michigan about two weeks ago and a telephone call which we appreciated tell us of their summer activities. They have their garden plowed and planted with many, many goodies. We are sure Mate will have them all canned to enjoy this winter. Bill has been busy landscaping their new home with flowers, trees and shrubs of many kinds. With Bill and Mate, it is never a dull moment.

The James Gibsons new Tara Trailer arrived this week and is parked on their new waterfront lot.

Bob Stewart welcomed his wife Ruth and son Van from their trip down the Colorado River. We are sure they had many thrills shooting the rapids and enjoyed a lot of beautiful scenery.

+ + +

A letter from Jake and Betty Davis tells us how they spent twelve days enroute home. Stops in Atlanta to visit family, Gatlinburg Park, and three days visiting Cora Lee and Ward Irvin, enjoying southern hospitality to the fullest.

A letter from Cora Lee and Ward Irvin states, "Have enjoyed reading your column on the Venture Out news, helps us remember our dear friends there.

Betty and Jake Davis stopped by to see us and enjoy beautiful Tennessee, on their way home to Pennsylvania. They spent several days and Alice and Bill Nickeau drove over from Land Harbor and Lincville to be with us, too. We all enjoyed the beautiful island TVA Lake Holston, and seeing the gardens and the horses. We had our farewell dinner at the World Famous Martha Washington Inn in Abington, Virginia, and saw the historical Barter Theatre (incidentally, I believe, the only State supported theatre in our country).

Bill and Alice are getting in some golf while at Land Harbor, might even return to Venture Out as experts. Alice says that she has been keeping a rating chart on the North Carolina weather, and has only five No. 1 days since they've been there. No. 4 days represent rain, fog, and low temperatures so by and large, they left Florida a mite too soon. They did have the golf-ball-size stone removed from their pad and the little stuff put in, and were so pooped at the end of that day they had to eat lying down!

We have the best-cared-for yard on our street. Every time Ward gets restless or bored, he mows and trims and he bores easily. He can't spend all the time on the lake, because I still cook alot and he has to justify my efforts by being here to eat once in a while.

We hope to travel some this summer, but will be tied with horseshoes with Beth Ellen until July tenth. Her Appaloosa is in fine shape, and she had has spent so much time in the saddle, she walks like a cowboy. Her mare Valentine, dropped a filly on June 4th, a perfect little thing which she named Misty Dawn. All the grandchildren are spending a lot of time swimming and playing tennis. O. to be young!

Reported by Selma Valere

Edith and Dick Painter are back home after visiting relatives and friends in Virginia, Rhode Island and New Jersey. They brought back with them their granddaughter, Bobbie Jean Bradley, a true Virginia beauty. Bobbie Jean has been swimming a long time, but she finally learned to float in our Venture Out pool.

+ + +

Catherine and Hank Higgins went north to attend the graduation of their granddaughter, Cathy, from Smithtown High, New York. They also took a side trip to Massechusetts to visit with Hank's sister 210 miles away. When they returned they discovered that they had left a very important piece of luggage behind. So another roudtrip to Massechusetts to New York. Now that they are safely back in Florida with luggage intact, Hank is working hard to get his tan back, and Catherine is busy making brownies for all.

+ + +

Sorry to hear that Dick Tenner hurt his back cleaning out his pool, but Fran says that he is coming along fine and will soon be able to be out on the golf course again.

+ + +

Telephone call from Art and Alice Baumann, they are fine but rather damp. It has rained for four weekends in a row. Here's hoping better weather for them, and incidentally all of us.

+ + +

Olga and Joe Tovello, and their son John from Franklin Square, New York are visiting Selma and Joe Valaro. The two Joes are cousins and its been happy family talk with just a bit of reminiscing.

+ + +

Lila Beckwith came up to spend three days with her daughter Bobbie Ostertag and brought along a recipe for mango chutney for Betty Jones. Betty, our gourmet cook said she couldn't improve on that recipe, it was just delicious.

+ + +

Welcome home to Dorothy and Sam Tucker. They returned from California and will stay a short time before taking off for a trip to Massachusetts and points east.

Brenda Fulton selected for summer institute

Brenda Fulton, of 336 Florida Drive, Jensen Beach, Florida, has been selected to participate in a summer institute in mathematics sponsored by the National Science Foundation at Florida Atlantic University, Boca Raton, Florida.

Thirty-three high school students with outstanding academic records and test scores in math were chosen for the nine-week Student Science Training Program in Mathematics which began June 18. The students also had the recommendation of their math teachers or guidance counselor.

Course work includes an introduction to advanced programming language, basic programming language, combinatorial computing, game theory, linear programming and logic sets in proof. The students are staying at University housing at Florida Atlantic, an upper division and graduate state university in Southeast Florida.

Subcontractors nabbed by IRS

JACKSONVILLE-Recent Internal Revenue Examinations in four South Florida counties have disclosed that a number of subcontractors in the construction industry are failing to withhold income and social security taxes from their employees.

A.J. O'Donnell, Jr., IRS district director of Florida, said that audits conducted in Broward, Dade, Palm Beach and St. Lucie counties have resulted in a number of construction firms being assessed for employment taxes. One recent examination resulted in a West Palm Beach subcontractor being assessed for more the $100,000 for taxes that should have been withheld from employees' pay checks over the last three years.

O'Donnell said that IRS agents are discovering that many subcontractors mistakenly assume that they are not responsible for withholding employment taxes. "We are noting this feeling among drywall installers, masons, plasterers, electricians and other subcontractors."

Everyone who performs services subject to the will and control of an employer both as to what shall be done and how it shall be done, is an employee for purposes of these taxes. "It does not matter," O'Donnell emphasized, "that the employer permits the employee considerable discretion and freedom of action; if the employer has the legal right to control both the method and the result of the services."

Any subcontractor who is uncertain whether a worker is an employee, should contact the nearest IRS office for determination. Failure to do so will result in sizable penalties and interest, in addition to the assessment, cautioned Mr. O'Donnell.

uclear plant site opposed

EN BEACH– A Miami con- tionalist has charged that a Power and Light Co. (FP&L) ried to mislead the Atomic y Commission (AEC) with population reprots on its Hutchinson Island nuclear plant.

Attorney MartinHodder said that FP&L has presented misleading population studies saying that by the year 2000 only 2,800 people will live within a five-mile radius of the plant. He said that there are now 4,600 on the south end of the island.

Also, he said the hurricane standards are not as strict as they should be.

He said that the first plant, which is nearing completion, should not have been built because of its promjmity to a populated area.

He said that it is too late to stop the first plant, but efforts to stop construction of the second unit may be successful.

Both Martin and St. Lucie conservation alliances are backing Hodder who represents himself and five area residents in am intervention suit against construction of the second nuclear plant.

ew court for Port St. Lucie

ST. LUCIE–The St. Lucie Court Arraignment Sessions held in the City Hall of Port St. 10 a.m. on the first and third of each month, Judge D.C chief judge of the 19th Judicial aid Monday.

Smith said the County Court in the Port St. Lucie area will ducted by William G. Tye and DeFriest, judges of the St. Lucie Court.

The court sessions began July 1, the day following the abolishment of the City of Port St. Lucie Municipal Court.

Judge Smith does not anticipate a very heavy court caseload at the Port St. Lucie Court Sessions, but he said that in view of the projected rapid growth of the city and south St. Lucie county area court caseloads will undoubtedly increase at a similar rate. As a convenience, persons in the south part of St. Lucie County having to make court appearances on traffic and misdemeanor offenses whether City of Port St. Lucie or County cases will be given a choice by the arresting officer of making their initial appearance at a County Court Session in either Port St. Lucie or at the Court House in Fort Pierce.

Contested cases either by jury or non-jury trial shall be held in the County Courthouse at Fort Pierce.

Persons who are eligible to satisfy a violation by payment of a pre-set fine in lieu of court appearance may do so in person or by mail at the Violations Bureau, Clerk of Circuit and County Courts, Second Floor of the St. Lucie County Court House in Fort Pierce prior to their scheduled court appearance date. Fines are not payable at the Port St. Lucie City Hall except when court is in session there.

3,000 proposed

SL police udget higher

ST. lucie–Adding to the ruling running a city the Port St. City Council last week received ative police budget from the St. ounty Sheriff's Department. 74-75 tentative budget is of unveiled a proposed increase oximately twenty-five percent e previous year.

udget has been turned over to y's finance committee for said Mayor Larry Kimmel.

gh I have not personally taken look at it yet, it does seem that reases are somewhat limited to is of gasoline and salaries. You arrel with that–you either pay you don't get it," the mayor el said that the council would ely take action on the proposed within the next two weeks.

St. lucie County Sheriff's ment is under contract with the Port St. Lucie to provide police ion within the city.

Norvell has presented the St. Lucie County Commission with a 40 percent increase in his budget for the operations of the sheriff's department next year.

A spokeman for Norvell said that the budget increase was forced by higher costs of gasoline for patrol cars and salary increases for the eight deputies who serve here as policemen.

The sheriff's department also pointed out that not only did the gasoline go up, but maintenance went up as did the prices of replacement equipment such as tires.

Mrs. Kitty Bavakis, spokeman for Norvellm indicated there are no plans for providing additional deputies to patrol Port St. Lucie at this time.

Kimmel said that although the budget reflected a substantial increase, he did not seem to think it was out of line.

"I am waiting the report from our finance committee. If they feel the figures are out of line, then we have plenty of time to take it up for discussion with the county," the mayor added.

rge crowd is expected July Fourth celebration

ST. LUCIE–All systems are the day-long Fourth of July tion at the Port St. Lucie bout, that is response from the local clubs and organizations has been excellent, but only time will tell whether or not the weatherman intends to cooperate. The latest word indicates he will.

Activities will get underway with a 10 a.m. parade from Sportsmans Park down Prima Vista to the marina.

From that point on, the festivities will include contests, drawings, a junk car hash, a dunk tank, plenty of prizes and good food for the entire family to enjoy.

The day will conclude with a fireworks display beginning at 9 p.m.

A record crowd is expected to take part in the festivities, which have been billed by the sponsoring Port St. Lucie Optimists as being the best ever.

JENSEN BEACH –The Fourth of July celebration on the Jensen Beach Causeway is going to be "bigger and better" than past successful events, and thousands are expected to enjoy the day of fun and thrill to the evening fireworks diplay, general chairman Dick Neeson said.

The day of funs, food, and games will begin at 9:00 a.m.

The Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce sponsered-event will climax shortly after dark with a 45-minute fireworkd display.

ST. LUCIE–General Develop- corperation's application for a edestrian and golf cart bridge uitt Canal in Port St. Lucie has ceived by the U.S. Coast Guard.

oast Guard has published the tion by General Development and noted that the applicant has submitted an environmen- ssment of the proposed project. ridge would be an 80-foot an and would provide a clearance of 64 feet above gh water and 70 feet above low with a horizontal clearance of lar quality certification was by the state Department of n Control, June 8, 1974.

School board decision

Walton condo project schools impact serious

PORT ST. LUCIE–The St. Lucie Countyschool Board has stated the Twin Banyon Plantation, a proposed 1,788 unit condominium project to be located north of Walton Road, would indeed, have a serious impact and effect on the county school system.

Robert Amann, project director for the Universal Adams development, asked the school board last week for a letter stating that it had been told of the impact the condominium development would have on the schools.

The project, oriented toward adult living would have a minimum effect on the schools, Amann told the board when requesting the letter.

The school board opinion is required as part of the Development Regional Impact (DRI) studies requested by the Florida Regional Planning Council.

School Board Attorney Ben Bryan, Jr. who has been asked to look into Amann's request, pointed out that Universal Adams predicted that only a few public school students would be generated by the luxury adults-only development, many service workers would be attracted to the community because of the project and they would have children.

Bryan went on to say that inother areas of the state developers have donated land for school sites or money wo help with the capital expansions of the school system.

In the letter Bryan prepared, he also pointed out the students from the 9th to the 12th grade are going double session this next year due to the increase in the number of students resulting from the growth in this area.

Bryan said he has been instructed to investigate the feasability of unit assessment, cash donations or land donations in lieu of cash.

This would be paid by big developers whose units frequently tend to increase the student enrollment of already overcrowded schools, he added.

The attorney said that he would probably contact other counties and school boards.

"There are about five or six counties in Florida that have various methods of doing this," he explained. That's what D.R. Seelinger, superintendent of St. Lucie County Schools, and I will be looking for in our study.

The school board has aimed for some type of impact fee to recoup capital improvement costs incurred by large developments.

Large developments usually mean capital improvements for the school board, Bryan said.

Universal Adams now is preparing its application for a DRI, after the state stopped construction of a causeway across the Sacannas. The developers pleaded guilty to working in state waters without a permit, paying the $10,000 fine.

Blood bank purges list

PORT ST. LUCIE–A "bake's dozen" of volunteers gathered at the Rest Park Port St. Lucie Blood Bank workshop session last Thursday.

The more than 200 membership cards were checked and names of those who are no longer members are purged.

Wiggins frustrated; GDC isn't talking

PORT ST. LUCIE–The chairman of the Port St. Lucie River Park Homeowners Association committee on medical facilities says he efforts to bring together all the factions trying to get better medical services for Port St. Lucie are frustrated. (Wiggins is General Development Corporation)

Fred Wiggin, chairman of the committee told The Mirror Tuesday that he can't get past Bob Seeley, secretary. I talked with him once or while back, but haven't been able to get in to see him since.

Wiggin said that there would be no hope for a coordinated effort to bring medical facilities to Port St. Lucie as long as the many groups working in different directions do not meet.

I know that there is a children's clinic and a Catholic Hospital in the works. I was allowed the briefest of both, but Seeley's secretary wouldn't let me look inside the brochures to find out who is involved. All she would tell me is that there was no way I could see Seeley, and I wouldn't know about the projects until they came to pass.

Wiggin has also been in contact with Dr. Richard Kastner of Maryland who has proposed building on a medical center. He is negotiating with GDC for two acres of land with an option on ten acres on the east of Port St. Lucie Blvd. between Arlene and Floresta, he said.

PSL Mayor Larry Kimmel told The Mirror: I know of one and possibly two groups looking for a professional medical building site. To my knowledge there has been nothing definite on the subject.

Kimmel also said that he had talked casually with various persons, but didn't know their names, and took no notes of the discussions. He did say: The city would very definitely support a medical professional building.

Seeley did not answer calls from The Mirror on Tuesday.

BONNETS FOR DELEGATES–The State of Florida will host the Cooperation Extension Services International Convention when the group meets at Disney World in 1975. Each delegate attending the convention will receive a rain bonnet which the various homemakers in the state are now making. The Port St. Lucie group have completed fifty bonnets todate. Pictured above, seated left to right, are Florence Armet, Elizabeth Clemens, Ethel Nicholson, Dorothy Hatrell, Lucy Demeules and Terry Helback. Standing, left to right, Helen Eberle, Milly Green, Betty Jones and Cas Moncure.

Someone could ask, if we end up with so much money, why increase our taxes The answer is simply that we would not be entitled to state and federal revenue sharing and cigarette tax revenues if we did not levy the three mill tax

Incidentally, this three mill tax may actually decrease the taxes paid by homeowners whose property is valued at less than $16,000 for home assessed at $30,000 the tax would increase 6 1 per cent or 8 2 per cent depending on the home owner qualifying for the $5 000 or $10 000 homestead exemption

Absentee ballot increasing

JENSEN BEACH—One hundred and twenty-two applications for absentee ballots in the July 16 incorporation referendum have been received by the supervisor of elections' office as of Tuesday

"This is a high percentage of requests for absentee ballots in a special election Mrs Sandra Randolph, supervisor said

Mrs Randolph said that 96 of the requests have come from Precinct No 1, Jensen Beach, with 22 ballot requests from Precinct No 13 Kos, and four ballot requests from Precinct No 2 Northwood

There are approximately 3,500 qualified voters for the charter vote

Mrs Randolph said that the deadline for receiving an application for an absentee ballot is 5 p m July 15, and absentee ballots will be received up to 7 p m July 16, election day

Boom, boom, boom

Fablulous fireworks deafen over 20,000

JENSEN BEACH The rockets red glare and bombs bursting in air splashed the deafening climax to a fun filled day across the Indian river sky over the Jensen Beach Causeway Thursday night as over 20,000 people watched the annual fireworks exhibit on Independence Day

Pyrotechnix professionalism produced pleasing oooohs, and ahhhs as Bill "Boom Boom" Viirillo and his team of volunteers put on their annual fireworks show in sprays of red white, blue and yellow ground and air displays

The finale was earth and water percussion as the blasts rent the skied and shook houses and boats for miles around

Cars lined all available roadways driveways and lawns from the causeway to the ocean drive to Indian River Drive all from vantage points as far away as Jupiter Jensen as those not able to get to the packed causeway watched from afar

And a bigger and better fireworks display is planned for 1975 by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors this year's show.

"It was a good show, chamber president John Dyke told the directors Monday night as he reported on the finances for the production

Almost the full amount needed for the fireworks ($3000) was raised by donations. The chamber had to pay $1000 in addition to the donations.

The $2 500 worth of fireworks were paid for prior to July 4 and during the celebration cartons were placed in booths and other locations, raising more than $800. About $400 was raised from food and drinks. About $1,000 was deposited by the chamber to pay bills incurred by the celebration.

The chamber plans to raise $3,000 for the 1975 fireworks display and in order to insure the fireworks a deposit of $500 must be made by December.

Dick Newsom coordinator of the Independence Day day long celebration, said the events were "well attended and the races and watermelon contest were enjoyed by the kids.

Newsom said that about 2 000 persons were on the causeway during the day, and they really started coming about dark for the fireworks.

"The sheriff's department did a terrific job handling the traffic Newsom said.

Civic clubs took part in the events with the auxiliaries of the Legion and VFW serving food. Lions Club running the foot races, and the Boy Scouts joining other service clubs in raising of the colors.

RACE WAS HER Two-year-old Lori Higgins watched the July 4 foot races on the Jensen Beach Causeway. The daughter of Tom and Darline Higgins got on the starting line for one race but then decided against it and retreated to the arms of her mother.

Glasscock: No plan to annex Rio

JENSEN BEACH "I know of no plans to annex Rio or Northwood by the City of Stuart," Ed Glasscock city manager said Monday

There have been rumors in the Rio and Northwood communities that if they didn't join in the incorporation of Jensen Beach, they would be annexed by the City of Stuart

Glasscock explained that all of the property annexed north of the bridge (Roosevelt) by the city "have come in at property owners' request

All the property that has come into the city limits has been at the request of the property owners," Glasscock said

"You cannot annex people's property without a referendum vote." Glasscock explained "And the property must be contiguous to the city limits"

Asked if any residents of Rio or Northwood areas have requested annexation into the City of Stuart, Glasscock replied, "not to my knowledge

Joe Forsberg, president of the Rio Civic Club said he has heard some of the talk about being annexed by Stuart and he calls it "scare tactics"

Forsberg blames the talk that if Rio isn't annexed by Jensen Beach, it will be taken by Stuart a persons "who have gone overboard on the incorporation issue

"I've heard this talk at different times, he said, but he said that being annexed by the city isn't simple, the people have to agree to it."

He pointed out that the City of Stuart has taken property along SR-707 to the radio station, but those property owned by one person

The final act in the 1973-74 City of Jensen Beach incorporation story will be held July 16, 1974, when the citizens of Jensen Beach, Rio and Northwood vote on the incorporation charter

Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce directors were in an uproar at its May 1973, meeting when a letter was read which was critical of Jensen Beach

Contained in the letter was a statement by Blue Water Broadcasting (WMCF) to the FCC concerning an application for a license to operate an FM radio station in Jensen Beach

The letter stated, in part, that Jensen Beach had only 1,000 residents, FIT was not located in Jensen Beach, and Jensen Beach did not have a public school, etc

Chamber directors "talked" about incorporation after learning about the critical letter

Jensen Beach was lost in the new telephone directories that appeared in July as the community numbers were in the Port St Lucie listings

The business community were especially upset with the directories, and petitions for incorporation were circulated with businessman Gary Wright heading a chamber incorporation committee

Within a few weeks Wright's committee had received about 1,000 signatures supporting incorporation Wright reported that of the 1,000 signing petitions 80 per cent said they favored incorporation

At the December meeting of the chamber Art Hansen was named chairman of the Incorporation Committee replacing Wright who had resigned A meeting was set up with Rep Chuck Nergard to discuss the proposed charter

That same month Atty Neil MacMillan began work on drafting the charter

In January 1974, the committee announced that it hoped to have the charter ready for the first public hearing Jan 14, and announce boundaries for the proposed city

Boudaries for the proposed city excluded Hutchinson Island and Rio The committee excluded the island, explaining that it "felt that the responsibilities for services to the island were too great for the new city to assume

Rio was excluded with the committee explaining that it "felt the residents were fairly well divided in their desires to be a part of the City of Jensen Beach"

However, Rio residents met shortly after boundaries were announced and voted to be included in the charter Petitions circulated in the community showed a majority of persons asked back inclusion in the charter

After public meetings at Langford Park Fieldhouse the charter was presented to the Legislative Delegation in February and the delegation approved it unanimously

Further public meetings were delayed by the Incorporation Committee until the county charter vote on April 9 The county charter was defeated

During the Legislature session, the charter passed through committees and both houses and finally became law when Gov Reuben Askew signed the charter

The first public meeting on the charter after it became law was held June 3 and about 200 persons attended

Other public meetings have been held by the charter committee and will be held until the July 16 referendum on the charter

Voting will be at Langford Park Fieldhouse for Precincts No 1 Jensen Beach No 2 Northwood and No 15, Rio

Vote on July 16

JENSEN BEACH All residents of Jensen Beach, Rio and Northwood will vote at Langford Park Fieldhouse from 7 a m to 7 p m next Tuesday on the proposed charter for the incorporation of Jensen Beach

Citizens registered to vote in Precincts No 1 Jensen Beach

Citizens registered to vote in Precincts No 1 Jensen Beach No 2 Northwood and No 15 Rio are eligible to vote in the referendum

Persons living in Ocean Breeze Park, Sewell's Point or Hutchinson Island are not involved in the election and not eligible to cast ballots

FIREWORKS Large crowds gathered on the Jensen Causeway on July 4 for the annual fireworks exhibit. Estimates put the watchers at over 20,000

Attorney seeks judge post

STUART-Stuart Attorney Marc A Cianca Tuesday announced his candidacy for Martin County court judge, the post presently held by Judge David Harper

Cianca, 36, is a native of Tampa, and served as assistant county solicitor for Brevard County and as the assistant state attorney prosecuting felonies in Martin County in 1972-73 before beginning private practice in Stuart

He worked as a policeman and fireman after discharge from the Navy in 1958 While working for Tampa, he completed work for his degree at the university of South Florida and earned his law degree from the university of Florida College of Law

"If elected to this important post, I will endeavor to implement certain procedures to save the taxpayers money and make more efficient use of the time of jurors, witnesses and law enforcement officers," Cianca said.

Don Coward has been designated campaign treasurer

MARC A CIANCA

Dr. Geary will seek commissioners seat

STUART-Former Martin County Judge Hallon Johnson Tuesday filed qualifying papers for his good friend Dr Edward Geary for District 4 County Commission seat, the position he said last April he would not seek

Dr Geary is out of the county on vacation

Johnson a Stuart attorney who will be Dr Geary's campaign treasurer, said he did not know why the Stuart dentist changed his mind

However, Johnson said that Dr Geary wants to serve the people as they want him, and that a great many people thought he has done an adequate job

Johnson said that the county is in a period of growth and that experienced leadership is needed and Dr Geary has the experience

Last April, Dr geary announced that he would not seek election to the seat to which he was appointed by Gov Reuben Askew in 1972 when Paul Bryant was suspended, and Dr Geary remained on the job when Bryant resigned in April of 1973

Dr Geary was co-chairman of Gov Askew's 1970 campaign in Martin County along with Attorney William Scott

When Dr Geary announced his intentions not to seek election this fall, he was disturbed about newspaper articles claiming allegations of extortion between developers and commissioners

Dr Geary called for an investigation of the allegations, and in June, Gov Reuben Askew named Glen Darty, Polk County state attorney, to look into charges of misconduct leveled against commissioners by local developers

Dr EDWARD GEARY

Causeway sewer plant opposed by Chamber

JENSEN BEACH-Concern was expressed by Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce president over the proposed location of a sewage collection and treatment plant

Chamber directors agreed with president Jon Chicky, and voted unanimously to authorize him to write a letter to the Martin County Commission expressing his concern

Consulting engineer William Bishop proposed to the commissioners in June that a sewage treatment be located on the Jensen Beach Causeway

Under Bishop's proposal the sewage treatment project would be in operation by 1976

Chicky also voiced concern for the lack of work by the county on Jensen Beach roads Savanna Road and improvements at Poor Bob Restaurant intersection

Jensen to host Bronco League tournament

JENSEN BEACH Jensen Beach will host the 1974 Bronco League tournament at Langford Park July 12 thru 15 Games start at 7 00 p m

The Bronco League is for players in the 11 and 12 year-old age bracket The teams participating in the tournament are from Palm Springs Stuart, port Salerno and Jensen Beach

Laleche international meets July 11

STUART-The LaLeche International Stuart Chapter will meet July 11, 8 00 p m at 282 Reynolds Avenue, port St Lucie

Leaders for the evening will be Kit Meeker 334-2854 and Linda Cross 287-5070

Ordinances 'subversive'--Timo

JENSEN BEACH-Controversial ordinances 33 34 and 35 of Martin County were explained to Jensen Kiwanis by Larry Timon, vice president of the Martin County Builder's Association, and the application of the ordinances was called 'subversive' by him

"There is a subversive attempt to go beyond the idea of controlled growth," Timon said "It is to control minds At issue, is the basic freedom to make a mistake."

Timon said that the original ordinances tried to "insulate the people from cause and effect"

Expressing "deep concern" for the future of Martin County, Timon said, "We want to grow and still preserve the things we treasure

"We want open spaces, and clean water I don't want rampant, uncontrolled growth We must have the type of growth that preserves, but we do not want control over our minds and esthetics," he said

Timon called upon the civic and service clubs to "provide the leadership to keep the county from destroying the basic values and land values and individual freedom He called 1986 a "critical" noting that two county commissioners would be elected this year, and the Kiwanians to "examine motives of the candidates."

Why incorporate Jensen Beach?

BY FRANK WACHA

JENSEN BEACH-(Editor's Note: Frank Wacha is a former Martin County Commissioner (12 years) and served as an advisor to the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee. His answers to questions asked during the past few weeks on why to incorporate Jensen Beach! The following are some of his answers.)

Why incorporate Jensen Beach?

Additional revenue will be available for needed areas improvements when we become a city, we will be eligible to participate in both federal and state revenue sharing, as well as other non-tax funds. You will see sources of revenue available to our city in the paragraphs to follow.

Self government-self planning-self zoning: as a city, we will have five city councilmen who live in our area. We will have five members on our planning board who live in our area We are now governed, four of theses making decisions that affect our daily lives, live in other parts of the county. There are about 6,000 of us living in the area of Jensen Beach Incorporation, we should be capable of governing ourselves

To protect the size of our area - the size of our tax base: the city of Stuart recently annexed a part of our area to the north of it to their city limits. General Development could, through legislative action, annex their Jensen Beach area along the cut-off road into the City of Port St. Lucie. Each time we lose property from our area by annexation, we lose tax base and face the possibility of a tax increase.

Will our taxes double?

No-way - The only tax rate that will change is the District 'A' rate, and that only slightly The rest of our tax bill will stay the same unless changed by our county commissioners or school board. Some people are confused on school taxes, because in the north the cities collect school taxes. This is not the case in Florida. Only the county school board collects school taxes The table shows the effect that being a city will have on your tax bill Using the 1973 rates, those who have an increase, will only have a slight one Some will even have a slight decrease - Why? Because you District 'A' tax is figured before the deduction for homestead exemption, and the city tax will be figured after you deduct your homestead exemption.

Will we have a sewer and water plant?

Not necessarily so - The need for central water or sewer will not come any sooner just because we become incorporated. Sewall's Point and Jupiter are both incorporated and neither have central sewer. By proper planning, we might be able to delay the day we start construction on the plant Planning can be best done by 5 persons living in our City area, rather than by 5 persons living Outside Our City Area. It is also a known fact, when these improvements are needed, that there are more funds available to help cities, than there are to help counties

What should we do as incorporated town?

Come to the meetings now being held to discuss incorporation, and make sure that all of your friends also attend. An informed public will be good for our area There is no demand that all agree on the subject, only that all know and understand the facts on incorporation.

HOW MUCH MONEY WILL THREE MILLS OF TAX RAISE FOR THE JENSEN-RIO AREA

TYPE OF REVENUE	NOT AS A CITY	AS A CITY
1) PROPERTY TAXES	$175,000.00	$135,000.00
2) FEDERAL REVENUE SHARING	NONE	60,000.00
3) STATE REVENUE SHARING	NONE	120,000.00
4) CIGARETTE TAX FUND	NONE	72,000.00
5) FRANCHISE TAX	NONE	60,000.00
6) 1/2 COUNTY ROAD TAX	NONE	9,450.00
7) SHARE OF MOBILE HOME TAG	NONE	1,875.00
TOTAL REVENUE FOR AREA	$175,000.00	$458,325.00

COMMENTS

The reason that the amount under 'NOT AS A CITY' is greater than the amount under 'AS A CITY' is due to the fact that our present County District 'A' tax for municipal services is computed before the deduction for Homestead Exemption As a city, our municipal tax will be computed after the deduction of Homestead Exemption

3 These funds come from the federal income tax we now pay The Federal Government is now sharing funds we pay with cities, we are not a city, so we don't receive it.

3 This fund is made up of gas tax we pay, cigarette tax we pay and sales tax we are now paying We now pay these taxes to the state, the state shares these funds with the cities in the state, we are not a city, so we do not share in the fund

Line 4 This fund is made up of two cents of the cigarette tax we now pay to the state The fund is distributed to the cities in the state We are not a city, so we do not share in the fund

Line 5 This amount is paid by utilities companies in the state to cities as a franchise to do business in the city The City of Stuart collects this tax now, and the rate of electric in Stuart is the same as the rate in Jensen-Rio

Line 6 This is one-half of the road tax we now pay to the county All of the cities in the county now receive back this one-half collected in their City

Line 7 This is one-half of the price of the mobile home tag now paid by those living in trailers One-half of the cost of the tag goes in the city in which the trailer is located, the other half of the cost goes to the schools

Incorporation 'hot line' is established by CofC

JENSEN BEACH-An incorporation 'hot line' has been established as part of the final campaign by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee to 'inform the public' prior to the July 16 referendum on the incorporation charter for the City of Jensen Beach

Committee chairman Art Hansen said persons may call 334-3273 from 8 a m to 5 p.m. and questions about incorporation will be answered

Also, Hansen said that two final public meetings are scheduled-Thursday, July 11, at 7:30 p.m. at Hoke Hall above the Mirror offices on Commercial Street; and Friday July 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the Rio Civic Center

Committee members will be at Langford Park Fieldhouse to meet with groups or individuals They will be at the fieldhouse Saturday, July 13, from 1:30 to 5 p.m.

Hansen said that he will be at the All Saints Episcopal Church Sunday, after the 10 a m. services

Another Jensen Beach area church, the Community Church, will hold an incorporation discussion after the 10 a.m services Pastor, the Rev. Donald Johnson said that a discussion on incorporation was held after last week's services

No other area church plans incorporation discussion, but the Rev. D. Clark Thompson, pastor of the Trinity United Methodist Church, would have incorporation material available

Incorporation YOU WANT TO KNOW

(Editor's note: These are questions raised in the past weeks by residents of Jensen Beach and Rio, who have had their questions answered by the Incorporation committee of Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce.)

1. What will the business license fees be?

The Incorporation committee has suggested that the license fees be set at a minimum The city council will set the fees, however

2. Would the franchise taxes charged Florida Power and Light Company, Southern Bell and Martin County Cable raise our utility bills?

No According to Gene Van Curen, district manager of Florida Power and Light Co., the franchise fee paid by FP&L is "paid out of earnings for the privilage of doing business with Jensen Beach."

3. How soon would the city get its money from taxes, etc?

Jensen Beach would be a city on October 1, 1974, if the referendum on the city charter passes Taxes then would be received as soon as 1974 taxes are paid, possibly by November or December. State revenue sharing would be paid quarterly, possibly April, 1975 Cigarette taxes would be paid monthly, probably starting around June 1, 1975 Federal revenue sharing comes in quarterly, but there is no idea how soon that would come in Franchise taxes would be paid one year after the city council passes a franchise ordinance

4. What will stop the city from borrowing lots of money?

The charter limits borrowing to $100,000 in any fiscal year. The charter also provides that it would take a referendum to get more money

5. Should the city run short of money, can an emergency tax be levied?

No The budget is set by the city, and the county collects the taxes that include the city millage The charter forbids deficit financing, providing that the budget cannot exceed the anticipated taxes

6. Will the police force be operated separately from the county police? Where would the prisoners be housed, and who would pay for their keep while in jail?

This will be determined by the council at public hearings Either an independent police force, or contract for services with the county sheriff's department is to be seen Prisoners would be housed in the county jail and be the responsibility of the county, with their keep paid for out of the fines and forfeiture of the city

7. Will the fire department remain voluntary?

Yes We encourage the council to contribute an additional $3,000 for a part-time fire inspector for fire prevention work This might reflect in insurance costs

8. When and how would the mayor and commissioners be elected in the charter is passed, and how would candidates be selected?

Individuals seeking the council or mayor seats file with the county supervisor of elections The non-partisan election will be held in the first fall primary, Sept. 10 A majority of votes in city would be needed for election The term of office would be for two years, but two council seats would be for one year in the first election so that two council seats would be open for election during each of the future years

9. Will the state be more apt to require sewer and water facilities if we become incorporated?

The health needs would dictate whether or not Jensen Beach was incorporated The difference lies in that local people would play an important part in what should be done, when it should be done and how it should be done, and who will do it.

10. Would the city officials vote themselves enormous salaries?

If they did, it would have to be by ordinance, so we would know about it ahead of time by public hearing and public notice The charter provides a way to remove officials who place their interests ahead of the community

11. What will stop taxes from increasing the ten mill limit?

Elected officials generally do what the people ask them to do Candidates would be asked to commit themselves to holding the line on taxes when they run for office the incorporation committee feels that the ten mill property tax is adequate, considering the several other sources of revenue such as state and federal revenue sharing, franchise taxes, occupational license taxes, and the city share of cigarette and mobile tag sales taxes.

Merchant dues delay

JENSEN BEACH-A delay in preparing by-laws and dues structure for the Merchants Division of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce, was reported to the directors Monday night by the chairman of the committee

Mrs Virginia Van Dien, chairman of the by-laws and dues structure committee of the Merchants Division, said she wanted to wait until "there is more steady representation by merchants at the meetings."

She noted that different merchants attended the meetings but "there was no steady representation."

Mrs Van Dien, a chamber director, also reported that she had checked with merchant associations in Stuart and Vero Beach to determine how they operated PENNY SAVER-Matthew Thibaut is pictured depositing pennies into his piggy bank as Cathy Green of the First National Bank and Trust Company of Stuart looks on. The First National Bank recently received an urgent request from the Administrator of National Banks to operate in a campaign to get pennies back into circulation.

A coin counting machine is available for loose deposits and The First National personnel will gladly count the pennies for deposit or redemption.

The United States Department of Treasury will send a special citation to those persons on record having brought to a bank $25.00 or more in pennies.

Anglers casting demonstration is planned for July 17th

JENSEN BEACH-A local angler will give a casting demonstration next Wednesday, July 17, at 9 a.m. at the Park and Fish on Hutchinson Island.

Willard Bowman, a former junior and senior surf casting champion, will give the demonstration through the Martin County Anglers Club.

Those interested are reminded, it will begin at 9 a.m. and not 10 a.m. as stated in a recent Anglers newsletter, according to Bowman.

A few years ago, the Anglers Club sponsored a similar demonstration which proved very successful. About 100 persons attended.

Geneology workshop

STUART-Visitors are welcome to attend the geneology workshop meeting at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, July 11, at the Conference Room of the Martin County Public Library.

The group is the Martin County branch of the Pal Beach Geneology Society and meets regularly on the second Thursday of each month at the library.

Informal discussions are held on family history research and assistance given to newcomers who wish to begin this hobby. A visit to the geneological department of the library and an outline of the material there and how to use it is available.

Obituaries

MAX WILKIE DIES

JENSEN BEACH-Max W. Wilkie 54, died suddenly on June 27, 1974, at Savannah, Ga. He was the son of Marguerite Wilkie and the late Andrew J. Wilkie of Jensen Beach.

PAUL LEON TROY

JENSEN BEACH-Paul Leon Troy, 67, of Jensen Beach, died Friday, July 5 at Martin Memorial hospital.

He had been a resident of this area for the past four years, coming from Lansing, Michigan. He was a member of the Lutheran Church in Lansing and a retired electronic engineer.

Survivors include his wife, Ruth, of Jensen Beach; six sons, three daughters, and twelve grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday, July 8, at the Aycock Funeral Home Chapel in Jensen Beach with the Reverend William Schepman, pastor of the Redeemer Lutheran Church in Stuart officiating. Interment was in All Saint's Cemetary.

Fronton night is planned

PORT ST. LUCIE-Plan have been completed for the members of the Port St. Lucie Welcome Wagon to attend Jai Alai at the fort pierce Fronton Friday night.

All members are to meet at the Port St. Lucie Marina so they can be seated as a group at the Fronton. For additional information, contact George Petrush, Jr., at 878-3789.

A luncheon has been planned for July 15 at the Holiday Inn in Fort Pierce. Happy hour will start at 11:30 and members are welcome to play bridge after the luncheon.

Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Water Dill at 878-1259 on or before July 9.

Mrs. Paul Sheehan, club president, enlivened the July 1 meeting when the group met for their regular meeting at the Marina, by introducing Crazy Bridge. Forty members participated in the looney episode.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO MATT

SERVICE OFFICERS REPORT BY GEORGE HODGE

Ill Many veterans who are severly injured from injury or disease incurred during military service, are eligible for special housing allowance from the Veterans Administration. To be eligible for this grant, the veteran must be in receipt or entitled to receive compensation for permanent and total service-connected disability, plus one of the following:

(1) Loss, or loss of use of both lower extremities, precluding locomotion without the aid of braces, canes, crutches, or a wheelchair.

(2) Blindness of both eyesm having only light perception, plus loss or loss of use of one lower extremity.

(3) Loss, or loss of use of one lower extremity, together with rediduals of organic disease or injury which so affect the functions of balance or propulsion as to preclude locomotion without resort to a wheelchair.

Assistance is offered whereby a veteran can acquire suitable housing unit with special fixtures, or movable facilities made necessary by the nature of the veteran's disability. If requested, the VA will furnish the veteran free model plans and specifications of suitable housing units from which he may choose.

The assistance authorized will be limited to one house unit and necessary land, and on a one-time basis. The allowance may be used to pay part of the cost of building, or buying a home, or to remodel an existing dwelling. The allowance may also be used to pay off indebtedness of such home already acquired by the veteran. The allowance cannot be more than 50 per cent of the cost, up to a maximum of $17,500. The veteran can use his GI home loan benefit to finance any amount which is in excess of the above maximum allowance.

Direct loans to finance specially adopted housing may be granted anywherre. Proof that the veteran cannot obtain a loan from a private lender is not required.

Veterans Mortgage Life Insurance up to $30,000 or the amount of the mortgage, whichever is lesser, is available to the veteran who has been authorized a specially adapted home. The insurance is payable only to the mortgage holder and no insurance is payable in the event that the mortgage is paid up prior to the veteran's death. The premium charge the veteran will cover only the cost of insuring standard lives. The Government will bear the administrative cost of the insurance and the cost of excess mortality attributable to the veteran's disabilities.

CESA plans party

PORT ST. LUCIE-The CESA volunteers are planning a Tupperware party at the CESA building on Saturday, August 10, 1:30 p.m. The demostrator and dealer will be Mrs. Barbara Abrams. Refreshments will be served and the volunteers are hoping for another boost to the building fund from this affair.

\+ \+ \+

Staterooms on the Southward will be available for the Fun and Fund Cruise right up until sailing time on July 28. Reservations can be made by calling 878-3137. Full payment will be required at this time.

There will be buses at the North Port St. Lucie Marina to transport passengers to the ship in Miami and for the return trip on July 28.

...un, food and fireworks highlight July Fourth celebration

ST. LUCIE-Although the ...dence Day celebration at the Port St. Lucie Marina fell a little short of what the sponsoring Optimist Club had hoped for, they still came through showing a profit.

"A large crowd was on hand during the morning and early afternoon, but dropped off considerably until evening," said Al Rokaw, chairman of the day-long celebration.

"There were several things against us this year," he explained. "The weather was threatening, many families went away for the four-day weekend and I also feel the inflationary period we are experiencing now had a lot to do with it."

Rokaw pointed out that they are already evaluating the situation and making plans for the next year.

Proceeds from the celebration will go towards Sportmans Park. The club is presently trying to raise money to purchase the two transformers to operate the lights. Another immediate project the club has undertaken is the fencing of the second baseball field.

...OTIC FOURSOME-Michelle, Gina, Marie and Chery Rivaldo donned ...red, white, and blue outfits for the Fourth of July celebration at Port ...a very pretty patriotic foursome.

HERE COMES THE PARADE-"I can hear it!" Cecil tells his sister Michelle, as the two Garners patiently await the parade.

COMPANIONS-Frankie Mazzella and Lynn Hicks play in the Marina and cool off from the heat during July Fourth celebrations at PSL.

SERVING-Shirley Sams, left, serves salad to Dottie Rullo at the Fourth of July picnic.

July 4th baby parade winners announced

STUART–The July 4 parade was held in Stuart for the third consecutive year, and the event is sponsored by the Stuart Recreation Department.

Theme of the parade was "most patriotic" and John Carino won the title and received an individual trophy.

Ribbon winners were: Division One (children and singles) most patriotic, John Carino, 20 Rustic Hills, Stuart; most attractive, Danette Reed, Leilani Heights, Jensen. Division Two (groups walking) most original, Pelican Cove Marching Band, Charles Rathkopf, Teddy Rathkopf, Joe Flynn, John Flynn, John Tracey and Susan Tracey, all residents of Pelican Cove; most attractive, Heather Campbell, Kim Campbell, 3 North River Drive, Stuart; most patriotic, Rene Shackford, Eva Shackford, Cori Chason and Jenifer Forman, Jensen Beach.

Division Three (duo rated wagons, floats or carriages) most attractive, Stephen and Heather Taylor, 1803 Harbour Point Road, Stuart; most patriotic, Tony and Gina Felicione, 842 Stafford Drive, Stuart; most humerous, Kim and Frankie Clerico, Route 5, Rustic Hills, Stuart. Most Original, Deborah, Andrea and Chris MacMillan, 525 Hibiscus Avenue, Stuart, and Kelly Shawn and Devin Fogarty, 1101 5th St., Palm City.

Division Four (decorated bikes) most humerous, Charman Mathis and Lisa Love, 400 Akron Avenue, Stuart; most patriotic, Charles Stallings, 706 West 3rd St., Stuart.

Trophies went to overall winners most original, MacMillan and Fogarty groups most attractive, Steve and Heather Taylor; most humerous, Lisa Love and Charman Mathis, and most patriotic, John Carino.

John Carino will have his name engraved on the permanent trophy displayed at the Recreation Department for his title as the Most Patriotic in the 1974, July 4 Baby Parade.

DIGGING IN–Watermelon is good to eat, and it is even more good to eat if it is free and in a contest. Digging into the heart of the melon are youngsters who took part in the VFW sponsored watermelon eating contest July 4 on the causeway.

It's a small world even in University of Florida

GAINESVILLE–When Richard Bowman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bowman, Jensen Beach, decided to get a mole removed from his back, the last thing he thought of was a reunion.

Dick Bowman entered Shands Hospital at the University of Florida Medical Center on June 28 to get the stitches removed from his minor operation and found the stitch-remover to be medical intern Porky Bryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bryan, Jensen Beach.

"I hope that you're better at this than you were with a baseball bat," Bowman told the former Martin County High School athletic star.

Dave and Flora McCarthy are in Connecticut visiting relatives on the last leg of their vacation They phoned they will return about July 15.

+ + +

Dick and Janet Urso are permanently in the Park on lot 150, having sold their house in Miami. They just bought a new Rolls trailer.

Violette and Merrel Webb of lot 539 leave July 8 for Mexico First a dancing engagement, then a holiday Do enjoy it.

"Teenie" Kendall is the new gal in our rental office Sorry to report that Margie Ramistella left We were all sorry to have her go, but wish her luck in her new position.

Paul and Evelyn Seban of lot 350 returned from their vacation.

+ + +

David Lemley and family, from Circleville, Ohio, were in for the Fourth on lot 114 They were guests of the McDonalds.

+ + +

New signs are now up on Fisherman Blvd denoting north and south numbers on Dolphin, which is helpful to our guests looking for certain lots.

+ + +

Fred and Eleanor Greenough have returned from a month's tip to New York and Connecticut where they visited relatives and friends They told me they are glad to be back home They also stopped at Venture out in Gatlinburg, Tenn. and enjoyed the Smokey Mountains coming home.

Muriel and Herb Marin's daughter, Kathleen Mae Hoke, is starting 17 weeks training in radiology at the base in Witchita Falls, Texas. Kathleen graduated with the first class from Plantation High School.

Rain slows down fishing

JENSEN BEACH-Last week's rain kept some of the fishermen in, but there were still quite a few good catches.

Snook continued fairly plentiful as Harman Fawcett had 10 for the week, Al Kroll, 4, Dick Hoke, 1 snook and 1 tarpon, W.W. Thompson, 2 snook, Jeanne Miller, 1; Charles Areni, 2; and Walter Neff landed 2, one weighed 15½ lbs., one 22½ lbs.

Harry Snyder and family from Stuart went surf fishing on the holiday and brought in a 20¾ pound snook. Russ Bolton, fishing the South Fork, caught 6 snook (released 5), 3 snapper, and 1 sheepshead.

Other catches recorded at the Snook Nook were: Ed Wagner, 4 trout, Frank Morgan, 3 blues, Roy Greenwald, 3 trout, 3 trout and 1 grouper with Bill Holloway, and, with Floyd Gillen, 5 trout, James Crouse, 1 trout, Al Martz, 21 trout, Luct Hertel, 6 croaker, Wayne Anderson, a 28 lb. jack, Ruth Lutte 2 trout, 1 sail cat and 2 yellow tails.

Fred Stresan had a 9 lb. 10 oz. trout, John Hosier, one 6 lb. trout, and Bernie and Linda Higgins, 12 croaker.

Lazurie and Scott Weber, 5 and 8 years of age respectively, were fishing in the river Sunday using fresh shrimp, and landed a mess of bottom fish.

In answer to some people who inquired about Irv Fisher, his name hasn't been in the fishing report for a couple of weeks because he and his wife Dorothy have been vacationing in Springville, New York.

Holiday Outlines

By Ruth Bowes
334-4946

Alya Scott of lot 86 has returned from Maine and will be permanently in the park She drove over to Venice to visit her son and grandchildren, and to Naples to visit a friend and play golf.

+ + +

The Levine family of lot 137 were in for the holiday.

+ + +

Heard from Ruth and John Ruttschafer They have traded for a larger motor home and are busy on trips in and about Alma, Mich., since the weather turned better.

+ + +

Seems Palma Smaniotto really caught up on her letter writing as so many here received letters all at the same time, including me. She subscribed to our Jensen Mirror for the first time, and tells of enjoying it very much.

+ + +

I also heard from the Schoenis' of lot 256. They are in their new home facing the Des Moines River in Iowa, where they have their own picnic and fishing frontage. It reminds them somewhat of Holiday out, but they do miss the ocean. E.W. won't get rusty on his fishing while away.

+ + +

A Good Report!! I hear that Mabel Henrickson has under-gone that long awaited surgery and is now doing very well. Also, that Mabel and Bill will be back in the fall. We will all be so happy to have them back.

+ + +

I also hear that Aron Olmsted of lot 322 is now riding a new 10-speed bicycle. Guess Aron heard of our new speed signs. I wonder.

+ + +

The Holiday was good. Many guests and owners were here. The weather was good and there were lots of barbeques and peppy children.

Lois and Norma Markham were visiting in the park Saturday. It was good to see them again.

Happy birthday wishes are extended to Erling Johnson, July 2. June Carlton, July 4; Hayden Steen, July 7; Jessie Amerman and Mac McCabe, July 9; Greta Updyke, July 10; and Alice Buhl, July 14.

+ + +

Bingo winners were: Jeff Cullum, 3; Gwen Levine and Gene Kinser, 2; and Ronald Levine, Joanne Tidwell, Florence Levine, Edna Kinser, Harry Chilton each won one.

Ocean Breeze News Notes

BY AL TOMASZEWSKI

Pancho and Senarita Springman have returned home from Mexico. It was an exciting trip for Fritz and Bunny. First stop was at the Naval Base in Corpus Christi, Texas to visit son-in-law Lt. L.W. Tucker, his wife Patty, and grandson Dewey. A trip to San Antonio to see the Alamo. After climbing the walls, they took in the Spanish restaurants to prepare their systems for the Mexican gourmets to follow.

Reaching Mexico, they traveled throughout the country to enjoy the mountain scenes and towns. You think we have traffic problems in Jensen, try driving in Mexico.

Having tequila and spicy tortillas for breakfast, they experienced what it is like when they see the commercial, "Try it, you'll like it." A stay at the Holiday Inn at Laredo and Monterey, where they fixed two ice packs to put on their hot, flaming "ERRR" stomachs to cool things off.

Then it was back to Corpus Christi and family. Here they witnessed a hair-raising air show performed by the Navy's Blue Angels. Bunny was proud to get a Blue Angel pilot, Lt. John Patton, to autograph her sailor cap. Their son-in-law introduced them to a student training plane. It is grounded but equal to all air maneuvering. Bunny and Fritz each madea solo flight. Bunny made a nose dive with the plane, what with all that Spanish food, now she is still suffering from a "Swell Head."

Leaving the family in Texas, they ventured out to New Orleans and the French Quarter. A trip on a back paddle wheeler called the "President" on the Mississippi River gave them the feeling of the days our forefathers traveled this way. Bidding the south goodby, they dashed for home in time to watch the fireworks here. So, form now on, it is "Saludos Amigos."

Mrs. Esther Ilemeyer received a letter from a daughte of Rausy Matthews of So. 7th. She informs us all that her mother has been hospitalized for the past two weeks. Friends wishing to send Rausy letters may do so in care of her daughte, Mrs. Dolly Myblad, R.R. 2, Kent City, Mich., 49330. We all wish Rausy speedy recovery and the best of health.

Having been given a ride to the W.P.B. airport, John Fager flew to Cumberland, Pa. for the summer.

It is so nice to live here in Ocean Breeze and box seats to watch the fireworks on the causeway. It also brings old friends old friends to join you. Think how many injuries were avoided on the home grounds if the master of the house was trying to shoot the same fireworks. We are all grateful to those who supported it and worked hard on it. It was beautiful once again.

+ + +

Vacation is really a fine time for visiting friends and relatives. Tom Redinger, son of Clyde and Lila of Areca, flew in from No. Hampton, Mass. Tom has a high ranking position at the V.A. hospital in that town. Arriving at W.P.B., he rented a car to drive to O.B.P. While here he attended a class reunion held at the Holiday Inn on hutchinson Island. Tom has attended schools in Jensen and Stuart. He drove to Gainesville to the University of Florida to visit friends of the past, after which he returned to his parents for a week and the conclusion of his vacation. He left Monday to return to North Hampton.

+ + +

Mrs. Esther Ilemeyer received a call from Michigan Friday evening with some real sad news. Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Bolin, formerly of Cypress Drive, were driving their car to visit family in Pa. On their way they had a very bad car accident. Mrs. Bolin was killed instantly. Adolph is confined to the hospital with serious injuries. Burial will tak place in White Chapel Cemetary in Detroit, Mich. May we extend our deepest sympathy to the Bolin family. Letters may be sent to their son, Mr. Robert Bolin at 4585 Larme, Allen Park, Mich., 48101.

With the easing of the gas shortage throughout the country, seems like everybody is back on wheels again. The harts, Bill, Dora, and Chris, decided a trip to Bill's parents in Toledo, Ohio, would be ideal to make. They had a family reunion with Paul and Mabel Hart and many relatives and friends. They took Chris for a visit to a zoological park. Not seeing her two sisters for the past two years, Dora took the family to visit Mabel Hahn and Bernice Roach. Chris had a chance to drive the family bus. They found gas prices much higher in the north than here at home. How about that lucky for us.

To those of you who left the park for the summer with the parched grass and drooping palm trees. You ask, "How does your garden grow?" With all the heavy rains we've had, the answer could be "Ducky." The park help is grooming the grass every day, and wheeling away at the overgrown trees. In plain words, everything is growing and taking shape, and is lovely. Our weather continues to be pleasant now, in the 80's by day and the 70's during the night, with some nice whispering winds.

+ + +

Mary Weeks of No. 8th entered Martin Memorial Hospital July 8 for some ear surgery. We all wish Mary a speedy recovery and the best of health.

+ + +

If it is news you have, please send it in so that we may all enjoy reading all about it here and there.

New staff members at center

JENSEN BEACH-Two Elementary teachers have joined the Environmental Studies Center, director Jay Jarrett announced.

The new staff members are Miss Ruth Anderson and Dennis Clark. They replace Sue Auten and Dana Rogers who left for other jobs.

Miss Anderson will be in her first year of teaching, and Clark complete three years of teaching at Pine School this spring.

Jarrett said that Mrs. Dale Jarrett has joined the center under contract for one year to provide statistical analysis for the data collection toward validation.

"The information may lead to additional funding in 1975-76 as a demonstration center," Jarrett said.

Thank you

The family of Harry Bibbee, Sr. conveys our sincere thanks and appreciation to all those who sent flowers and messages of cheer and encouragement while he was a patient in Martin Memorial Hospital. To the doctors, ministers, and loyal nurses, go our sincere gratitude.

To all of his friends may we share a bit of his philosophy on "Kindness" as expressed in the words of anothe "I shall pass through this world but once. If therefore, there be any kindness I can show. Or any good thing I can do, let me do it now. Let me not defer or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again." - GRELLET. Lovingly, his family

You know how high the cost of housing has gone.

For us, too.

The American dream house is more expensive than ever. Especially in Florida. In just the past year, the average price of a new home has gone up 15%. Yet, like they say, people have to live somewhere.

This is where FPL comes in. Because your housing needs determine our housing needs. To serve your increasing need for electricity, we have to house new substations and power plants. And the cost of our housing has gone up, too.

It's gone up against our will and our strenuous efforts to keep costs down. We have an Engineering Department whose primary function is to build new facilities at the lowest possible costs. We believe they have worked out the most efficient systems of any utility company in the country. Yet no system can absorb the inflated costs of today.

To bring electricity to your home, FPL must build substations, relay points between your home and the power plant. And the substation that cost us $688,470 in 1973 now costs close to $900,000.

An examination of just one of our costs will help tell you why. Reinforcement steel rose from $161.40 a ton in 1973 to $278.00 in 1974. Almost all of our costs have gone up. Fuel, equipment, vehicles, maintenance and even the cost of borrowing the money to build the facilities.

FPL is trying to keep costs down. The economies we have devised work. The simple fact is that without them costs would have been a lot higher. We have blunted the edge of inflation. But there comes a point where to cut any further would seriously hinder our ability to serve you.

FPL cannot predict the future of the economy. We do not know if inflation will continue as it has in the past. We do know that we will continue to bring you the electricity you need. At the lowest possible cost.

FPL
People...serving people.

TAL INSPECTION-City officials joined General Development Utilities to inspect the new 16-inch water main being laid along Airoso d from Virginia Drive to Port St Lucie Boulevard The main will the water supply systems of northern and southern Port St Lucie Seeley, general manager of Port St lucie, escorted the group to the site

$600,000 cost

North-south water link is nearer

PORT ST LUCIE-All things come to those who wait long enough And for the people of port St Lucie who have waited for improvements in the water system, the solution is now on the way

Robert Seeley, general manager of Port St Lucie, announced last Tuesday that the start of construction to link the water supply systems of northern and southern Port St Lucie are now underway

Costs of the total expanded water service is estimated at $600,000 At an additional $100,000 General Development Utilities, Inc is putting in a new well installations, Seeley said

The announcement was made Tuesday morning before the City Council meeting

In addition, the Company said that it is expanding its well field and doubling the capacity of the water treatment plant in the North Port area to approximately three million gallons per day Emergency electrical generating equipment is also being installed to provide continuous water service during possible power failures

The project will enable the two treatment plants to mutually support each other, and will assure greater reliability of water for all portions of the community, according to Harold E Schmidt, president of general Development Utilities

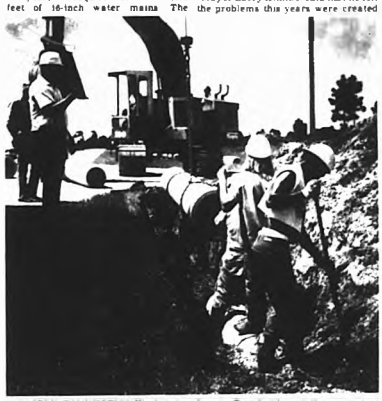
Completion of the project, expected this year, will require more than 17,000 feet of 16-inch water mains The capacity of the present system is anticipated to be more than adequate to serve all of Port St lucie until the linkup is finished

When asked if the correction would relieve all pressure problems which were experienced earlier this year Seeley answered, "God knows, I hope so

Mayor Larry Kimmel said that he felt the problems this years were created by the drought plus the population explosion

The combination of these just got ahead of the planned facilities for a short time, he said

The project will be completed by extending the existing water main south from west Virginia Drive along Airoso Blvd to Port St Lucie Boulevard and then east to Midport Road



COSTLY CONNECTION-Work got underway Tuesday laying the connecting water main from nothern to southern Port St Lucie The main will link the two water supply systems together Cost of the 13-foot section pictured above being lowered is $11 per foot installed The project is expected to be completed this year according to GDU officials

PORT ST LUCIE-The St Lucie Hilton Marina is a beehive of activity this week as the Wellcraft dealers convention gets underway

For the second consecutive year Dick Gentil, president of Wellcraft Corporation, has selected the St Lucie Hilton for the setting of the firm's annual convention

Boat dealers from the fifty states will gather at the Hilton marina to view the entire 1975 Wellcraft line

Over 250 dealers are expected to try out the 21 different models which represent the entire boat line

We have four brand new boats in the line this year, said Aidin Tibbetts, vice president of Wellcraft The top of the line is the new 21 foot Nova Air Saint Fisherman We think this will be a very popular boat

Designer Dick Cole is also on hand at the Hilton to point out the many features of the boat

The Air sled fisherman has the most sophisticated engineering of any boat we have Cole said

The entire boat is molded in three pieces The deck and cabin are one piece, while the entire interior including berths, fish wells, bait wells, etc is the second piece and the hull of course is the third, he added

Another outstanding feature of the ship of the line model is the cockpit drain

This is the only boat in which the cockpit can drain without the boat having to move Cole pointed out

Other new boats added to the Wellcraft line this year include the Nova 21 foot weekender and the Nova 20 foot weekender and the Nova 18 foot fisherman

The 18ft Shore Fisherman has been designed for the guy who really wants to get out there for the big ones, said Tibbetts This boat features a 150 gallon tank rather than the 100 gallon tank on the other models

Starting July 8, the convention will conclude Friday, July 12

WELLCRAFT CONVENTION-For the second consecutive year the Wellcraft Corporation is holding their dealers convention at the St Lucie Hilton Resort The firm has the entire 1975 boat line at the marina Pictured above, in what the company officials claim to be their top-of-the-line model is Aidin Tibbitts, vice president of Wellcraft, demonstrating the boat for an unidentified dealer, right.

Yacht Club Boat-a-Cade is July 20th

PORT ST LUCIE-Fleet Captain Bill Holzapfel of the Port St Lucie Yacht Club issued the following details and instructions for the Yacht Club Boat-a-Cade scheduled for July 20

Members will rendezvous at the St lucie Hilton Marina at 8 30 a m to leave promptly at 8 45 a m to arrive at the locks for the 10 00 a m opening Boats are to carry two fenders and fly their burgees

Boats are to keep in line, about 100 feet apart When the locks are open, enter slowly and listen for directions from the lockmaster Lines must be hand-held and not tied for those boats against the wall Other boats will raft alongside, using their fenders When the signal is given to leave the loacks, the first row across will leave first

On arrival at the Indiantown Marina, fuel up, if needed, for the return trip before tying up

When returning, follow same procedure back to the South Port Marina at the Hilton

A bus will take the group to the Sermonise Inn for lunch and back to the marina at 4 00 p m to make the 4 00 p m opening of the locks

Incorporation fails

JENSEN BEACH–With only about a 40 percent turnout of registered voters, the Jensen Beach incorporation charter was rejected Tuesday by voters of Jensen Beach, Rio and Northwood with the unofficial total 882 against and 582 for.

Supervisor of Elections Mrs. Sandra Randolph said Tuesday night that there are 150 absentee ballots to be counted today, Wednesday.

The unofficial precinct tallies include Jensen Beach, Precinct No. 1, 501 for adoption and 659 against; Northwood, Precinct No. 2, 9 for and 29 against; and Rio, Precinct No. 3, 88 for and 179 against.

There are approximately 3,500 registered voters in the three precincts, Mrs. Randolph said.

"We had a little confusion at the beginning of the voting, but no real problems," she said. All voting was at Langford Park Fieldhouse.

The incorporation charter vote was the first held in Jensen Beach but an incorporation movement dates back to 1950 when there was an attempt to incorporate the area.

Tuesday's vote climaxed months of work by the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee.

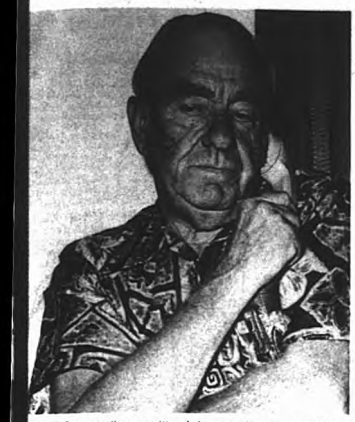
The charter was approved by the State Legislature during the past session and was signed by Gov. Reubin Askew. To become law, voters in the area had to endorse the charter by referendum, and Tuesday the voters rejected the charter.

Taxation developed into an "11th hour" controversy in the campaign with Commission Elmer Powers, Indiantown, issuing a statement, warning voters "that the proposed incorporation would result in a 150 percent increase in Jensen's property tax rate."

Powers said that residents of the 11 square miles that could become the City of Jensen Beach pay $1.20 per $1,000 of assessed valuation as part of a county special tax district for municipal service. If incorporation passed, he said, its backers are urging that the new city set a tax rate of $3 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, the minimum needed to qualify for federal revenue sharing funds.

Former County Commissioner Frank Wacha, an advisor to the Incorporation Committee, said Powers' statement was an "11th hour attempt to confuse the voters."

After the governor signed the incorporation charter bill, the incorporation committee held a series of public meetings in an attempt "to inform the people of the issues."



DENT–Incorporation committee chairman Art Hansen received the he defeat of Jensen Beach charter at an election party at the Jensen hamber of Commerce Tuesday night. His feelings are etched on his ND VOTERS–The American Flag was flying outside Langford Park e Tuesday and these citizens were among the hundreds of others who their responsibility by casting ballots in Tuesday's incorporation lection.

THE RESULTS–Rep. Chuck Nergard, Mrs. Jon Chickey, Mrs. Nergard and John Heyburn discussed the defeat of the incorporation of Jensen Beach Tuesday night at Chamber of Commerce election headquarters.

THAT'S IT–Incorporation committee members Dave Deci and Frank Wacha heard the news of the overwhelming defeat of the Jensen Beach charter from Supervisor of Elections Sandra Randolph soon after the polls closed Tuesday night.

Committee glum in defeat

JENSEN BEACH–"Disappointed, but not surprised," was the comment of the Chairman of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce Incorporation Committee when he learned the outcome of Tuesday's incorporation charter vote.

Art Hansen said, "The committee accomplished what we set out to do, and that was to get the charter through the Legislature and before the people for a vote.

"I think many people were concerned about their taxes, but didn't take the time to find out about what incorporation would mean in the way of taxes," Hansen continued.

"Many people didn't think they needed the services that a city could bring, and they like it the way it is," Hansen said.

Former Martin County Commissioner and advisor to the Incorporation Committee Frank Wacha said the committee was "not surprised" about the defeat of the charter.

"We didn't get the message to the people," Wacha said. "We had about 400 to 500 people at the public meetings, but there was apathy at the meetings," he observed.

"Some people that we talked to were interested," Wacha said.

And noting that the unofficial turnout Tuesday was about 40 percent of the eligible voters, Wacha said, "Forty percent is not a good turnout, and we were not satisfied with the turnout."

"I was a little disappointed at the turnout in Rio," Nick Dollard, Rio businessman and member of the committee, said.

"I think it was a case of the people being uninformed," Dollard said, "and I don't feel they realize the advantage of being incorporated."

Dollard pointed out that at one of the public meetings at the Rio Civic Club some 75 to 80 people said they favored incorporation.

The unofficial tally at the Rio precinct, Dollard noted, was only 82 for incorporation and 174 against.

"I think the committee accomplished what it set out to do," Dave Deci, committee vice chairman, said.

"I was glad that the people got an opportunity to vote on an incorporation charter, but I was disappointed in the results," Deci said.

Turtle on the move in capital

JENSEN BEACH–There was turtle activity in the the sea turtle capital of the world last week.

Twelve green turtle were placed in a tank at Environmental Studies Center on Indian River Drive.

And over on Hutchinson Island at Green Turtle Cove, about 20 baby turtles showed up in the condominium apartments' lagoon.

They were not green turtles, however, but loggerheads.

The green turtles at the Center are from Ascension Island, an island 1,200 miles east of the Brazil, according to Ross Witham, director of the Marine Research Lab in Jensen Beach.

Witham said the turtle at the Center range in length from about two to more than three inches, and they will be kept at the Center and kept locally for experimental breeding.

Secretaries at Green Turtle Cove spotted the little turtles found there, last Thursday and reported us to Witham.

Witham said the turtle were apparently attracted by the bright lights of Holiday Inn which is across the road from Green Turtle Cove, and fell into the drainage system. The turtles, about a week old, then came under Highway A1A in the culvert and then into the pond.

Witham recommended that corrective action should be taken to keep turtles out of the drainage system.

Green turtles at the Center were hatched about a month ago by Ralph Ackerman, a graduate student of the University of Florida. Ackerman's major professor is Dr. Henry Prange, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Prange, of Cedar Pointe Condominium in Stuart.

Witham said the purpose of keeping the turtles separate at the Center is to investigate their reported more rapid growth rate.

"Some people think they may be a sub species of the local green turtles," Witham said, "but no specific evidence has been found."

Asked the cause of their more rapid growth rate, if true, Witham said, "It might be that the Ascension island turtles have a tougher time and those who survive to nest are more precocious in their feeding and growth.

"If so, they would be ideal candidates for captive breeding. It would be a matter of natural selection, resulting in a stronger breeding population," Witham said.

While at the Center, the dozen turtles will be fed a varied diet of fish, jellyfish, algea, vegetation, and even mercurial shrimp food. The staff weighs and measures the turtles weekly and keeps accurate records of their activities and the condition of the water in which they spend their time.

As the loggerheads are caught by the Green Turtle Cove, they are returned to the ocean.

If Witham's green turtle breeding project is successful, an offspring may end up at Green Turtle Cove's Lagoon.

WRONG TURTLE–At Green Turtle Cove Condominium apartments on Hutchinson Island last week, some small turtles were found in the lagoon in the center of the complex. The turtles were not green but loggerheads, and Jo Ann Holdernried, secretary, holds one of the tiny loggerheads.

nter grant is approved

BEACH–A $146,054 grant vironmental Studies Center Beach has been approved by Department of Education, l innovation office, center y Jarrett said.

the grant will serve as ting budget for the fiscal nning July 1, $273,833 the federal funds ver a three-year period for to provide a program of tal education for Martin echobee county school be said.

Dr. Martin County school provides the eight-room mentary scool for the e plus building and ground ce, utilities and other support facilities and services.

The grant application submitted May 1, listed the county's support, including the rental value of the campus, at over $117,000.

The federal funds for the development of the Center project will expire on June 30, 1975, at the end of the current fiscal year. If the Center's program proves successful and receives validation by the Department of Education, additional funds will be available to operate the Center as a demonstration facility after the present funds expire.

"We have every reason to expect we will be validated next spring," Jarrett said. "Our evaluation to date shows that the students are learning and retaining what they learn. Our per-student operating costs are within reasonable limits and the program is suitable for adoption by other school systems. These are the bases for the validation approval."

The Center, operated by the Martin County School Board, was first funded in August, 1972 to develop and conduct an extensive program of environmental study for all grades. Kindergarties through High School, centered around the Indian River ecosystem. Currently, the staff consists of the director, six teachers, two secretaries, a statitician-evaluator, and custodial help. In addition, the Center retains part-time services of two Consultants, one for the program and one for evaluation.

Last school year saw 5,923 students spend over 8,088 days at the Center in environmental study activities.

Traveling registration effort planned by Sandy

JENSEN BEACH--A mobile vehicle or station is planned to make voter registration easier, it was announced Monday by Sandra Randolph, supervisor of elections of Martin County.

Speaking to the Jensen Beach Kiwanis Club at Francis Langford's Outrigger Restaurant, Mrs Randolph said that an effort would be made to get as many county voters registered before the deadline, 45 days before the September 10 primary election.

"Many people were disappointed that they could not vote on Jensen Beach incorporation, because they waited until the incorporation bill was signed before registering. By then," she said, "it was too late, as the registration books closed the day the bill was signed by Governor Askew."

Florida law specifies that the books close 45 days before any election, or as soon as a special election is legal is that falls within the 45 day period.

"The people who don't vote on election day will have no right to complain," she said. She encouraged all residents to register and vote in the fall elections.

Mrs. Randolph also pointed out that the absentee voting system requires that voters file individual requests for each election. Thus, in the fall, voters who want to vote by absentee ballots will have to request absentee ballot applications for each of the primary, the runoff primary and the general election.

Pink registration cards will be required at each voting precinct, she added, urging all voters to have their cards, or get a duplicate card if theirs

Tax bills to be late

STUART--The 1974 tax roll is expected to be about three months late, October 1, according to Martin County Tax Collector Ellsworth (Dutch) Schnurbusch.

Schnurbusch said that his office has been granted a 30-day extension, to August 1, and another extension is anticipated.

The extensions are necessary to complete a reassessment of the properties on the tax roll, he said.

Assessment Management Systems, Inc. is computing a new value for each of the 15,000 parcels of property on the tax roll. The firm is doing this work under a $18,500 tax roll update program approved by the county commission.

Because the tax roll will be late this year, the tax collector will not have bills ready for mailing to the taxpayers by the scheduled date of November 1.

Registration books closed today

STUART--Registration books for the September 10 primary will be closed at 5 p.m. today, Wednesday, Mrs. Sandra Randolph, supervisor of elections said.

Mrs. Randolph also announced that the twenty new voting machines will be used for the first time in September. The new machines cost $54,000 and will be used in Jensen Beach, North River Shores, Rio, Sewall's Point and Hobe Sound precincts.

County Commissioners purchased the machines in 1973, hoping to alleviate some of the long lines that delayed voting in the 1972 election.

At the end of June, Mrs. Randolph reported 11,445 Democrats, 9,804 Republicans and 942 independents and 358 conservatives and American Independents had registered.

CHUCK NERGARD

Nergard files for re-election

JENSEN BEACH-State Rep. Chuck Nergard Monday filed his qualifying papers with the Secretary of State Office in Tallahassee.

The 76th District Republican is seeking his fifth two-year term in the State House of Representatives.

He has served the Jensen Beach area for the past two years.

"I have been very pleased with the reception the citizens of Jensen Beach have given me the past two years, and will continue to be available in the future," Nergard said.

Nergard, 45, has maintained a desk at the Mirror office and his Jensen Beach telephone number is 334-0111 and is at his desk each Friday morning.

In announcing his candidacy Nergard said, "I know in my own heart I have represented the people in our district on a fair and impartial basis. My record clearly shows I have been a supported of fair representation."

Noting the effect of inflation on the residents income, Nergard pointed out that he co-sponsered and supported many tax reform legislation, many which were passed during the 1974 session.

The legislation includes an increased homestead exemption for senior citizens over 65 and disabled, reduced the maximum ad valorem tax to schools from ten to eight mills, with the state assuming more of the cost of education.

"And upon re election, I will continue my efforts to provide tax relief by introducing and supporting legislation and return all state surplus to the taxpayers," he said.

"In my opinion, if inflation is to be stopped, governments on all levels, local, state and federal, must lead the way by reasonable tax reduction and spending."

The North Port St. Lucie resident is a member of the education government operations, business regulations, military and veterans' affairs and conduct standards committees.

A whale of a sale

STUART--The Martin County Library Association asks, "Do you need some interesting books to fill up those empty spaces on your bookshelves, or do want some books that you can read at your leisure without worrying about when you have to return them to the library?"

The Library Association is going to have a "whale of a book sale" in the Conference Room of the Martin County Library on Friday and Saturday, July 26 and 27, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on both days.

On sale will be books of all categories fiction, biographies, history, text books and, of course, juveniles. There will also be paperbacks and magazines. Hardcover books are 25 cents each and paperbacks and magazines are 10 cents each.

The proceeds from this sale will be used for furnishings for the new library expansion.

8,800 auto tags sold

JENSEN BEACH-More than 8,800 new auto license tags have been sold through Monday, July 15, Martin County Tax Collector Alvin Andrews said.

The 8,802 sold this year compares to 8,569 for the same period last year, but tax over the counter sales are about the same, he continued.

Money collected from tag sales totals $244,536 and all but a 50 cent fee goes to the state.

Andrews said that most of the lines are gone and that Monday is about the only really busy day for his staff.

The present tags expire August 20, 1974.

Our rates haven't been going up. Our residual oil costs have.
And those increased costs are reflected on your electric bill in the form of the "fuel adjustment"—the main cause behind your higher bills.
To give you an idea how high our fuel costs have gone, in just one year (July to July), low sulphur residual oil delivered to FPL has gone from $4.08 to $11.72 a barrel. A 187% increase! And we use over one million barrels a day to generate your electricity. It would be overstating it that if we didn't give you almost 2/3 natural gas, and about 20% nuclear energy. Both of those cost less than oil.
The charge we make on to you for our higher oil prices does not reflect our total additional cost. Furthermore, we make no profit from the fuel adjustment. It is passed directly to the suppliers.
While we have no control over the increase in the fuel adjustment shown on your electric bill, we are doing all we can to hold any future increases to a minimum and to bring all our customers the most dependable electric service possible. Now, and in the future.

TENNIS SCHOLARSHIP–Lisa Loveday of Jensen Beach has received a tennis scholarship at Indian River Community College. She is shown with her mother, Mrs. Raymond Loveday, left, and Miss Adella Grove, IRCC tennis coach. Miss Loveday graduated from Martin County High School in June and represented that school and state at the National Business Leader of America Conference in San Francisco.

Public meeting on nuclear plant July 25

JENSEN BEACH–On July 25, there will be a meeting of discovery to explore the question of the planned St. Lucie II on Hutchinson Island, and the ways it might affect the men, women, and children of St. Lucie and Martin Counties.

Florida Institute of Technology has generally agreed to the loan of its auditorium for this meeting which will discuss the specific problems of a second nuclear plant in Hutchinson Island.

The Conservation Alliance of Martin County has already protested the siting of nuclear plants on Hutchinson Island, and St. Lucie Conservation Alliance has become concerned. A number of citizens from both Alliances have united to form a new organization known as C.U.R.E. (Citizens United against Radioactive Environment.) Although newly formed, C.U.R.E.'s history dates back where plans for St. Lucie I aroused questions which CURE members believe have no satisfactory answers.

Now, alarmed at the prospect of doubling the risk of a nuclear accident which could be catastrophic, and at the numerous escapes of malignant radioactivity throughout the country, CURE plans an evening to bring out the facts involved and to enlist the help of other concerned citizens.

Commission probe is underway

STUART–State Atty. Glen Darty was in Martin County last week to begin his probe into charges of misconduct on the part of Martin County commissioners.

Gov. Reubern Askew appointed the 10th judicial circuit state attorney to investigate allegations that the commission extorted money from local developers by mishandling impact fees.

Darty, of Bartow, said he didn't know how long the investigation would last.

U.S. Penny, an endangered specie . . .

As across the nation, Martin County is experiencing a tremendous shortage of pennies in circulation. Hoarding of pennies is costly to the economy and to the taxpayers.

In cooperation with the United States Department of the Treasury, First National Bank and Trust Company urges you to bring in your pennies for deposit or redemption. We will gladly count and package the pennies for you.

The average life of a coin in circulation is estimated to be 25 years. Please help us to see to it that pennies are not retired before their time. Please bring your pennies to First National's lobby during regular banking hours, Monday-Thursday 9:00 AM-3:00 PM, and Friday 9:00 AM-6:00 PM.

Any group or individual who brings in $25.00 worth of pennies will receive a Special Citation from the Department of the Treasury.

STUART–Possum Long Botanical Gardens is going to benefit greatly from the appointment of a new cochairman. To help and reinforce the valuable work of Jane Cobb, Mrs. Dean H. Cross has voluteered her time and experience. Mrs. Cross, who says she has no "special training," belongs to the Garden Club of Stuart, worked for a number of years with the internationally known Fairchild Tropical Garden in Miami. She has always been interested in plants and Possum Long is most grateful to have her talents directed to Botanical Gardens.

Mrs. Cross has been a resident of Martin County for seven years. Besides her commitment to Garden Club and Possum Long, she is a memebr of the American Association of University Women and was its first President. She is also supervisor of Martin Memorial Hospital where she works several days a week.

If it is selection you want, Hughes has it

FORT PIERCE The next time your shopping for the home and want a selection to chose from Hughes Flooring and Appliance at the Searstown Shopping Center in Fort Pierce has it! They have one of the most extensive selections in appliances, carpeting, tile and vinyl in the area.

Once more, Hughes has been around a long time. The store first opened its doors in Fort Pierce back in 1947. The owner of Hughes Flooring and Appliance, Herb Koho has just opened a new store located in Melbourne to give the same quality in merchandise as he does here at 2401 South Federal Highway.

Hughes is the exclusive dealer in the Fort Pierce area, for Gibson appliances which are known for dependability. The line includes washers, dryers, ranges refrigerators, freezers and dishwashers.

They also carry Westinghouse and Philco. The Philco line carries refrigerators and an extensive selection in televisions, stereos and radios that are just waiting for you.

Hughes also carries Panasonic, a sure big name for reliability and performance in stereos, quad systems, televisions, radios and digital clocks.

But the selection doesn't stop here, there is a whole flooring section. In carpeting big names are available in Higalow, Magee, Wallcreet, Viking, Welco, Cooper Trend and America the Beautiful.

Koho said: We have over 22 different colors in each line of carpeting covering, solids, shags and multi-colors.

In all we have 365 different patterns in our vinyl selections, the largest selection around, he added.

The vinyl comes in names like Armstrong, G.A.F., Congoleum and Mannington. In addition they have tile available in brands as Antico, Kentile and Florintile.

For service, a whole line of Hint carpet cleaning materials available. Hughes carries all the cleaners needed and shampoo machines are ready for you to rent at only $1.95 over night.

Hughes has the staff to help you make your selection and the service people to install what you chose plus subcontractors to give you that extra service.

The next time you need appliances, carpeting or flooring, doesn't it make sense to chose from a wide selection rather than just a few.

The SSR, which is shaped like a mushroom with a broad stem, prevents undigested and septic solids from nearing the tank outlet and from leaving the tank with the norm liquid effluent, Cooke said.

Cooke said that the disadvantage of a septic tank system is that solid waste passes through the tank outlet with the fluid waste. He said that the device is inexpensive and easy to install.

A tank pumpout costs about $45 and the SSR cost is about $20.

Cooke, a 12-year veteran on the Stuart City Commission, started the business with one pumpout truck. Now he has 12 pieces of equipment and a company manager, Sam Banks.

Bingo provide funds for CESA

PORT ST. LUCIE–A bright future is forecast and CESA's pockets will jingle with the extra cash which will be raised through the new series of weekly bingo games.

"CESA will launch a bingo operation July 26 that will rival the best in the area," said President Dick Lundin.

Plans call for bingo games being held at the CESA building every Friday afternoon and Saturday night.

"The only thing that could delay the start of the bingo program would be an unexpected delay in receiving the new equipment," Lundin explained.

The new CESA venture was approved unanimously by the board of directors during the July 5 meeting and an order in the amount of $1243 was placed for the necessary equipment.

The board made the decision, following a recommendation by Lundin, after a thorough analysis of the CESA revenue producing activities revealed additional funds were needed.

"The bingo operation will not only help to fill this financial gap, but will also provide the community with needed entertainment as well," Lundin added.

Walt Bandyk, the newly appointed bingo chairman, explained there would be a wide variety of games played on both Friday afternoon and Saturday nights.

"We will be offering top prizes to the winners plus a guaranteed jackpot each session," Bandyk said.

The lucky Friday afternoon player who wins the jackpot will take home a guaranteed $50, while the Saturday nigh jackpot winner will take home a guaranteed $75.

Bandyk pointed out that the lowest prize for a single straight bingo will be $7 and special prizes will range from $10 upward. There will also be blackout prizes, punch out prizes and send home prizes throughout the evening play.

Talcott-Roberts top Tourney

PORT ST. LUCIE–A 'tee to green' tournament was played by the Port St. Lucie Women's Golf Association last week on their first day back at the Saints course after complete renovations and days of rain.

Olivia Talcott was the winner of the first flight with a net 54. Pearl Roberts with a 60 came in second, while Ruby Johnson and Eliese Evans tied for third place with a score of 61.

Second Flight was topped by Marge McChesney with a 58. Angie LoBrutto, Addie Hannum and Betty Grilla tied for 2nd with 63s and Marion Cole, Helen Purcell and Sally Lesher each had 64s for third place.

Sorina Tanner won Third Flight with a 58, followed by Virginia Lieberth and Elfreda Wochatz who had 67s and again third place was tied at 68 by Mae Scott, Irene Chapman and Lolita Kernohan.

There was a three-way tie for first place in Fourth Flight by Lil O'Bierne, Jean Doscher and Flo Keeber who had 73s.In second place was Ginna Leyda with a 75 and third place was won by Libby Webster and Adele Johnson with 77.

Fifth Flight was a 1-2-3 with Floss Kimmel taking the honors with 67, Clara Woodruff, second with 72 and Jackie Flacus third with 74.

Fifty-three ladies finished the tournament.

The Barn... plus

BY TOM SNAVELY

Jean-Paul Satre (alias) is discussing philosophy with Buckminster Fuller (alias):

"There is no such thing as human nature," says Jean-Paul, "not in all or few men."

"Man is a complex of patterns, of processes," intercedes Buckminster "I live on earth at present, and I don't know what I am."

"Now this is where I hean you with a bag of garbage, isn't it?" says Jean-Paul, keeping his place in his book with a sandwich (Peanut butter and herring on rye.)

"Not while I'm walking backward on my hands, you don't," replies Bucky, teasing her hair with her Hot comb.

Superman to Bizarroworld? Nope. Too much anchovies and orange juice before bed? Not at all. Learning lines for "Godspell"? On the nose.

Next to the interminable period between polishing off one's make-up and curtain time on opening night, learning lines is probably the most tedious part of being in a theatre production.

And the methods are as limitless as the number of lines seem to be.

Most popular is the old card (or sandwich) over the book routine. Read the line, cover it up, stumble through two or three words, peek, another four words, another peek, then all the way through to the end of the sentence, with a mouth full of sandwich or card.

Lucky is the actor who can find a willing partner to help him, and obvious is the reason if you've ever been called upon for help. Only bearable if you happen to have another part in the play, but for the unintiate pure, redundant, wall-climbing enout (Not to mention very limiting to conversation.)

Some line learners don't see how it could have possibly been accomplished a decade ago before the advent of tape-recorders. To those with a more technological bent, it is a simple matter to record all, or at least the pertinent parts of the play, word for dreary word on magnetic tape, then play the tape endlessly until the words come out your ears, or hopefully, your mouth.

This method has, however several drawbacks. First, the lucky owner of the recorder invariably lacks ear phones, so anyone within earshot of the practicer unwittingly learns the entire play as well as the actor. This tends to detract from the enjoyment of the play when it is finally seen, not to mention from those who sit next to him in the theatre, watching him mouth every word thereof.

Another fault with this method is its inherent flawlessness. So well does the actor learn to respond to any given line that he tends to respond to said line even though they may occur in everyday conversation. Very disconcerting. How would you feel if everytime someone mentioned something about showing pity you bhirted out, "And so, fricken was the scrickpocket that he clinckened the stortz, and frickened the scrickpocket.

As trying as is the experience on line-learning, the rewards are far greater, although in a somewhat negative way.

No longer, for example does one have to flip through the book trying to find one's place, while the director taps his toe on one's head.

No longer does one wither under the contemptuous stares of his fellow actors, as he rummages around in his mind for the mnemonic device he was sure would help him remember that troublesome line. "Let's see, the mackerel and mango sandwich was so bad that that stray mongrel wouldn't even eat it... oh yeah. Don't give dogs what is holy!"

The rewards are physical as well as mental. The actors' fingernails start to grow back, and his hair stops thinning, as he is rlived of the worrying of the backstage prompter can speak loud enough or hasn't lost her place, or fallen asleep, of developed a grudge against him, or taken sick, or eloped to Guadalahara, or stuffed her mouth with leftover sandwich.

But, by one method or another, and for one reason or another the lines do get learned, and the show goes on.

This one, "Godspell," goes on August 2. Call 287-0676 for reservations.

See you in "Godspell."

Howey opens on Sept. 7

HOWEY-In-the-HILLS — Immediate inquiry is urged for entrance into Howey Academy, Central Florida college preparatory school for the 1974-75 school year beginning September 7, according to Headmaster William Brannon.

Current enrollment is ahead of last year when many deserving students had to be turned away. A waiting list will be established when full enrollment reaches capacity.

The Howey summer session, now at mid-point, provides an excellent opportunity for prospective students and their parents to observe campus life including the academic and recreation program.

Howey is Florida's largest co-educational preparatory school for boarding students providing an accredited scholastic program. In addition small world atmosphere prevails giving students throughout America an opportunity to share both language and cultural beliefs with students from other parts of the world.

About 65 percent of Howey students come from Florida, and the remainder represent a broad cross section of the United States, South America, Europe and the Caribbean Islands, said Headmaster Branyon.

Scotty's swaps exchanges

WINTER HAVEN- Scotty's, Inc. SHB announced that effective July 15, 1974 the company's common stock will be traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Scotty's stock previously was traded on the American Stock Exchange.

James W. Sweet, chairman and chief executive officer, also reported that sales for fiscal 1974 were $80 million, an increase of 20 percent over last year, and the company expects to have a comparable percentage increase in earnings for the year.

Scotty's is celebrating its 50th year in business in Florida and recently opened its 50th Scotty's store. The growing chain of building supplies and home improvement materials outlets serve principally the "do-it-yourself" segment of the market throughout Florida.

Gab'n Eatas to meet August 8

PORT ST. LUCIE- The next meeting of the Gab'n Eatas Social Club will be the August coffee at the home of Mrs. Albert McDonnell, River Park. It is slated for August 8 at 10:00 a.m.

Mrs. Joseph Keating, Port St. Lucie, was the hostess for the July coffee assisted by Mrs. Harold Casperson and Mrs. Donald White. Twenty-five members and two guests were in attendance. The guests were Mrs. Maxine Irwin, guest of Mrs. Casperson, and Mrs. Sheila Branigan, guest of Mrs. Olga Atkins. Mrs. Clyde Kaestner was welcomed as a new member.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Donald Porter, president, named as nominating committee to select a slate of nominees for offices for the coming year, Mrs. White, chairwoman, Mrs. Atkins and Mrs. Herbert Feller.

The club voted to send two campers to the Salvation Army Summer Camp.

Following the business session, Mrs. George Moor, program chairwoman, presented a series of identification games from which most of the group emerged as winners. Half and half winner was Mrs. Arthur Coulon.

IRCC instructor is consultant

FORT PIERCE–Mary H. Butler, who worked with the day time students and has full charge of evening class at Indian River Community Colle school of cosmetology, recently served as a consultant for the 1974 Cosmetology Teachers Training Institute sponsored jointly by the Florida International University and the State Department of Education.

The institute began June 12 and culminated June 28. The services of Mrs. Butler was requested by Mrs. Christine Sharron, consultant of personal services education, State Department of Education, to teach the techniques of thermal hair styles and chemical relaxing on June 24-25. Her two-days of classes began at 8 a.m. when she lectured and conducted demonstrations in the mornings. The afternoons involved Mrs. Butler in supervising the skill and practice work shop of cosmetology teachers enrolled in this advanced training program.

This institute consisted of enrolled cosmetology teachers from all over the state of Florida. It was held at North Technical Educational Center, Riviera Beach.

The entire institute was video taped and will be available to cosmetology schools throughout the state of Florida through the State Department of Education.

Dr. Charles Schmill was coordinator from Florida International University.

Police budget gets city approval

PORT ST. LUCIE--The city finance committee last week stamped their vote of approval on the $133,040 tentative police budget as submitted by the St. Lucie County Sheriff's Department.

Franklin Beardsley, chairman of the finance committee, said it was a unanimous decision of the group to approve the 1974-75 budget.

"We were very careful in reviewing the offer. It was compared with this years and the increase is almost entirely due to the increased salaries of the officers involved and the increased cost of gasoline," Beardsley said.

The St. Lucie County Sheriff's Department is under contract with the City of Port St. Lucie to provide police protection within the city.

In other action, Councilman Vaughn Lewis announced the contracts have been awarded for the first phase of the planned extension of North 25th Street through the city.

The county's special Road and Bridge Committee approved the contract for Gorham Construction Company to extend Edwards Road to Virginia Avenue on North 25th Street.

According to Lewis, officials are negotiating with property owners to get rights-of-way agreements that will lead to construction of the second section from Edwards Road to Midway Road in White City.

The third segment from St. James Road to Midway is now in the hands of Indian River Appraisers from Vero Beach. According to Lewis, these are due to be delivered to the authorities by July 15.

The council also discussed modification of the littering and dumping ordinance. It was suggested by Mayor Larry Kimmel that since St. Lucie County Commissioners stiffened their dumping or littering ordinance, the City of Port St. Lucie has become the greatest bargain for dumping in the area.

City attorney Rupert Smith explained that the new county ordinance calls for a maximum fine of $500 and a minimum of $150. A possible jail sentence of up to 60 days was also included in the legislation.

The council instructed the city attorney to report back on the possibility of stiffening the local ordinance.

GONE FISHING--A Port St. Lucie resident, Ernest Strauss of Degan Drive, apparently gave up trying to drain the water from the intersection in front of his home and took to fishing the spot. According to Strauss, the fishing was as good as the drainage! Recent rains and poor drainage in the area has caused the small lake to form--sometimes impassable.

"I feel that the southern end of the county, principally Port St. Lucie needs a representative on the County Commission who knows intimately the people of the area and the problems of the area. People's gripes in some cases are unjustified, and arise principally because of the lack of communication. With a Port St. Lucie resident serving on the commission, coordination could be effected."

He continued, "I feel my past business experience well qualifies me for the position. I have the time and, for me, it will be a full time job."

Davis Cup Pro matches

PORT ST. LUCIE--The first Davis Cup Professional matches will be presented at the St. Lucie Hilton Country Club on July 21.

The matches, which will consist of two singles and on doubles, will get underway at 1:30 p.m., according to Mario Obando, the Hilton tennis pro.

The afternoon of match play will be dedicated to Mrs. James Grossnickle of Stuart.

Presentation of awards for the Club Championships will follow the events.

Refreshments will be served and the public is invited to attend the professional matches free of charge.

The schedule of matches is as follows:

First: Tom Faulkenburg, Mariner Sands Pro and top nationally ranked tournament player vs. Jack Beidenharn, Indian River Community College coach and top area tournament player.

Second: Mario Obando, St. Lucie Hilton Pro vs. Allen Quay, West Side Tennis Club Pro and ranked first in Junior Veterans "35 and over" by the Florida Lawn Tennis Association.

Third: Mario Obando and Tom Faulkenburg vs. Allen Quay and Jack Beidenharn.

The singles matches will consist of an eight game pro set, and the doubles, best two out of three sets, with tie breakers at six all.

Voter registration drive in PSL

PORT ST. LUCIE--Members of the St. Lucie County League of Women Voters will be at the Port St. Lucie Marina from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. July 25 as part of their voter registration drive, according to James Brooks.

Brooks, supervisor of elections, said that the registration books for the first and second primaries will close Saturday, July 27, at 5 p.m.

He said his office will remain open until 9 p.m. Friday night on July 19 and 26.

Qualified electors at Precinct 11A, Port St. Lucie Marina, totals 3,938, including 1,274 Democrats and 1,670 Republicans and 184 other parties.

Total registration in St. Lucie County is 25,940, 17,741 Democrats, and 7,333 Republicans, according to Brooks.

Mrs. Sapiro named new CESA secretary

PORT ST. LUCIE--Mrs. Rosalye Sapiro has been named as the new CESA secretary and will assume those duties effective July 22, according to Dick Lundin, president of the Cultural Educational and Social Association.

Mrs. Sapiro and her husband moved to the Port St. Lucie area one month agoe from Long Island, New York. She brings with her over twenty years of secretarial experience.

Looking forward to her new job, Mrs. Sapiro said that she enjoys working with people.

"I love people and I firmly believe the best way to get to know them is to get involved in your own community. The job at CESA will provide me with that opportunity," she said.

The Sapiros reside at 238 N.W. Archer Avenue in Port St. Lucie.

Mrs. Guerriero gave as her reason for leaving the fact that she now lives in Jensen Beach and would like to work closer to home. She added that with her financial commitments, a larger salary is needed than CESA can afford to pay at this time.

Dick Lundin, CESA president, emphasized that Mrs. Guerriero has done an outstanding job of bringing order to the filing and corresponding chaos that existed at CESA.

"It was a wonderful thing for CESA the day she walked in and applied for the job," Lundin said. "I doubt that we will ever forget Amy."

Amy Guerriero resigned after being the CESA secretary since March.

Top tennis juniors compete

PORT ST. LUCIE--The St. Lucie Hilton Country Club Resort boys and girls Junior Davis Cup Teams held their first interclub match competition against the West Side Racquet Club of Vero Beach.

The last two teams met at the St. Lucie Hilton courts last Saturday morning for the match.

The Port St. Lucie boys made a clean sweep in the singles events. Stafford vs. Dunn, 3-0; Talbert vs. Mark Moore, 2-0; Gifford vs. Fred Moore, 7-5 and Lunceford vs. Neill, 2-0.

In the girls singles matches, the Vero Beach teams captured three out of four. Mayra Sante of PSL was victorious over Gail Flinn, 8-3, while the other three went to the Vero teams--Franny Flinn vs. Rech, 8-4; Latta vs. Grossnickle, 8-5 and Sellers vs. Centers, 8-1.

The Port St. Lucie teams also were victorious in three of the four doubles matches. Mayra Sante and Gale Grossnickle defeated Gale and Franny Flinn, 8-2. Mark and Fred Moore defeated Bruce Stafford and Peter Talbert, 8-1 and Robert Dunn and Mike Neill downed Mike Gifford and Cases Lunceford, 8-1.

In the final doubles matches, Daryl Sellers and Mary Stewart Latta of Vero Beach defeated Donna Rech and Ellen Center, 8-4.

According to a St. Lucie Hilton spokesman, a rematch is in the planning. At that time the teams will play in Vero Beach. Rematch date will be announced later.

If it is selection you want, Hughes has it

FORT PIERCE-The neat time your shopping for the home and want a selection to chose from. Hughes Flooring and Appliance at the Searstown Shopping Center in Fort Pierce has it! They have one of the most extensive selections in appliances, carpeting, tile and vinyl in the area.

Once more, Hughes has been around a long time. The store first opened its doors in Fort Pierce back in 1947. The owner of Hughes Flooring and Appliance Herb Koho has just opened a new store located in Melbourne to give the same quality in merchandise as he does here at 3401 South Federal Highway.

Hughes is the exclusive dealer in the Fort Pierce area, for Gibson appliances which are known for dependability. The line includes washers, dryers, ranges, refrigerators, freezers and dishwashers.

They also carry Westinghouse and Philco. The Philco line carries refrigerators and an extensive selection in televisions, stereos and radios that are just waiting for you.

Hughes also carries Panasonic, a sure big name for reliability and performance in stereos, quad systems, televisions, radios and digital clocks.

But the selection doesn't stop here, there is a whole flooring section. In carpeting big names are available in Bigalow, Magee, Wallcrest, Viking, Welco, Cooper Trend and America the Beautiful.

Koho said: We have over 22 different colors in each line of carpeting covering, solids, shage and multi colors.

"In all we have 365 different patterns in our vinyl selections, the largest selection around," he added.

The vinyl comes in names like Armstrong, G A F, Congoleum and Manington. In addition they have tile available in brands as Antico, Kentile and Flintkot.

For service, a whole line of Host carpet cleaning materials is available. Hughes carries all the cleaners needed, and shampoo machines are ready for you to rent at only $1.95 over night.

Hughes has the staff to help you make your selection and the service people to install what you chose, plus subcontractors to give you that extra service.

The next time you need appliances, carpeting or flooring, doesn't it make sense to chose from a wide selection rather than just a few.

The SSR, which is shaped like a mushroom with a broad stem, prevents undigested and septic solids from nearing the tank outlet and from leaving the tank with the norm liquid effluent, Cooke said.

Cooke said that the disadvantage of a septic tank system is that solid waste passes through the tank outlet with the fluid waste. He said that the device is inexpensive and easy to install.

A tank pumpout costs about $45 and the SSR cost is about $20.

Cooke, a 12-year veteran on the Stuart City Commission, started the business with one pumpout truck. Now he has 12 pieces of equipment and a company manager, Sam Banks.

...corporation move ...ported still alive

...SEN BEACH–The Chairman of ... Jensen Beach Chamber of ...merce Incorporation Commission ... last week that he doesn't think ...orporation is a dead issue.

...Thomas Art Harned said, "We still ...objectives and the needs of the ...ople are still as great as they ... a year ago.

...e going to stop and take a look ... the whole thing and in the next two ... we'll probably sit down and see ... where we go from here," he said.

He said that the undeveloped areas of Jensen Beach are among the concerns the committee plans to pursue.

The chamber director noted that the streets are in "deplorable condition" and in some cases there is a political crime in the area because there isn't sufficient police personnel.

A plan is expected to be developed to present to the County Commission, according to Hansen.

Frank Wachs, former county commissioner who acted as an advisor to the Incorporation committee, said the tax issue was probably crucial to the referendum defeat.

Wachs termed the 45 percent turnout of voters a disappointment, but that the fact that 1,600 people did come out to vote for a change is an indication that there is unrest in the community about how things are going.

He said that the idea of incorporation is not necessarily dead.

Tilton urges

Warner Creek dam proposed

JENSEN BEACH–A dam on Warner Creek has been proposed, and the Martin County Water Management Board has endorsed the idea.

Jensen Beach realtor Ransom Tilton proposed the dam as a step to help save the savannas and improve the creek's look.

"We would build a dam and it would raise the water table, improve the looks of the creek and provide fishing," Tilton said.

The dam would be near Beacon 31 in Rio, between SR-707 and the railroad track.

Tilton said the dam would be the first step of a proposed spillway system to hold water in the savannas.

Because there has been seepage from the savannas over the years, the area's water table has been lowered, and the savannas' level has been lowered through the years, it was noted at last week's meeting of the board.

Dr. Walter Stokes, chairman of the save the savannas committee, appeared at the board's meeting with Tilton.

"We are on the short end of the stick down here in Martin County," Dr. Stokes said. "The level of the savannas has dropped by about two feet over the past fifty years."

Dr. Stokes noted that the ditches cut into the savannas are nearly dry most of the year, but water flows rapidly through them after a rainfall.

It was pointed out that installation of dams would back up water for about a foot several miles back into the savannas and across the Martin-St. Lucie line and preserve the underwater recharge area which nearby residents depend upon for fresh water.

Dr. Stokes said the natural flow of the savannas in Martin County is southward toward Warner Creek with a large amount moving into Hog Pen Creek and flowing into the north Fork of the St. Lucie River.

It was also pointed out by Dr. Stokes that the dam place in the savannas by Universal Adams in St. Lucie County have caused problems with the constant flow within the savannas.

Tilton said the dams would assist in raising the water table which dropped more than 20 years ago when the county authorized ditches to be dug to eliminate flooding on SR-707A.

Engineers estimate that cost of installing a structure would be about $3,000.

The board recommended the county review the entire program with staff and instruct the engineers to construct adequate controls.

SAVANNAS SURVEY–The state survey of the savannas got underway Tuesday morning with Dr. Walter Stokes, right, of the save the savannas committee and Ken Alvarez of the Department of Natural Resources on a boat tour of the vast wetlands in Martin and St. Lucie counties. Dr. Stokes and Alvarez started their two-day inspection tour from the boat landing of Earl Castner off North Savanna Road.

OLD CHANNEL–Ransom Tilton, Jensen Beach realtor, points to the old channel of Warner Creek which is just west of SR-723 at Jensen Beach Elementary School. Tilton has proposed a dam on Warner Creek which would restore fishing in the creek, raise the water table in the area and would retain water in the savannas.

...oat trip

...tate savannas survey under way

...SEN BEACH–The long awaited ... survey of the savannas got under ... Tuesday, July 23 morning with Dr. ...ter Stokes taking Ken Alvarez on a ... of the 4,000 acre series of lakes and ... in his flat bottom boat.

...ker of the State Department of ...ral Resources said that he would ...t the wildlife savanna vegetation ...ecological value of the land.

...e've got a lot of area to cover," Dr. ...es said as he put his boat into the ...ar at Earl Castner's residence off ...th Savanna Road.

...r. Stokes, chairman of the save the ...annas committee, said he has been ...ying the area for three weeks in ...parison for Alvarez' visit.

...'m going to show Alvarez the whole thing," Dr. Stokes said. "We should complete the tour by noon Wednesday, July 24."

A decision could come soon after the survey to determine whether the state will attempt to preserve the south savannas by purchase or lease, according to Dr. Stokes.

Because of some opposition by property owners, it seems likely the state will be able to purchase or lease the property for preservation. He said that there is a strong possibility the state could declare the savannas an area of critical state concern and establish state controls over land use.

Dr. Stokes committee recommended in its reports several months ago that a special board be set up to give Martin and St. Lucie Counties and Port St. Lucie control over the savannas. However, Martin County Commission voted for state control.

The Jensen savannas extends south from Midway Road in St. Lucie County to the Jensen Beach Cutoff Road in Martin County.

The section of the savannas is still in a wild state, and the natural reservoir is formed by two ridges of land about a half mile apart running parallel to the coast line west of Indian River Drive.

"We have to do everything we can to prevent the loss of water at the south end of the savannas," Dr. Stokes said at last week's meeting of the Water Management Board when a series of dams were proposed on Warner Creek, a southern outlet of the savannas.

Alvarez said this was his first visit to the savannas, and his principal goal in his survey is to determine the land use and ecological value of the area.

Official charter vote, 936-650

JENSEN BEACH–The official vote in the Jensen Beach and Rio incorporation charter was 936 against and 650 for, Mrs. Sandra Randolph, supervisor of elections, said.

Mrs. Randolph met with judge Dwight Geiger and County Commissioner Ed Gluckler, the county canvassing board, last Wednesday and counted absentee ballots.

The precinct vote included:

No. 1, Jensen Beach, machine count 655 against and 501 for, 54 against 43 on the absentee ballots, for a total of 713 against and 544 for.

No. 13, Rio, machine count, 174 against and 82 for, absentee ballots, 14 against and 15 for, for a total of 188 against and 97 for.

No. 2, Northwood, machine count, 29 against and 9 for, absentee ballots, 6 against and no absentee ballots for adoption for a total of 35 against and 9 for.

Mrs. Randolph said that 11 absentee ballots were disqualified for not being properly executed.

District 1

Public hearings on services are proposed

JENSEN BEACH–Public hearings to determine what services people want in District 1 have been proposed by County Commissioner Russ Philbrick.

"We maybe could have public hearings in Jensen Beach, Rio, Palm Lake Park to see what the people want," the District 1 commissioner said.

"If they want another deputy sheriff for the area it would be a very expensive item," Philbrick pointed out.

He estimated that an around the clock deputy (four men) plus two patrol cars that it would cost about $44,000 and add about sixth tenth of a mill to District A taxes.

He said that two deputies are presently assigned to the area.

"I hope to hold the dollar line in the 1974-75 budget," Philbrick said. "There may be a small increase of maybe ten percent to pay for increased electric cost at Langford Park."

"The park is a wonderful operation," the commissioner added.

Philbrick said that as a result of last week's election (incorporation charter which was defeated) he judged that people don't want any more taxes.

"I would like to find out what the people want in the way of services," he said.

He proposed the public meetings to determine what services are wanted.

Also, Philbrick said that he would welcome letters from residents in the district saying what they want.

"The budget this year will be late about November," Philbrick said.

Tax assessor Ellsworth Schnurbusch has announced that the tax roll isn't expected to be ready until about October 1.

Philbrick pointed out last May that increased services–up to three mills as proposed by the Incorporation Committee–would provide a higher level of road repair, more money for the Jensen Beach and Rio fire Departments, and around the clock patrol from the sheriff's department.

He pointed out his May statement on additional taxes that "We would have to have some kind of poll to see if the people want additional services."

The present District A millage is 1.2 the millage for the district is expected to decrease this coming fiscal year, according to Philbrick, but he expects the "dollar line" of about $100,000 to be held.

Bus study grants get OK

JENSEN BEACH–A $8,500 grant for an operations bus study has been approved by the Fort Lauderdale office of the Department of Transportation (DOT).

County commissioner Ed Gluckler said that final approval must come from Tallahassee before the study can begin.

"We'll start immediately as soon as we hear from Tallahassee," Gluckler said; "We will conduct firms and begin negotiations to get the study moving."

The proposed study is aimed at determining what type of bus service is needed, number of buses and routes, according to Gluckler.

An earlier study was conducted to determine if Martin Countians would ride buses if they were available. The study determined that about 500 persons would ride public transportation.

three-member committee to organize a Merchants Association. The five merchants who attended last Thursday's night meeting voted to disband the association.

"Lack of interest was the reason given by Clarence Rydell on the move to disconitnue the Merchants Association.

Rydell was chairman of the Jensen Beach Chamber of Commerce committee which started the move to establish the association.

Mrs. Virginia Van Dien who served as secretary of the rules and by laws committee pointed out that "We never had the same people attending the same meetings."

"The most we ever had at one meeting were eleven merchants," Mrs. Van Dien said.

"We don't feel the need for two organizations (chamber and Merchant Association) doing the same thing, and we are encouraging the merchants to work within the framework of the chamber," she said.

Mrs. Van Dien, a chamber director, has checked off the merchants divisions in Stuart, Fort Pierce and Vero Beach.

Chamber director Joe Bumbera also worked on the committee with Rydell and Mrs. Van Dien.

Fourteen seek county jobs

JENSEN BEACH–With filing deadline at noon Tuesday, July 23, 14 candidates qualified for the two county commission seats and three school boards seats.

There is a crowd in the commission, District 4, race – five Republicans and two Democrats – all seeking to oust incumbent Dr. Edward Geary, Democrat.

In the District 2 race, now held by Ed Gluckler, Republican; Gerald W. O'Brien, Republican and Clay Lambeth Democrat, have filed.

Republicans who will be battling for their party's nomination in the September primary, District 4 commission, are Frederick A. Humberstone, Joan Jefferson, Edward Harvey, Dr. Ralph Frick and Thomas C. Ladley.

Dr. Geary, who was appointed by Gov. Reubin Askew when Paul Bryant was suspended, will be opposed in September by Maggy Hurchalla.

Only one incumbent has opposition in the school board races. Howard M. Way, Republican, who won a seat on the board District 3 in 1968, is opposed by Dr. David L. Anderson, Democrat.

In District 1, Ronald Scott Becky, Democrat, who was appointed by Gov. Askew when Mrs. Barbara Thomas resigned, is unopposed, and Charles E. Covington, Democrat, District 3, is also not opposed.

Lambeth in commission race

SEWALL'S POINT—The Mayor of Sewall's Point Tuesday filed for Martin County Commission, District 2.

Clay T. Lambeth, Jr., 49, a Democrat, was first elected to the Town Commission in 1972.

"As county commissioner for District 2, I would be able to put my energy and experience to use in a meaningful contribution to the future of Martin County, as well as to effectively represent the residents of District 2 including Sewall's Point," Lambeth said in announcing his candidacy.

"My decision to seek election was reached after thoughtful consideration of the fact that I must resign my present elected position in the Town of Sewall's Point," he said.

"I have enjoyed the opportunity to serve the people of the Town of Sewall's Point as commissioner and mayor, and I believe that during my years on the Town Commission our town has become a truly better community."

The president of Water Management Consultant, Corp., Lambeth also is a member of the Board of the Florida Inland Navigation District (FIND), having been appointed to the 13-county board by Gov. Reubin Askew in 1973 to represent Martin County.

Lambeth is a native of High Point N.C., and moved to Martin County with his family in 1956.

Lambeth and his wife, Betty, and four children live at Indialucia, Sewall's Point.

WATER LEVEL LOW—Jensen Beach realtor Ransom Tilton, is shown at the drainage ditch which leads into Warner Creek. Even with the recent rains, the water level is low, and Tilton has proposed a dam on Warner Creek which would return the creek to a natural fishing area and raise the water table. The ditch is extending west from SR-723 at the Jensen Beach Elementary School.

Copley joins The Mirror

JENSEN BEACH - PORT ST. LUCIE -Beginning July 26, The Mirror will begin using news stories, features and columns provided by the worldwide news gathering agency, Copley News Service.

Copley News Service bureaus, correspondents and stringers are to be found in all parts of the globe. Their duty to provide the WHY behind daily news.

Approximately 1,000 newspapers across the United States and around the world are being served by Copley News Service, compared to the 14 newspapers originally taking the service when it was inaugurated in 1955.

The service has expanded rapidly, because modern readers insist upon knowing the WHY instead of merely the WHAT of the news.

Copley News Service editors and writers specialize in back-ground features and interpretations of the day-to-day events, thereby untangling and correctly reassembling scrambled facts for readers, who are otherwise bewildered by the so-called "information explosion."

Editors and writer of Copley News Service contend there is no current "information explosion," just an explosion of misinformation that confuses—through a mass presentation of unrelated and jumbled facts, mixed with fiction.

Therefore this newspaper is proud to state that it is now presenting the columns, features and news of Copley News Service.

Democrats elect leaders

JENSEN BEACH-Mrs. Mardee St. Clair of Jensen Beach has been elected chairwoman of the Martin County Democratic Executive Committee.

Mrs. St. Clair, former vice chairperson, has been active in the Democratic committee for many years and has held a number of offices in the past.

The election resulted from the resignation of Charles Covington as chairman. Covington, a member of the Martin County Board of Public Instruction, said it was impossible to continue as chairman because of many pressing obligations.

David Anderson was elected vice chairman. Anderson, a candidate for county commission in the last county election, was one of a group who installed members of the committee including Gilbert Miller, Joseph Berrian and Maggie Hurchalla.

Mrs. St. Clair said a series of public meetings are planned, and the first speaker is Richard Pettigrew, candidate for the U.S. Senate in this fall's election.

U.S. Penny, an endangered specie . . .

As across the nation, Martin County is experiencing a tremendous shortage of pennies in circulation. Hoarding of pennies is costly to the economy and to the taxpayers.

In cooperation with the United States Department of the Treasury, First National Bank and Trust Company urges you to bring in your pennies for deposit or redemption. We will gladly count and package the pennies for you.

The average life of a coin in circulation is estimated to be 25 years. Please help us to see to it that pennies are not retired before their time. Please bring your pennies to First National's lobby during regular banking hours, Monday-Thursday 9:00 AM-3:00 PM, and Friday 9:00 AM-6:00 PM.

Any group or individual who brings in $25.00 worth of pennies will receive a Special Citation from the Department of the Treasury.

You know how high the cost of housing has gone.
For us, too.
The American dream house is more expensive than ever. Especially in Florida. In just the past year the average price of a new home has gone up 15%. Yet, like they say, people have to live somewhere.
That is where FPL comes in because your housing needs determine our housing needs. To serve your increasing need for electricity, we have to house new substations and power plants. And the cost of our housing has gone up, too.
It's gone up against our will and our strenuous efforts to keep costs down. We have an Engineering Department whose primary function is to build new facilities at the lowest possible costs. We believe they have worked out the most efficient systems of any utility company in the country. Yet no system can absorb the inflated costs of today.
To bring electricity to your home, FPL must build substations, relay points between your home and the power plant. And the substation that cost us $668,470 in 1973 now costs close to $900,000.
An examination of just one of our costs will help tell you why. Reinforcement steel rose from $161.40 a ton in 1973 to $278.00 in 1974. Almost all of our costs have gone up. Fuel, equipment, vehicles, maintenance and even the cost of borrowing the money to build the facilities.
FPL is trying to keep costs down. The economies we have devised work. The simple fact is that without them costs would have been a lot higher. We have blunted the edge of inflation. But there comes a point where to cut any further would seriously hinder our ability to serve you.
FPL cannot predict the future of the economy. We do not know if inflation will continue as it has in the past. We do know that we will continue to bring you the electricity you need. At the lowest possible cost.
FPL
People...serving people.

New ordinances less expensive

PORT ST. LUCIE--Before the amendment strengthening the littering and dumping ordinance would be approved by the City Council Tuesday, a new ordinance was ordered.

"It is cheaper for the city for have a new ordinance written up, than it is to make amendments," said Franklin Beardsley, who heads the city finance committee.

The reason for this, Beardsley explained, is the city is now in the process of having all the ordinances codified and bound.

"We have been advised by the printers there will be an additional charge for each amendment. The city will be able to save thousands of dollars by rewriting the smaller ordinances rather than including a number of amendments," he said.

City attorney Rupert Smith agreed the rewriting of the smaller ordinances would save money, but said the line would have to be drawn when it comes to the 70-page zoning ordinance.

In other action the Port St. Lucie City Council:

Heard a report from Mayor Larry Kimmel on the progress of the turnpike interchange. A meeting is currently underway at this time between DOT project engineers, Dickerson, Inc., FP&L, the Fla. Highway Patrol, city and county officials, Kimmel said.

"The City of Port St. Lucie is being represented by a member of General Development's Corporation's engineering department," the mayor added.

"This meeting is a solid indication that progress is being made," he concluded.

Approved the completed police contract for the St. Lucie County Sheriff's Department in the amount of $133,040.04.

Requested an repeal of ordinance 70-6 governing the size of for sale and rental signs posted within the city. The original ordinance required signs be no larger than 12" by 18". The new ordinance will permit 24" by 24" signs.

The new ordinance will restrict the signs to For Rent or For Sale. The only other copy permitted will be realtors or owners name and phone number. All signs must be placed within five feet of the house.

Approved a resolution whereby the city would vacate part of Morningside Boulevard just west of the U.S. 1 intersection.

General Development Corporation with the opening of the Mid-Port West development, removed the curve on Morningside Boulevard and made the Lyngate Drive-Morningside Boulevard the key intersection.

"All this resolution does basically is to make certain the city and county plats agree," City Attorney Rupert Smith said.

Heard a report by Franklin Beardsley, finance committee chairman, regarding the required $600 annual payment to the St. Lucie County Supervisor of Elections James Brooks to help pay the city's tab for the registration services.

The matter was tabled by the council pending a meeting with Brooks.

Mosquito control is contemplated

PORT ST. LUCIE--Heavy rains have brought swarms of mosquitos to Port St. Lucie and floods of complaints to the City Hall during the past three weeks.

Because of the numerous complaints, Jim Thomas, safety director, has been appointed as a committee of one to inquire into the feasibility of acquiring the apparatus necessary to provide a supplementary mosquito control in the city.

"I have several letters of inquiry out regarding the various prices of the different types of equipment. So far, there are three choices -- a portable type sprayer, a permanently mounted sprayer on a pick-up truck and aircraft dusting," he said.

According to Thomas, there is a lot to be said for the crop dusting type of mosquito control by low flying aircraft, but there is no way to pinpoint the specific areas.

Thomas said he intends to contact the county officials and General Development Corporation to see if it is possible and feasible to work out some type of a package deal.

Mayor Larry Kimmel explained that the county does provide a minimal spraying service, but felt that the consideration of supplemental control by the city was due.

Man hurt in fall

PORT ST. LUCIE--Walter Richards of 288 Jefferson Ave., Stuart, fell from the roof of the St. Lucie Hilton Restaurant about noon Tuesday.

The Rescue Unit from Port St. Lucie, manned by Lt. Walter Wile and Eng. Charles Padrick, both EMTs, responded to the call.

Richards is employed as a carpenter at the Hilton.

As they reached the light at 707, they found that a semi-rig had just been wrecked by hitting the rear of a dump truck. They stopped and picked up the driver of the truck and, minutes later, delivered both patients to Martin Memorial.

Maintainance dredging

PORT ST. LUCIE--The State Department of Pollution Control (DPC) has received an application from General Development (GDC) for maintainance dredging of navigable waterway in the City of Port St. Lucie.

GDC is seeking permission to dredge silt, sand and other debris from existing navigable waterway in the Harbor and Degan waterways.

DPC asks all interested persons that have objections to the project, file their objections within 20 days of publication of public notice.

Grand opening kicks off Mid Port development

PORT ST. LUCIE–Mid-Port, the new ...n which ultimately will become ...wntown for the entire city, was ...ened last weekend by General ...velopment Corp.

The area now houses only Florida ...ne Finders plus half a dozen homes which were opened to the public.

First major change expected by GDC is to move the Welcome Center office from North Port to Mid Port.

A total of 67 acres of commercial and shopping will be in the area, and Mid Port is expected to be home for 5,000 residents.

New model homes built by GDC at Mid Port will be the center of selling activities which started with Saturday's kick-off.

Tied in with the proposed massive Mid Port Development will be rerouting of Morningside Boulevard close to U.S. 1.

HOSTESSES CHAT–GDC hostesses, Elene Hubbard and ...arilyn Coffey, take the time out for a chat during the kick-off of the massive Mid-Port development held last weekend

HIGH RISE–Although it just about as high as a bird can get, I would wager a guess that this is one high-rise the residents of Port St. Lucie won't complaing about.

MIRROR

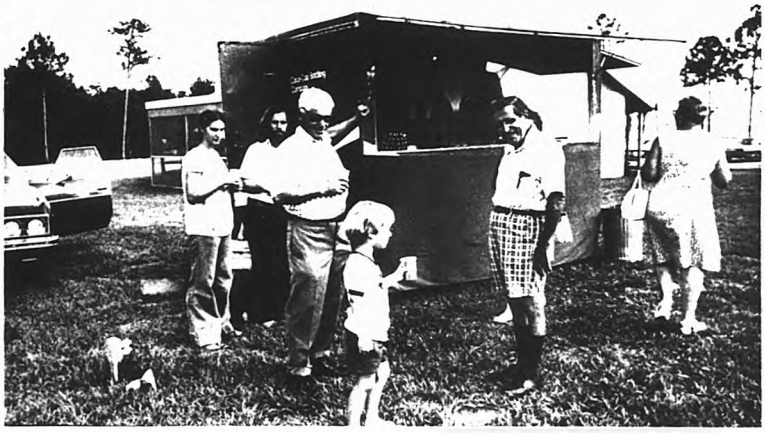
TOO YOUNG–Perhaps Chris Ravin is a little too young to qualify as a ...spective GDC homebuyer, but it is a sure thing he could handle the free hot ...d provided by his hosts. Chris attended the grand opening and kick-off of ...neral Development's Mid Port development last weekend.



REFRESHING–Visitors and prospective buyers paused for a hot dog and cold drink after they toured the seven new model homes opened in the Mid-Port West section of Port St. Lucie. General Development Corporation kicked-off the Mid Port development with an open house held last weekend.

GRAND OPENING–Large crowds were on hand for the grand opening of the seven model homes in Mid-Port. In addition to the new model homes on display, purchasers will also have the Country Club line of homes available, as well as the Gardens and Town & Country series from which to choose.

Benz outlines Labor Day

PORT ST. LUCIE–Plenty of advanced planning will go into the Labor Day celebration held at the Port St. Lucie Marina.

Even at this early date, Cedric Benz, head of the Presidents Council, was able to outline the plans for the day-long festivities.

"There will be a white elephant sale, a bake sale, and plenty of soft drinks and Sloppy Joes available during the afternoon," Benz said.

"We will have a money bingo also underway during the afternoon. There will be 15 to 20 special prizes given away, but you will have to be present to win them," he added.

Heading the list of special prizes will be a year's supply of gasoline – 500 gallons.

One of the highlights of the day will commence when GDC's Mel Broom will have the barbequed chicken ready to serve at 4:30 p.m.

"This will include a half chicken, beans, cole slaw and bun – all for the low price of $1.50," Benz said.

"I am not interested in making alot of money out of this," he said. "The people of this community have been asked for a number of donations lately and I think it is time they get something in return."

All proceedes will be donated to the CESA building fund.

CURE sponsors public meeting on nuclear plants

JENSEN BEACH--Thursday, July 25 at 8 p.m. is the date set for a public meeting at F.I.T. to consider the question of nuclear power on Hutchinson Island.

The evening will open with a free showing of a documentary film entitled "Energy: The Nuclear Alternative," which is reviewed as an "excellent introduction to nuclear power. In particular the film is distinguished by candid interviews with members on both sides of the nuclear power controversary, a reasonable and thoughtful presentation."

After the film the focus will shift to the siting of the St. Lucie Plants on Hutchinson Island. Following addresses on this subject, Martin Hodder, a Miami comtractor and lawyer who is currently intervening in (objecting to) St. Lucie II, will be heard. A period of questions and answers will follow.

The meeting is sponsored by CURE (Citizens United against Radioactive Environment) a group of citizens from the Alliances of Martin and St. Lucie counties. By this meeting they hope to obtain a large public backing for their opposition to the plants. For further information, contact: V. Prime, 283-1397.

Sykes to seek reelection

NORTH PALM BEACH--Russell Sykes filed July 22 to seek reelection to the State Senate for District 26. The six county district includes Indian River, St. Lucie, Martin, Palm Beach, Hendry and Lee Counties.

Sykes was first elected to the house of Representatives in 1970, representing Martin and Palm Beach Counties. When the Senate was reduced from 48 to 40 through reapportionment, he sought a seat in the senate and was elected in 1972 as a Republican.

While in the House, he was runner-up for the most outstanding first-term member, and was also runner-up for the most outstanding first-term member of the Senate.

He served on the Senate Ways and Means and Transportation Committees and was appointed by Governor Askew to the Select Committee on the Energy crisis.

"During the last four years, I have voted against every tax bill and expect to do the same in the future until I am satisfied that government is attempting to serve the people rather than itself," he affirms.

He sponsored the homestead bill which granted a $10,000 homestead exemption as it applied to school taxes, co-authored and was floor manager for the $10,000 homestead exemption across the board, covering county and municipal as well as school taxes, and was co-author and floor manager for the bill which increased intangible tax exemption from $5000 to $40,000.

An airline pilot for Eastern Airlines, Sykes is 33 years old and single. Active in local community affairs, he has been chairman for three years of the Muscular Dystrophy fund raising efforts, served on the board of advisors for the Dherer Park Zoo in Palm Beach County, was appointed by the governor to the Statewide Aviation Advisory Committee. He is a Mason and a member of Mensa and of the North palm Beach Chamber of Commerce.

Ransom Tilton of Tilton Real Estate in Jensen Beach is Sykes' Martin County campaign chairman. Sykes maintains an office in Martin County at the Jensen Beach Mirror.

Living in LEILANI Heights

BY JACKIE SHAW
Tele. 334-3530

This column will be printed every other week until Leilani becomes big enough to warrant weekly news. Our latest official resident count is 14 families living here, six about to live here and approximately ten houses under construction.

+ + +

Reports are coming in from all those who hooked up to cable T.V. stating that they are getting many channels nice and clear.

+ + +

Quite a few of the "small fry" set of Leilani have been enjoying the "Big Blue Cookie Box" show Saturdays at the Lyric Theatre in Stuart. Getting 'into the act' on stage, the prizes, the hilarious clowns and the free lemonade are attracting the kids.

Meet Your Neighbor

Our "family of the week" is Veronica (Ronnie) and Donald (DON) Kornowski, who came all the way from Kewaunee, Wisconsin. They moved into Leilani on June 5th with their three adorable small children.

Joseph, age 6, will be entering first grade in the Jensen Beach Elementary School this Fall.

Rachel is 5 and will be attending the Jensen Beach Community Church nursery school in September.

John is 2 and not ready for higher education, yet.

Don is employed as Assistant Plant Engineer with Florida Power and Light Company at the St. Lucie Plant on Hutchinson Island.

Ronnie works part-time at the Ramada Inn in Stuart. For hobbies and interests, she oil paints, crochets, is an avid reader and loves to sew. Her main interest, tho, lies in the medical profession. She was a Medical Assistant in the field of dermatology for five years in Wisconsin and would like to return to this profession as soon as the children are older and she has time to devote to it.

Ronnie and Don can't rave enough about Florida. Having come from an extremely cold climate, they revel in the constant sunshine and our casual way of life. They love their home and "never want to move from Leilani Heights" (their quote!).

I'd like to introduce you to Dotty Carson, Sales Manager at the Coy and Degeller model home. This girl loves her job and the wonderful people she meets and it is reflected in her vivacious and sparkling personality.

Dotty is married to Bill Carson, Supervisor of the Electrical Department of Krauss and Crane, Stuart, and they have two children.

Will is 21 and also works at Krauss and Crane.

Cathy is 18 and graduated from Martin County High School this past June. She is employed at "The Thimble" in the Ocean East Mall, Stuart.

They have a schnauzer named "Snooper". Dotty is very proud of this dog and swears to me he sings! Whenever they have a birthday celebration and all sing "Happy Birthday," he is right there sitting at the table singing his heart out. When she plays her music box, he does it again. As soon as the music stops, so does he - instantaneously.

Dotty and Bill came to Stuart on vacation for eight years to visit Dotty's parents, Dorothy and George Hackman, of Sunshine Mobile Manor. As the story of so many others repeats itself, they, too, fell in love with this area and decided to make Stuart their permanent home; so five years ago they left Brooklawn, New Jersey, and never want to leave these parts (quote again).

Dotty's interests lie in sewing, square dancing and fishing. She and Bill have an 18-foot Thunderbird on which they fish as often as they can manage. She is also a voracious reader. In the New Jersey home, she was President of the P.T.A. for two years. After that, she served on the Board of Education for six years. When she moved to Florida, the community of Brooklawn bestowed the honor of Life Member of the P.T.A. to her.

Dotty and Bill are enthusiastic followers of the Martin County High School "Tigers" basketball team and attend most of their games.

Best wishes to Patti Smith, the pretty and petite daughter of Phyllis and Ken who celebrated her 21st birthday on July 14th.

+ + +

Happy birthday, also, to Don Kornowski on July 22nd, our "family of the week" father!

MCHS class of '59 to hold reunion

STUART - August 1 is the deadline for reservations for the Martin County High School Class of '59 reunion.

Festivities will begin with a luau at the home of Boo Lowery, Sunset Trail, Palm City at 6:00 p.m. Saturday, August 10.

A family picnic at Jaycee Park on the Stuart Causeway is planned for Sunday, August 11.

For information and reservations, call 287-6076, 287-1581 or 287-3438.

Birthday Greetings

JENSEN BEACH - Happy birthday wishes are extended to Tom Wyatt, celebrating on July 24; Lee Hill, Dave Ivos, and Emil Backman, July 25; Helen Henson and Janice Lawrence, July 27; Merle Mills, July 28; Vicki Britton and Caroline Wick, July 29; and to Charles Hall and Jim Driscoll, July 30.

Penny's Corner
Maryland Stuffed Ham
Featuring a fresh color and flavor idea — greens tucked into deep cuts in meat. Bake at 325° for 3 hours. Makes 12 generous servings, plus enough for at least one bonus meal.
1 fully cooked ham, weighing about 12 pounds
1 package (10 ounces) fresh spinach
1 bunch green onions
1 bunch parsley
1 cup dry red wine
¼ cup honey
4 teaspoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
1 Trim thick skin, if any, from ham. Make 3 shape cuts 3 inches deep and 1 inch apart at over-fat side with a sharp knife.
2 Trim stems from spinach and cut out any coarse ribs. Trim green onions and parsley; wash all greens well; dry on paper towelling. Chop all fine and mix well in a small bowl.
3 Press greens mixture into cuts, packing in well with your finger to fill openings. Place ham, fat side up, in a large shallow baking pan. Brush with part of the wine.
4 Bake in slow oven (325°), brushing several times with more wine, 2½ hours.
5 Stir honey into remaining wine; brush part of mixture over ham. Continue baking and brushing with remaining honey mixture 30 minutes, or until top is richly glazed. Remove ham from pan and let stand about 20 minutes for easier carving.
6 Pour fat and juices from baking pan into a 4-cup measure; let stand a few minutes until fat rises to top; skim off fat. Add water to juices if needed to make 3 cups. Return to pan; heat to boiling.
7 Blend about 3 tablespoons cold water into cornstarch until smooth in a cup; stir into boiling liquid. Continue cooking and stirring, scraping baked-on juices from bottom and sides of pan, until sauce thickens and boils 3 minutes; stir in vinegar.
8 Turn ham neatly side up; cut a thin slice from bottom so it will stand flat. Place fat side up on platter. Cut a wedge-shape piece from shank end and lift out; then carve several slices and arrange at end of platter. Garnish platter with spinach leaves, green-onion curls, parsley, and spiced apple rings, if you wish. Serve sauce in separate bowl to spoon over meat.

Jean and Mac McCabe of lot 157 have returned from their trip to Fremont, Cal. Their son Barry underwent surgery on July 15 and is doing nicely. Mac's mother, whom they had visited in a hospital in Delaware, passed away while they were en-route home. She was 94 years old. We all extend our condolences.

Heard from Betty and Mac O'Donnell. They are enjoying Mackinac Island, Mich. The water, at 57 degrees, is too cold for swimming. There are no cars on the island, horse-drawn carriages being the only means of transportation. There are plenty of beautiful nature trails. It is a rather unique place to visit. The inns serve delightful meals where one can enjoy beautiful scenery while dining.

I heard from Stephanie and Fred Keifaber. They spent a weekend in Westminster, Mass., with friends, then on to Maine where they met Olive and George Taylor, also of Holiday Out, staying twelve days at Sea Wall. They visited Bar Harbor and took a cruise to Baas Harbour. Their guide told them that people come out Sundays and shoot the harmless seals.

From there, they went to the Bay of Fundy and, while watching the tide, were told that the tide sometimes rises to 40 feet. The scenery along the beach was beautiful. Leaving Fundy, they went to the Rachs which Ripley wrote about calling it the "world's flower pot". It was a sight to behold. Here the waters from Fundy push in to Hope Wall Cape and then rise very rapidly for 20 feet or more. At certain times of the year, according to the moon, the water rises to 50 feet.

They continued on to Moucon, Canada, where they found prices extremely high. Before leaving the States, they visited Black Harbor where they toured Conlon Bros. Sardine Cannery. They are now on Prine Edward Island, Canada.

Progress report: Many of the trees have been removed or trimmed by our park personnel as directed. The downstairs tile floor has been cleaned and looks very nice. The benches have been painted by the shuffleboard courts and in the spectator area.

Eric has replanted the icons in front of the water falls, improving the appearance of that area. The plants which were removed from the south pool fence, are growing nicely away from the salt spray.

THE PORT ST. LUCIE
MIRROR
VOL. 5 NO. 30 JULY 24, 1974 10¢

MAKING A POINT–Joe Corso came through loud and clear when he appeared before the Presidents' Council to lay the groundwork for the forthcoming November referendum on the Port Pierce Memorial Hospital. Corso is the public relations man for the hospital.

Response excellent

Rescue service praised by leaders

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE--Community leaders came forth with the highest of praise for the St. Lucie County Rescue Service during a meeting of the Presidents Council held last week.

Fire Chief R.M. Register and Capt. Russell Rogers, head of the county rescue squad, were both present to hear those praises.

At the same time, however, the group agreed to support the contracted ambulance service now provided county-wide by Universal Ambulance for at least one more year.

The county commission is, at the present time, confronted with the St. Lucie Volunteer Ambulance Organization who wants to substitute their services for the contracted services now in operation.

Don White, appointed by the council to survey the situation, reported his findings to the members last Thursday.

"In my opinion I have seen nothing concrete that the proposed volunteer organization has to offer," White said. "It is important we do not consider a service offering anything less than we now have."

In presenting a comparison of the two services, White outlined the needs of the community and how those needs have changed within the past two years.

"With the addition of the new county mobile rescue units, one of which is based at the fire station on Prima Vista Boulevard, the 15 to 20 minute delay in getting an ambulance is not nearly so important as it once was," he said.

"The response from the rescue teams has been excellent. The men are qualified Emergency Medical Technicians (EMT) with a minimum of 80 to 120 hours of training. The units are equipped with practically every device necessary to handle any emergency situation.

"With the addition of the new mobile units the ambulance becomes secondary in need. The delay in transporting becomes a less important factor. What is important is that when the ambulance arrives on the scene, they transport a patient to the hospital and not a corpse," White said.

Capt. Rogers emphasized to the group that the purpose of the rescue teams was to sustain life until an ambulance arrived to transport the patient.

"At the present time we have three units in service in the county," Rogers said. "There are two more on order."

One unit is stationed at the airport, one in the City of Fort Pierce and the third in north Port St. Lucie.

The two units on order will, when received, be located in south Port St. Lucie and the second on South Beach.

Although each unit is equipped with two-way radios, the bright spot in the future is telemetry. Telemetry is another phase of radio which will permit the rescue teams to transmit and receive medical information and advice directly from the emergency room at the hospital.

Rogers said that the telemetry will cost $46,000 to install and will involve the erection of a 340-foot transmitting tower at the hospital. This will also put the hospital in touch with Stuart, Okeechobee and Vero Beach in addition to St. Lucie County rescue vehicles.

"The most desirable thing for the county would be to have the fire department operate both the ambulance and rescue service," White said.

Speaking of things to come, White also said the 911 emergency telephone number system should be in effect by December. Any resident in the county can report an emergency by dialing 911. The call will be handled by experienced operators who will immediately dispatch the help and equipment necessary.

In comparing the ambulance services, White said he had not heard any complaints about the service offered by Universal Ambulance in the past two years excluding the additional charge for trips to out-of-county hospitals.

"I question it would be advantageous for the county to substitute for a known quanity and known efficiency for one that so far has nothing concrete to offer except a dedicated desire to serve the people of St. Lucie County," White said.

"I have seen nothing that would indicate they can duplicate the service which we now have," he said.

In justifying his statement, White said he was only comparing the services of the two, and was not in anyway trying to run down the proposed volunteer organization.

According to White, the volunteer organization has no money and won't have until their corporate papers are returned--probably the end of July. They have no base of operation although two have been promised. They intend to operate four vehicles which are estimated to cost $20,000 each, equipped.

Such service would require approximately 150 volunteers to provide adequate staffing.

Volunteer ambulance groups have operated in the past and will continue to operate successfully, but I feel more time is needed for the St. Lucie group to organize," White added.

"Bids are to be received by the county August 13, just weeks from the time that the Universal contract will expire. The St. Lucie Volunteers would have to be ready by that time," he said.

"In view of these facts, it would be my suggestion to notify the county commission of our support for the contracted services of Universal Ambulance to be continued for at least one year, whereby the proposed volunteer group would have the time needed to complete their organization," said Schuyler Sharpe, member of the council.

The motion carried the unanimous support of those attending the meeting.

Rogers said a volunteer ambulance stationed in the Port St. Lucie area would not get in the way of the rescue service at all.

"In fact we'll ride with you to the hospital if necessary," he concluded.

GUEST SPEAKERS–St. Lucie County Fire Chief R.R. Register and Capt. Russell Rogers, head of the rescue teams, were the guests of the Presidents' Council when the group met last Tuesday at the CESA Building. Rogers brought the group up-to-date on the progress of the county rescue units.

$10 million referendum

Groundwork laid for hospital bond issue

BY ALICE HICKEY

PORT ST. LUCIE–The groundwork was laid for the passage of a $10 million hospital bond issue in the November referendum, when residents of this south county community learned the cost to each voting family would be as little as a cigaret per day, quite per week or a half gallon of milk per month.

That is the way Joe Corso, public relations man for the Fort Pierce Memorial Hospital presented it to the members of the Presidents' Council last week at the CESA building.

Pointing out the difference from last year's bond issue which the residents of Port St. Lucie overwhelmingly turned down, Corso explained this year would cost the taxpayer only 1 mill in lieu of the 2 mills asked for last year.

He also said that last year the referendum was for a separate taxing district, while this year it will come under the St. Lucie County 10 mill cap.

"Over and above that," he added, "40 percent of the hospital taxes will be paid by big businesses in the country."

Corso said that the $10 million bond issue could be used to put up a new facility on a new site, expand the present facility or build a new hospital around the existing present facility.

"The attention is to build the new facility around the existing hospital," he said. "This would be the most practical and the more economical of the options. This would enable us to utilize the present structure and when completed, the transition will be a very short one.

"This will also eliminate hiring trucks to haul the equipment all over town when the time comes," he added.

He emphasized the fact that the $10 million could only be used for the new building and equipment, not for monies of operating expenses.

Contrary to what you have heard in the past, the Fort Pierce Memorial Hospital, which is one of the best equipped in the area is operating in the black, he said.

"At the very onset of his presentation, Joe was quick to admit to past shortcomings at the hospital. He named most of the complaints on a previous lack of communication in the past.

He admitted that in the past there had been many justified complaints about billing procedures, public relations, emergency room techniques and general housekeeping practices.

"The entire staff ranging from the administrative heads to the maintenance workers are now making an effort to improve our facility and these efforts have been rewarding," he said.

"When this referendum passes, and I am certain that it will," Corso said, "we are hospital will belong to the people of St. Lucie County and not a private association. It will be run by the county commissioners. We want to be a part of the political football."

Corso explained that there would be a representative on the governing board from each of the six districts in the county, one at large from south of Okeechobee road and one at large from the north boundary of the city limits south. The tenth member of the governing board will automatically be the chief of staff.

In his closing remarks, Corso informed the homeowners over 65 years of age would pay an additional $18.40 per year on a home assessed at $10,000. The homeowner under 65 would pay an increase of $18.40 per year on a similar home.

He said that the total assessment in St. Lucie County are $858 million and of that amount, $116 million are agricultural lands.

He also instanced some of the big companies in the county and gave their assessments – Ft. Pierce Shopping Center, $540,000; Seastown, $3 million; Burger King, $147,000; Grant Plaza, $2.3 million; First Federal Branch, $143,000; Fields Shopping Center, $2,379,000; Boogaarts Shopping Center, $500,000; Telephone Company, $13,310,000; Florida Gas, $1,629,000; AT&T, $2,206,000; Pizza Inn, $144,000; and the Standard station $156,000.

Adding that Florida Power and Light is assessed at $3,568,000, he said when the nuclear plant is completed, they will be assessed and additional $146 million.

"This partial list of the county businesses will pay nearly 25 percent of all the hospital taxes," he concluded.

Corso was unable to provide the figures for the General Development Corporation share of the hospital tab.

Residents urged to identify premises

PORT ST. LUCIE–Residents of Port St. Lucie and River Park were urged to identify their premises by either name, house number or better still, both.

The plea was made by Don White, a resident of the area.

"This simple identification could possibly save your life," White pointed out while urging the presidents of the local clubs and organizations to pass along the suggestion.

In praising the fire department and the rescue teams for the fine services and quick response, White asked the cooperation of residents in clearly identifying their premises.

He warned the lack of this identification could backfire at a time when help was needed.

White's request followed a suggestion by St. Lucie County Fire Chief R.M. Register that one of the most important projects the Presidents' Council could perform would be to sponsor the work of dividing Port St. Lucie into fire zones.

"These zones could be numbered, the numbers placed on the street signs, and reported to the fire department," Register said. "This would be a great help in locating a particular area or address."

While Council President Cedric Benz thought the project could be best handled by the homeowners groups in the area, GDC's office manager, Mel Broom, informed the chief that a similar project was being conducted between the City of Fort St. Lucie and General Development Corporation.

CESA bingo starts Saturday

PORT ST. LUCIE–With the arrival of the new equipment, all systems are go for the Saturday night bingo game, scheduled for 8:00 p.m. July 27. Beginning next week, there will be games at 7:00 p.m. on Friday as well as the Saturday night games.

A variety of games will be played at both weekly sessions with a guaranteed $50 jackpot on Fridays and $75 guaranteed on Saturdays. The lowest prize for a single straight bingo will be $5 and special prizes will range from $10 upward, according to Walt Bandyk, bingo chairman.

After assessing the CESA revenue producing activities and finding additional funds were needed, the board of directors voted unanimously to launch the new venture and purchase the necessary equipment.

The bingo operation will not only help to fill this financial gap, but will also provide the community with needed entertainment as well," CESA President Dick Lundin said.

Voter registration at PSL marina

PORT ST. LUCIE–Voter registration books will open at the Port St. Lucie Marina from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Thursday, July 25.

Registration books for the first and second primaries will close Saturday, July 27, at 5 p.m., according to James Brooks, supervisor of elections.

Members of the St. Lucie County League of Women Voters will be on hand to assist with the registration and urge all who have not already done so to come out on Thursday and register.

Island voting precinct proposed

PORT ST. LUCIE–A new voting precinct on south Hutchinson Island which will have about 275 voters is planned by St. Lucie County Supervisor of Elections James Brooks.

Brooks said the new voting district will extend from around the Florida Power and Light Co. nuclear plant south to the Martin County line.

Voting in the new precinct, the county's 23rd, will be at Holiday Out recreation building, according to Brooks.

First Davis Cup Pro matches well attended

PORT ST. LUCIE–A large crowd turned out on Sunday, July 21, to watch the first Davis Cup professional matches presented by the St. Lucie Hilton Country Club.

In the singles, it was Jack Biedenharn over Tom Faulkenburg, 8-4; and Allen Quay over Mario Obando, 8-4.

In the doubles match, Faulkenburg and Obando beat two straight sets to Biedenharn and Quay, 6-4 and 6-3.

The matches, dedicated to Mrs. James Grossnickle of Stuart, were followed by refreshments and presentation of awards at the Gazebo.

Bob Seeley, Port St. Lucie general manager, presented trophies and awards to the club champions.

Savannas survey is under way

JENSEN BEACH–The long awaited state survey of the savannas got under way Tuesday, July 23, morning with Dr. Walter Stokes taking Ken Alvarez on a tour of the 6,000-acre series of lakes and ponds in his flat bottom boat.

Alvarez, of the State Department of Natural Resources, said that he would look at the wildlife, savanna vegetation and ecological value of the land.

"We've got a lot of area to cover," Dr. Stokes said as he put his boat into the water at Earl Carteer's residence off North Savanna Road.

Dr. Stokes, chairman of the save the savannas committee, said he has been scouting the area for three weeks in preparation for Alvarez' visit.

"I'm going to show Alvarez the whole thing," Dr. Stokes said. "We should complete the tour by noon Wednesday, July 24."

A decision could come soon after the survey to determine whether the state will attempt to preserve the south savannas by purchase or lease, according to Dr. Stokes.

Because of some opposition by property owners, it seems likely the state will be able to purchase or lease the property for preservation. He said that there is a strong possibility the state could declare the savannas an area of critical state concern and establish state controls over land use.

Dr. Stokes' committee recommended in its reports several months ago that a special board be set up to give Martin and St. Lucie Counties and Port St. Lucie control over the savannas. However, Martin County Commission voted for state control.

The Jensen savannas extends south from Midway Road in St. Lucie County to the Jensen Beach Cutoff Road in Martin County.

The section of the savannas is still in a wild state, and the natural reservoir is formed by two ridges of land about a half mile apart running parallel to the coast line west of Indian River Drive.

"We have to do everything we can to prevent the loss of water at the south end of the savannas," Dr. Stokes said at last week's meeting of the Water Management Board when a series of dams were proposed on Warner Creek, a southern outlet of the savannas.

Alvarez said this was his first visit to the savannas, and his principal goal in his survey is to determine the land use and ecological value of the area.

FIND A SKY—Where, but in watching the sun rise over the Indian River, is there so much beauty in a moment that will be gone forever. The changing patterns and forms of the sun as it paints the sky and water is a poet's dream made more scenic by dock and boats at rest, awaiting the coming of man

New ordinances less expensive

PORT ST. LUCIE—Before the amendment strengthening the littering and dumping ordinance would be approved by the City Council Tuesday, a new ordinance was ordered

"It is cheaper for the city for have a new ordinance written up, than it is to make amendments," said Franklin Beardsley, who heads the city finance committee

The reason for this, Beardsley explained, is the city is now in the process of having all the ordinances codified and bound

"We have been advised by the printers there will be an additional charge for each amendment. The city will be able to save thousands of dollars by rewriting the smaller ordinances rather than including a number of amendments," he said

City attorney Rupert Smith agreed the rewriting of the smaller ordinances would save money, but said the line would have to be drawn when it comes to the 70-page zoning ordinance

In other action the Port St. Lucie City Council

Heard a report from Mayor Larry Kimmel on the progress of the turnpike interchange. A meeting is currently underway at this time between DOT project engineers, Dickerson, Inc., FP&L, the Fla. Highway Patrol, city and county officials, Kimmel said

"The City of Port St. Lucie is being represented by a member of General Development's Corporation's engineering department," the mayor added

"This meeting is a solid indication that progress is being made," he concluded

Approved the completed police contract for the St. Lucie County Sheriff's Department in the amount of $133,000.04

Requested an repeal of ordinance 70-6 governing the size of for sale and rental signs posted within the city. The original ordinance required signs be no larger than 12" by 18". The new ordinance will permit 24" by 24" signs.

The new ordinance will restrict the signs to For Rent or For Sale. The only other copy permitted will be realtors or owners name and phone number. All signs must be placed within five feet of the house.

Approved a resolution whereby the city would vacate part of Morningside Boulevard just west of the U.S. 1 intersection.

General Development Corporation with the opening of the Mid-Port West development, removed the curve on Morningside Boulevard and made the Lyngate Drive-Morningside Boulevard the key intersection.

"All this resolution does basically, is to make certain the city and county plats agree," City Attorney Rupert Smith said.

Heard a report by Franklin Beardsley, finance committee chairman, regarding the requested $600 annual payment to the St. Lucie County Supervisor of Elections James Brooks to help pay the city's tab for the registration services.

The matter was tabled by the council pending a meeting with Brooks.

Mosquito control is contemplated

PORT ST. LUCIE—Heavy rains have brought swarms of mosquitos to Port St. Lucie and floods of complaints to the City Hall during the past three weeks.

Because of the numerous complaints, Jim Thomas, safety director, has been appointed as a committee of one to inquire into the feasibility of acquiring the apparatus necessary to provide a supplementary mosquito control in the city.

"I have several letters of inquiry out regarding the various prices of the different types of equipment. So far, there are three choices — a portable type sprayer, a permanently mounted sprayer on a pick-up truck and aircraft dusting," he said.

According to Thomas, there is a lot to be said for the crop dusting type of mosquito control by low flying aircraft, but there is no way to pinpoint the specific areas.

Thomas said he intends to contact the county officials and General Development Corporation to see if it is possible and feasible to work out some type of a package deal.

Mayor Larry Kimmel explained that the county does provide a minimal spraying service, but felt that the consideration of supplemental control by the city was due.

Man hurt in fall

PORT ST. LUCIE—Walter Richards of 288 Jefferson Ave., Stuart, fell from the roof of the St. Lucie Hilton Restaurant about noon Tuesday.

The Rescue Unit from Port St. Lucie, manned by Lt. Walter Wile and Eng. Charles Padrick, both EMTs, responded to the call.

Richards is employed as a carpenter at the Hilton.

As they reached the light at 707, they found that a aerial rig had just been wrecked by hitting the rear of a dump truck. They stopped and picked up the driver of the truck and, minutes later, delivered both patients to Martin Memorial.

Maintainance dredging

PORT ST. LUCIE—The State Department of Pollution Control (DPC) has received an application from General Development (GDC) for maintainance dredging of navigable waterway in the City of Port St. Lucie.

GDC is seeking permission to dredge silt, sand and other debris from existing navigable waterway in the Harbor and Degan waterways.

DPC asks all interested persons that have objections to the project, file their objections within 30 days of publication of public notice.

Along SR-723

Bike trail is proposed

JENSEN BEACH Construction bids for a bike trail along South Savanna Road (SR-723) may be received this calendar year, Martin County Commissioner Ross Philbrick said Monday.

The first segment of bike trails, as proposed by the Bike Committee, would extend from Tropical Acres development north to entrance of Leilani Height Subdivision, and then to Jensen Beach Elementary School property.

"We would go into the Leilani Height Subdivision to avoid the narrow bridge over Warner Creek," Philbrick said.

Philbrick pointed out that from the school north to Commercial Street, there is no sidewalk.

He also noted that the County Commission has approved a sidewalk along the north side of Commercial Street from Savanna Road to Sunview Road which is a distance of about 100 yards.

"This is a dangerous area," Philbrick observed, "and this sidewalk would allow the children to ride down Sunview to the Savanna Road and Commercial Street intersection on their way to school."

"I hope to have this sidewalk ready by September," he said. "Also, we need a traffic signal at the Savanna Road and Commercial Street intersection."

"A traffic signal would cost about $26,000," he said.

On the SR-723 bike trail, which is about a half-mile from the school to Tropical Acres, Philbrick said the trail is not a budgeted item in the Road and Bridge fund, "but I believe the money is available."

We estimate the cost of a bike trail per mile is about $12,000.

How the bike trail will get from the school property to Langford Park, one of the goals of the Bike Committee, isn't known by the commissioner.

"We are going to need the gifts of right-of-way and permission to cross a private railroad crossing," he said.

Philbrick said the committee proposes a trail from SR-723 to a private railroad crossing near Park Road and then proceed parallel to the railroad track to the east end of Langford Park.

"We need to get people to schools, shopping areas and recreation areas," Philbrick said.

BIKE TRAIL–Martin County Commissioner Ross Philbrick points to a map which shows the beginning of a proposed bike trail along South Savanna Road (SR-723) in Jensen Beach.

Dr. Stokes says

Savannas report is expected in 60 days

JENSEN BEACH–A report on the health survey of the south savannas is expected within 60 days, Dr. Walter Stokes said Tuesday.

"We are marking time until we get the report from Tallahassee," the chairman of the Save the Savannas committee said.

Dr. Stokes and Ken Alvarez of the State Department of Natural Resources toured the savannas by boat last week.

Alvarez certainly was impressed with the savannas. Dr. Stokes said, but he could not commit himself as to whether or not the savannas would be eligible for a state program.

"We are competing with 250 applications for a share in the $240 million program," he noted.

"However, we are among the top applications," he noted.

The report from the state would help decide whether or not the funds would be available for purchase or lease of the savannas.

Dr. Stokes seemed to doubt that the land would be purchased or leased by the state since General Development Corp., which owns a large tract of the savannas, or Universal Adams (UA), a large land holder, would want to lease to the state.

The savannas expert pointed out that both large landowners might lease to a local governing agency.

Both Martin and St. Lucie counties and Port St. Lucie was recommended by the committee which Dr. Stokes heads, but Martin County would wants state control.

If the state won't purchase or lease the land, Dr. Stokes said, "then we proceed with setting up a local governing agency. We need to have a local bill prepared to present to the legislature by March of 1975.

Noting the recent heavy rains, Dr. Stokes said that he visited the savannas Tuesday, "and the water is higher than I've seen for several years."

But he noted that too much water is being lost at too rapid a pace.

"Water is running under a bridge on U.S. 1 and much is coming out of the savannas. We need structures to retain water in Warner Creek during the dry season, and existing ditches in the savannas should be cleaned out to help retain the water."

During a recent meeting of the Council of Governments (COG), Dr. Stokes pointed out that General Development Corporation plans to dredge a canal running from north to south, using the fill to make the Greenbelt Parkway, is one of the best things that can happen to the savannas. The canal will allow the free flow of water, while the roadway will serve as a dike separating the wetlands from the uplands.

Stokes suggested at this point that both Martin and St. Lucie Counties combine their efforts to complete the dredging process in the future as a permanent solution for the preservation of the savannas.

"This I know can not be done immediately," Stokes said, "but I do hope it will be considered."

As a temporary interim solution, Dr. Stokes recommended that county crews move in and clean out the existing waterways.

According to Stokes, Universal Adams has completed negotiations for the purchase of the three pieces of property they needed to provide access to their planned development, Twin Banyon Plantation, without going across the savannas wetlands.

"It is also my understanding the firm will take immediate steps to restoring the savannas in that area by dredging out the causeway they started last year," Stokes concluded.

The Universal Adams causeway was stopped last year by the Department of Pollution Control.

Handguns

COG discuss major issues

PORT ST. LUCIE—Although the future of the savannas continued to head the list of priorities when the Council of Governments (COG) met last week, other issues of importance were also aired.

Fort Pierce Mayor Chuck Padrick Jr. suggested the City of Stuart, Martin and St. Lucie Counties consider the adoption of an ordinance which would govern the sale of handguns.

"I am not in favor of strict gun control and that is not the purpose of the ordinance," Padrick said. "While we can't stop a man from buying a gun, I do feel that some method of control is needed in an effort to keep guns out of the hands of felons."

Padrick pointed out that the city has received many complaints from residents regarding the freedom of purchase of such weapons.

Our ordinance requires the would-be purchaser to complete an application form in triplicate, one of each which goes directly to the police department, and establishes a three-day waiting period before the permit is issued," the mayor said.

Without matching legislation on the part of our neighboring governments, a Fort Pierce resident can get around our ordinance simply by stepping 15-feet outside the city limits," Padrick said.

While the mayor urged the two counties and the City of Stuart to consider such and ordinance, he pointed out that the City of Port St. Lucie had no gun vendors and felt that such an ordinance was needless.

When Stuart mayor Robert Hall said his city did not have hand-gun problems that Fort Pierce encountered, Padrick answered, "You will Robert, your city is growing."

Martin County Commissioner Timer Powers, who represented Dr. Ed Geary at the meeting, said that Martin County in the past has tried to get the sheriff to assume the responsibility of issuing gunpermits, but found the only restrictions that could be imposed were those applied by the state.

Padrick told members of the COG that he would send each copy of the Fort Pierce ordinance for their considerations ed hopeful adoption.

Timer Powers solicited the cooperation of St. Lucie County in establishing a lower population density along the counties common boundaries.

"I do not intend to suggest to St. Lucie County," Powers said. "I do, however, seek the consideration of your board on the impact of high density will have on Martin County facilities."

Pointing to the roads of Martin County as being inadequate, and the limitations in providing ambulance service and fire protection, Powers said this is where he felt the COG would be distinct advantage to all.

Through the COG meetings we will be better able to understand each other's ordinances as they relate to zoning changes their problem areas and without a doubt be in the position to come up with a constructive solution. We must look for the mechanisms to bring our governments closer together," he added.

Powers instanced the southern part of Martin County as an example of cooperation.

Martin County maintains a lower density down there because we are dependent on our southern neighbors for services. There is no way at the present time, can furnish our people down there with adequate emergency services," Powers said.

Addressing St. Lucie County Commissioner Ed Enns, Powers said, "We are asking that your board work with us on areas that are adjacent. We ask that you think about these services before you increase your densities and consider he impact on Martin County."

Enns said that although he thought Martin County density figures were a bit low, he had resolved in his mind that perhaps some changes may be necessary. He also suggested that perhaps a solution would be through the District of Regional Impact.

"Think that a regional plan insight might be beneficial to both," Enns said.

In other business Mayor Padrick endorsed the proposal by Judge Alto Adams to establish a law enforcement school in or near the Fort Pierce area.

Padrick inished this as being a worthwhile proposal and urged the support of the COG members.

Relative to the water on Hutchinson Island, Stuart Mayor Robert Hall said his city is interested in working with both St. Lucie and Martin County to serve the island.

Southern gulf Utilities, who pruchases the water from Stuart, now services the area.

Martin County is currently negotiating to buy Southern Gulf.

Local environmentalist, Dr. Walter Stokes told the members of COG that Ken Alvarez, Department of Naturaki Resources (DNR) completed his survey of the savannas.

The complete report was returned to DNR headquarters in Tallahassee for evaluation by a special state committee to see if the marshland will qualify for a state program to protect the area.

Plant site gets OK

JENSEN BEACH—The first step of a process to allow construction of a second nuclear power plant on Hutchinson Island was approved last week by the State Pollution Control Board.

The board acting under the state's 1973 power plant siting act approved zoning for the Florida Power and Light Co. plant.

Hearings still must be held on the environmental effects of the pruposed plant within the next 12 months.

Approval was given by the board on the amount of land designated for the site, 1,132 acres for the St. Lucie facility.

Meanwhile a public hearing was held at Florida Institute of Technology Jensen Beach by members of Citizens United Against a Radioactive Environment (CURE) and a Miami attorney who is fighting construction of the second nuclear plant.

Attorney Martin holder said his major objection to the proposed plant was the site. It was a poor idea to build the first plant on Hutchinson Island and a worse idea to propose another there, he said.

The reasons he said are because the barrier island is subject to severe hurricane damage, it is scheduled to reserve a high density of population, and escape routes from the island in th event of a nuclear accident would not be sufficient to evacuate the island in time.

Garbage fees are unchanged

JENSEN BEACH–Garbage collection rates set last March will remain in effect until September. Martin County Commission decided at last week's meeting.

Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co., a consulting firm, recommended that the maximum rates of $5.50 for backdoor pickup and $3.50 per month for curbside pickup remain the same for a year in all unincorporated areas.

Commissioners voted to postpone a decision on the recommendations for a consultant's study of garbage hauling rates and practices until September and hold the rates at least until that time.

Deputy, street lights proposed

JENSEN BEACH–An additional county sheriff for the Jensen Beach

New officers

HUTCHINSON'S POINT–The Town of Hutchinson's Point has a new mayor and a new mayor. At a reorganization meeting which was held following the inauguration of Mayor Clay Lambeth last week, commissioners elected Roger Thomas as mayor.

Lambeth resigned to run for District 2 County Commission seat.

At the meeting vice mayor Frank Gaskin resigned and was replaced by Mayor Sanden Clarke said he thought Hutchinson should have a new slate of officers.

Commissioners made no move to have Lambeth on the commission, stating that they have five months to make an appointment, according to the town's charter.

Incumbent District 2 commissioner Lambeth indicated that he will take Lambeth's resignation necessary to disqualify him from the commission races. Gleichler, a Democrat, says Lambeth, a Democrat, did not comply with state law which requires a candidate to resign 10 days before qualifying to seek another office.

Gleichler charges that Lambeth has signed as Sewall's Point mayor the day before qualifying as commission candidate.

Lambeth said that he abided with the election rules as he knew them, and said that he is moving forward with his campaign.

area and more street lights could be installed without additional millage in Taxing District A, Commissioner Ross Philbrick said Monday.

Philbrick, commissioner for Jensen Beach area District 1, pointed out that it appeared voters wanted more police protection and more street lights.

"People indicated during the incorporation hearings that they were concerned about increased crime, and wanted additional police protection," Philbrick said.

"It would take about $30,000 to add a deputy during the high crime period–between 6 p.m. and 2 a.m. – and this could be done without an increase in the 1.2 millage for Taxing District A," he said.

"The sheriff (Jim Holt) is planning for another squad of deputies in the high crime period in his budget that has been presented to the commission."

The sheriff's budget which was first presented totalled $1.7 million, up about $500,000 for this year's figure.

"I support the sheriff's budget," Philbrick said. "I don't see any fat in it."

The commissioner said that he plans to budget additional funds for street lights.

"It costs about $2.85 a month to maintain a light plus 20 per cent for the fuel adjustment," he said.

"If people in the area want a street light, they should petition for it."

The value of a mill is expected to go up about 3% per cent, and the extra deputy and more lights can be put in the new budget without an increase in millage, Philbrick said.

"Also, we don't have any carryover construction in the proposed distric budget," he said.

FIT receives $50,000 grant

JENSEN BEACH–A $50,000 grant has been awarded to the Florida Institute of Technology Jensen Beach campus, and the funds will be used to renovate an old mansion on the campus into a modern student center.

FIT Dean Ernest Tesley said that plans are being prepared to convert the old Leach mansion into a student center.

Terms of the Kresge Foundation of Troy, Michigan, award will require that it be matched by other contributed funds so that the total amount will be sufficient to convert the large residential structure on FIT's campus into a modern student center.

Dean Tesley said that a fund drive is anticipated with the hope that the money can be raised in the community.

FIt president Dr. Jerome R. Kemper made the initial announcement of the Kresge's grant, and he commented:

"This grant from the Kresge Foundation presents a magnificent opportunity and challenge to FIT. It will be possible for us to make a major improvement on our Jensen Beach campus and provide our students there with a facility they have been missing and so badly need."

The old Leach mansion commands an impressive view of the Indian River.

The Jensen Beach campus was acquired by FIT in 1972 to serve as a base for the School of Marine and Environmental Technology with the primary mission of educating technicians and technologists in the field of oceanographic and marine science technology and marine electronic technology. The program has been expanded to include a four-year program leading to the degree of bachelor of technology in oceanographic technology and environmental technology.

One hundred and twelve students received degrees last June in commencement exercises.

History material at halfway mark

EENEN BEACH—Preparation of material for the history of Martin ounty to be published in 1975 when the ounty of Refuge will be 100 years old nd Martin County will be 50 years old, s the halfway mark, Mrs Janet utchinson said.

Mrs. Hutchinson, director of the artin County Historical Society, also id that the society will be 20 years old, at year.

"So far we have the promised manuscripts on cemeteries, transportation, Hutchinson Island, hospitals, and medical cares, the early beginnings of Jensen Beach, churches, education and Hobe Sound," she continued.

"The first six of these are the work of Mrs. Forrest Bland, William H. Lane, William Clark Shephard, Miss Marion E. Tachtsheck, Harry J. Schultz and Robert A. Holman.

"I say the churches are in, but should explain that when the twice-delayed deadline for the material promised more than a year ago came on June 1, we were obligated to accept the fact that everything was in that any group or individual wished to prepare. Not every church, therefore, is represented," she explained.

"The printer expects everything to be on his desk by December 31, if we are to have the books by October 18, next year, in 1975," Mrs. Hutchinson said.

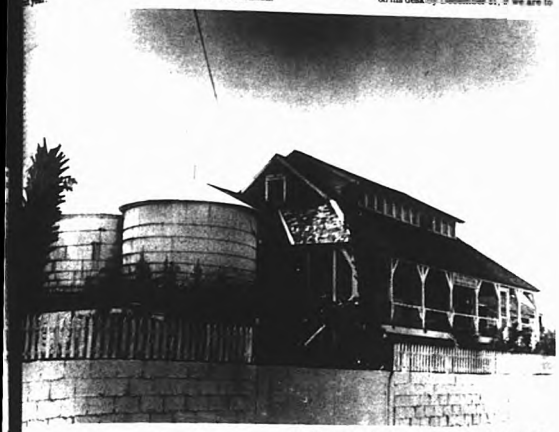
"Reminders went out by newspaper stories, radio messages, and personal letters – not to mention telephone calls. We can't do anything about the material that has not yet materialized, except to regret that much information will be missing – through no fault of the history committee – information that was expected and needed for this history that was so carefully designed to be written about Martin County by those who know the most about it."

Some sections are still being completed and will be delivered to the committee within the next month or six weeks, Mrs. Hutchinson explained.

"The Black history, for example, is being written by Mrs. Ora D. Landers, who is devoting her summer vacation to the project, having set her own deadline of before school opens. Other chapters nearing completion are on Port Salerno, by Mrs. Margaret B. Peterson; Palm City, by Chauncey O. Reinhart; Agriculture, by Levi Johnson; Ecology, by Mrs. George Yarboro; Bootleggers and Port Mayaca, By Roberta Crawford; and Horticulture, by Dr. Edwin A. Menninger.

Volunteer typists assisting with the assembling of the material so far include Mmes. Robert M. Blackfor, Lloyd E. Dutcher, Barbara Gately, and William O. Maclaren. Miss Emeline K. Paige is the working editor overall editorial supervision resting with Ernest F. Lyons. Mrs. Hutchinson urges anyone who is a member of an organization or of an early settler's family who is not certain that his organization or his family information has already been turned in, to check with her at the historical Society – 287-4256.

"We have a reasonably accurate cross-reference filing system worked out so that most questions can be answered 'Yes' or 'No' with a minimum of 'Maybe's'," she said. "This is a major undertaking and we're doing the best we know how to make it succeed."



1898–The House of Refuge on Hutchinson Island will have birthday. No. 100, along with Martin County, No. 50, in 1975. Mrs. Janet Hutchinson, director, of the Historical Society is preparing material, along with other residents, to mark the occasion.

School budget is approved

...Martin's $16.7 million budget for the 1974-75 fiscal year has been adopted by the Martin County School Board. The operating budget totals $10.4 million which is an 11 per cent increase over the current year.

The operating budget increase is due partly because of the addition of 50 teachers and 21 other employees and salary increases of 12 per cent. Student enrollment is expected to be about 8,000.

Capital improvements budget totals $5 million which will go for new construction at the high school, modification of Murray Middle School, and $1 million will go toward bonded indebtness.

Total revenue expected is $13.7 million with 53 per cent of that amount coming from state funds, 8 per cent from federal funds and 38 per cent from local funds.

U.S. Penny, an endangered specie . . .

As across the nation, Martin County is experiencing a tremendous shortage of pennies in circulation. Hoarding of pennies is costly to the economy and to the taxpayers.

In cooperation with the United States Department of the Treasury, First National Bank and Trust Company urges you to bring in your pennies for deposit or redemption. We will gladly count and package the pennies for you.

The average life of a coin in circulation is estimated to be 25 years. Please help us to see to it that pennies are not retired before their time. Please bring your pennies to First National's lobby during regular banking hours, Monday-Thursday 9:00 AM-3:00 PM, and Friday 9:00 AM-6:00 PM.

Any group or individual who brings in $25.00 worth of pennies will receive a Special Citation from the Department of the Treasury.

Because all of you asked for it.*

You asked to have your checks accepted without a hassle.

Even where nobody knows you.

With an All-In-One Account your Sun Bank check (up to $100) will be accepted for merchandise or services by hundreds of stores across Florida. And, of course, at any Sun Bank.

You asked for a way to get cash when the banks are closed.

In case you remembered at midnight that you forgot to get enough cash for the next day.

With an All-In-One Account you can get cash from your checking account at any Sun Bank 24 automatic teller across Florida.

Or you can perform 10 other banking transactions at your Sun Bank any time of the day or night, 365 days a year.

You asked for lower finance charges on installment loans.

So you can save money when you borrow money.

With an All-In-One Account you can get a 10% discount on the regular finance charges on any standard consumer installment loan, except student and/or Simple Interest Loans.

You asked for a loan you could write yourself.

Because when you want to borrow money you don't want to come down to the bank and fill out a lot of forms.

With an All-In-One Account you can become your own banker by simply writing a check, up to your credit limit and you've got your loan.

You asked for a way to keep your checks from bouncing.

Because you're human and sometimes make mistakes.

With an All-In-One Account you can't bounce a check because you're always covered (in $100 increments) up to your credit limit.

You asked for a way to buy without paying cash.

With All-In-One, depending on which Sun Bank you bank with, you get a Master Charge card or BankAmericard, if you want one.

You asked to write a pile of checks without paying a pile of charges.

With an All-In-One Account you can write as many or as few checks as you wish, at no extra cost. And no minimum balance required.

You asked not to be charged for personalized checks.

An All-In-One Account gives you all the specially designed All-In-One checks you need at no additional cost.

Other styles are also available, if you prefer.

You asked for a way to help you save.

Because you know you should start saving.

With All-In-One, if you don't already have a regular savings account, we'll open one for you, put in the first dollar, and show you how to keep saving.

You asked us to make it easier to have U.S. Government checks deposited automatically.

To help prevent theft and fraud.

Sun Banks continue to encourage the automatic deposit of U.S. Government payroll, Social Security, active and retired military pay and other Federal Government checks.

With an All-In-One Account we'll cut the red tape, handle the annoying paperwork and automatically deposit the check to your checking or savings account.

*In person-to-person research, we asked a cross section of people in Florida what they considered the most useful services a bank could perform for them. The answers they gave us became the basis for the All-In-One Account. That's why we can say the All-In-One Account was created by customers—not bankers.

Father Alvarez reacts to ordination of women

JENSEN BEACH—The following is a statement by Father Alvarez, rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, Jensen Beach. I am grateful to the editor of The Mirror for his kindness in letting me inform the public of the action taken by four Bishops of the Episcopal Church on Monday, July 29, 1974, in the Church of the Advocate, Philadelphia, Penn. The Rt. Reverends Robert L. DeWitt, Edward R. Welles, Daniel Corrigan and Jose Antonio Ramos did illegally and contrary to the canons of our Church lay hands upon eleven women in a so-called ordination, hence the action is not valid and the women are not priests. Moreover, no such service can take place in the jurisdiction of another bishop unless that bishop gives his approval and consent.

The Bishop of Pennsylvania did not give procedure in the matter of ordinations to the sacred ministry. A man to be ordained to the sacred ministry must have the written consent of the following: 1) The rector of his own parish. 2) The vestry of his own parish. 3) The standing committee of his own diocese, and 4) the approval of his very own bishop. Unless such consents are given, no ordination may ever take place. This it is the will of the Church, not just the bishop that must prevail before any ordination may take place.

This is not the case in Philadelphia, so called ordination hence the action is not valid and the women are not priests. Moreover no such service can take place in th jurisdiction of another bishop unless that bishop gives his approval and consent.

The four bishops who acted in the service last Monday and the eleven women are no longer in communion with me. Hence, in a true sense, there is now a very small schism in the Episcopal Church.

The question of ordination of women to the priesthood is still under serious consideration by the church. The Episcopal Church in official convention last year did not approve this action, and our presiding bishop appointed a committee to make a study indepth of the ministry throughout the Church Catholic.

I am very seriously concerned with any minister of this church, be he deacon, priest, or bishop, who privately and openly flouts the canons of this church. Those bishops ought to have seriously and honestly appraised themselves of the net results upon the members of the Episcopal Church. It is unfortunate that Bishops DeWitt Corrigan, Welles, and Ramos turned their backs upon the very Church which has nourished them and, now in their retirement, gives them a comfortable living.

The matter now lies in the hands of our Presiding Bishop and the House of Bishops of the Episcopal Church in the United States. The proper action might well be the defrocking of the four bishops and the eleven women.

In closing here is what the four bishops vowed and promised before their consecration. Will you be faithful in ordaining, sending, or laying hands upon others? They and all bishops promised: I WILL SO BE THE HELP OF THE LORD.

Rev. Frank R. Alvarez Pastor
All Saints Episcopal Church
Jensen BEach, FLorida

The Barn Owl

BY TOM SNAVELY

GODSPELL opens next week August 2nd to be exact. Everything is quickly falling into place. This has been a production without peer. Rarely is such quick action and sudden change of movement attempted on the stage. This is a rollicking, tumbling, swinging, stirring, boisterous yet touching program of songs, dances and skits taken almost word for word from the Gospel According to St. Matthew.

The television program "Laugh In" pioneered the super-quick paced entertainment field. But GODSPELL offers so much more, because it creates emotion from the audience that goes far beyond laughter into Joy. GODSPELL is a celebration.

The Barn has a new shake tile facade that is complete with twin huge doors. A terrific new sign made by Carl Schmidt sits proudly in its prominent position of honor.

Martin County Players is one of those few organizations that has a place for all kinds of people: leaders and followers, introverts and extroverts, handymen and pretty faces, scene stealers and scenery makers.

In GODSPELL there are ten actors on the stage but almost three times that many people have pulled the strings to make the show possible. The programs, advertising, set building, prop getting, music co-ordinating, light fixing, costuming, ticket selling, stage managing and directing are important in any production. The people who do all these things don't get the attention or the credit that the actors do, but they certainly do deserve it. Some of these people have been at every rehearsal. Others have done their jobs during the day. Some finish theirs before the curtain goes up; others wait till it goes down to do things like clean up. Martin County Players can use you, and whatever your talents are, whatever you have to offer, we might even help you discover something you don't even know you had.

Do come to see Godspell. Also see about joining the Martin County Players. For tickets reservations or information, call 287-0676.
